Ernest Jensen is wrapping all apples he ships, and every wrapper contains his card stamped upon it, showing that the apples were grown at Hood River and shipped by Jensen.

The petition of A. H. Jewett and others for the vacation of a portion of the Rankin road near White Salmon was denied and the case dismissed by the commissioners says the Goldendale Journal.

Capt. B. L. Hennessy, a pioneer of Hood River, died at his home at Mount Tabor, October 11th, aged 85 years. Twenty-five years ago he owned and resided upon the farm now owned by F. H. Button.

Mrs. Fred Perry, who visited in Hood River two weeks, returned to her home in Portland Saturday. Mrs. Perry has been badly crippled with rheumatism for the past three months, but is improving.

John Bradley and family returned to Hood River last Friday and expect to make their home here for the winter. In all his wanderings with his popcorn and peanut roaster since leaving here last spring, Mr. Bradley says he found no place that suited him as well as Hood River.

While the party of geological surveyors in charge of H. D. Langille were near Boyd post office, on their way to The Dalles, Monday, they met a farmer, named W. Pashek, driving a four-horse team. The team took flight at the pack horses in the surveying party and ran away. Mr. Pashek was thrown from his seat on the wagon and fell on the double-trees, got entangled in the lines and was killed. The surveying party could do nothing more than follow the runaway team with all possible speed, but when they overtook it Mr. Pashek was beyond all human help. Deceased leaves a widow and seven children. He owned a good farm and carried an insurance policy of $2,000 in the order of the Catholic Knights of America.

Don't miss it. Thompson's "Ghost," something to make you laugh. Friday evening, Oct 18th at 8 o'clock. A. O. U. W. hall. Popular prices, 25c. and 15c. Mr. Goddard has spared neither time nor expense in making this entertainment a success. He had a stage built on purpose for this occasion so that those in the back part of the house will be able to see everything as well as those in front. Mr. De Bor has the principal comedy role, and this of itself will do much to insure to all a good hearty laugh and an enjoyable time.

The ladies' aid of the Congregational church will meet with Mrs. Broesius, Friday, Oct. 18th at 2 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Bradford took their child to The Dalles hospital Sunday for treatment.

All the latest in harness goods, and harness mended while you wait at Hood & Sons.

C. Welds took a trip to Waitsburg, Wash., Sunday, and returned Tuesday.

The enrollment in the Hood River public school is 232.

Hon. E. L. Smith gathered 520 boxes of apples in his lower orchard of four-year-old trees—trees that had been set there years. In the 520 boxes he found less than one box of wormy apples. Across the ravine from the orchard a neighbor picked 100 boxes from trees of the same age. The neighbor did not spray his trees, and about two-thirds of his apples are wormy. This is a very convincing object lesson to the neighbor, and next year, it is hardly necessary to say, he will spray. Mr. Smith sprayed his orchards six times during the season. He feels very much encouraged over his success with his new spray pump and is satisfied he knows how to get the best of the codlin moth.

And now comes the most surprising incident that occurred at The Dalles carnival. Two young married men, who do not live far from The Dalles, accompanied by their wives took in the carnival and at night put up at the Unimalla. Ye old viewed the jolly quartet through crooked glasses, and when the hour for retiring came insisted upon the ladies occupying one room and their angry husbands another. Next time, boys take the baby and your marriage certificates along. Cigars for two.

The Ancient Order of the Red Cross will give a free entertainment in the A. O. U. W. hall Saturday evening, Oct. 26th. Programme will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. All are invited to come and pass pleasantly an evening and make the acquaintance of this new society. Programmes will be published next week. Members of the order will remain after the entertainment for the initiation of a number of candidates.

Dr. Carns, who has been sick since Sunday a week ago, is slowly improving but still confined to his house.

As we go to press we learn that E. E. Savage passed a favorable night and it raises hope for his recovery.

Ienberg & Son have five or ten acres in Belmont for sale at a price that will defray competition. See them.

Mrs. E. W. Udell and son Ed, who was very sick for several weeks, are both able to be about again.

Sherill is receiving new goods daily. Those wishing goods in his line please call and get prices.

W. E. Sherrill is now in his new quarters in the Masonic building opposite the post office.

Mr. Butts brought in ripe strawberries Monday morning and left samples with the Glacier.

Mr. S. D. Garner, who has been very sick for the past month is improving every day.

Wanted—To buy a sound, well-broken driving horse. Dr. H. L. Dumble.

MARRIED.

In Logan, Utah, October 13, 1901, F. E. Davers and Miss Kate Naomi Lifkin.

The bride is an accomplished young lady and a teacher of music in the B. Y. college of Utah. The groom is the eldest son of Frank Davers and his wife, Fannie. Frank Davers is a member of the First Baptist Church for the Mormon church in Oregon. He is a worthy young man, and his many friends in Hood River will wish him success in married life.

Messrs. Goddard and De Bort have arranged to give the Hood River public theatrical entertainments at intervals during the coming winter, assisted by the best home talent. These entertainments will be popular. The management deserves success and no doubt will be liberally patronized.

A freak in nature in the shape of a three legged chicken is to be seen at Hanna & Hartley's. It is an otherwise well developed Plymouth Rock rooster about two-thirds grown, and was raised by Mrs. S. M. Baldwin at Mt. Hood.

Chris Dethman brought to town on Tuesday 16 boxes of Solway peaches, the product of two trees. Two layers of the fruit filled the largest peach boxes he could find. They were bought by Jensen and went off like hot cakes at $1 a box.

Cook and Cox are excavating for a $2,000 dwelling house on State street, opposite the M. E. church, for Chas. T. Early. They are also building a house for Oscar Ray on his lots recently purchased of Capt. Cox, west of the school house.

Mrs. Poultier of Portland came up to see her husband, who has been at Mrs. Howe's a few weeks on a health trip. Mr. Poultier likes the pure fresh air and beautiful scenery of Hood River, and shipped by Jensen.

The petition of A. H. Jewett and others for the vacation of a portion of the Rankin road near White Salmon was denied and the case dismissed by the commissioners says the Goldendale Journal.

Capt. B. L. Hennessy, a pioneer of Hood River, died at his home at Mount Tabor, October 11th, aged 85 years. Twenty-five years ago he owned and resided upon the farm now owned by F. H. Button.
