

Hood River Glacier

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1909.

Mrs. C. T. Carns returned from Portland last Thursday.

Prosecuting Attorney Jayne was in Hood River Monday.

Money to loan on real estate by J. L. HENNINGSON, agt.

Frank Gibbons has gone to San Francisco to visit relatives.

Miss Gertrude Whitcomb returned to her home in Portland last Saturday.

The new bell at Barrett school house was rung last Saturday for the first time.

C. R. Bone came down from Wasco last Friday. Mrs. Bone has returned also from Portland.

Judge Geo. T. Prather and the People's Store are having a substantial sidewalk built in front of their place of business.

Land bought, sold and exchanged at Emporium. Keep your eye on the Emporium ad, 2d page of GLACIER.

Sam C. Smith sold his wind mill to Wm. Froebe, who shipped it to his ranch in Sherman county last Friday.

Letters remain in the post office for N. P. Anderson, W. L. Deshaers, Joseph Gasto, Jas. Cosgrove, C. M. Cook, Ed. George and A. Milne.

"The King of Spots," for sale at the People's Store, is said to be the best for taking out grease spots or any kind of spots except spots on character.

Dr. F. C. Brosius has returned and can be found in his office over Williams & Brosius' drug store, between the hours of 10-11 a. m., 2-3 and 6-7 p. m.

Regular meeting of Canby post, G. A. R. and W. R. C. next Saturday, Nov. 4th. Nomination of officers will be in order at this meeting, and a full attendance is desired.

Wm. Froebe returned to his home in Sherman county last Friday. While here he purchased a carload of fir wood from Davenport Bros., besides buying Sam Smith's wind mill.

Fred Knudsen of Mt. Hood was in town Monday. He reports the apple crop all gathered and the fruit in fine condition. He has recently put in 18 days at work on the East Fork Irrigating Co.'s ditch.

John G. Wohlsehlegel left last Saturday for his home at Scholls, Oregon. He intended to visit the exposition, but the train was late and he didn't reach Portland till 9:30 at night. He expects to return to Hood River in the spring.

To the Public.—Telephone communication is now established with the Mount Hood settlement at Mt. Hood, Edick's residence. All messages will be promptly delivered at reasonable rates.

H. D. LANGILLE.

Several of the workmen on the railroad grade below town were badly affected by poison oak that they had been sent to the hospital in Portland. Poison oak is quite prevalent in the hills above the railroad in the neighborhood of the ice house.

Uncalled for remarks have recently been made about Dallas wearing his last season's straw hat. Dallas and his partner have been kept busy of late trying to supply the demand for Oregon and no one should blame him for wearing a hat that will allow his head to expand.

Mr. S. Richmond and Henry Ries brought down from Mt. Hood three head of fat cattle for Bonney last Thursday. Mr. Richmond is one of the forest rangers under Capt. Ormsby, and he informs us that the rangers will all do duty for the season on October 15th.

Mrs. Albert Pettys of North Freedom, Wis., is visiting relatives in Hood River and Portland. Mrs. Pettys is a sister to D. G. Hill and Mrs. Newton Clark. Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Pettys came up from Portland last week and are visiting their brother, D. G. Hill, and family.

A. H. Tieman of Mt. Hood was in town last Saturday. He seems to have entirely recovered from his late illness and gets around as spry as well as old. He bought a $10 chain pump of Dallas & Spangler and has dug a good well. He says he finds it cheaper to buy a pump and have good water than it is to have a spell of typhoid fever.

Mr. L. D. Blount, nephew of Uncle William Blount of this city, and well known to a majority of our readers, is in the city for a rather lengthy visit to relatives and friends. He was formerly a resident of this place, but for four years past has resided near Hood River, Oregon. He likes that country remarkably well, the climate being well suited to his health. — Mr. Morill (Mo.) Advertiser.

Eggs are selling at 25 cents a dozen both in Portland and Hood River. The price of eggs in Hood River generally keeps two or three cents in advance of the Portland wholesale price, therefore we may expect to pay 30 cents a dozen before Thanksgiving. With the low price of wheat nowadays there ought to be some profit in chickens if they can be induced to lay, but the delusive hen can not always be counted on when her work is needed.

Edwin Henderson, son of Attorney Barracks last Thursday on a 24-hour furlough to visit his father. Young Henderson is a soldier in the 39th regiment, which sailed yesterday for Portland for Manila. He is a soldierly-looking lad and has youth and health on his side to help him battle with the climate of the Philippines. We hope to see the hostile natives. We hope to see him return with a commission.

