Bottom prices on doors and windows at Bartmess'. For Rent—Unfurnished house, 7 rooms. Inquire of Friday & Barnes. For Rent—The Langille house store room. Inquire of phone 151. It will pay you to get Bartmess' prices on building material. Doors and windows—Bartmess has the most complete stock in town. Fetch Portland quotations on house furnishings to Bartmess and save freight. F. O. Brace has good dry pine wood cut and split for the stove, at $5.00 a cord.

Koberg's butter 60c at McGuire Bros. Wanted—5 to 10 acres grubbed. B. R. Tucker. Claude Copple was reported on the sick list Monday. Mrs. Fred Howe spent last week visiting in Portland. Thomas Calkins was on the sick list with the grip Monday.

The women's alliance of the Unitarian church will meet this Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. B. Atterbury. L. B. Wilson of Denver, Col., is in the valley looking for a location. Monday morning J. T. Miller and Mr. Wilson walked in from Mr. Miller's place to take the boat for Portland.

G. W. Skinner and wife of Council Bluffs, Iowa, were in the valley last week. Mr. Skinner is promoting the immigration of farmers to Oregon from the Middle Western states. He lately located 30 families in Southern Oregon, and has found an opening in upper Hood River valley for a number of farmers and home seekers.

F. S. Perry of Portland visited his parents and other relatives in Hood River last week, returning home Sunday. Fred is now foreman of a department in the Multnomah Trunk and Box Factory, where he has charge of 14 workmen. He runs a lathe that makes strawberry hallocks, all kinds of veneering, etc., and has a good situation.

Lieutenant J. P. Lear, of Fort Wrangell, Alaska, is visiting at Underwood, Wash. He is Ed Underwood's father-in-law. Lieutenant Lear was in the regular army in 1856 at the time of the Indian war, and came down from The Dalles second in command of a company of cavalry, when Joselyn's ranch at White Salmon was attacked and the houses burned. The cavalry crossed the Columbia from Hood River at the time, but found the Indians in strong force, too many to attack, and returned to this side of the river on the steamer Wasco. Lieutenant Lear hadn't been in Hood River since 1856, and found some changes had taken place in 47 years.

F. H. Stanton returned Saturday from a trip to his old home in Pennsylvania. He visited at Sayer, Scranton and other towns of that state and in New York state. He was in Olyphant, Pa., when the big cave-in occurred, caused by the props in the coal mines under the town giving way. Mr. Stanton says a hotel and three dwelling houses went down, but strange to say no lives were lost. The cave-in occurred in the daytime.

First of the Season—H. C. Beteah brought to the Glacier office last Thursday the first ripe strawberries of the season of 1903. There were 21 good-sized Magoons, all ripe or partly so. Mr. Beteah says they were grown in his Magoon patch in the open field. He gathered a fine lot the week before and intended bringing them to the Glacier office but forgot them when he came to town. Where's White Salmon now?

J. Lacy, who has been living in The Dalles for the past six years, in the employ of the O. R. & N. Co., is taking a 90-day vacation on his ranch on the East Side. The Lacy ranch is well known as one of the best apple orchards in this place for several years. Mr. Lacy may conclude to take a permanent vacation and remain on his ranch.

Some one called up the Glacier man by phone last Friday night, about 8 o'clock, and told him to listen to the music. Pretty soon some kind of musical instrument started up, making delightful music that was heard by every one in the room. We couldn't imagine where the music came from.

H. H. Tomlinson was down from Mount Hood Friday. He is clearing land and getting ready to set apple trees and strawberry plants. He is following the example of D. E. Miller and believes strawberries will be a paying crop at Mount Hood.

The enterprising real estate firm of Friday & Barnes sold the Fossberg place near town, containing 3 acres, to J. T. Barnes of Vineland, Washington; consideration $1,000. Mr. Barnes and family will take possession at once.

If you want to find a property that just suits you, in price, location and state of improvement, or choice tract of wild land at a bargain, either in Oregon or Washington, go to Geo. D. Culbertson and Co.

Mrs. B. Warren, who resides on State street, has been quite ill the past week, but is much better, and her friends hope that her full recovery will soon follow.

Mrs. F. Brown has leased the store room formerly occupied by the Glacier Pharmacy and will open confectionery and ice cream parlors and also a bakery.

H. A. Cunniff, city marshal, has notified all owners of slot machines in the city that gambling by these devices must stop.

