

Hood River Glacier.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 17, 1900.

A recent report of the treasury bureau of statistics states that the gold production of 1899 in the United States, as estimated by the director of the mint, was $72,500,000. This is far greater than the largest annual production for any former year, that of 1853, soon after the development of newly discovered gold fields, being $65,000,000, and the production of 1898 was $64,000,000. But the United States gold producers are not alone active. Although our average annual production is twice what it was ten years ago, the world's production in 1899 is estimated at $315,000,000 as compared with $123,000,000 in 1889. Figures show the gold production of the world from 1892 to 1899 to have been $3,129,720,000, while the production between 1851 and 1899 was $6,065,631,000. The modern demand for the precious metal has produced twice as much of it in the last 50 years as had been obtained in the preceding 350 years. The treasury statement attributes the marked increase in the amount of money in circulation in the United States in part to the rapid production of gold. It finds of all kinds of money in circulation in 1900, $2,062,425,400, or a per capita of $26.50, made up in part of gold and silver certificates to the amount of $815,474,400. There never was so much money in the country, and never before so large a metal backing for the currency.

The Portland Evening Telegram is devoting its editorial page Saturday evenings to articles on current topics furnished by men and women throughout the state who are of other than the newspaper profession—men and women prominent in public life, or anyone who can write anything worth reading. The articles printed make good reading matter, but they only tend to give the reading public an opportunity to appreciate all the more the regular newspaper editorials. The busy public demands editorial comment, but it wants such to be ably written, short and to the point, and it takes an experienced editorial writer to furnish material of this kind for the great daily papers.

The Arlington Independent comes out now as a six-column, all home print. Editor Hicks desires to succeed in his enterprising venture, for he is getting out the nearest and newest list of country weekly in Eastern Oregon. His advertising patronage, though, is not what a town the size of Arlington should give a live paper of the Independent's worth.

Wasco County at the Portland Carnival. The Dalles lodge of Elks are making praiseworthy efforts to have Wasco county well represented at the carnival and street fair to be held in Portland, Sept. 4th to 15th. They will spare neither money nor effort to make Wasco county's exhibit the best the country has ever had. At a meeting last week committee members were appointed from the various sections of the county to promote the object in view. Emil Schanno of The Dalles is chairman and general manager. Those appointed from Hood River are: E. Smith, N. C. Evans and H. F. Davidson. The Portland and Wasco county committees have offered to give Wasco county any amount of space in the agricultural palace that may be considered necessary, from 50 to 150 feet. The O. R. & N. Co. offers to carry the exhibits to Portland without charge. The fruit growers and farmers of Wasco county have the products to make the best horticultural and agricultural exhibit in the state. Hood River has the fruit to make the horticultural exhibit, and if our fruit growers will furnish the Hood River committee chosen samples of their fruit, Messrs. Smith, Evans and Davidson will arrange for an attractive exhibit at the street fair, with out any expense or further trouble to the growers. If the Hood River fruit growers furnish the fruit, the awarding judges at the Portland fair will furnish the prizes.

Easy Enough. Mrs. W. W. Rawson of Three Mile left at this office today an apple of the Beltzheimer variety that measures 1 1/2 inches in circumference and weighs one pound and four ounces. Who can beat it?—Dalles Chronicle, Aug. 8, 1900.

Hon. E. L. Smith left at this office a Beltzheimer apple that measures 1 1/2 inches in circumference and weighs one pound and seven ounces. We will meet you on the "midway plain" at the Portland carnival with bigger apples still, Mr. Chronicle.

Some of those who are watching the Belgian hare craze which is sweeping this country at present fear that when it subsides the country will be afflicted with a pest that will threaten the agriculture. P. S. Palmer, the acting chief of the biological survey, has sent out warning letters in which he suggests that steps be taken to keep under observation the hares that have been liberated and that all possible measures be adopted to discourage the liberation of the animals. All countries have these crazes for animals not indigenous to them. Japan twenty years ago went mad over rabbits and pigs and the speculators made vast sums of money out of them.

A Dutchman addressing his dog said: "My dog, you haf a schnap. You vas only a dog, and I vas a man, but I vish I vas you. Efery vay you haf the best of it. Ven you vant to go mit der bed in, you stumt durns around t'ree times and lay down. Ven I go mit ter bed in, I haf to lock up der bace and vint der clock and undress mine self und my vife vakes up and scolds me, den der baby cries und I haf to vavk up und down, den der bymby ven I stust get to sleep it is time to get up again. Ven you get up you stretch und scratch a couple of times und you are up. I haf to light a fire und put on the kettle, scrap some mit my vife already und den maybe I get some breakfast. You play round all day und haf plenty of fun. I haf to work all day und haf plenty of trouble. Ven you die you still haf the best of me; you stumt lie still. Ven I die, I haf to go to hell yet."—E.

