

Hood River Glacier

FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, 1900.

Hood River has long felt the need of printed matter that would answer questions propounded by home-seekers, in regard to climate, schools, churches, land values, fruit growing, etc. To meet this demand, the GLACIER, in partnership with E. R. Bradley, Hood River's job printer, will issue, about August 15th, a 40-page pamphlet giving a history of the town of Hood River and valley, its settlement, industries, resources, etc. The write-up will be the best Hood River has ever had. The book will contain illustrations and will be something worth sending to home-seekers or persons asking for information in regard to Hood River. A limited number of pages will be devoted to advertisements of home merchants at the rate of $10 a page. Advertisers will be given copies of the book at the rate of 50 to a page ad. Three thousand copies will be printed. The book will be sold at 10 cents a copy.

The situation in South Africa is undoubtedly averse to an early establishment of peace negotiations, especially when the Boer army is able to make successful raids in cutting Lord Roberts' communications by rail and telegraph, and in capturing companies of Highlanders, as happened last month, though the announcement of the British policy has already been made by Sir Alfred Milner, governor of Cape Colony, in his speech opening the Cape Colony parliament. He referred to the patriotic manner in which the self-governing colonies had responded to Great Britain's call for aid, but added that there from Cape Colony concerned in the rebellion would have to answer for their conduct. The English parliament will be asked to provide a special court for trying the Cape Colony rebels. The penalty, upon conviction, will be disfranchisement and deprivation of other civil rights for a term of five years or more, according to degree of treason.

The national teachers' association met last month at Charleston, S. C. Dr. James M. Greene, principal of the state normal school at Trenton, N. J., was elected president, and the next meeting will be held at Detroit or Cincinnati. The association's committee on resolutions recommended that the American common school system be extended to Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippine islands in order that "knowledge may be generally diffused therein and that the foundations of social order and effective local self-government be laid in popular intelligence and morality." The system, if established in our insular possessions, would be under national control and expense, and free from ecclesiastical influence or control. This would break the power of the friars in the Philippines who obstruct civilization by their medieval tenets which unite church and state.

The second number of the Quarterly of the Oregon Historical Society has been distributed. The leading articles in this issue are "The Oregon Question," by Joseph B. Wilson; "Our Public Land System," by Francis F. Victor. Mrs. William Markland Mosley writes "Glimpses of Life in Early Oregon." H. W. Scott has an article showing that the Spanish word "Oregon" (Marjoram) is not the original of Oregon. There are a number of other good articles pertaining to the early history of our state. A file kept of the Quarterly will some day furnish an interesting history of Oregon, told as it happened by the men and women who braved the hardships of pioneer life to reclaim Oregon for civilization.

The Antelope Republican is agitating the question of having the next legislature form a new county from parts of Wasco and Crook, the new county to be named Stockman. It urges the question on the grounds that such action would bring economy and low taxation for the people of the proposed new county.

The Arlington Independent came out last week in a special edition of all home print. The issue contained a creditable write-up of Arlington and Gilliam county, illustrated with a number of good half-tones.

The National League of Press clubs holds its next session at Portland, Or.

Ascended Mt. Rainier. Ralph Savage returned Tuesday night from Tacoma. While there he made a trip to Mt. Rainier, and last Friday climbed to the summit of the snow peak 14,800 feet high. He made the 75 miles from Tacoma to the mountain by bicycle, and spent a number of days at Paradise valley, where he fell in with two traveling men from Seattle, and together they secured the services of a guide for $25 and made the ascent of the mountain. The ascent was made the first night to Muir camp, at an altitude of 10,000 feet, where the party camped for the night. The air was very light, and comfortable sleep was out of the question on account of the cold and a smothering sensation caused by the high altitude. The start for the summit was begun at 3:20 in the morning, and the summit was reached at 10 o'clock. The route up the mountain is much more dangerous and harder of ascent than that of Mt. Hood, though not steep. The most dangerous point is the narrow ledge at the head of the alpine slope over Nesqueally glacier, where there is just room for passage by hugging the overhanging rocks. The path was slippery from ice formed by the melting snow which trickles from the projecting rocks. Aspen sticks are depended upon for crossing this place, a misty wind would send one to instant death thousands of feet below in the great crevasses of the glacier. Further up the mountain there are crevasses, which have to be crossed by snow bridges. While crossing over this part of the mountain, one of the Seattle men fell into a small crevasse, and getting out of that he went into another. This took away his nerve that he was completely played out when the summit was reached, a few hundred feet up the trail. The top is a big crater, and its high sides do not permit a panoramic view of the surrounding country, which is obtained only by making the circuit of the crater, a distance of two or three miles. The route of ascent is very rugged and presents no fields of snow for casting as are found on Hood and Adams. Mr. Savage says the accommodations along the road to the mountain and at Paradise valley are very primitive, the hotels being only tents or buildings made of shakes. His party was the second to make the trip this summer.

The steamer Billings, of the Paul Mohr portage company, while making her first trip from Wallula to Columbus, Monday, ran on the rocks at Quinn's below Arlington, and her bow was smashed in.

A party of students from the university of California returned last week from a month spent in the fossil fields of the John Day country. They secured about two tons of fossils of animals, some of which are very valuable. Among them were three heads and portions of the bones of the species known as the three-toed horse, besides numerous bones of mastodon and rhinoceros.

Sheriff Frazier of Multnomah county was at the Dalles and in the interior last week, securing cavalry and artillery horses for the government. He shipped a cartload from the Dalles and sent 80 head across the country from Crook county. He says there will be considerable demand for good horses this summer and fall.

