Dr. J. F. Watt has been appointed physician and surgeon for the men employed in railroad construction work on the O. R. & N., between Cascade Locks and The Dalles.
George Booth of the East Side sent the Glacier samples of his big Gravenstein and Gloria Mundi apples. A Gloria Mundi, though as yet only half matured, weighed 18 ounces.

Roy Stoen, who is employed in the office of the American Sugar and Wine company, Washburn & Moen department, at San Francisco, is doing nicely and was recently promoted.
Frank Davenport of Davenport Bros., Hood River, made a short business trip to this city last week. His firm are now operating a box plant in connection with their mills.—Oregon Timberman.

The Frankton school will begin September 1st. J. F. Arnold has completed the improvements to the school building. A bell and a clock have been purchased by the school board.
Harbison Bros., reporting for the crop bulletin, state that the wheat crop on the East Side is turning out from 16 to 22 bushels per acre, and is of excellent quality. Oats are yielding from 30 to 35 bushels.

Chas. Chandler has a prune tree, bearing this year for the first time, that he always thought was a seedling plum. It proves to be an Italian prune, but it is at least one month earlier than his other Italians.
Albert Johnson and family of Seapoint visited his brother-in-law, W. B. Cole, the first of the week. Mr. Johnson is a dairyman, milks about 40 cows, runs a separator and sells his cream in Portland for 50 cents a gallon.

Dr. F. C. Brosius has removed to his new residence at the west end of Oak street, midway between the school house and armory, and can be found in his office between the hours of 10-11 a. m., 2-3 and 6-7 p. m.

Following are the republican nominations for the offices of justice of the peace and constable of Trout Lake and White Salmon precincts of Klickitat county: Trout Lake—C. H. Pearson, justice; W. E. O'Neil, constable; White Salmon—Peter Grosing, justice; Frank Grosing, constable.

W. A. Slingerland hauled out a load of casks on Saturday, which he intends to fill with blackberry wine and cider. His team stood for some time in front of the Glaciers office, many citizens seemed to think we were going into the salmon business and called to offer congratulations.
Paul C. Bates of Portland, special agent for Cotton Bell & Co. of San Francisco, arrived up on Monday evening. Mrs. Bates was accompanied by F. S. Kelley, secretary of the Portland Flouring Co., and Tuesday morning the two gentlemen left for an outing at Cloud Gap Inn and Lost Lake.

Mrs. R. Pealer has had good success raising chickens this summer. She had 40 young turkeys, but the boys and girls had a habit of feeding on turkey and ate up all but 15. The boys also got away with all but two of a batch of guinea fowls, including a white one that Mrs. Pealer was especially desirous of raising.
Over fifty varieties of cultivated fruits were ripe at one time and on exhibition for several days last week at the Columbia Nurseries. The number of varieties of each kind was as follows: Apples 10, plums 11, pears 5, peaches 2, currants 3, cherries 4, raspberries 1, blackberries 3, elderberries 1.

Tilton & Greenham of Portland were awarded the contract for putting in new heaters in the Hood River school house. The contract calls for the old one and an additional heater for $400. The contractors agree to heat the whole building up to 65 degrees in the coldest weather.
Chas. Chandler presented the Glacier Monday, with samples of what he calls his seedling Italian prunes. The prunes come from a seedling tree which has the thorns and every indication of a seedling plum tree, but the fruit has all the qualities in flavor and color of the real Italian prunes, though it ripens fully a month earlier. This fruit ought to be valuable for propagation.

Four men were injured near Venita last Friday by the falling of a mill race bridge on which they were working. The men were Jesse Moore, son of Ike Moore of The Dalles, was injured in the back, but not seriously. Pete Johnson, who was working a pile driver, whose knee was injured. Another man, whose name was not remembered, was injured internally. The men were taken to St. Vincent's hospital.

By an oversight the Glacier failed to mention, last week, the return of S. J. LaFrance from his extended visit in the East. He returns hale and hearty, says he had a good time and never missed a meal, but thought it seemed good to get back to Hood River. He visited relatives in New York, state whom he had not seen for 30 years. Mr. LaFrance arrived in the East in time to take in the republican national convention at Philadelphia, where he secured a seat with the Oregon delegation through the courtesy of Congressman Moody. The convention was a great affair. Mr. LaFrance had a chance at the convention to see the much-talked about Mark Hanna, than whom, he says, no man is more abused or so grossly misrepresented. He says there was no pleasanter or more affable man in the convention hall than Mark Hanna, and that he was in fact being the victim of a "miserable, mean and low-down" plot by the cartoonists. And he had no other marks on his clothes. Times are lively in the Eastern states, with everybody at work and no complaint about hard times.

Hon. Leslie Butler arrived in Hood River, Saturday night, from a month's trip to Juneau, Alaska. Mr. Butler says Juneau and Skagway have lost their former evening mining boom. The stamp mills at Juneau are still operating on the mountain of ore there, but the country now offers little or no inducement to American capital and enterprise as the British interests have a complete monopoly of transportation to the Lake Bennett railroad, and the custom laws of the land enable Canadians, importing goods to Dawson and the interior, to ship their cargoes in bond from Vancouver to Skagway, and thus to undersell American competitors who are compelled to pay a duty which is estimated on the value of their goods as purchased at Skagway. An exception is made in the shipments of meats and canned milk which pay specific duty.

