

Hood River Glacier

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1899

BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

Thanksgiving. Vote next Tuesday. Bamboo furniture at Bartmess'. Rockers, cheap as the cheapest, at Bartmess'.

Two hand cook stove for sale at the City Bakery. Have you seen Bartmess' fine golden oak writing desks.

See those fine golden oak Xmas rockers at Bartmess'. F. F. Bradford is on the sick list and confined to the house. Exceptionally low prices on carpet at Bartmess' furniture store.

A few full blood Plymouth Rock roosters for sale by D. G. Hill. Old papers for sale at the Glacier office for two bits a hundred. Money to loan on real estate by JOHN L. HENDERSON, agt.

Mrs. O. H. Rhoads is quite sick with the grip and is under the doctor's care. Mrs. R. R. Erwin went to Portland last week to visit her daughter Nellie, who is attending school there. Lands bought, sold and exchanged at Emporium. Keep your eye on the Emporium ad. 21 page of GLACIER.

Mrs. Alma Howe returned on Thursday of last week from a trip to Astoria, where she went on a matter of business. Mrs. Geo. Nicolai and children came up from Portland the first of the week and are occupying their residence at the mill. The Travers Book and Card club calls for a special meeting tonight, Dec. 1st, at the school house. All members are requested to be present.

The Hood River post office was closed for two hours, last Saturday, out of respect for the vice president, whose funeral took place on that day. Dr. F. C. Brosius has returned and can be found in his office over Williams & Brosius' drug store, between the hours of 10-11 a. m., 2-3 and 6-7 p. m. Flint Bradford went to Portland on Saturday and saw the game of foot ball between the University team and the Multnomah. The score was 0 to 0. Miss Frieda Prigge started on Monday for Napa, Cal., where she will make her home for the next six months in the family of an uncle and learn dress making.

Winans Bros. are building a flume to carry water from Hood river to the ponds below town, for the purpose of making ice if the winter is cold enough for the purpose. Mrs. E. E. Lyons has not yet recovered from the injuries she received by falling from a wagon. She is now at home. Her little boy was sick last Saturday, threatened with scarlatina. The family of Oat Eastman is passing through a siege of affliction. Two of his boys are still very weak with typhoid fever, and now Oct is crippled with erysipelas in his left hand and arm.

Regular communication of Hood River Chapter, No. 25, O. E. S., Saturday evening, Dec. 2d. All members are requested to be present promptly at 7 o'clock. Work. Mrs. Eva B. Havens, W. M. The state road below the planer has been badly cut to pieces by the graders who are strengthening the railroad bed, but the contractors promise that it will soon be put in better shape than ever. Regular meeting of Canby post, G. A. R. and W. R. C., on Saturday, Dec. 2d. At this meeting officers for the ensuing year will be elected, and a full attendance of both post and corps is desired. The ladies of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet with Mrs. Flag at the residence of Mrs. Jackson, on Thursday, Dec. 7th, at 2.30 p. m. All members are urged to be present.

A special meeting of the common council was held on Tuesday, at which Honney moved that the judiciary committee be instructed to employ counsel to examine into the legality of our town ordinances and prosecute offenders of the same. Blowers moved to amend by submitting the matter to the attorney general of the state. The amendment was lost. The original motion carried by the following vote: Yeas—Bonney, Dukes, Ferguson; noes—Blowers, Bell. Mr. Bonney has since examined into the law more fully and finds that there is no need of employing counsel and will push the matter no further.

T. J. Cuning is making extensive improvements in his residence on the Markham place. He is putting in a bay window, with porches around the house, and on the inside is making radical changes. The kitchen is being enlarged by taking in the back porch. This will give Col. L. D. Blount, when he comes home, a better show for the dining table and will make room for more guests on state occasions. Mr. Cuning believes in making use of the services of J. L. Blount, who is an expert carpenter and builder, and these improvements are being made while he is with them.

Uncle George Booth was greatly delighted when he came to town last Saturday and saw the dog presented him by J. L. Atkinson. Clarence Knapp had informed him of the dog's arrival and described it as a "valley dog with long ears and looks like a hound." Uncle George didn't know but what a joke had been perpetrated by his friend Atkinson, but was rejoiced to find that the joke was by his neighbor, Knapp. Uncle George's new dog is the kind that any man would be proud to associate with.

Prof. Louis F. Henderson, professor of botany in the state university of Idaho, has been granted a year's leave of absence on half pay. Prof. Henderson will take a post graduate course at Harvard and will leave for Boston in a few days. His family will reside in Portland, and his mother, Mrs. C. L. Henderson, will come to Hood River and spend the winter with Dr. and Mrs. Barrett. H. F. Davidson will start next Monday for a visit to his old home in Canton, Illinois. He will be gone about a month, and during the time will visit Chicago and all the principal cities along the Northern Pacific and Central Pacific railroads, where he will look after markets for the products of the Davidson Fruit Co. cannery and for Hood River strawberries.

