If you want to save your apples from the snail moth you will have to spray, and now is the time to interview Tillet in regard to a spray pump. Edwin Henderson, son of Attorney John E. Henderson, arrived in Hood River last week from Puget sound and will make his home with his father. Rev. J. W. Jenkins will be absent from the valley next Sunday and therefore will not preach either at Odell or the Valley Christian church on that date. The lecture that was to have been given by Rev. J. W. Jenkins last Wednesday evening was postponed on account of the protracted meeting still in progress at the U. B. church. Rev. Frank Spaulding, Joe Purser and Wm. Iamberg went over to Underwoods last Friday, to attend the funeral of Thos. Pollock. Mr. Spaulding preached the funeral sermon. Stop at any store in town and buy a 25 lb sack of our White Wheat Graham. If used daily for mush or bread, we can not see why you should not live to be as old as Methuselah. PIONEER MILLS, Hood River, Or. Jas. Laneville, who has been wintering in Portland, came up to Hood River last Saturday and will go out to his mine at McCoy creek as soon as he thinks the snow is gone enough to venture on the trail. Mrs. Frank Chandler and son Willie returned from Montana last Saturday and will remain on the ranch for the summer. Both are glad to get back to Oregon and think there is no place so good as Hood River. S. A. Knapp, proprietor of the People's Store, has leased a building site on Geo. T. Prather's block and will at once commence the erection of a two-story building and will use the downstairs part for his store. Chris Dethman has bought a lot just west of Nick Billings' residence and will put up a store building for F. E. Denzer. Bishop & Cox have the contract for building and will go to work at once, as soon as the lumber can be secured. Rev. J. L. Hershner delivered an excellent discourse commemorating of Lincoln at the Congregational church last Sunday. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, and every one was captivated and pleased with the discourse, which was an eloquent tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln. The Grand Army and Relief Corps were out in full force.

Last Saturday morning, while S. D. Campbell was coming to Hood River from his place near Mosier, he spied a coyote ahead of him circling round a skunk in the middle of the road, keeping him at bay. Curious to see a battle between these two varmints of bad reputation, he tried to get a little nearer unharmed, but the coyote saw him and immediately took to the brush. The skunk kept his position, and Mr. Campbell, advancing, gave the odoriferous animal a wide berth; but when nearly opposite, the skunk, without gratitude for his deliverance from the hungry coyote, started for him. In this instance Mr. Campbell thought "discretion the better part of valor" and followed the coyote by taking to the brush.

The family named Goodwin, who came from Nebraska, a couple of weeks ago and have been camped in the Oregon Fruit Union warehouse, have decided to go back to their old home. Mr. Goodwin chartered a car and brought his team and feed and household goods. He has now chartered a car to take them all back to Nebraska, except his feed. Bobb. Rand bought his corn, oats and hay, which are worth more here.

D. Bradley, deputy head consul for Wasco county, Modern Woodmen of America, will install the following officers of Viento Camp next Saturday evening, February 18th: Consul, Arthur J. Hamilton; advisor, Roby J. Tucker; clerk, Millard F. Bird; banker, James W. Taylor; escort, George Tyrrell; watchman, William G. Dodson; sentry, C. R. P. Smith; managers, J. D. Barber, Philip Warren, A. R. Rankin.

When the Portland Telegram was received in Hood River last Sunday, and when in the list of killed at the battle of Colocan occurred the name of John A. Gibbons, of the hospital corps, it was greatly feared that it was Dave Gibbons of Hood River. But later accounts state that John A. Gibbons belonged to a Kansas regiment.

The streets of Hood River were never in a worse condition than they have been during the past week. The frost coming out of the ground made them terribly muddy. After the muddy experience of the past few days the GLACIER is ready to say that the town needs sidewalks.

A popular entertainment will be given on Wednesday evening, February 22d, at the Crapper school house, to provide a school library fund. Admission 10 cents; children under 10, free. The programme will consist of recitations, dialogues, tableaux, vocal and instrumental music.

C. J. Hayes found a bottle of "medicine" on the hill above town which the owner can have by calling at the GLACIER office. The medicine has a suspicious look, as if it might be an "original package."

The Oregon Telephone company is putting in a local telephone service for Hood River. Mr. C. L. Copple is around soliciting subscribers. The charges are quite reasonable, $1.50 a month.

The Davidson Fruit Co. has purchased three lots just west of the Mountain Stage Co's stables and have commenced the erection of their cannery on the same.

The snow has all disappeared from the valley. The roads have been fearfully muddy but are fast drying up under the influence of the strong west winds.

Frank Noble picked up a very heavy and no doubt valuable finger ring, which he left at Blowers' store, and which the owner can have by calling for it.

Earl Prather, aged 18 years, a nephew of Geo. T. Prather, arrived here last week from Kansas City and will make his home with his uncle.

Tillet's spray pumps can be seen at Blowers' store, the largest spray pumps ever seen in this valley, and the cheapest in price, from $2 up.

Ross Winaps court story is going the rounds of the press, and at latest accounts it had got up to seventeen cougars he has killed.

J. H. Gerdes has sued G. D. Woodworth for something like $3,000 for damages sustained last fall while working on the flume.

T. H. Clark, who is cook at Smith & Russell's mill at Cascade Locks, came home Tuesday evening for a vacation of a few days.

S. E. Bartmess went to Portland Wednesday, where he will remain till Saturday and attend lectures on embalming.

Obituary.

