Monday from a bicycle trip up the White Salmon to Camas Prairie, and from thence down the Klickitat to Lyle. Here he erossed the Columbia to Rowens, where he found the railroad bed, excepting the treatles, too rough for wheelings. Mr. Henderson made the trip of 80 miles in two days. He is 50 years old, and willing to wager that there's not a boy in town able to keep up with him on such a trip. Mr. Henderson found some excellent apple country and a number of orchards just coming into bearing in the Klickitat valley. In the higher altitudes of this region the fruit is free from pests. Peaches do well, also.
