Council Proceedings.

Council met in regular session. Present, Mayor Brosius, Aldermen Blowers, McDonald, P. S. Davidson, Rand, Marshall Dukes and Surveyor Henderson.

Recorder Nickelsen not being present, the council appointed P. S. Davidson recorder pro tem.

An ordinance was introduced to repeal ordinance No. 63, which granted a ten-year contract to the Electric Light, Power and Water Co. to furnish water to the city for fire protection. It was explained in introducing the ordinance for the repeal of said ordinance granting such contract, that in view of the fact that this contract was the principal issue at the last election, and that a majority of the voters decided against the existing contract by electing those who were opposed to it, it would be only fair to all parties concerned to give the people a chance through their chosen representatives, to make arrangements for city water that would be satisfactory to the people, and if they should decide to install a new water plant or grant a charter to another company, would entail no loss on the present company if the question is settled before their commencement of laying mains. On motion of McDonald the ordinance passed first reading; Blowers and Rand voting no.

The following bill was presented, allowed and ordered paid: J. H. Dukes, marshal's salary $50.00. The resignation of J. L. Henderson as city surveyor was presented, to take effect immediately. On motion of McDonald the resignation was accepted. Adjourned.

Odell Notes.

C. G. Roberts goes to Portland today to meet his daughter who is attending school at the agricultural college at Corvallis. She will spend the holidays at Odell with her parents.

Cop Hinrich's new cottage is a favorite resort for the young people. Another dancing party was given there last Friday night.

The question "Resolved, that the repeal of the Anthracite Coal Strike was justifiable," was discussed at the literary last Thursday night, and decided by the three judges in the affirmative. Parties from Mount Hood were in attendance. The next question will be: "Resolved, that we as American People are more indebted to our Natural Resources for our greatness, than to our form of Government." With the present encroaching evils and the tendency to one man power, this question is pertinent, and we predict a good losing.

Wood cutting is the order of the day now. James Eggert is cutting 50 cords for Mr. Wyman to be used in burning brick. Chas. M. Busey and Mr. Miller have contracted to cut 100 ricks for Roswell Shelby, and Chas. Green has also contracted to cut 100 ricks for the same party. The wood is being cut on the Busey place which he recently sold; about three acres of which, already cleared, will be set to apples in the spring.

Wm. Ehrck has let a contract to Jas. Eggert and Thos. Lacey for the clearing of ten acres of land. The demand for the peerless Hood River apples is an incentive to increase the acreage and with a prospect for water upon the high land next season, no doubt clover fields and strawberries will also engage the attention of the people here.

B. T. Young has accepted a position with Davenport Bros. and will take charge of the Fuller stable in town, recently purchased by the above parties. Mr. Young's experience with, and knowledge of horses renders him very competent for such a position.

Otto Ehrck and Collins left yesterday for San Francisco. The boys are going to see the elephant, then, no doubt, will be glad to return to Hood River.

D. D. Dodson of Duke's valley is the owner of a very nice new top buggy. When asked as he drove by the other day, what this meant, his ready reply was—"Fun," and Dan knows how to have it.

Dukes' Valley Items.
The winter still hangs on up in this part of the world. The snow averages from two to eight inches in depth, according to the elevation. Although it is not very cold, still it is very disagreeable working out of doors, and there is very much being done at present in the way of improvements, etc.; still everybody seems to be busy at something or other.

Rev. D. D. Dodge started with his family for Ansley, Nebraska, last Tuesday. He expects to be gone about two days. He rented his land to J. Q. Carnahan, who will improve the land during Mr. Dodge's absence. Mr. Carnahan has bought a grubbing machine and he expects to grub 15 or 20 acres of land this winter, which will be set out to fruit trees as soon as possible.

Fred and Ruby Chandler and Bert Tyler were visiting friends in this vicinity last Sunday.

Miss Ellen Dodge is down in the Crapper neighborhood for a week's visit among her friends and former schoolmates.

Four of our neighbor boys took a rifle and shotgun and went up to the top of the mountain west of here with the intention of getting a bear or something larger. They hunted until about 4 o'clock when they accidentally ran on to a bear track. Instead of taking the trail and following the bear, they took a trail for home and the way they came down that mountain would put a wild broncho to shame; a Sahara desert camel couldn't begin to step in the tracks those boys made. They reached home all right and say they are going out to get that bear yet, if they can get some one to go with them.

The Shiftless Poor.

As the winter season comes on apace the usual calls for assistance are crowding in on our county judge, who is put to his wit's end to discriminate as to the merits of each. Not only is the county besieged, but charitable institutions and individuals are in the same box.

The poor we have always with us and referring to such the Divine Teacher said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto me." There is a class of alleged poor to whom we believe this does not refer, and these we have more abundantly than the deserving ones. The latter it is next to impossible to find for they are not going about parading their wants on the street corners, and the only way the county can determine their need is through some neighbor from whom they cannot hide their destitution. Such as these the county and private philanthropists would gladly assist, particularly as the season for gift-giving is close upon us.