One of the most lonesome persons in the world is a well-beloved man when his family is out of town for the summer.—Hugh Gourlay in Dalles Chronicle.

The Davidson Fruit Co. shipped a car load of green fruit Wednesday and will ship another car early next week.

An Iowa Institution. Few people in this vicinity are aware of the magnitude of the business of the Chamberlain Medicine Company, of Des Moines, Iowa. From a small beginning it has grown into one of the most important industries in that state and is a source of pride to Iowa people. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy are staple throughout the United States and in many foreign countries; and it is especially gratifying to know that they are worthy of their popularity. The Chamberlain Medicine Co. use in one year over 40 carloads of bottles; 21 carloads of lumber for packing cases, and 15 carloads of printing paper for advertising matter; over 400 barrels of the finest quality of loaf sugar are used each year in the manufacture of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

In their printing department 11 printing presses are constantly employed in printing their advertising matter, labels and directions. Directions for use are printed in 28 languages. They employ 36 salesmen, 32 of whom travel in the United States and 4 in foreign countries, and have over 100 employees in their laboratory. They are now building a new laboratory, 188 x 115 feet, four stories high, fitted throughout with the most modern appliances.

The Oregon press association will meet this year at Ashland, Or., on September 19th and 20th. Before proceeding to the meeting place they will be guests of the agricultural state fair association at Salem on the 18th, and thence proceed to Ashland.

The seventh annual Spokane Industrial exposition will be held in that city Oct. 24 to 16th, inclusive. The management have promises of large and varied exhibits of all classes of fruits, grain, grasses, vegetable roots, poultry and minerals. An attractive feature will be the Royal Marine band of Italy, an attraction of sufficient magnitude itself to insure success.

"My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhoea," says J. H. Doak of Williams, Or. "We were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale by Williams & Brosius.

The Strawberry Grub Worm. It appears to be settled that many of the strawberry growers in the vicinity of Mt. Tabor will be compelled to plow up their patches and put in some other crops. The little white grubs which have been attacking them cannot be disposed of advantageously any other way; they come from a beetle which in the disposition of the eggs and hatching of larvae cannot be satisfactorily combated with straw patches, although by mowing and burning as soon as the crop is harvested will destroy many of them. The little grubs are not only found to be around strawberry roots, but other plant roots as well. They do not trouble cultivated ground to any extent, therefore a few years of cultivation and rotation of crops will again place the ground in condition to receive the strawberry plants; but any one looking at the strawberry bunch in some of the infested patches, when it is pulled up, and see the hundreds of little grubs feeding on the roots, would wonder if there is any such thing possible as getting them out of the ground. They are a new thing in this vicinity, and the etymologist at Corvallis has no satisfactory method of combating them aside from that of cultivation.—Pacific Farmer.

"Through the months of June and July our baby was teething and took a running off of the bowels and sickness of the stomach," says O. P. M. Holliday, of Deming, Ind. "His bowels would move from 5 to 8 times a day. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house and gave him four drops in a spoonful of water and he got better at once." Sold by Williams & Brosius.

An Adventure on Wheels. Three smart young men and three nice girls, all lovers true as steel—Decided, in a friendly way, To spend the day wheeling. They started in the early morn, And nothing seemed amiss; And when they reached the leafy lanes They rode like this: They wandered by the vacant dale, Beside the rippling rill; The sun shone brightly all the while; They heard the song birds trill; They sped through many a woodland glade, The world was full of bliss; And when they rested in the shade, They sat like this: The sun went down and evening came, A lot too soon, they said; Too long they tarried on the way; The clouds grew black and overhead Down dashed the rain! They homeward flew, Till one unlucky miss; Slipped and fell the Great Scott! The lot Were all mixed up like this!

Distress after eating is caused from the stomach not beginning its work immediately. Until it gets to work you feel distressed—the food lies in your stomach like a weight.

To start digestion—to make the stomach do its work you must assist it if your stomach is weak or slow to work.

A Minister's Good Work. "I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power of Emporia, Kans. My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two bottles of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and in three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. I went over to see him next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that they had been running off so long it was almost bloody flux. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and he said "No." I went home and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose, told him to take another in 15 or 20 minutes if he did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured.
