Miss Anne Smith gave a party last Saturday evening. All present report having spent a very pleasant evening.
Dr. Haney of San Francisco, a cousin of Miss Mella White, visited her last Sunday. He is on his way to Missouri.
All communications and notices for publication should be brought in not later than Tuesday to insure publication same week.
Joseph A. Knox of Duques valley was in town Tuesday. He reports more snow in his section but worse roads than we have here.
Mr. Truman Butler gave an interesting address before the B. of A. & F. last Tuesday evening. His subject was "Advantages of Magazine Reading."
Acker's English Remedy will stop a cough at any time, and will cure the worst cold in twelve hours, or money refunded. 25 and 50c. Williams & Brosius.
Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wait entertained about thirty of Hood River's young folks one evening last week. A delicious oyster lunch was served and every one present had a delightful time.
In publishing the marriage notice of Clarence English last month, the Glacier was given the wrong name for the bride. She was Miss Alice Clark, not Stewart. The marriage took place at Tomales, California.
A special meeting of the taxpayers of Frankton school district is called to meet Saturday, January 20th, to vote a tax for school purposes for the coming year and to provide more room in the school house.
A party going from Crockett's place, on the East Side, to Odell school house, last Friday night, lost the tongue of their bob-sled and hauled the sled home with a chain tongue. Finder is not asked to leave the tongue at this office.
A Congregational Christian Endeavor social and business meeting for the purpose of electing officers for the coming six months, will be held at the residence of Mrs. Blythe on Friday evening. All members and friends of the society are cordially invited to be present.
J. B. Nickelsen, the village blacksmith, is kept busy these days making sleds and sledges for splitting wood. He has caught on to the way of making a durable sled wedge, and no one now thinks of sending away from Hood River for sledges when he goes into the business of making wood.
J. H. Filsinger has purchased 15 acres of the head of the glacier. He will build a dwelling house on the land and move his family upon the same in the spring. There is eight or nine acres of apple orchard nine years old, five acres of strawberries and 1 1/2 acres of clover on the place. The price paid was $100 per acre. Mr. Filsinger and family recently came here from Illinois.
At the annual meeting of the trustees of the Idlewild Cemetery Association, held last Saturday, A. O. Horshey was elected sexton and authorized and instructed to collect all outstanding accounts. The sexton will have the sale of all the lots. The sexton was also instructed to place a lock on the gate. The key will be kept at the sexton's house, and no teams will be allowed to enter without his permission.
Mrs. C. G. Hansen died in Portland, January 11th, of chronic appendicitis. She was the wife of C. G. Hansen, conductor on the O. R. & N. They were living at The Dalles, but she was taken to Portland for treatment. Mrs. Hattie Hackett of Hood River and was a twin sister of Harry A. Hackett and a sister of Mrs. Dunn of Hood River. Her age was 39. She left no children but had adopted a child one year old. She was a most estimable woman.
The condition of our streets after the rains and melting snows of last Saturday and Sunday are a reminder that we need a superintendent of streets. As it is now, the town is divided in two road districts, and the supervisors live some distance from town. No doubt they found plenty to do in looking after the roads in the immediate vicinity of their homes. Here in town, if some one had been around with a shovel Sunday morning he could have saved much washing out of streets by confining the water in the ditches by a few shovelfuls of earth.
Mrs. Geo. P. Crowell returned from her trip to California last Tuesday. On the trip down she went by the steamer Elder and was in the worst storm that ever raged on the Pacific ocean. For 5 days and 6 nights the trip lasted, and Mrs. Crowell arrived in San Francisco two days late for the wedding of her son, Clarence C. English. Returning, Mrs. Crowell came by railroad. She came through just after the snow blockade opened on the Southern Pacific and saw snow 7 feet deep in places in the Siskiyou mountains. When Mrs. Crowell left Hood River she had been afflicted with a severe cough for more than two months, but came home entirely cured of it and in the best of health.