E. C. Rogers and son Charley put in three days last week working the road in front of Mr. Rogers' place at Belmont. They dug out the big boulders and hauled them off and unpacked the road from Rogers' house to the corner above. This week they will improve the road as far down as Tom Wickens' place, and the citizens along the creek have signified their willingness to make a good road from Wickens' place down to the State road.

N. C. Evans and family moved to town last week and will occupy their cottage on River street for the winter to give the children the advantage of being near the school. It is said, and it is worthy of note, that Mr. Evans put in two days moving and putting up stoves without once losing his temper. This is remarkable. A man who can put up stoves and stove pipes and not lose his temper nor send for Dallas is the right kind of man to fill the office of county commissioner and school director.

James Cooper of Mt. Hood has been summoned as a witness in the case of Jacobson against the Regulator company for damages for running into his sail boat the year ago. Constable Olinger started for Mt. Hood Monday evening at 6 o'clock to serve the summons, and Mr. Cooper came to town at the same time to go to Portland in answer to the summons of the court. They managed to pass each other on the road, and Mr. Olinger had his all-night ride without getting his man.

Halloween was celebrated by the boys in town in great shape Monday night. They went out in several hours of hard labor to make the showing they did at Oak and Second streets the pine tree that had in the street in front of the new barber shop was dragged up and stretched across from Blowers store to their new brick building. Wagons, furniture, wheelbarrows, packing boxes, step ladders, and any old thing lying around loose was carried to this point and the blockade of the street was complete. The old wire and lath fence was taken from Jackson's corner and made to do duty in blocking Second street from Prather's corner to Blowers' store. Geo. P. Crowell's fence was swinging out into the street. Two grindstones were left at Evans & Russell's barber shop. A box containing $65 worth of hats was taken from the porch of the Racket Store, and Mr. Jackson found it among the debris in the jam at Second and Oak streets. He found his wheelbarrow on Crowell's porch. All the loose furniture and doors and windows in front of Bartness and Sherrill's stores were also found in the jam. Dr. Watt's sign was hung over the door at Fewel's pool rooms. An iron bedstead fell on some sash at Bartness' store and three large panes of glass, worth 75 cents apiece, were broken. Everybody took the mischief of the boys good-naturedly, thankful, no doubt, that it was no worse.

The above was written supposing that the Halloween festivities were concluded for this season. But our staid citizens were surprised Wednesday morning to find that insurgents had captured the town again and the streets were blocked even more effectually than on the previous night. S. J. La France's lumber he had on the ground for sidewalk walk formed a substantial Virginia worm fence across the street from Blowers store to their new building. A new privy built for the brick store was swung by rope and pulley up above the street in the oak tree in front of the building and decorated with the signs of the photographer and the real estate emporium. Bonney's chicken coop with chickens in was at Prather's corner. A fence made from Bonney's wood pile completely blocked the street below the school office. The boys paid their respects to the Glacier and hoisted a pig on its flag pole. This might have been intended to celebrate the victory of the Boers.

Ernest Jensen came up from Astoria on Tuesday and stopped at Hood River till Wednesday on his way to the Dalles. He had a picture of his deceased wife enlarged. It is a fine picture, and those who knew her said it was the best work they had ever seen. The late Mrs. Jensen was Miss Mattie Foley, and the picture will be left with her parents here. Mr. Jensen was appointed in going to Astoria. The firm that engaged his services there, he found out, wanted a cheap man, and as he wasn't of that calibre, didn't go to work for them. He will go to San Francisco, where a man of his abilities is pretty sure to strike a good salary.

John Monroe of the East Side was a caller at the Glacier office on Wednesday. Mr. Monroe is probably the oldest man in Hood River. He was born in Ohio, Sept. 27, 1815, and is now in his 86th year. He voted for William Henry Harrison in 1836 and again in 1840. He was a subscriber to the Ohio State Journal in 1839 and is a subscriber to that old-time journal today. Mr. Monroe retains his faculties to a wonderful degree and his memory is as keen as ever. Last June he had an attack of vertigo and fell against a horse and was kicked in the head, but he has recovered from the injuries and bids fair to live many years.

Mrs. Gillis Hubbard died of heart disease last Thursday evening at her home at the planer. She had been sick but a few days and was thought to be improving, when she was taken worse and died suddenly. Deceased was about 30 years old. She was the daughter of Saul Kiser and was born in Arkansas, coming to Hood River about seven years ago. She leaves a husband and one child, a son about 6 years old.

Robt. Lesure was down from Mt. Hood Tuesday. He reports that Peter Folthausen and Geo. Winner, the discoverers of the quartz mines on the East Fork, have gone to their mines accompanied by others from Mt. Hood neighborhood. H. H. Tomlinson, he says, is afflicted with something like erysipelas.

