Joe Mayes met with a serious accident at Bonney's wood camp at Wyeth on Monday. He was dislodging a jam in the furnace when a stick of wood came along unexpectedly and smashed two of his fingers.

Joe Mayes met with a serious accident at Bonney's wood camp at Wyeth on Monday. He was dislodging a jam in the furnace when a stick of wood came along unexpectedly and smashed two of his fingers.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Woodworth spent a few days in Portland last week. Mr. Woodworth has one of the best improved farms in the valley and it shows the amount of labor he and his boys have expended on it in the last year.

H. O. Everhart has a fine display of preserved fruit in his store. The fruit was put up by his mother, and an inspection will show that she is an artist in that line of work.

D. E. Miller returned from Portland last week and will look after his 12 acres of strawberries on Alma Howe's place. During his stay in Portland he was clerk in the Overland hotel.

M. H. Nickelson of Belmont went to The Dalles on Monday, where he will work in his brother's music and book store during the Christmas rush.

Excavating commenced Tuesday for a new building on Jackson's corner. It is occupied as a meat market by Walter and Henry McGuire.

The subscribers to the stock of the electric light company held a meeting last Saturday night and elected the following board of directors: D. McDonald, N. C. Evans, C. L. Gilbert, J. H. Ferguson, Leslie Butler. The board organized by electing D. McDonald president, J. H. Ferguson, vice-president, N. C. Evans secretary and Leslie Butler treasurer. The company will proceed immediately to the work of surveying the route for the poles from N. C. Evans' place on Hood river. A ditch and flume will be constructed on Mr. Evans' place to take water from Hood river to furnish power for the electric plant. A turbine wheel will be put in at the lower end of the flume, where power house and dynamo will be located. Every advantage will be taken of the weather that will permit of work, and the project will be pushed to completion.

John Dark arrived home at Underwood Monday from McCoy Creek mines. He left McCoy Creek Saturday and reached Lewis river in seven hours. Next day he made Trout Lake in seven hours and came home by stage from Trout Lake on Monday. He reports very little snow on the trail, no place as yet over two feet deep, and he could walk over the snow without breaking through. He left Ed Sweatland in camp at the mines, where the two have been running a lift. They killed a big black bear last week, and other game is plentiful. John Dark started on the return trip yesterday.

The route over which the mail carrier for the free delivery has to make his daily rounds is in some places next to impassable. The road from Frankton to Belmont is said to be in a deplorable condition. It should be remembered that the mail carrier is not obliged to make a trip when the roads are not in fit condition. Now that farmers are over the rush of fall work it is a good time to call for volunteer work on the roads. If we wait for the paltry sum we pay in road taxes to make good roads we will never get them.

Miss Agnes Smith, who is the guest of Mrs. H. C. Bateham, received a telegram two weeks ago stating that a sister had died at Cleveland, Ohio. A few days later she received a letter telling of an accident to the husband of the dead sister, by which he lost one of his hands and all but two fingers on the other. The unfortunate man has nine children.

One hundred miles east of Hood River wheat is selling at 43 cents a bushel. Eggs are selling in Hood River at 35 cents a dozen. How many dozen eggs can be manufactured from one bushel of wheat fed to hens? In other words, how long will a bushel of wheat feed the average hen that will lay twelve dozen of eggs a year?

W. J. Baker attended the annual meeting of the Order of Railway Conductors in Portland on Monday. Mr. Baker has been one of Hood River's leading fruit growers for years, but he has never become entirely weaned from his old love of railroading and likes to meet with the boys and pay his dues and swap stories of old times.

Joe Mayes met with a serious accident at Bonney's wood camp at Wyeth on Monday. He was dislodging a jam in the furnace when a stick of wood came along unexpectedly and smashed two of his fingers. The index finger on one hand had to be amputated at the first joint, and the middle finger was badly lacerated.

Thursday night of last week was a most beautiful moonlight night. So brilliant did the moon shine that at 10:20 o'clock a letter was read by its light on the porch of a residence on Lyman Smith avenue. Mr. Hood stood out as clear and white as one on a sunny day. It was indeed a sight well worth seeing.

The entertainment this evening, to be given by the pupils of the public school for the benefit of the school library, is one in which we are all interested. The object is a most worthy one, and everybody is expected to buy and bring a book. It is a fine time to attend to it.

Frank Miller of Scholls Ferry, Washington county, visited his brother in Hood River last week. Frank had not been here for two years and was surprised to find the many changes that have taken place in Hood River in that time.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Woodworth spent a few days in Portland last week. Mr. Woodworth has one of the best improved farms in the valley and it shows the amount of labor he and his boys have expended on it in the last year.

H. O. Everhart has a fine display of preserved fruit in his store. The fruit was put up by his mother, and an inspection will show that she is an artist in that line of work.