J. R. Warner, an old resident of White Salmon, died at his home in Bingen, January 15, 1901. He was in his usual good health on that day and went out and shoveled some earth to mend the road, and soon after was taken down with heart failure and expired. J. R. Warner was a veteran of the civil war and served in the 52d Massachusetts regiment. He was a member of J. W. NeSmith post, G. A. R., at The Dalles, and always took a deep interest in the work of the Grand Army of the Republic. He was a member of the council of administration, department of Oregon, and never failed to attend a state encampment of the G. A. R. He was 78 years of age.
The oldest inhabitant in Hood River says he never saw it rain like it did last Saturday and Sunday nights. Saturday was a mild, springlike day, with a light chinook breeze, and the mercury jumped up to 69. About three o'clock in the afternoon it commenced raining and there was a heavy downpour till next morning. Hood river was roaring and many logs that were cut and thrown into the river during last fall came down and about 500,000 feet were caught in the Lost Lake Lumber Co's boom. The streets of the town were badly washed in many places. The roads throughout the valley suffered washouts. The sixteen inches of snow that covered the ground Friday morning was about all gone Tuesday except in the timber.
The Hood River Electric Light Co., on Tuesday, received cedar poles from Portland, enough to string their wires all over town. The poles were delivered on the ground ready for setting by the Mountain Stage Co. The dynamo and water wheel have been ordered from San Francisco. The route of the poles out of town will be by the road leading south by the school house, thence south to E. N. Benson's place, thence east to the power house on Hood river. The poles to be set in the streets are all 35 feet in length and 8 inches in diameter at the top. On the hill the poles will be 30 feet in length.
Miss Bertha Feather gave a party Tuesday evening in honor of her birthday. Games and light refreshments were the order of the evening. All present spent a very pleasant evening. Those present were: The Misses Mellicie Olinger, Emma Bonney, Eva Nicklason, Nellie Rogers, Edna Sherrill, Carrie Butler, Tina Cramer, Nellie Clark, Pearl Slusher, Vera Jackson, Clara Blythe, and Messrs. Clarence Gilbert, John Booth, Charley Tostevin, Louis Ulrich, Bert Frater, L. M. Davidson, Winnie Olinger, David Fenning, Ralph Batton, Howard Searles, Bert Hucksaby.
Mrs. Boyden-Goddard has in course of preparation another of her enjoyable entertainments, which will be given about the 1st of February. In addition to the usual programme there will be presented an opera in one act, entitled "Love and Whist," which will be staged by Mr. Grenville Goddard, and in which he will also take a part. The full programme will be published later on.
At the annual meeting of the Water Supply Co. Jan. 6th, the following directors were elected: F. C. Sherrill, H. J. Hibbard, C. E. Markham, J. G. Gessling, D. G. Hill, Chas. Chandler and R. J. Ellis. The board afterwards organized by electing F. C. Sherrill, president; H. J. Hibbard, vice-president; C. E. Markham, secretary; J. G. Gessling, treasurer.
Another proof that it pays to advertise. D. A. Turner sent an advertisement to find the owner of a stray animal that came to his place, and before the notice reached the office by the free delivery the owner was on his way to get his animal. Advertise in the Glacier.
A special meeting of the taxpayers in Hood River is called for Jan. 20th at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of voting a tax to pay interest on bonds, to pay for furnaces, for school purposes and for incidental expenses.
For one week only we will sell a dinner set of 44 pieces of our semi-porcelain ware for $1.20. Don't miss this.
J. E. RAND.
Ye that are hungry for shoes should read the Denver Clothing Store ad.
Hood River Honored.
Our fellow-townman Dr. Adams has often received invitations from San Francisco, Boston and other places to write for magazines and other periodicals giving incidents of pioneer life in by-gone days. He has lately received a pressing invitation from publishers of a popular magazine in Portland, who say, "If you would take up the story of men, measures and incidents of pioneer life, telling the ins and outs of the why and wherefores, in a historical and picturesque vein, whittling along closely to the historical, your articles would be a contribution to history that would be quoted for all time. A resume on this line we are very anxious to secure, and we know of no living mind that retains its youthfulness of activity and wealth of words like yours. In fact, those who came here at the date you did are all dead or in their dotage. Those who write express but second-hand sentiments and assertions, coloring them to suit those whom they would flatter or condemn. Hoping that you will write for us, we are very truly yours." We hear the Dr. is rummaging around in his drawers to find and sharpen up the old goose quill that set all Oregon agog long years ago.