J. F. Armor added samples of potatoes to the collection of farm products in the Glacier window. His potatoes are of the Mammoth Pearl and Charles Downing early varieties. One spud weighs three pounds. Mr. Armor wants to know who can beat him. Bring in your potatoes.

Lyman Smith is delivering milk in town. He has three good cows and will get more if there is a demand for more milk. Mr. Smith has a good place for a dairy and can supply a good quality of milk. The milk famine can now be said to be at an end.

Robt. Rand says he will file a homestead on the gravel pit in the street in front of his property at Oak and Second streets and thinks there is brush enough in the street below to fence it.

The semi-annual meeting of the Wasco County Forest Protective association, that was to have met at the Dalles, has been changed to meet at Wamic, Friday, Nov. 5.

D. R. Cooper brought down a load of apples from his ranch at Mt. Hood on Saturday and shipped them to Portland. He says he will be hauling apples till next May.

At Sherrill's store is a picture that was captured in the Philippines by Roy Smith, who was taken from the insurgents' congressional hall.

The Y. P. S. C. E. society of the U. S. B. church will hold a business meeting at the home of Mrs. O. B. Hartley on Friday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Cole came over from Bingen on Tuesday and will remain with their son, W. B. Cole, and family during the winter.

Rev. C. F. Clapp, superintendent of home missions for Oregon, preached two able sermons at the Congregational church last Sunday.

March Morse, son of Lee Morse, has been quite sick at Davenport's mill, and Dr. Watt was called to attend him on Monday.

The annual meeting of stockholders of the Hood River Fruit Growers' Union will be held Saturday, Nov. 11th.

Chas. Rogers and family have moved to Portland for the winter. B. F. Belieu has moved into his house.

W. E. Sherrill is giving away handsome picture frames to purchasers of a $15 bed-room set.

Miss Kate Davenport went to Mosier Saturday evening to visit her parents over Sunday.

Rev. Benj. Davidson went to Mosier Saturday and held services at that place on Sunday.

Mrs. J. T. Hayne and niece, Mrs. Bousier, of Portland are stopping on the Watson place.

S. J. La France has lumber on the ground to make a sidewalk in front of his residence.

The U. S. quarterly conference will convene on Saturday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

An amusing incident occurred Wednesday. A woman who had come to town in a one-horse rig drove up in front of Evans & Russell's barber shop, and taking a bundle of hay from the buggy laid it on the barber shop porch, pulled off the bridle and let the horse enjoy the outfit stretched himself out on the porch and proceeded to take a snooze. A crowd of the idlers on Oak street gathered around and seemed to enjoy the scene more than anything the Halloween festivities had developed. Matt Russell came out and politely informed the woman that his place was not a corral and asked her to move on. The woman probably observed that things were running rather loose in our town and therefore could see no harm in feeding her horse on the steps of our tony barber shop.

Mrs. S. A. Knapp went to Viento on Tuesday night she stopped over till Wednesday evening attending to the wants of the ladies of that town in the millinery line. Monday night she set her alarm clock to wake her for the morning train but forgot to wind the clock. Mr. Knapp awoke at 8 minutes of 6, and they hustled around and made quick work of getting ready for her trip. In coming out of their front door they encountered the furniture that was strewn along their new sidewalk by the Halloween men, and as they were in the corner they ran into the fence that crossed the street, but they overcame all obstacles and reached the depot just in time.

Will Sears narrowly escaped a serious accident the other day. He was coming down the grade between Reynolds' place and the bridge with a load of wood when the king bolt of his wagon gave way and the wagon went down against the railing, knocking three panels of the railing down the bluff to the river below. One wheel of the wagon was off the grade, but by good luck and hard work he saved the whole outfit from going over.

Some of the bad boys around town have been guilty of stoning Ho My's wash house and smashed his street lantern by throwing stones. The authorities are watching the boys, and some of these days they may have to pay dearly for their fun if they do not desist in time.

The Glacier traded its Halloween pig on Wednesday to the People's Store man for a section of fence. Dallas claimed that he had a hen on the pig. The matter was referred to Judge Henderson, who decided that the pig had a lean on the flag pole.

Prof. Barnes and his grades of pupils at Barrett school visited Prof. Sherrill's room at Frankton Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Jensen was appointed in going to Astoria. The firm that engaged his services there, he found out, wanted a cheap man, and as he wasn't of that calibre, didn't go to work for them. He will go to San Francisco, where a man of his abilities is pretty sure to strike a good salary.
