

A Pleasant Visit.

The senior editor and his wife visited Portsmouth, Oregon, last Saturday, and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Vand, who are very happily situated in that place, at the suburbs of Portland. The latter (E. O. Horning) have been making their home with Mrs. Horning's parents since coming from Kansas City last spring. Mr. and Mrs. Horning are proud of their little town, now a month old. W. G. Clelland, another seasonal law resident at University Park, a few blocks away. Mr. Clelland has a position in the O. R. & N. car shops, while Mr. Horning is employed with the North Pacific ash and Door Co.

Portsmouth is four and one-half miles from Portland. It is now reached by the City and Suburban street railway company and the St. Johns motor line, but poles have been set for an electric road in place of the motor line, and Washington street, Portland, to Portsmouth in twenty minutes. This is one of the prettiest sections of the city of Portland, and a stranger visiting Portsmouth and University Park is struck with the beauty of the place as a site for building a great city. University Park laid claim to having the most advantages for the site of the Lewis and Clark exposition, and no more suitable place for commencing the project. University Park Clark could be found. Standing on the river bluff, 125 feet above the Willamette river, at Columbia University, a good view of the city of Portland and the river can be had. A farm of 200 acres adjoining the campus of Columbia University and the university building and campus of 72 acres, have been offered for the use of the exposition.

The Northern Pacific railroad company will soon commence the construction of the Columbia river bridge opposite University Park and will tunnel the peninsula and bridge the Willamette at the head of Swan Island. There are a great many handsome residences in this part of Portland and its saloons. The public school at Portsmouth is one of the best in the state. Lots can be bought here at from $150 to $200 each. There are two stores in Portsmouth. Bert Rand is clerking in one of them and Harvey Rand, during the vacation, holds a position in the other. If we were not well satisfied with the fact that Hood River is the best part of Oregon, we would like to reside at Portsmouth or University Park.

T. Bishop Finds a Mineral Spring.

Thomas Bishop has found a mineral spring on his place near the Barrett school house. Mr. Bishop sent samples of the water to A. L. Kniesly, chemist at the Oregon agricultural college experiment station, Corvallis, and received the following reply:

"The two samples of water have been examined and results are as follows: The residue consists of a hydrated oxide of iron, silica, calcium carbonate and calcium sulphate. The sample of water gave the following results: In one million parts of the water there are 193 parts of solid residue and its composition is the same as the residue sent in separate bottles. We did not find any sulphur compounds present. A trace of carbonates was found. No calcium, magnesium, silica, chlorides or sulphates were found in the water, and the mineral properties are due entirely to the iron and iron sulphate." The spring is located on the bank of Indian creek, and will run about 100 gallons an hour. The iron rust deposit brought out by the water is very noticeable, and when dried, leaves stains similar to rust from iron. The temperature of the water is slightly warm and the iron rust is noticeable in the taste of the water. Measured by an ordinary Fahrenheit thermometer the temperature of the spring water is 62 degrees, while the water of a pure spring fifty yards distant showed a temperature of 62 degrees.

The result of the chemical analysis was shown by Professor Brocius who says the medicinal qualities of the water would depend only on the small amount of iron it contained, which might be valuable if the spring had a much greater flow. To be of much value for medicinal purposes, mineral spring waters must contain sufficient carbonates and sulphates, of which this contains none.

Illustrated Edition "Bridge of the Gods"

Mrs. Gertrude Ingalls has been notified by A. C. McClurg & Co., of Chicago, the publishers of Herbert Balch's now famous "Bridge of the Gods," that an illustrated edition of this book is to be brought out early in the fall. The new edition will be somewhat larger in form and will contain six full-page drawings by L. Maynard Dixon, a well known Pacific coast artist. Herbert Balch, the author of the "Bridge of the Gods," a brother to Mrs. Gertrude Ingalls, was for many years a resident of Hood River. Much of his time was spent among the Columbia river Indians, whose various languages he was thoroughly familiar with. He gathered far and wide Indian tales and legends, and from these he wrote the beautiful story and romance told in the "Bridge of the Gods." His early death, shortly after the completion of this his first literary production, cut short a life that promised much. This Oregon legend and romance is meeting with a ready sale in all parts of the United States, but shows a particular interest to all people of the Pacific Northwest. The new illustrated edition will be ready for the holiday trade, and with Hood River people it would make a most acceptable gift to Eastern friends.