W. E. Sherrill came up from Stevenson Friday. He says hot sulphur springs have been discovered three miles back from the town, on a good road, and that steps are being taken to develop them and furnish a resort for invalids. Stamb at docks are being built and steamboats will be supplied with wood at that point, which will bring in about $500 a month. Stevenson is the county seat of Skamania county, Wash., and every thing is favorable to its becoming a live business town. It is lumbering interests are among the best along the Columbia river; its government land in the foot hills is furnishing lumber and some day will be taken up by the Stevensons and Skamania county is bright.

Sam Blowers and Thos. Kent, Jr., started Wednesday morning on a fishing jaunt to the headwaters of Hood river. Sam left town nutted in a big sweater, but was seen near Tucker's mill grooming down to walking costume. Later in the afternoon he was met on the beach hill, where he was inquiring whether there were any grones in the neighborhood. A gentleman informed him that he had just passed a few down the road, and had known of a pine tree so coming would have tied one to a pine tree so to afford a dead center shot.

The small-pox patients at Underwood's land are fast recovering, and as no new cases are breaking out all danger of a further spread of the disease is likely to be over. The health officer of Klickitat county managed to place a close quarantine over the houses where the small pox first appeared and there was never further spread of it. None of the patients were at any time very sick, and most of them did not even stop out of their work.

The Nicolai-Cameron mill company here had a large force of men at work at their logging camp on Underwood mountain since the small pox broke out in that district, but the log chute to the Columbia has been cut and the mill is now in operation. The company expect to be taking logs from their half section of school land, by the 1st of September.

Mrs. Louisa Boyden contemplates giving another recital, comprising elocution and music, about the first week in September. She will be assisted by seven of her pupils and some of the best musicians in the city. The affair promises to be one of unusual interest to the Hood River people who appreciate something good.

The editor of the Glacier, accompanied by Rev. J. L. Hershner and G. R. Castner, left Monday morning for Lakeview, where they are living on beans and bacon, and wishing Mart Rand were along to catch the wild trout that seem to them as an iridescent dream.
Mrs. R. Pealer left at this office a large basket of Gravenstein apples and "Johns" pears that are very fine. The pears get their name from the fact that her brother Johnny sent the grafts from Ohio, and she has continued to call them "Johns" pears.

C. B. Atterbury and son Charles left Thursday for Portland, where they will take steamer for Oakland, California. Charles goes to Palo Alto to enter the freshman class at Stanford university. After spending four years at this institution he will continue his studies in the East, at Cornell.

Capt. Blowers, hearing of the big peaches exhibited at the Glacier office, concluded to break the record with fruit from his town orchard, and did so by bringing in a basket of peaches, all of which measured 10 1/2 inches in circumference. No 11's.

A law seal will be given on the Hartley lawn this (Friday) evening. Everyone is invited to come and have a good time. Ice cream in quantity will be sold to parties for supper.

Contractor Peterson of Portland arrived Tuesday morning and has begun the erection of C. B. Atterbury's substantial residence on his farm near Frankton.

Ralph Savage was in Hood River Sunday. Ralph is employed at the government hatchery at the mouth of the Little White Salmon.
All members of Hood River band are requested to meet at the band room this (Friday) evening at 8 o'clock. David Fleming, secretary.

C. T. Bonney finds his time occupied at his logging camp so has appointed Ed. Maves foreman of Reciprocity corner.

Little Florence Brosius entertained a large number of her friends at her home, last Saturday afternoon, from 2 to 6 o'clock, the occasion being Florence's fifth birthday. The children enjoyed themselves in games, recitations and songs, and were treated to a delicious lunch served by Mrs. Brosius, who was assisted by Mrs. Chris Bartch and Miss Clara Blythe. Miss Florence was the recipient of many valuable presents. The little folks who enjoyed the hospitality of Miss Florence were: Aldine Hartness, Marie Hartness, Florence (sister), Ruth Hanna, Katharine Hartley, Howard Hartley, Lesse Arnold, Marjorie Arnold, Estee Brosius, George Howland, Helen Howe, Edith Burke, Ruth Harlow, Hester Harlow, Eva Yates, Richard Yates, Lelia Hershner, Faith Hartlett, Lawrence Hershner, Claude Thompson, Aubrey Blowers, Gertrude Erwin, Master Roe, Angus McDonald, Edith McDonald, Ellen McDonald, Mildred Fredericks, Malcolm button, Teddington, Everett Rand, Laura Rand, Hazel Olinger, Anna Gerdes, Nellie Blowers, Paul Blowers, Lawrence Gerdes, Donald Nickelsen.

Fruit Fair Meeting.

Fruit growers and all citizens interested in Hood River holding a fruit fair this year are asked to meet at the A. C. U. W. hall, Saturday afternoon at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of arranging for the fair and reorganizing the board of managers of the Hood River Fruit Fair association. The association has a surplus of over $20 left from the 1898 fair, and affairs can easily be perfected for a fair this fall, the benefits of which need not be reiterated here. Com.

Having purchased W. M. Stewart's interest in the firm of Rand & Stewart I will continue the business at the same place. Thanking you for your liberal patronage in the past and hoping it may continue in the future, I am Editor Glacier: Hood River is now seeing its most prosperous times and has much to be thankful for. Our sawmills are of the best in the state and would be a credit to any community. The Nicolai camp is the best I have seen of its size, and the managers are of the highest class of citizens. This new mill, like all the others, will prove of great benefit to the valley. E. D. CALKINS.

Played Out.

No matter how it became so it must be purified in order to obtain good health. Acker's Blood Purifier has never failed to cure scrofulous or syphilitic poisons or any other blood diseases.
