Letter from California.

Letter from California. Sacramento, Cali., March 6,1901.—Ed-itor Glacier: We arrived safely in the day Monday. We hope he will be out land of sunshine, flowers and oranges last Wednesday evening, Feb. 27th. Had the fact that it rained until we commenced the ascent of the Siskiyou mountains. There being about two feet of Harry Hansberry is building snow on the summit. We found it rath- life boat for the steamer Felida. er cold. The conductor informed us that the snow had reached to the depth of seven feet at one time, and the small fir trees and shrubs showed that it had been very deep as they were all bent over and a great many were broken down. Some parts of the road over the mountain are very dangerous. Could look below in several places and see three different tracks which we had gone over. The highest point of elevation on the road over the mountains is 4130 feet. Mount Shasta,14,000 feet above sea level, is a very rugged but proud looking old mountain. But I think it has no comparison, cannot compete with glorious old Hood for its scenery and grandeur. We stopped at Mrs. Ballard, is much improved in Shasta springs or soda springs ten minutes and drank the unadulterated soda water, so strong that it almost burns a person's throat, while not ten feet away from the soda springs can be found magnesia water, a very mild, sweet drink. They say one can drink a great quan-tity of this water and it will not prove injurious. This water is sold in the city at 20 cents a quart as a health drink. Mt. Houd Notes.