Time to Change the Subject.
It was in a Western town. There was a large audience to hear the morning service. The minister desiring to learn the effect of the propensities times on the congregation, asked all who paid their debts to stand up. Every man in the audience stood up with the exception of one rather dejected looking individual. He was dressed in a faded suit of black, and the patches on his pants were particularly noticeable. He was asked to stand up, but he refused. The minister asked for all who did not pay their debts to arise. The man with the faded suit arose slowly. All eyes were turned upon him. The minister in rather a severe tone asked him why he was the only man in the congregation who didn't pay his debts. He said, "I am the publisher of the local newspaper here, and all the brethren who just stood up are my subscribers, and—" "Let us pray," said the minister.

Obituary.
Daisy Maud Campbell, daughter of W. J. and Minnie Campbell, died of pulmonary trouble on Monday, Jan. 14, 1901, aged 15 years 4 months and 17 days.
During a long and painful illness Daisy bore her lot with a peaceful resignation that greatly endeared her to her schoolmates and many friends who called to see her. A few days before her death, when she grew rapidly worse, she displayed rare christian fortitude for one so young, and her end was very peaceful and happy. She was a member of the Congregational church. Her schoolmates and teacher were present at her funeral service which was conducted at the family residence on Wednesday by Rev. J. L. Hershner. The funeral service was largely attended and many words of sympathy were spoken to the bereft family.
Old-Timers
Had their day, but their time is past and gone, and the smoker of today buys "Uriah Heap," the best cigar on the market. Try one.

Mrs. A. Mayes came up from Portland Wednesday. Her son Joe Mayes, who is being treated for blood poisoning at a Portland hospital, is not yet well enough to come home.

This season there is a large death rate among children from eruptive lung troubles. Prompt action will save the little ones from these terrible diseases. We know of nothing so certain to give instant relief as One Minute Cough Cure. It can also be relied upon in grippe and all throat and lung troubles of adults. It is pleasant to take. Chas. N. Clarke, Glacier Pharmacy.
Congressman Moody secured the passage of a bill granting a pension of $30 a month to James Coventon.
Acker's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold on a positive guarantee. Cure heartburn, distress after eating, raising of the food, or any form of dyspepsia. One little tablet gives immediate relief. 25c and 50c. Williams & Brosius.
W. H. Hurlburt has resigned as general passenger agent of the O. R. & N. to accept the presidency of the Portland & Oregon City Railway Co. Mr. Hurlburt has been general passenger agent of the O. R. & N. Co. since 1894.
Persons who suffer from indigestion can not expect to live long because they can not eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Acker's Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. Chas. N. Clarke, Glacier Pharmacy.

Beat Out of an Increase of His Pension.
A Mexican war veteran and prominent editor writes: "Seeing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I am reminded that as a soldier in Mexico in '47 and '48, I contracted Mexican diarrhoea and this remedy has kept me from getting an increase in my pension, for on every renewal a dose of it restores me." It is unequalled as a quick cure for diarrhoea and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Williams & Brosius.

A Prominent Chicago Woman Speaks
Prof. Roxa Tyler of Chicago, vice president Illinois Woman's Alliance, speaking of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says: "I suffered with a severe cold this winter which threatened to run into pneumonia. I tried different remedies but I seemed to grow worse and the medicine upset my stomach. A friend advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and I found it was pleasant to take and it relieved me at once. I am now entirely recovered, save a doctor's bill, time and suffering, and I will never be without this splendid medicine again." For sale by Williams & Brosius.
