

Hood River Glacier.

FRIDAY, MAY 31, 1901.

Lincoln's Address at Gettysburg.

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living or dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will be little wiser, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we are highly resolved that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

Memorial Day Exercises.
Canby post, G. A. R., and W. R. C., will assemble at 2 o'clock p. m., Memorial day at the ball grounds, on the hill, and march from there to the cemetery. All old soldiers of all wars are invited to fall in with them. All who do not feel like marching can join the procession in their carriages or other conveyances. Capt. J. H. Dukes will act as Marshal of the day. All civilians are invited to join the procession. At the cemetery the graves will be decorated and the Grand Army and Relief Corps will conduct Memorial services according to the service book. Every body invited and all are expected to bring flowers.

The Mountaineer tells a joke on Dr. V. C. Cook, who lives across the river from the Dalles. On Tuesday he was lamenting to an old Indian medicine man that no rain had fallen to make the crops grow. The Indian asked him how much money he would give for a good rain. The doctor said he would give $100. "Very well," said the Indian, "I make it rain; you give $100." The doctor assented and the Indian repaired to his wigwam, smoked himself and offered up prayers to the god of rain. Rain began falling Wednesday night and by Thursday was pouring down in torrents. The next day Mr. Indian appeared at the doctor's home and demanded his pay, declaring that he had brought the rain. The doctor was somewhat skeptical about the Indian having produced the rain, but doesn't know how to get out of his bargain.

The town of Hood River is soon to have an elegant gymnasium which is being built by contributions, in connection with the United Brethren church. The building, which is nearing completion, is two stories high, and will be supplied with all modern appliances to make it an attractive resort to the youth of the river side city. The people of Hood River are certainly to be congratulated on the enterprise they have shown in erecting the gymnasium.—Mountaineer.

The Heppner Gazette has changed hands. Col. J. W. Redington, its founder, and one of the best newspaper men on the coast, will take a rest from editorial work. The Gazette, under the management of Fred Warnock and E. P. Michell, shows that these gentlemen know how to run a newspaper.

A copy of the first Junior Annual ever published at the University of Oregon has made its appearance under the title of "The Webfoot." The publication is substantially bound in blue cloth and has as its frontispiece a splendid cut of the University building. The students of the dedication reads: "To the men and women who blazed the path we now tread, who have sacrificed that we might enjoy, who have laid a foundation upon which we may build a better Oregon. We dedicate this book." Sam L. Simpson's immortal poem "Beautiful Willamette" follows next. The volume contains 168 pages, is neatly illustrated, having the pictures of ex-presidents Johnson, Chapman and President Strong, members of the faculty and students. The publication is a credit to the University of Oregon and is a step in its progress that will be met with its advancement. Allen H. Eaton, editor; Edward Blythe, manager.

ML Hood Notes.
The first sheep made their appearance on Bald Butte today, and the old butte looks very new.
Mrs. Lawrence's sister, who has been here from Southern Oregon on a visit, left Saturday for The Dalles.
Frank Graves of Oregon City made a trip to Mt. Hood last week to look at a piece of land. He is much pleased with the country.
Work on the water ditch seems to be going on at present. The hot weather makes it necessary to have plenty of water to make the clover grow.
Mr. Bird is getting along nicely with his claim considering the adverse circumstances he has had to contend against. The water is still a little high, but he works just the same.
C. B. Bone has broken camp at the Jones place and will be seen only as a boarder at home. He has the ditch almost completed to that point.

Women suffering from headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, fainting and dizzy spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed by Chas. N. Clarke. A Cyclone of Electricity
Has struck Hood River will wipe the rheumatism and all nervous and chronic diseases clear off the face of the earth, if you will avail yourself of the great opportunity that is now offered to you. If you are sick and not able to buy at present, call and see our appliances any way, for you will have to have electricity before you can regain your health; and by so doing you can see that we have the best. We will gladly explain all about our electric appliances. Our time is yours.

Electricity is the most wonderful creative power on earth for the cure of all diseases of a chronic nature. I will say that in patronizing us you are not buying of an agent that does not know the first thing about the article he is selling or nothing at all about the uses and abuses of electricity; but with a person that has cured himself of that horrible disease called consumption after lingering for 20 years and after being pronounced incurable by a great many eminent physicians, after the right lung was gone entirely, I was persuaded to try electricity, and from that time on I have been a great believer and practitioner in that line, and am also the inventor of the Pratt Electric Appliance, which is the best in existence. Call and see me and be convinced. We will furnish you with testimonials of some of the great cures we have made, on application, and send you thousands of others of all diseases.