Albert McKamey returned Wednesday from his trip to the Willamette valley and went out to his home at Mount Hood.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cole and son are enjoying life in Los Angeles, where they expect to remain for a month or two yet. The best values in a 5c pen tablet ever offered in the city at Slocum's. Former retail price 10c.

St. Marks guild will meet with Mrs. Judge Henderson on Wednesday next.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chandler went to Portland Monday. They returned Thursday.

Mr. Patterson of Mount Hood has leased Fred Perry's farm near Tucker.

A Walk-Over Shoe

On your foot offers more snap, more ease and more service than you have ever bought for $3.50. Every Walk-Over wearer becomes a missionary because the shoes are satisfying. The styles are correct.

This is no locomotive number, neither is it a lottery number; it's the stock number of one of the that seem to have the call these days. It's a heavy dongola miss shoe, with heavy sole and extension edge and patent tip. This is only one style. There are nine others—every one supreme in their class. There is no dope about them.

If the children's feet are not yet "housed" in from the weather you want to get in here this week.

THE PEOPLE'S STORE.

In this week's Glacier Captain H. C. Coe furnishes an account of his journey from New York state to Portland fifty years ago. He is preparing an article on the early history of Hood River, which will appear in the Glacier soon, with illustrations of some of the old-time residents and landmarks. Captain Coe, although not our oldest citizen in years, is the only person in Hood River who was here in the early fifties and during the Yalins Indian war. Amos Underwood holds the same record on the Washington side of the Columbia, and these two men have long been recognized authority on the early history of Hood River and the middle Columbia river country. Our readers will peruse with interest Captain Coe's narrative in this week's Glacier and his reminiscences that will appear later.

The heaviest rain fall of the winter occurred last Friday night and Saturday. There was a steady down pour for 24 hours ending Saturday evening about 8 o'clock. Hood river and all the larger streams in the valley were booming. A great many logs were brought down by the freshet. The dam of the Electric Light Company was washed away and several sections of the flume went down, and the tow was within a few days since last Friday night. The Tucker bridge was slightly damaged by saw logs striking the abutments, but travel across the bridge has not been impeded. Flume creek was on the "rampage," and the railroad bridge across it was made unsafe, which detained the night trains going east till Monday morning.

Sherman Young, the mail carrier on the free delivery route, had a narrow escape in making his rounds Saturday. At Upper Neal creek crossing he has been in the habit of driving into the creek to water his horses, instead of crossing the bridge. The heavy rain fall of Saturday had swollen the creek to the point where he was arranging his mail for delivery and the horses were in the water almost before he was conscious of his whereabouts. His team and wagon were swept down the stream and he was with some difficulty managed to get out and save his team. The tongue of his wagon was broken and a small portion of his mail was lost.

J. P. Jensen, lately from Minnesota, has purchased P. A. Trana's place of 8 acres at White Salmon. Consideration $2,800. The purchase includes a furnished house, horse and wagon and all the farm implements on the place. There is 5 1/2 acres in strawberries. Mr. Jensen is well pleased with the White Salmon country and says he has come to stay. He has a wife and child, and a veranda 56 feet in length is on two sides of the house. He has a hot-air furnace, bath-room, bath tub, hot and cold water, and all the modern improvements. His home makes a decided improvement in that section.

Hood River now has a dairyman that is attending strictly to business and is furnishing a good supply of milk. Milton Pealer has 10 nice cows, which are well fed and groomed every day, and they are giving a nice lot of milk to pay for their good keep. He keeps his stables in the best of order and is neat and clean in caring for the milk. His patrons in town are all well pleased with the service he is rendering.

The Prather Investment Co. recently sold the following lands: 40 acres to G. Hickox, 140 to Frank Davenport, 120 to Frank Davenport, 40 to J. Bateson, 5 to J. Bateson, 10 to Vera O'Neil, one block on the hill to J. L. Hershner, one block on the hill to John Donahue, two lots to Amos Case.

Geo. D. Culbertson & Co. made sale last Thursday of the Peter A. Trana 8-acre place, one mile west of White Salmon, Washington, to J. P. Jensen, recently of Feorn, Minnesota. Consideration $2,800. Mr. Jensen is to be congratulated upon securing this handsome little property, all equipped ready for occupancy.

H. L. Howe, who has been chief clerk in the United States land office at Burns Oregon, for the past year or more, is visiting his folks in Hood River. Mr. Howe has been transferred to the land office at Roseburg and will leave for that place today. His family may move to Roseburg later.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Trana, who recently sold their fruit farm near White Salmon, will visit with their son living at Baker City, Oregon, for a time, and then return to their home at White Salmon again somewhere in the Columbia river valley.

