

Hood River Glacier

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1902.

Our Fruit Fair.

The fifth biennial fruit fair of Hood River begins Wednesday, October 8, and will continue until Saturday evening, at 10 o'clock. The attendance from abroad promises to be larger than usual, and Hood River will be judged as a fine fruit-producing section by the exhibit we make. It is therefore a matter of prime importance to every resident of our town and valley that each and every grower should contribute to the success of our exhibition. There is not an orchard in the valley but what should be represented. Upper Hood River should not neglect this opportunity to call the attention of the public to the superior quality of fruit raised there, for nothing they can do will better serve to attract home-seekers and aid in the development of that splendid portion of Hood River valley. If you do not have choice fruit, demonstrate what can be done in raising fine vegetables. Do not wait for your neighbors to do this, but do something yourself. Let us each and all do a little rustling, and the fair will be a grand success.

Guide Book for the Immigrant.
The Glacier is in receipt of a neat pamphlet from the Union Pacific Co., entitled "Business Openings on the Union Pacific Railroad." The publication will be issued periodically, making all changes and corrections necessary to keep it up to date. It gives a short description of every town on its lines, or tributary, from Council Bluffs to Portland. Concerning Hood River it says:

"Population 700. Three churches, one of which is of the great, great fruit growing regions in the world. Hood River took 16 medals on fruit at the Chicago exposition, including seven on apples. It ships from 75 to 125 carloads of strawberries each season. The price paid for such as $1.50 an acre, clear profit for a single crop; strawberries $200, and apples, $25.00 from a single tree. Hood River apples are sold all over the United States. Numerous extensive fruit-shipping companies and a lumbering plant and business houses of all kinds. A daily stage line to Mount Hood. One hotel, good accommodations at $2.00 a day. Good location for business, as city is growing fast. Many inducements to farmers and fruit raisers."

Belmont News.
Rev. W. L. Dillinger, the new M. E. pastor, has arrived and will preach in the church every Sunday evening.
Miss Ella Ienberg went to Cascade Locks Friday where she will remain for awhile with her brother Howard, who is principal of the school there.
The farmers are gathering and marketing their wheat and prunes, which are yielding well.
Marsh Isenberg has been on the sick list, but is able to be about again.

Odell Notes.
Copple Heinrich is building a dwelling house, 26 feet square, on his farm.
J. R. Crosby is building a barn 30x40 feet in size.
B. T. Young is building a barn. The main building will be 20x30 feet.
J. H. Eggett is building a dwelling house on the place he rented of Charles Ehrck.
Lee and Peter Odell are building two cottages on the 20 acres they bought across the road from Copple Heinrich's place.

School Superintendent—Mrs. Lillie Miller.
Chairman county central committee—E. Hollis.

It Pays to Advertise.
F. B. Barnes advertised a lost cat in last week's Glacier. The ad was answered over the phone by H. W. Wait. The description of Wait's cat tallied with the lost cat, a solid colored Maltese. Wait was told to bring in the cat, and he brought it Monday morning, and received the 25 cents reward Mr. Barnes was right sure that he was getting back his cat, but as it looked like his cat, he took it home where he will no doubt fill the vacant spot in the family circle. Mr. Wait remarked after he had pocketed the reward, "If you lose any more cats, lose a brindle one next time; we have a brindle cat we'd like to part with on the same terms."

A Home Bakery.
The Hood River bakery, which recently changed hands, is one of the institutions of the town that deserves liberal patronage. It is now owned by T. H. Williams, formerly of Huron, South Dakota, who has completely renovated the building and inaugurated some reforms that will be appreciated by the patrons. Mr. Williams pays the highest market price for the best brands of flour. Every good housewife knows that to make good bread it takes good flour. Mr. Williams could buy some brands of flour for $2 a barrel, but the best costs him $4, and he will use none other but the best. Mr. Williams says there is a big profit in selling bread at prices heretofore charged, and he is willing and has decided to share that profit with his customers. He gives a good-sized loaf for 5 cents. Prices on pies, cakes, brown bread, ginger bread, etc., will be in accordance with the reasonable price of a loaf of bread. Mr. Williams has employed a first-class baker in the person of Sherman Brennan. Both Mr. Williams and Mr. Brennan have families. Everybody who buys bread in any shape is invited to call at the bakery and see the display of good things to eat.
