It is again a strife between McKinley and Bryan, but with entirely of a new civilization. Much of the land new issues. The position of the two is still held by wealthy Hindoos as wild verse of four years ago. In 1898 the democrats were in power, and the country was just beginning to recover from the throes of a financial crisis, for which the party was made to appear responsible by the republican campaigners. for seasons of drouth, the Christian world would not have before it such a desolate picture as India presents today. that they were found wanting. So there was a change. Today, the administration has on its hands the unpleasant task of explaining the unsuppressed Philippine insurrection, the discriminsting tariff against Porto Rico and the Luban postal scandal. Such mistakes as these, so early in a career of colonial expansion, are very apt to furnish material for serious consideration of the wisdom of supporting the new venture which the present administration has thrust upon the nation. Four years ago the democrats presented Bryan with the to do noble things, not dream them all day long. Take this matter up, brothers, and see what can be done. It is worth servative element of voters elected Mc-Kinley in order to save the country from the evils of a debased currency. Today, the paramount issue is imperialism, whether or not the United States shall enter upon a colonial policy. The republicans will term it "expansion" and maintain that the national honor and welfare demand a retention of the Islands Spain lost to us in the recent war, while the democrats, the opposition party, will use as their shibboleth, "anti-imperialism," and will lay the structure democracy to join with us in a rally to be held at the Baldwin opera house next Saturday evening, July 14, 1900, at 8:30 for the purpose of ratifying the nomination of W. All intelligent readers are well 30th in the sum of $410.80. aware that the ably written and unbiased reports of the convention given out by the Associated Press go to prove that the mention of silver created little enthusiasm, while the part of the platform touching on imperialism stirred the delegates to the wildest enthusiasm ever witnessed at a political convention. The enlightenment of the average indiyidual has reached a stage where he would prefer honesty even in politics.

The O. R. & N. Co., it is said, reports the shipment of 75 carloads of strawberries from Hood River during the season just closed. This may be an overpstimate, as the crop fell short. But the prices received were better than for several years, and the amount of money received by the growers has encouraged them to give more attentian to the berry crop. The work of setting new plants has already commenced, and the acreage for next year promises to be greatly increased.

The apple crop, from present indications, will be the best ever gathered in Hood River. The codlin moth is not much in evidence so far this season even where the trees have but been provided in the tree trees and the tree trees and the tree trees and the tree trees are trees and the tree trees are trees and the trees are tree where the trees have not been sprayed, but it is time enough yet for their work, The large orchards are being sprayed and every precaution is being taken to save the apples from this destructive insect.

The object of the meeting was to raise funds to assist in releiving famine-stricken India. The programme was rendered as printed in last week's GLACIER, and the nent sum of $35 was raised to swell the India relief fund. The exercises opened with a hymn, and scripture reading and prayet by Mrs. McMillan. The church choir furnished special music, and there were vocal solos by Mrs. Helen G. Bateham, Mrs. A. B. Canfield and Mrs. Louise Boyden, a violin solo by Clarane Gilbert, and a duet by Mrs. Armor and Gilbert, and a duet by Mrs. Armor and Bev. Hershner. Recitations were given by Miss Eva Nicklason and Noia Atter-bury. Select readings on the the great India famine were presented by Mr-Wharton, Mrs. Belle Howe and Mrs. Minnie Rand.

The Senator for June contains the following generous offer made by one of our prominent citizens: In a conversation with Bro. George T. Prather of Hood River, recently, he in-formed the Senator that he would donate two acres of land in a sightly location at Hood River, the famous strawberry valley, for the erection of an indigent Pythian and Widow's and Orphan's home provided the grand and subordi-nate lodges would build and maintain the same.
