Marshal and Elmer Isenberg and Ed Barker left last week for the harvest fields of Sherman county.

Miss Bell of Ellsworth, Wash., accompanied by her friend, Miss Standart, is visiting friends in Hood River.

The families of D. N. Ryecie and M. R. Noble enjoyed an outing in the woods at Davenport's mill last Saturday.

Neal Evans' new house in Park addition is well under way and the family moved into it the first of the week.

Miss Bertie Wilber, Miss Ella Marsh and Miss Clara Ruffner of Portland are visiting Ollie Kooty of Mount Hood.

Dr. and Mrs. M. F. Shaw of Ashland arrived last Saturday for a visit of a week or more with Hood River friends.

Miss Mattie Belle Hackett, after a pleasant visit with the family of George A. McCurdy, returned to Portland Monday.

Mr. W. H. Bishop and son, Perne, arrived Thursday from Warm Springs, for a visit of two months with Hood River friends.

J. W. Morton has leased his Riverside farm to Mrs. A. B. Jones and Joseph Groshong for a period of three years from March 1, 1903.

Harry Gregory was down from Klondike, Sherman county, on business, last week. Mr. Gregory is in charge of the Wasco warehouse at Klondike.

Rev. H. C. Shaffer and wife have returned from their outing at Maple Dell. Reverend Shaffer occupied his pulpit in the U. M. church last Sunday.

W. B. Ruffener of the Mount Hood Mill company reports that his brother "Jim" was kidnapped on the night of August 7. Fred Larwood thinks he has a clue.

Ed Williams was in from Lost lake last Saturday, returning Sunday. Mrs. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Bone are camped at the lake and enjoying a pleasant outing.

S. W. Arnold and H. J. Frederick made the trip to Lost lake last week. They got fish, but they were given to them by Mrs. L. Henry at Maple Dell camp.

Mrs. Laura Baldwin's up-to-date ice cream parlors have become quite a popular place for the short time they have been opened, and from all appearances it will appreciate it by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McGuire have received a letter from L. A. Shaw of Portland, father of the little girl who was drowned at Maple Dell last week, thanking them for their work in saving the life of Mrs. Shaw. "We regret deeply the mistake the Portland paper made in reporting the occurrence," says Mr. Shaw, "as it was Mr. McGuire who saved Mrs. Shaw's life. Mrs. Shaw is feeling so better, but she was covered with bruises and the shock was terrible. We found so many kind friends, and they did so much for us, that I cannot express on paper how thankful we are to you all. Mrs. Bartman was very kind, and I thank you for the note you wrote."

Peter Jochimsen, one of the successful farmers of the East Side, harvested his usual good crop of wheat this season. He has about forty acres in wheat, some of which he cut for hay; the balance he has stored in his big barn. He threshes his wheat with the flail, and by this means saves it all, and not only saves it all, but it is in the best possible condition, and is always in demand for seed. He seed wheat readily sells for 80 cents a bushel. After threshing enough for his fall sowing the balance is threshed by himself and hired help at seasons when other farm work cannot be done.

B. R. Tucker and R. S. Andrews left last week for a trip around the base of Mount Hood. They will go to Tucker's placer mine on the East fork of Hood river, thence to Lookout mountain and Badger lake. From here they will swing around the south side of Hood to Government camp, over the zigzag, and returning they will spend some time at Lost lake. They will cover between 50 and 75 miles on the trip, and expect to be gone a month or more. Mr. Tucker will prospect while on the trip, while Andrews will supply the camp with game and fish.

Robert Leasure and Lewis Weygant of Mount Hood were in town Saturday. Mr. Leasure was guide on Mount Hood two years ago. He made the ascent of the mountain at one time with W. S. Sherry of Hood River and F. C. Cowles of Portland. The latter had a camera with him and took some pictures of the party on the mountain. Mr. Leasure, while in town Saturday, got copies of the photos. One of them shows Mr. Sherry in his way up the steep ascent of the last 2,000 feet. Mr. Leasure is quite proud of the photos.