The weather continues springlike. Saturday, Sunday and Monday occurred the heaviest rainfall we have had in the city. Monday night a lively chinook wind prevailed, and Tuesday was like a spring day. Fruit buds are swelling, strawberry vines are blooming, and even apple trees in some places are in bloom. John L. Henderson has sold 28 lots in Barrett-Sigma addition, six of which he has retained, the present price until January 1st. He sold two to A. P. Holmes, last Saturday, and located him on a homestead on the East Side. Mr. Holmes will soon make his home in Hood River. Uncle Oliver Bartmess hauled off the piles of muck in Oak street, last week, in his wheel barrow and dumped it on Dallas' lot. Uncle Oliver is the best superintendent of streets the town ever had. He has swept the sidewalk clean for a whole block east of the U. B. church.

R. T. Mills arrived here with his family from Washoult by boat on Tuesday and will make his home here by the way of trade. Mr. Mills is an old soldier, having served in the 86th Illinois during the civil war. W. Watson presented the Glacier office with a supply of his nice crisp celery for Thanksgiving. Call at Everharts, and among the many nice things you will find there, don't forget the celery. G. W. Phelps and Miss Cora Hart were married in Hopner Nov. 27th. Bert Phelps, who is a Hood River boy, is now an attorney at law and a partner with ex-congressman Ellis. William George, who was a resident of Hood River last summer, was in town last week. He will move here again with his family from Portland next week.

The board of directors of the Hood River Fruit Growers' Union has rescinded the action of the former board in levying assessment No. 3. Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Potter will shortly leave for California, where they will spend the winter for the benefit of Mr. Potter's health. Mrs. Milton Sunderland of Portland visited Mrs. L. Henry and Mrs. Fred Howe and other friends in Hood River last week. Capt. H. C. Cook of White Salmon has been recommended for the position of census enumerator for western Klickitat county. D. E. Miller returned from Portland last week. He was taken sick in the metropolis, which detained him there two weeks. A fine line of fancy candies for sale at the factory can be found at W. B. Cole's confectionary—home-made and imported.

The Lost Lake Lumber Co. sent men up Hood river on Wednesday to drive logs. The river is at a booming stage. A birthday surprise party was given G. A. McCurdy on Tuesday evening, Nov. 28th, it being his 43rd birthday. For Sale at the Emporium—A quarter block in Parkhurst, only $100. Beautiful view. Size of lot 125 by 150 feet. Dr. T. E. Elliot was in the valley during the week and returned to Portland Wednesday evening. Miss Effie Hull and Mrs. W. S. Brown of Milton are visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Hershey. Contributions for the Children's Home can be left with Prof. Thompson up to Dec. 1st. Chris Bartsch and bride arrived Wednesday evening from their southern tour. Geo. W. Melatosch and family returned last Friday from their trip East. H. Prigge's big barn has been painted red and looms up grandly. Chas. M. Morgan, an attorney of Portland, was in town Monday.

In Webfoot. A letter from Earl Bartmess, who is a student at the agricultural college at Corvallis, to his father, contains the following: You spoke about the weather. Well, I do not like to speak of it, but really, it has only rained three times since we came here; the last time it commenced about a month ago, and I think it will not last much longer, for about one half of the Pacific has already been dumped over the mountains. If one falls off the sidewalk it is all off with him unless he can swim. Isn't this high collar craze getting to be something awful? It hasn't, as yet, struck our burg a very hard blow, but every day or so some whippersnapper with the old folks on his home in Illinois. Mr. Cople and family and brother Dell traveled for a month last fall by private conveyance over Eastern Oregon, and derived much pleasure and good health from the trip.

East Hood River.

Allen Fulton and family are preparing to move into Hood River from their farm at the summit of the Dalles Pass. V. Winchell recently sold 7 acres of land to Mr. Young, a resident of "the upper country." Have you noticed that the robin and the lark are flown? This means a severe winter or else a lot of badly footed birds. Heavy teaming over our roads continues and chucklecks are numerous. J. B. Jackson and L. Silliman have formed a partnership to cut 10 inch wood on a large scale during the winter; having received a new drag saw from Portland to be run by horse power. It is said that short length wood is becoming popular in the markets of Eastern Oregon.

Rev. Troy Shelley and daughter Pauline have extended their drive by team as far as San Francisco. Mr. Shelley has been almost an invalid for a number of years, and he will spend the winter at one of California's health resorts. He will change and diversion of travel have already been of good benefit to him. Teacher and pupils moved into the new school house last week. The new seats are of single type. All things combined with good ventilation and light make both parents and children happy. Cupid, that delightful little archer, is ever in our midst. Just at present he is very busy letting fly his shafts as he hurries to and fro in his "sweet chariot."

Mrs. Jerome Wells was recently down in the valley from their mountain home. Her health is much improved since her sojourn in the hospital at Portland and she feels quite hopeful of complete recovery. Comparatively few persons in Hood River valley realize the extent and value of the high table-land adjoining our eastern border. A considerable number settlers have located upon it during the past few years and no land is now available except through purchase. It has been demonstrated that fruit and a variety of other crops do well. New roads are being laid out and new school district and other important adjuncts to an interesting, intelligent community are within the possibilities of the near future.