There are in The Dalles large families who yearly make their appeal to the county or others, whether times are prosperous or otherwise. To them it makes no difference. The public owes them a living whether they have attempted to earn it or not. In these families are grown sons and daughters lying idle in unkept shanties. The harvest season comes and is gone, and while the cry has gone up from all sides for harvest hands, the boys have sat in the shade of some tree and whittled; the farmers' wives have begged for help at this time and the city housekeepers have placed advertisement after advertisement in the papers endeavoring to secure assistance in the kitchen, but still the husky daughters of these "unfortunate poor" lounge about.

Winter comes and the mothers of these "poor" boys and girls call upon the judge with a pitiful tale of woe and beg from door to door of neatly-kept, prosperous homes, where the sons and daughters have been out in the world battling for a livelihood ever since they left school, after receiving not the least bit more education than is offered to the children of the parents who now beg of their "more fortunate" neighbors. Why this difference? Simply because the one has made the most of their opportunities; the other has done nothing but live off the remainder of the community.

These people, of course, grow ill at times, and a bowl at once goes up and the entire city is exercised and assistance comes from all sides. The physician is called to administer to them; to leave his bed in the dead of the night and make his way to some shack far back of the city and give them the necessary assistance without money and without price. One of these men said the other day, "If you don't come when you are sent for I'll know the reason; there's a law that compels you to do so!" When, as a matter of fact there is no such law.

What applies to the physicians in such cases applies to all professions, all trades. The shiftless live off the industries. We would not be understood to say that in many cases those whom the county and others are assisting are not worthy and such as should be helped; but the majority, we must say, belong to the other class.

But what's to be done in the matter? In a Christian community none will be left in want; and yet are we not in many instances simply fostering idleness by helping such? Is it uncharitable to refuse aid in such cases? While such questions are propounded each year, they remain unanswered, for our people would rather foster a whole army of undeserving idlers than that "one of the least" of the deserving ones should remain in want.

Miss Hattie Hansberry was the recipient of a piano Tuesday.

Looking for Boys.

The London Free Press strikes the nail on the head in the following: "When we see the boys on the street and in public places we often wonder if they know that the business men are watching them. In every bank, store, or office, there will soon be a place for a boy to fill. Those who have the management of the affairs of the business will select a boy in whom they have confidence. When they select one of the boys to swear, use slang, smoke cigarettes, or tap a beer keg, these men have a few of these habits themselves, but they are looking for boys who are as near gentlemen in every sense of the word as they can find, and they are able to give the character of every boy in the city. They are not looking for rowdies, and when a boy applies for one of these places and is refused they may not tell him the reason why they do not want him, but they can depend upon it he has been rated according to his behavior. Boys cannot afford to adopt the habits and conversation of loafers and rowdies if they ever want to be called to responsible positions."

There is gladness in her gladness when she's glad—there is sadness in her sadness when she's sad—but the gladness in her gladness nor the sadness in her sadness is nothing to her madeness when she's mad. There is kickiness in her kickiness when she kicks—there is lickeness in her lickeness when she licks; but the lickeness of her lickeness is nothing to her madness when she's mad. There is crossness in her crossness when she's cross, there is glossing in her glossing of her gloss—but the crossness of her crossing nor glossing of her glossing is nothing to her bossing when she's boss.

Saved at Grave's Brink.
"I know I would long ago have been in my grave," writes Mrs. S. H. Newsom, of Decatur, Ala., "if it had not been for Electric Bitters. For three years I suffered untold agony from the worst forms of indigestion, waterbrash, stomach and bowel dyspepsia. But this excellent medicine did me a world of good. Since using it I can eat heartily and have gained 35 pounds." For indigestion, loss of appetite, stomach, liver and kidney troubles, Electric Bitters are a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at Chas. N. Clarke's drug store.

Summons.
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Wasco.
Clara Christiansen, plaintiff, vs. Nels Christiansen, defendant. Suit for Divorce.
NOTICE.
To Nels Christiansen, the above-named defendant: In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit, on or before six weeks from the 12th day of December, 1902, and if you fail so to answer, the plaintiff above named will take judgment against you for want thereof, and apply to the court for the relief prayed for in the complaint on file herein, to-wit: That the bonds of matrimony now existing between you and the plaintiff herein be dissolved and forever annulled, and for the care, custody and control of the infant child born from your union with the said plaintiff, and for general relief.
This summons is served upon you by publication thereof once a week for six consecutive weeks, and for seven consecutive insertions, in the Hood River Glacier, a newspaper of general circulation, designated as most likely to give you notice, published weekly in the County of Wasco, State of Oregon, and is so served by virtue of an order made and entered herein on the 9th day of December, A. D. 1902, by the Hon. W. L. Bradshaw, judge of said court. The date of said order is December 9, 1902, and the date of the first publication of this notice and summons is December 12, 1902. JOHN LELAND HENDERSON, 1902. Attorney for Plaintiff.