Geo. D. Culbertson & Co. sold last week a portion of block 8, Winans addition to Hood River, including a small piece of acreage property adjoining, to local parties for residential purpose.

On account of the stormy weather, the ladies of the Unitarian society will meet at the home of Mrs. J. E. Rand this Friday, at 2 o'clock, instead of at Mrs. Atterbury's.

The ladies Kensington of the U. B. church will meet at the home of Mrs. C. T. Early, Friday, February 6. Program next week.

Our new city marshal is doing commendable work in keeping the mud and snow shoveled off the street crossings. Remember Slocum will open up a complete line of valentines in time for February 14.

CLEARANCE SALE HEATING STOVES!

There may be lots of WINTER YET, but we have reduced the price on all our HEATERS to avoid carrying them over the summer time.

This is a good chance to secure a heater for next winter.

REMNANTS.

This week we will close out all remnants at half prices. Don't miss this, as there are some good values.

Our new goods will soon arrive, when we will show you many new novelty weaves. Last season it was stated that mercerized fabrics had reached perfection, and that it would not be possible to further improve them; but they are better than the 1902 showing.

Shoes.

We are talking of our new Shoes. Styles are a little newer, quality a little nicer, workmanship a little better than any $3.50 shoes we ever had before, and we are told they are a little nicer than any other $3.50 shoes you are likely to find. At any rate, they are worn by the best dressed people.

Saturday night is the close of our Clearance Sale. If you wish to save money don't miss these last two days. For these days we will make you a special price on all our Underwear. SEE OUR WINDOW.

Frederick & Arnold last Saturday gave the finishing touches to the new house they built for J. H. Filsinger, on his farm two miles south of town. Mr. Filsinger has a house 28 x 32, two stories, with a kitchen part one story 18 x 16. A veranda 56 feet in length is on two sides of the house. He has a hot-air furnace, bath-room, bath tub, hot and cold water, and all the modern improvements. His home makes a decided improvement in that section.

The Order of Washington held a very enjoyable session Saturday evening, last week. Supreme Secretary Mitchell was present and conducted the installation exercises. Mr. Mitchell gave the union an interesting talk on the financial and numerical strength of the order showing a strong, steady growth ever since its present organization. The order now issues policies in seven states in the Northwest, and in December wrote nearly 1,000 policies. Mrs. Adams, supreme representative of this district was up from Portland and drilled the union in the floor work, which all old lodge members present declared to be the finest they had seen. Mrs. Adams put on the officers' and installation drills, only and she says the initiative floor work is still better. Mrs. Adams will come up again in the near future and instruct the union in all the floor work.

Persons who have made desert land entries and have abandoned the same may get their money refunded. Persons who have made stone and timber entries, the entries have been surrendered by the government, may have their entries completed and get title to their lands by conferring with John Leland Henderson, attorney, Hood River.

A Hood River lady suggests that the school children can derive a good deal of pleasure by feeding the birds during the present snow storm. The little birds deserve attention.

The Hood River Fruit Grower's union through its secretary G. J. Gessling have invested in a new Desmone typewriter. E. R. Bradley, the local agent for the Desmone machines, made the sale.

If you contemplate purchasing a new typewriter, place your order with E. R. Bradley, agent for the Desmone—the best machine on the market.

A Washington dispatch of the 27th says Congressman Moody has secured an order for rural free delivery route No. 2 in Hood River.

Died.
At Falds, Washington, January 23, 1903. Mrs. Kestiah Barnes, aged 66.

Obituary.
William C. Sprout died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. G. Church, at Belmont, Hood River valley, January 23, 1903. Deceased was born in Vermont July 20, 1826. He went to Wisconsin in 1845, and in 1850 crossed the plains to California. After three years spent in California he returned to Wisconsin, where he lived for 30 years. He then went to Minnesota where he lived for 20 years, and then came to Hood River. His wife died in Hood River in 1901. Mr. Sprout was a man of integrity, utterly devoid of anything like hypocrisy. He was a life long Mason, and his funeral was taken in charge by the Masonic lodge of Hood River. Mr. Sprout was the father of Charles H. and Boyd N. Sprout, and Mrs. F. G. Church of Hood River valley, and of Mrs. John Gleason of Crookston, Minnesota. Burial was made in Hillside cemetery Monday.