Masonic Lodge to Erect Another Brick.

The Masonic lodge of Hood River will erect another brick building. The proposed structure will occupy the 25 feet between the Masonic temple and the corner brick being erected by E. L. Smith. It will be two stories high, and 100 feet long. The ground floor will be occupied as a business house, while the second floor will contain the Masonic lodge banquet hall. There is some talk of fitting up two front rooms of the second story for office rooms, but members of the lodge anxious to have a good banquet room are opposing this idea. The building will cost about $3,000 and the contract for building the same has been let to L. D. Boyd, who will put it up in conjunction with the Smith brick and will have both the buildings completed by November 1. The completion of these buildings will give second street opposite the post office 100 feet of brick store frontage, and will make that street one of the liveliest parts of town.

H. F. Davidson has a Runaway.

While starting down the schoolhouse hill last Thursday noon, H. F. Davidson's horse became frightened at some children in the road and turning quickly to one side ran the buggy over a stump, which threw Mr. Davidson violently to the ground, while the horse went tearing down the hill until the buggy collided with a pine tree at the foot of the hill. The buggy was considerably damaged and most of the harness torn from the horse. Mr. Davidson was not seriously injured, but for the next day or two he felt somewhat brained by his fall from the buggy. After falling from the buggy the wheels of the vehicle passed over Mr. Davidson.

Greatest Fall Season.

The Dry Goods Economist of New York city states that this will be the greatest fall season so far as regards the retail dry goods business that there has ever been in the history of the trade. Reports from retailers all over the United States strongly confirm this statement. In its issue of August 28 the Economist publishes the following report from Frank A. Crum of the Up-to-Date store, Hood River:

"A large strawberry crop well marketed with increasing demand for Hood River berries; an unusually big apple yield in prospect, with active advance demand for same; Eastern immigration also proving a great factor for expanding business, bringing many home-seekers with various sums of good money."

Council Proceedings.

The common council met in regular session Monday night. Present—Mayor Brosius; Councilmen Blowers, Clarke, H. F. Davidson, P. S. Davidson, McDonald, Rand; Recorder Nickelsen, Marshal Dukes.

McDonald, as chairman of the committee on streets and public property, reported regarding the proposed city lot that there was money on hand to pay for the same and to secure a deed to the land; that the contractors agreed to put up a building and to accept time warrants as payment; that the plans and estimates for a city sewer system arranged for by the previous council were on the recorder's table.

Marshal Dukes reported having collected $3.50 pound fees since last report of August 26.

On motion of Councilman McDonald the words in proposed Ordinance No. 61 which read "exorbitant or unreasonable in comparison with the company's revenue" were ordered to read "exorbitant or unreasonable for the services rendered."

Ordinance No. 61 then passed second reading and final passage, without discussion. Councilmen P. S. Davidson and D. McDonald voting no.

Councilman McDonald reported further that the claim agent of the O. R. & N. company offered to pay $25 for fire damages to the post house property.

Bills against the city were allowed as follows:

- Paget & Clark, plan and estimated cost of sewer system ..... $125.00
- McIntyre, two days work moving jail ..... 4.00
- W. M. Stewart, 15 joints sewer pipe and cartage ..... 3.00

A communication was read from Paget & Clark giving estimated cost of a city sewer system. Councilman McDonald added to this report that the proposed sewer system, which included a branch in Parkhurst and one on Columbia street, would come to a total cost of about $35,000. This would make the cost to property holders about $40 for each 50x100 foot lot.

Public School Opened Tuesday.

The Hood River public school opened Tuesday with an enrollment of 229 pupils, an increase of 30 over the number on the opening day of last year. The rooms are all well crowded and it is feared that the services of another teacher will be required before the year has progressed very far. The increase of 30 pupils is itself an addition large enough to give work to a seventh teacher. More seats will be placed in various rooms where possible, and if necessary some of the grades will probably be moved into the old school building now occupied by the A. O. U. W. and G. A. R. as lodge halls. This would relieve the congestion in the new school house and make it much pleasanter for both teachers and pupils.