Deacon J. N. McCoy was born at Ripley, Greene county, Ohio, October 15, 1826, and departed a long and useful life at his home near Hood River, Sunday evening, February 12, 1899, aged 72 years, 3 months and 27 days. In 1842 Deacon McCoy came overland with his parents to Illinois, in which state he lived until 1875. He was united in marriage with Miss Mary E. Herron, February 14, 1851. This union was terminated by the death of his wife, February 5, 1885. To this union ten children were born, all excepting the eldest being born in the same house on the old homestead in Woodford county, Ill. In 1875 Deacon McCoy moved, with his family, to Iowa, where they resided ten years. In the fall of 1885 he came to Hood River, where some of his children had preceded him, and since that time has been a highly respected and beloved resident of our valley. On October 12, 1887, Deacon McCoy was united in marriage with Mrs. Rose Fletcher, his now sorrowing and bereft widow. Five of his ten children have passed on before. Wm. H. of The Dalles, John C. of Hood River, Elmer E. of Seattle, Mrs. Agnes Jones of Portland, and Mrs. Minnie Odell of Hood River, with his faithful companion mourn the loss of a loving and devoted husband and father. In 1851 Deacon McCoy professed faith in Christ, and from that day until the day of his death he maintained an open heart of integrity toward God and toward men. His faith was beautiful, his disposition was gentle, his life was consistent, his counsels were wise, and his activities were untiring; these lofty traits of character made him so beloved by the church and the community. During the civil war Deacon McCoy held the position of provost marshal and in that capacity rendered his country faithful and efficient service. He was a most faithful and beloved member of Riverside Congregational church, and has been a deacon in the church since its organization in 1890. Over three years ago, at the annual meeting of the church, the membership showed its great confidence in him by electing him deacon for life. So faithful in work, so kindly in disposition, so wise in counsel, so happy in presence, so lovely in character! How the church will miss him! It mourns its deep loss; it rejoices in his eternal gain. The pastor, Rev. J. L. Hershner, conducted the funeral services, Tuesday, at 1:30 p. m., in the presence of a large concourse of friends and acquaintances. Interment at Idlewild cemetery. His wife and children in their sorrow and loss have the heartfelt sympathy of a large circle of appreciative friends. "Tis ever wrong to say a good man dies."

Thomas Pollock, a pioneer of Oregon, was found dead on his homestead, just west of Underwoods, Washington, last Thursday. It is supposed that he died of heart failure on Monday, Feb. 6, 1899. On that day he had called at B. F. Beal's house, his nearest neighbor, and Mrs. Beal had given him a chicken. He was living alone. Mr. Beal, not seeing anything of the old man, went to his place Thursday morning and found him lying dead by a log that he had been sawing. The saw had pinched, and the old man evidently had started to put in a wedge when the dread summons came and he died without a struggle. Mr. Beal came to Hood River and procured a coffin and had the remains buried on his own place. Deceased came to Oregon from Pennsylvania in 1845 and was over 82 years old. He was an Indian War veteran and had quite a history, and we regret that our knowledge of his history is limited. He lived for a number of years in Hood River, where he was respected by every one of his neighbors. He was a kindly old man and was well informed.

Mrs. Mary Malone died on Rock creek, near Mosier, Oregon, February 5, 1899, aged 90 years and 4 months. Deceased was born in Kentucky, Oct. 10, 1809. Her maiden name was Goosey. She was married to James Prathar in Indiana and bore him 12 children, 9 sons and three daughters. Her first husband died in 1860, and in 1867 she married Uriah Malone in St. Clair county, Missouri, who died in 1875. In 1890 she came to Oregon and made her home since then on Rock creek. Five of her children survive here—Reece Prathar, the eldest, aged 65, of Rock creek; Charles Prathar of Rock creek; Andrew and James Prathar of Holt county, Mo.; and Wm. Prathar, now living in Texas. For 35 years she had been totally blind but was strong and hearty up till a week before her death, when she was taken with the grip. She joined the Baptist church at the age of 25 and remained a consistent Christian to the end of her long life.

Mrs. Peter Odell died in Portland, February 14, 1899, aged 23 years. The remains were brought to Hood River, Wednesday, and on Thursday were buried at Pine Grove. Deceased's maiden name was Lela Emily Kemp. She was a daughter of Mrs. Alice R. Kemp of the East Side. Her disease was consumption, and only last Sunday she started from Hood River, accompanied by her husband and sister Nettie Kemp, for Southern California, but was taken rapidly worse and died in a Portland hospital.

David Straight died at his home near White Salmon, Washington, February 13, 1899, aged 66 years. Deceased was well known throughout the Middle Columbia country.

Mrs. Margaret Lauterbach died at White Salmon, February 12, 1899, aged 73 years.

Card of Thanks. I wish to express my heartfelt gratitude to the kind friends who gave aid and comfort during the illness of my dear departed wife. JASON RAND.

Born. In Hood River valley, February 10, 1899, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kennedy, a son.

Successful Applicants. There were sixteen applicants for county certificates at the late teachers' examination at The Dalles. Below we give the names of the successful candidates: First Grade—T. M. B. Chastain, Victor; Bessie Isenberg, Hood River. Second Grade—Francis H. Fouts, The Dalles; Cora L. Copple, Hood River; F. A. Beatty, Wamie.

Third Grade—Job Crabtree, Wamie; Elsie McAllister, Mabel O'Brien and Maud Sigman, Dufur; Jennie Parsons, Hood River; Frank Woodcock, Jr., Wamie; Ina Marsh and Billa Taylor, The Dalles.

Mrs. Kate Roehle of The Dalles was recommended by the county board for state diploma. Anna Lang and Minnie Mitchell of The Dalles, and Mary Frazier of Hood River for state life diploma. Catherine Martin for state certificate.

"Brethren and sisters," said an old darkey at prayer-meeting, "I've been a mighty mean nigger in my time. I lined de church, I've cussed, I've got drunk, I've shot rap, I've sloshed odder coons wif my razor, an' I've done a sight of odder tings. But, thank de Lawd, I've neber lost my religin."