Bun Ferrill was landed in the county jail at The Dalles, Sunday, charged with larceny of a lady's watch and chain from the house of C. L. Rogers. One Sunday morning about a month ago, while the family were at church, thieves entered Mr. Rogers' house and took a gold watch and chain from a bureau top. The articles were valued at $100, and when the thieves offered the same for sale to a jeweler at The Dalles for $40, suspicion was at once aroused that they were stolen property. The watch was detained by the jeweler and returned by officers to the rightful owner, whose name was inscribed in the case, but the thieves eluded capture. Ferrill was apprehended in Albany and brought to The Dalles by Constable Frank Hill. The accused recently served a term in the Linn county jail for petty larceny.

Dyspepsia can be cured by using Acker's Dyspepsia Tablets. One little tablet will give immediate relief or money refunded. 25c and 50c. Williams & Brosius.

The state board of agriculture is making a great effort this year to make the state fair a representative agricultural and live stock show. The premium list is out and is being thoroughly distributed throughout the state, and personal efforts are being made to attract the attention of farmers and stockmen to the very liberal premiums offered. Several counties in the state are preparing a county exhibit for the fair, for they realize it will be a good opportunity to advertise their county in a most practical way. Each exhibit will be a lecture room, and an object lesson for the home-seeker, where he can get information, along intelligent lines, and will be worth many dollars in advertising the county's resources.

The town of Stevenson is to have telephone connections with Cascade Locks and the outside world.

"My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhea," says J. H. Doak of Williams, Or. "We were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale by Williams & Brosius.

"Through the months of June and July our baby was teething and took a running off of the bowels and sickness of the stomach," says O. P. M. Holliday, of Deming, Ind. "His bowels would move from 5 to 8 times a day. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house and gave him four drops in a spoonful of water and he was better at once." Sold by Williams & Brosius.

County Superintendent Gilbert will hold the regular quarterly teachers' examination for state and county papers at The Dalles, Aug. 8th to 11th.

Capt. H. C. Coe passed through town Saturday night on his way to Wallula to take command of the steamer Billings for the Paul Mohr portage company. It was some 19 years since steambot traffic was suspended between Collio and points above, and it is said that only two of the old upper river pilots are left, all the others being dead or having gone elsewhere.—Chronicler.

A hotel man in Portland, Me., made a bet of a hat with a friend and lost. The loser telegraphed to the winner: "Get just as good a hat as you want; in fact, buy any kind of a hat that suits you and have them send the bill to me." In a day or two a bill of $35 from a well-known Congress street milliner for a woman's hat was received by the loser. The winner calmly informed him that he was pretty well fixed for hats himself and thought he'd turn the thing over to his wife. It was a hat and the hotel man paid.

Sick headache absolutely and permanently cured by using Moki Tea. A pleasant herb drink. Cures constipation and indigestion, makes you eat, sleep, work and happy. Satisfaction guaranteed or money back. 25c and 50c. Williams & Brosius.

An immense amount of damage has been done within the last few days to clover, potatoes, gardens and other green crops by a species of army or cut worm that has infested nearly all sections of the Willamette valley and coast districts. They have not yet appeared in Southern or Eastern Oregon.

Ascended Mt. Rainier.

Lazy Livers

are many times the cause of various ailments. Single pills are said to be troubled with liver and stomach troubles, indigestion, biliousness, sluggish liver, etc.

Baldwin's Health Tablets

No. 25

These tablets act as a gentle laxative, and make the bowels regular, and the stomach do their duty as they should. They also stimulate the liver, and cause it to secrete bile, which is necessary to the digestion of food. They also act as a purgative, and cause the elimination of all the impurities of the system. They are sold in packages of 25c and 50c, and can be procured at Oregon Game Season.

The closed season for killing game in Oregon is as follows:

Grouse—It shall be unlawful to kill, injure or destroy any grouse at any time between the first day of November and the first day of August of the following year. The killing of more than 15 birds in one day is prohibited.

Pheasant and Quail—Shooting or killing at any time is prohibited.

Prairie Chickens—Closed season between November 15th and Sept. 1st of the following year.

Duck—Closed season between March 15th and Sept. 15th of each year.

Trout(all species)—Closed season from November 1st to April 1st of the following year. It is unlawful at any time to take, kill, capture or have in possession any trout, char or salmon less than five inches in length. Trout may be taken with hook and line only.

Eel—Killing prohibited before Dec. 1, 1910.

Deer—Closed season between November 1st and July 15th of the following year.

A Valuable Fruit.

Ripe uncooked apples are among the most valuable of our fruits. It has been said that any man who can and will eat two good-sized apples in the course of every 24 hours will never have gout, and if this destroyer of comfort has already fastened its fangs in his system, apples will vanquish even the most persistent form of this legacy of luxurious living, writes Mrs. N. S. Stowell. Raw apples are much to be preferred for health reasons to those that are cooked. Heat makes chemical changes and destroys or vitalizes an acid that seems to act directly on the lime, salt and earthy matter created in the system by gouty and rheumatic conditions. As a next alternative baked apples are commended. Baked apple pudding, made with granulated sugar, is good, and excellent and healthful. Baked sweet apples and cream are a dish fit for a king. Sour apples are good if not too acid. They sometimes sour the cream, in which case they may cause distress, especially if eaten by delicate children.

A Minister's Good Work.

"I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power of Emory, Ia. My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor. He used them for three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. He went over to see him next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that they had been running off so long it was almost bloody flux. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and he said: "I went home and brought my bottle and gave it to him and he took it and in 15 or 20 minutes it did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured. For sale by Williams & Brosius.

The D. P. & A. N. Co. has bought the trade, which has been running between The Dalles and Portland during the summer, and after it has been overhauled and repainted will be put on the run between The Dalles and Cascade Locks. It will leave the locks every morning except Sunday, arrive here at noon and return to the Reliance on its return to Portland.