Alfred Boorman last week purchased the 10 acres belonging to Eben Boorman at Belmont; consideration, $1,700. He moved with his family upon the 10 acres last Friday, where they will remain temporarily for the present. Tomorrow or next week the families of Alfred Boorman and William Boorman will go into camp at Collins springs. After their return, Alfred Boorman and family will move to D. G. Hill's place, which he has leased white Mr. Hill lives with his family at Corvallis, where they go September 1.

B. R. Tucker has a 40-foot tunnel on his placer claim on the East fork of Hood river. So far there is little say dirt to night. This mine is located 40 miles up the East fork of Hood river, and is about five miles southeast of Mt. Hood. Mr. Tucker has filed on four mining claims, and Peter Felthousen of Mount Hood, eight claims. Operations are made under the title of the Mount Hood East Fork Mining and Stock company.

Arthur P. Tift and wife of Portland and Mr. Tift's mother, Mrs. J. C. Tift of Buffalo, N. Y., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Cram at their fruit farm in the valley. Mr. Tift is a member of the well-known Portland law firm of Pipes & Tift. He was also chairman of the executive committee of the Oregon board of commissioners for the Pan-American exposition. He is now on a mother-in-law expect to visit Cloud Cap Inn before returning.

Archibald A. Schenck of Boone, Iowa, accompanied by his wife and daughter, and the Rev. Dr. S. M. Jackson and daughter of New York City are in Hood River. They are staying with Mrs. A. B. Canfield. Mr. Schenck is a property owner in Hood River and is otherwise interested in the growth of our little city. He is at present chief engineer in the office of the Chicago and North Western railway at Boone, Iowa.

D. N. Ryecie made purchase last week of the 20-acre R. Kirbyson place at Frankton; consideration, $1,700. This, with Mr. Ryecie's original 20 acres, gives him one of the best 40-acre strawberry ranches in Hood River. Mr. Ryecie has also rented the Robert Rand place, and next year will have between 9 and 10 acres of strawberries. He expects to gather 220 boxes of apples this fall.

Howard Isenberg and wife left Tuesday for Cascade Locks, where Howard has been re-engaged as principal of the public school, which begins September 1. The new school house will be occupied this fall for a nine months' term of school. There are about 100 pupils in the school. Miss Anna Horton of Cascade Locks is in charge of the primary department.

E. Shelly Morgan of Portland, who recently made purchase of the Alfred Boorman farm, is here looking after his place. Mr. Morgan proposes in the near future to erect a fine residence on his farm. His family at present are enjoying an outing in the mountains near Stevenson.

E. Hanson and niece, Mrs. J. H. Smith, came down from Grass Valley, Sherman county, last week, and went on to Mount Hood for a couple of weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gregory. Mr. Hanson reports that harvest hands are now plentiful at Grass Valley. The wheat crop is turning out good.

Judge Prather did a land office business last Friday in taking final proofs on homesteads. No less than six homesteaders made proof before him on that day, as follows: William and Harry Gregory, T. C. Cunneen, Charles E. Doran, Oliver Richardson and Warren Davenport.

George Robinson of the East Side last week sold 20 acres to D. H. Thorl; consideration, $1,500. J. V. Kuff sold 20 acres to a brother of D. H. Thorl, who is on his way from Minnesota with his family; consideration, $2,000. Both these sales were made by W. V. Johnson.

Louis Henderson left last Thursday to accept a clerkship in County Clerk's office at The Dalles, where he will remain until he leaves in September to resume his work in the University of Oregon at Eugene.

Charles Tucker, who was injured a month ago by a piece of steel sledge-guttering his left leg, has about recovered, though his leg will never be thoroughly well until the piece of metal is removed.

R. M. Hunt is digging a well on the hill for H. C. Stranshan and H. H. Bailey. He also dug a well for H. M. Abbott. A good flow of water was secured at an average depth of 45 feet.

The thermometer registered 103° in the shade at Tucker's mill, Thursday of last week. It was so hot that the workmen putting up the sawmill machinery had to suspend operations.

Bert Rankin went to Pendleton last week where he will take a position as supervisor at Warren Miller's on the 16th of this month. Everybody cordially invited. —M. KERR.

One of the 20-acre fields on the Indiana farm of Uncle Oliver Bartness, which has been in constant use for 73 years, yielded this summer wheat that won 50 bushels to the acre.
