A distressing accident happened at Mt. Hood last Sunday. Louis Baldwin, who had just arrived home on a visit, thought to clean his gun. He had finished the cartridge in the breach to load it, the cartridge exploded. He received the full charge of powder in his face.

Joseph Luxillo, a Yakima Indian, is in the valley. Joseph is a Christian preacher in his tribe. He was baptized by Rev. Waller at The Dalles in early days. He says he doesn't know his age but was a boy when Governor Abernethy was governor of Oregon territory.

Two young men, J. W. Ryan and D. Martel, who were charged with larceny in a dwelling and complaint filed in Justice court in Hood River, were taken to The Dalles by order of the prosecuting attorney, Tuesday. Information was filed against them and Moore & Gavin appointed to defend them, in place of John L. Henderson, who declined on account of personal engagement. These men are charged with theft in the Mt. Hood hotel.

The basket social at Frankton last Friday evening was a success in every way. The programme was well rendered. Miss Edell Woodworth's basket sold for $2.00 and Miss Alice Church's basket sold for $2.50. Total received for baskets was $21.40. No basket sold for less than 30 cents. Frankton never does things by halves.

Canby post, G. A. R., has lately been made the recipient of a valuable present from A. F. Bateham. It is a book of civil war scenes, representing some of the most important battles of the war. The post appreciates the gift very highly and will have the pictures framed and hung in their hall.

Col. O. B. Hartley states that while he was at Myeth, last Saturday, a big rock, he says, as large as the Langlie house, rolled down a mountain for about a quarter of a mile. The terrible noise it made as it crashed great trees in its flight and started smaller rocks, frightened every one who heard it.

Chas. Temple dropped a gasoline lamp in his store last Friday evening. The lamp ignited the floor and for a little while it looked as if there might be a big conflagration; but he kicked the lamp out into the street and succeeded in subduing the flames in the store by smothering the fire with a blanket. No damage.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hibbard went as delegates to the grand lodge of Odd Fellows and Rebekah at Baker City last week. The delegates were given an excursion to Sumpter, which Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard attended. They report having had a very pleasant time.

Miss Minnie Woodward, a cousin of Mrs. H. H. Holmes, came up from Portland last Thursday to look after Mr. Holmes' interest in strawberries. Mr. Holmes and family expect to move up for the summer about June 1st.

Since Peter Kopke sold his place last fall, on the East side, Spruce Bros. has been taking the world easier than usual. Since removing to the little place which he bought from Abner Cox, he has twice visited a married daughter living in Oakland, Cal., and is just now visiting a paint brush on R. E. Harrison's house, painting being a trade which he learned before he took up farming. Mr. Kopke went to sea while a boy and followed it for 20 years. During that time he circumnavigated the world several times and visited all the leading ports of the world. At the time of our civil war he enlisted in Uncle Sam's navy and served two years in West India waters, taking a hand in many a hot contest with the blockade runners that frequented those parts.

O. R. Downs, the old soldier from Forest Grove, is again here with his pop-corn roaster. Mr. Downs landed with his goods from the boat Saturday. He did not put up his tent but piled his goods behind a pile of strawberry crates at the last landing and slept by them Sunday morning about 4 o'clock, three young men came along looking to see what they could pick up. One of them found his peanut sack but didn't see Downs. "Hello, boys," he cried out in great glee. "I've struck a whole sack of peanuts and I won't do a thing to them." "That's right young man," said Downs, as his tall form raised up, "always tell the truth. The young fellow jumped back so quickly he nearly fell in the river."

About 1,200 crates of strawberries were shipped from Hood River on Tuesday. Wednesday evening the Davidson Fruit Co. and the Union shipped the first carload. Portland took about one-third of the shipments for Tuesday, something unusual, as our berries generally go to Montana and other points East. The price, Wednesday, was $2.65 to $2.75.

Dr. Pratt's ad in supplement form goes with this issue of the Glacier. His picture and a short sketch of his wonderful recovery from consumption appears in another column. The members of the Sunshine club are requested to meet with Mrs. Stewart on Tuesday afternoon to do some special work. Please bring thimbles.

The Dalles base ball nine have chartered the st. am'er train to bring an excursion to Hood River for the game June second. Miss Teal, who went to Portland last Thursday, reports having arrived there in a pouring rain. Hood River had a fine day on last Thursday.

The rate war on the lower Columbia is ended. The old rates on the railroad and steamboats have been re-established. Thompson's street sprinkler collided with a tree, one day last week, and that reason was not in use for several days. McGuire Bros. are building a refrigerator, which will be completed by Friday. Frederick & Arnold are doing the work.

The ladies' aid society of the Congregational church will meet at the residence of Mrs. J. L. Hershner on Friday afternoon. John L. Henderson, on Monday, sold the John Sippa ranch of 100 acres to Warren E. Davenport for $5,100.

A. L. Craig, general passenger agent O. R. & N., was in town Wednesday, the guest of A. P. Bateham. Mr. Craig and Mr. Bateham were old acquaintances in St. Paul. Old papers 25c a hundred at the Glacier office.

Born. In Hood River Valley, May 29, 1901, to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kibben, a 10-pound daughter. Moving and child.