The learned astrologer in the East, who has discovered that a year's miscalculation has been made on shooting stars, also adds that the last great display occurred in 1892 and 1893. Gillet & Rolfe's text book on astronomy tells us that the last great display took place in 1866 and 1867. It is about time now for some other wise man from the East to come forward and begot us some more. Mr. Hennagin and wife arrived home the first of the week after a short visit to their sons and daughters in Sherman county. G. D. Boardman and Bayard Young made a quick trip and returned to Sherman county last week. Mr. Boardman's son Charles, also returned with them. Geo. L. Robinson bought 20 acres of unimproved land of John Monroe. The deal was made on Monday through Geo. T. Prather.

Planner Notes. The new store has materialized and the boys can get their tobacco right at home. Raleigh Phelps laid off this week to haul lumber for his new residence which he will build opposite the Barrett school house on the land he bought from John Signa. Mr. Noble laid off on account of sickness in his family this week. John Forbes, who has been taking a vacation, began work Tuesday. It sounds like a battle with the Fillipino (?) when the blasts explode along the track where the graders are at work. Emory and Ona Davenport are attending school at Hood River. Miss Carrie Byerlee has returned from Portland and reports a very pleasant visit. The McCustions and P. J. Robbins moved to the wood camp cut on wood for Mr. Davenport.

Waggoner-Perham. A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 22d, when Miss Margaret Perham was united in marriage to George E. Waggoner. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. L. Perham, of the East Side. Rev. Thomas Boyd, D. D., of the Fourth Presbyterian church, officiated. The bride is a most popular young woman. The groom is chief clerk in the surveyor-general's office. A delicious wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Waggoner took the 7 o'clock train and a shower of congratulations for a trip through California. They will make their home in Portland.—Portland Telegram.

Thanksgiving Entertainment. The Christian Endeavor society of the U. B. church will give an entertainment in the church building on Thanksgiving evening at 8 o'clock. The programme will be a varied one and promises to be very interesting. A general admission of 15 cents will be charged. The following is the programme: Solo, selected, Delbert Rand. Recitation, "The Ride of Jennie McNeal," Grace Howell. Duet, "All Things are Beautiful," Miss Foss and Mrs. Hartley. Recitation, "The Editor's Guest," E. E. Fix. Solo, "Sing me a Song of the Sunny South," J. R. Nickelson. "Why six old maids and six old bachelors were never married." Oration, "Temple Building," S. E. Bartmess. Duet, "Floating down the River," Messrs. Gregory and Rand. Enigmy, "The American Brutus—Robt. E. Lee," H. K. Benson. Guitar duet, selected, Mr. and Mrs. Knapp. "R. O." drill, announced.

At The Dalles. Robt. Rand was in The Dalles several days last week and was allowed to come home again without being banded or getting in the lock-up. He says that while he was walking about the city, reading the signs and talking in the sights, he found a man too drunk to navigate living in an alley, meeting with a couple of men on the next corner, he asked: "What's the matter with that man?" One of the men replied that he guessed he was a little tired. "Well," said our Bob, "I'll bet he is a republican." "I'll take the bet," said the man addressed. "I'll bet the cigars for the crowd that he isn't a republican." "All right," said Bob, and the three went to the third citizen, and Bob shook him and said: "Wake up here! Are you a republican?" "Y-a-a-s," came the stupid answer, and Bob snickered at the expense of the other fellow, and now wakes up in the night and laughs to think how easy it is to win a bet like that in The Dalles.

Among the Poets. The young folks of the Epworth League held an apple social at the home of M. V. Rand. The chief game of the evening was the apple-pie game. Each person was given a slip of paper with a letter and a name on. These were put together formed the name of an apple. Verses of poetry were then written on the names thus formed. Following are the verses that were written—the first taking the little apple pie, the second taking no apple pie: (1) By the old Bellflower law I'll marry this Indian to the squaw; D. D. of the Fourth Presbyterian church, I'll try and do my very best.

We find the name is Maiden Bush; But we didn't find it in a rush. But we were guessing just the same, O'clock train amid a shower of rain, such other words were surely maiden; And when we counted up to see, We found it suited to the tree.

Crab apple, Crab apple, you dear little friend, sweetness you're none, but sweetness to lend. But oh, when cold days and snow are at hand, Crab apple sauce is the best in the land. While boring for coal on Seufert Bros. place, half a mile above The Dalles, last week, workmen struck artesian water 100 feet below the surface. A good supply of water is thrown 20 feet into the air. Married. In Portland, Nov. 22, 1899, Dr. E. L. Niskern and Miss Sallie Butler. At The Dalles, Nov. 27, 1899, Wayne Robertson and Miss Effie Evans, both of White Salmon, Wash.
