DID YOU EVER STOP

to think that two-thirds of your life is spent in shoes?
YOU SPEND MUCH MONEY to save trouble for your head and hands. WHY NOT SPEND A LITTLE and save trouble for your feet? THEY ARE YOUR BEST FRIENDS if well treated. THEY ARE YOUR WORST ENEMIES if neglected.

MORAL: TREAT YOUR FEET TO WALK-OVER SHOES

DID YOU EVER notice how all workers in wood and iron put the STRONGEST and TOUGHEST where WEAK is the GREATEST?

Why do they do it? It's Business, and It's Economy.

Why not be as wise as the rest of the world and put the TOUGHEST LEATHER on your Children's Feet?

Dist. 76 shoes are the toughest and the highest either. It is BUSINESS ECONOMY to Buy Them Found—Two packages of merchandise have been found and left at this office for the owners.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd and Mr. and Mrs. K. Kallack, of Portland, have returned home after spending several days at "The Fire".

The fair was a financial success and the business men were not called on for one cent for premiums or any other purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. Price of Chicago, who have been visiting his mother, Mrs. Price, and his sister, Mrs. P. S. Davidson, left for the East a few days ago.

Recent arrivals at "The Fire" are Hon. Malcolm A. Moody, Miss Lang, and Miss Bessie Lang, of the Dalles, and Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Balfour of Lyle.

E. W. Stahl, who has been employed in E. R. Bradley's job office, was called to Silverton last Sunday by the serious illness of his mother, who is visiting relatives at that place.

All who desire to take part in Shakespeare readings are invited by the teachers of the Hood River school to meet at the Congregational church this Friday evening at 7:30.

The Rose Hill school commenced last Monday with Howell M. Metcalf as teacher. The school is greatly appreciated by the people of the new district, and they expect to build a new school house in the spring.

W. P. Watson and family and Mrs. R. E. Erwin and family departed Monday for Watson, Wash., where Mr. Watson expects to make his future home. Mr. Erwin will return to Hood River in the spring.

Arrangements have been made whereby the daily and Sunday Oregonian will be delivered on the hill as far south and west as the stores. Persons desiring the same should call and place their subscriptions at Slocum's.

Mrs. Cowley is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. O. L. Stranahan in which she states that her son Bert, who has been ill with typhoid fever, is now rapidly recovering. This will be cheering news to Bert's many friends in Hood River.

Through the efforts of the ladies' aid society of the M. E. church, that church now has a 622 pound bell, which they secured at a cost of $203.50, and they now have the satisfaction of listening to the tones of one of the finest bells in the city.

A report is current that the St. Martin's springs are drying up from some unknown cause.

It is said that last Wednesday only a tub full could be obtained by pumping and that the guests are leaving. We shall be glad to contradict this report next week, if the facts should prove that the report is unfounded.—Pioneer.

Mrs. J. F. Jorgensen, sister to A. C. Helms, who has been visiting him and cooking for his crew of carpenters returned to her home in Portland Wednesday. Mr. Helms has put up a small house 12 x 28 to be used as a kitchen and dining-room when he builds the main part of his house later on. He is now at home to all his friends on Knob View farm, and has a very pretty location for a home, with a splendid view of Mt. Hood and the valley from his door.

Riverview park, formerly the Watson tract is now being platted and will soon be thrown open and a limited number of lots will be sold. The streets will be graded and sidewalks built. This property is now owned by a Portland syndicate. J. F. Batchelder of Portland and R. R. Erwin of Hood River are the trustees. The management contemplates extensive and splendid improvements, among others a first-class tourist and summer hotel.

Stice eight or nine boiled potatoes. Put two tablespoonsful of white (not cream) sauce in a stewpan with four ounces of butter, two ounces of grated cheese, juice of half a lemon, sea-salt, of salt, pepper and nutmeg and the yolks of four well-beaten eggs. Stir over the fire until thoroughly heated. Place a row of croquettes of fried or toasted bread around a shallow baking dish, put a layer of the potato slices within the border and cover with some of the sauce, then arrange another layer of potatoes in a smaller circle and cover with sauce, and so on until you have formed a raised center; put a little sauce on top and cover with two ounces more of grated cheese and some bread crumbs and bake about 20 minutes until nicely browned and serve up hot.—Washington Star.

A Custard Dish.
When baking a custard in an oven containing some other dish which requires greater heat, the proper temperature may be obtained by setting the custard in a pan of hot water. Do not allow the water to boil around it. If it shows a symptom of bubbling, add cold water. Use a pan a bit larger than the dish containing the custard, and do not put in water enough to come more than half way up the pudding dish. This permits more water to be added without dripping any out, and also lifting off the custard as soon as it is cooked. If left standing even a few minutes in the hot water it will waxy.—Good Housekeeping.