The work of the school has been assigned among the six teachers as follows:

Professor Thompson, principal, will have charge of the 8th and 9th grades; Miss Minnie Shugel, the 7th grade and half the 6th; Mrs. Margaret Reid, one-half the 6th and the 5th; Miss Mabel Riddell, the 4th and part of the 3d; Miss Kate Earl, part of the 3d and the 2d; Mrs. Emelie Shaw, the primary pupils. The management gives each teacher or work equivalent to two of the grades. The children have taken up their school work with a right good spirit after a four months' vacation. Many of the children are still at work at the box factory, fruit cannery or on farms in the country and a steady increase in attendance is expected up to the holidays. In the 7th grade there were 33 students registered on the opening day.

Shipping Summer Fruits.

Things are lively with the Davidson Fruit company. Two carloads of apples, pears and plums were sent out Wednesday evening, consigned to markets in Colorado and North Dakota. The cannery is running now on tomatoes and pears. Most of the tomatoes are shipped in from White Salmon, A. R. Byrket of that section sending in a couple of tons every day or so. These tomatoes are particularly fine in quality.

The Davidson Fruit company is paying 65 cents a box for Gravenstein this summer. This is a good price, considering the fact that two years ago the prevailing price was 50 cents. The price for pears and plums is not overly brisk this season, the markets being well supplied with fruit of this description. Of 44 cars of fresh fruit sent into New York city in one day this week, 33 of them were Bartlett pears. Blackberries are a scarce article and bring $1.50 a crate delivered in Hood River. The box factory is busy turning out apple boxes and will be kept at this work for some time to come. The apple growers still neglect to send in estimates on their fruit crop, as was requested by the Davidson Fruit company a month ago. The fruit boxes are now being made of larch lumber, which retains a nice white appearance on its arrival in the market.

Fifty Books for One Dollar.

Arrangements have been partially made to provide an up-to-date stand and library for the Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip. For two cents a week Hood River people may read the latest works of present day writers. In order to make the library a success it will be necessary to secure 50 persons who will pay one dollar for the privilege of using the library one year. Each subscriber may use one book each week. In no instance will they be allowed to keep it longer than two weeks. Such books as "The Master Christian," "Stringtown on the Pike," "Eben Holt," "A Man from Glemgarry," etc., will give an idea of the character of the books. No trashed, cheap books will be purchased. Truman Butler is now in Portland and will complete the list of books. Any who may be interested will be fully informed by any member of the committee.

MRS. J. E. RAND,
MRS. G. P. BOWELL,
GLADYS HARTLEY,
MRS. M. A. COOK,
TRUMAN BUTLER.

Miss Pearl Eccles of Ogden, Utah, is visiting Miss Blanche Blowers. The school in Crapper district will begin next Monday, September 8.

R. S. Andrews and R. R. Tucker returned last week from their trip around the base of Mount Hood. They report a good trip, with fair success at hunting and prospecting. Two pack horses were taken along, and by keeping near the snow line the distance was considerably lessened. The circuit of the mountain was made from the headwaters of the East Fork, around the Elk beds below Cloud Cap Inn. Some of the country was ruggedly picturesque, and a camera could have been used to good advantage. Mr. Andrews killed a deer far above the snow line, where it undoubtedly was seeking safety from cougars. The fishing was very good, and altogether the trip was well worth taking.

Mrs. M. H. Nickelsen returned on Monday from St. Martin's Springs, where she had been in camp for seven weeks, taking the baths and drinking the water of these wonderful springs. Mrs. Nickelsen is troubled with dropsy and finds the baths at St. Martin's a great remedy for this disease. She comes home feeling better than she has for years, and all signs of the dropsy have disappeared. The hotel at St. Martin's is overflowing with guests, and there are about 100 in camp.

D. I. Stone has located on a homestead in section 29, about five miles this side of Lost Lake. J. L. Henderson will go out Saturday and run the lines. Mr. Stone will get ground ready to set several hundred apple trees this fall. Mr. Stone is a new comer, coming here recently from Canyon City, Colorado. He expects several of his old neighbors from Colorado to come here soon to locate. Mr. Stone now resides in Barrett-Sipma addition, with two of his youngest children.

The members of the Congregational Society at Pine Grove gave an ice cream social at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hester on Tuesday evening. The evening was an ideal one for such a festival, and the attendance was large. The total receipts were about $18, of which amount $13.00 was clear to the society. Rev. and Mrs. Hershel were present and were kindly presented with this amount. Both young and old enjoyed the occasion very much.

The ladies of the United Brethren church will have a "Kensington" afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bartness Friday, September 6, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Bear will assist Mrs. Bartness in entertaining. A short musical programme will be rendered by Kathryn Hartley, Miss Blanche Blowers, Miss Vera Jackson, Meigs Bartness accompanied by Mrs. Knapp, Raymond Early and Mrs. Hurley. A light lunch will also be served.

George Slocum has purchased the book and stationary store of E. R. Bradley. George proposes to put in a larger stock of books and magazines, while Mr. Bradley, who finds his job work steadily increasing, will enlarge his office and give more time and attention to his printing business. George is possessed of exceptional business ability and with his happy manner and pleasing address should succeed well in his new venture.

S. C. Reiger came over the Columbia Thursday morning. He reports things booming at White Salmon. Mr. Zeigler shipped something over 1300 crates of tomatoes this season and will make another small shipment. There was no night on the vine this year and the fruit was fine. Prices were not so good as last year, but the price is now advancing.

The Mount Hood hotel placed a number of electric lights in convenient places on the porch, during the week. This will mean a decided improvement to the hotel and will be of great convenience to the traveling public. If the city would assist in part of the expense, the hotel would continue with the are lights at the head of the stairs leading up from the station.

The ad of the Columbia nursery appears in our columns today for the fall season. Mr. Bateham knows the value of printer's ink when spread upon the Glacier, and never fails to bring in an ad when he has something to sell. The Columbia nursery is one of the old established institutions of the valley and needs no introduction to the public.

Members of the social club at Crapper took an outing one day last week and picnicked at the falls. The following composed the party: G. A. McCurdy and family, E. E. Lyons and family, J. R. Kinsey and family, J. Wickham and family, Henry Martin and family, mother and sister, Fred Taylor and brother, Miss Flora Taylor.

Frederick & Arnold got the contract to do the carpenter work on the big brick now in course of construction by E. L. Smith, to be occupied by W. M. Stewart. This firm also have the contract to build an $800 dwelling house for John Donohue, on the hill.

Rev. A. W. Bagley left Tuesday morning for University Park, where his parents reside. His mother, who is quite aged, is in poor health. Mr. Bagley's family will follow in a week or ten days, and Mr. Bagley will retire from the ministry on account of failing health.

On Thursday the Prather Investment Co. sold Block 1, in Parkhurst to John Donohue, this block being one of the most slightly blocks on the hill. Mr. Donohue will at once erect a residence on the block.

The Degree of Honor lodge will resume work Saturday evening, September 6, after a six weeks vacation. As there is business of importance to transact, it is imperative that all members should be present.

Miss Georgia Bonney left yesterday for Sherer's Bridge, where she has been secured as school teacher for the coming winter term. Her sister Miss Emma Bonney accompanied her to The Dalles.

Judge L. Henry left a couple of mammoth tomatoes at the Glacier office yesterday. They are of very large size and perfect form and are the finest specimens seen this season.

Mrs. C. D. Nickelsen and children came down from Prineville last week, and are visiting Mr. Nickelsen's parents at Belmont until after conference, which will be in session this week for Hood River.

Ned Blythe will leave tomorrow for Portland, where he goes to accept a position offered him by the Oregonian as assistant telegraph editor.

Friday & Barnes made sale Tuesday of the David McChristian 5 acres, south of Lyman Smith avenue, to Virgil Buchanan of Portland for $1050.

C. E. Warren, the Portland secretary of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company, was in Hood River during the week.

Miss Mary Wolf returned Tuesday to her home at White Salmon after a week's visit with Miss Carrie Coppel of Odell.

Wm. Shipman, clerk at the Mount Hood hotel, has changed to day work; Clarence Gilbert taking the night work.

A son of Steward Eccles of Vento is here secretly with an ax last Saturday.

Mrs. S. A. Knapp has returned from attending the millinery openings in Portland and Seattle.

George Knapp came down from the Columbia Southern, Tuesday, and returned Thursday.

Mrs. Seymour Condon of White Salmon was in Hood River, Wednesday afternoon.