Asparagus Salad.
Wash the asparagus clean; cook five minutes in slightly salted boiling water; drain, add more boiling water and cook 15 minutes. Remove from the saucepan, and when cold, dry on a clean towel, cut into inch lengths, arrange on lettuce leaves for individual serving, and dress with a French dressing made by blending three tablespoonfuls olive oil, one tablespoonful vinegar, ten drops onion extract, one-half tablespoonful salt and the same of white pepper.—Ladies' World, New York.

Cucumber Lettuce.
Slice into half a pint of blue skinned milk as much cucumber as will cover. Let it stand for one hour, then bathe the face and hands with it and wash it off in clear soft water. This is an excellent lotion, but, of course, must be used almost as soon as made.—Housekeeper.

Distinguished Finnish Women.
Biographies of more than 600 women who have been or are distinguished in public life in Finland may be read in the "Handbook des Finlandschen Frauenvereins," recently published. In 1884 a Frauenverein was founded for the improvement of the condition of women, and in 1891 a second association, called the "Union," to which many were eligible, was founded for the same purpose.

The Toledo Blade.

Before the close of 1902 the Toledo Blade will be installed in its new building, with a modern plant and equipment with facilities equal to any publication between New York city and Chicago. It is the only weekly newspaper edited expressly for every state and territory. The news of the world so arranged that busy people can more easily comprehend than by reading cumbersome columns of dailies. All current topics made plain in each issue by special editorial matter, written from inception down to date. The only paper published especially for people who do or do not read daily newspapers and yet thirst for plain facts. That this kind of a newspaper is popular is proven by the fact that the Weekly Blade now has over 178,000 yearly subscribers and is circulated in all parts of the United States. In addition to the news, the Blade publishes short and serial stories and many departments of matter suited to every member of the family. Only one dollar a year. Write for free specimen copy. Address The Blade, Toledo, Ohio.

HIS DYING REVENGE.

Worst Thing He Could Do to Former Rival Was to Have Him Marry His Widow.

"You know Jack Clancy? No? Well, listen now, and I'll tell you how he went to the saints," said the quarry superintendent, according to the New York Tribune. "He was a fine, big man, well liked by the boys. He had a good time living, barring an occasional experience at home, and when he died everybody regretted it, except, perhaps, his wife, Mrs. Honoria Emma Clancy, who was Miss Nora Emma Brody before she took up with Clancy. 'Twas a great courtship, but Clancy won out in the end, and money changed hands on the outcome. Clancy lived five years after his marriage, but no man or woman ever heard him complain. One day Clancy crept back to see why a fuse hadn't reached, and a rock caved his ribs in. The doctor told him he had to die, and he took it without a twitch to his eyes. He lay still a minute, and then he called his best friend, Red Shaughnessy, to him. Red told me afterward how he went.

"Red," said he, "went as a kitten, but smiling. 'I'm going to die,' he said. 'Jack,' said Red, 'ye are!'

"Red," said Clancy, 'ye've allus been my best friend. Will ye promise me wanning that ye'll do for me after I'm gone?'

"That I will," answered Shaughnessy, with a weep in his voice.

"Then Clancy said: 'There's a thing that's long been layin' heavy on me, Red. Do ye mind Tim Cinnamon?'

"Him do I," said Red. "He put the dirty wur-raw spate upon me when ye took him from the prison. Mrs. Clancy and married her."

"He did that," said Clancy, weaker and weaker. "Nora is visitin' her rich contraband brother in the city now, and perhaps 'tis better so. Red, I said no word, nor did I avenge the score when Cinnamon put the dirty word av spate upon me. Ye may wonder that I did not break the bid av him. Shaughnessy, I hid off, but now me time is come."

"Jack Clancy, name me what ye will how me do to the devil, and be it the knocking off av his block. 'Is it that will do it as a sacred duty to me did?'

"Thin, listen close now, Red," said Clancy, clear and straight in his words. "'Tis no knockin' off av blocks that I will be requirin' ye to do to avenge up the score. Jist see to it, Red, as ye atuck by me when I lived—see to it that Nora, who I bade him av, gets married to him when I'm dead."

"That I will, so help me the saints!" swore Shaughnessy.

"Clancy pressed his hand. The saints be praised," he whispered. "Sind for Father Laddy. I doo contin'."

"Now is the Appointed Time." The O. R. & N. Co. has just issued a hand-drawn map of the entire Oregon-Washington and Idaho and their Resources. It has much to say about Hood River. People in the East are anxious for information about the Pacific Northwest. If you will give the O. R. & N. agent a list of names of Eastern people who are likely to be interested, the booklet will be mailed free to such persons.
