THE PEOPLE'S STORE.

A. S. Blowers & Son have made sale of their store to Bragg Bros. of Pullman, Washington. The sale has been closed and a payment made, and the new proprietors will take possession April 1. Bragg Bros have a merchandise store in Pullman and own a big flouring mill at Colfax. The firm of Blowers & Son is one of the oldest in Hood River, and by its going out of business Hood River will lose one of its most prominent land marks. L. N. Blowers, the junior member of the firm, will, we learn, go to Puget sound, where he will engage in the commission business. Captain Blowers practically quit business two years ago, and the sale of the store will make no change in his business life.

The Lost Lake Lumber company started their big saws to buzzing yesterday with a full crew, and will make things hum from this time on. They are to be congratulated on the large number of logs they have in the boom awaiting the grapping hooks to yank them into the big mill to be cut into lumber. This firm's business is largely export, their lumber going into Montana, Idaho and Utah. The starting of this mill means a good deal to Hood River, as the saw roll will run up to $3000 per month.

Next Thursday evening, at the opera house, local talent will give the rendition of The Old Dairy Homestead, a play all will enjoy seeing. The cast of characters will insure a full house. Hood River has the best of talent in this line, and some of the best of it will be on the boards next Thursday night, February 19. Turn out and give the embryo theatrical stars a full house. You will get your money's worth.

The White Collar line of steamers plying between Portland, Astoria and the lower river and Portland and The Dalles on the upper river, has passed into the hands of the Columbia River and Northern Railway company. This is the same concern that absorbed the Regulate line. This effectually stops competition on the river between The Dalles and Portland.

The concert of Professor W. F. Werschul's vocal class to be given at K. of P. hall next Monday night promises to be an interesting one and worthy of a large house. The pupils have worked industriously and do credit to the Professor's instruction. Reserved seats without extra charge at Clarke's drug store.

Bert Stranahan and Miss Eva Sheets took a trip out to S. M. Baldwin's place at Mount Hood last Wednesday, returning Thursday. Bert drove his horse Dandy and Will Graham's horse, hitched to a cutter and made the trip in about two hours.

Rev. J. T. Merrill has moved his family from The Dalles to Hood River, and they are now living upon their place on the East Side. Mr. Merrill is presiding elder for this district of the United Brethren church.

T. D. Tweedy writes from Olex that they had but three inches of snow during the late storm. He says he has some nice homesteads that will be relinquished for a moderate consideration.

Lost—Old Mack, a big yellow dog, with name on collar and name of owner on same, has been missing for a week. O. B. Hartley will pay a liberal reward for his return to him.

The woman's alliance of the Unitarian society will meet with Mrs. Dr. Jenkins on Saturday of this week, at 2 p. m. This is the regular literary day.

W. A. Slingerland returned Saturday from a trip to the Willamette valley and visited relatives in Dallas, Polk county.

On account of the wet weather the grading for the Unitarian church will be postponed for a date to be announced later.

We will guarantee our creamery butter to give satisfaction or money refunded. Hood River Commercial Co.

Everybody is going to the concert next Monday night, and so will their sisters and their cousins and their aunts.

Mess Blanche Lane went to Portland Tuesday, where she will visit with her sister for an indefinite period.

Williams' vegetable antiseptic hair tonic gives satisfaction. Call for it at Williams' drug store.

A. J. Eastman and Miss Lenora L. Wallace have secured a marriage license.

At present we can use a few nice chickens. Hood River Commercial Co.

A Walk-Over Shoe

On your foot offers more snap, more ease and more service than you have ever bought for $3.50. Every Walk-Over wearer becomes a missionary because the shoes are satisfying. The styles are correct.

1661.
This is no locomotive number, neither is it a lottery number; it's the stock number of one of the District 76 Shoes, that seem to have the call these days. It's a heavy dongola miss shoe, with heavy sole and extension edge and patent tip. This is only onestyle. There are nine others—every one supreme in their class. There is no dope about them.

If the children's feet are not yet "housed" in from the weather you want to get in here this week.

The Julia Marlowe Shoe

Frank R. Roe of Jordan, Ind., in renewing his subscription to the Glacier, says: "I am interested in your valley and perhaps will land there some time next spring with my family. In your paper of January 30, you say you were presented with ripe strawberries grown in the open air. We do not see how berries can grow and ripen when the snow is a foot deep over them, but of course we are not acquainted with your climate." The berries that were brought in in January were grown before the first snow came, and after the snow disappeared, a few days of sunshine colored them, and they were not colored entirely, only a red spot on the side laying up to the sun. In this climate the wild strawberries bloom in the fall as well as the cultivated varieties. The Magoon strawberry, the kind brought in in January, is a prolific bearer and will bear sometimes when other varieties will not. The ground here is generally covered with snow when we have freezing weather, and the strawberry vines and other crops come out of the snow as green as in the early fall. The strawberries that were brought in in January were real berries, of good size, and red on one side, but at the same time they were not tempting and no one in the office was inclined to taste them. There is some good-natured rivalry here between White Salmon, on the north bank of the Columbia, and Hood River in getting the first of any crop in the market, and for that reason, more than anything else, the item was published. There was a large attendance, among whom were Grand Chancellor Maloney of Pendleton, G. K. of R. Stimson of Salem and James McKibben, publisher of the Senator, Portland. There was a competitive drill between The Dalles and Wasco, the prize being a handsome silk flag offered by Waucoma lodge No. 30, of Hood River. The prize was carried off by the Wasco Knights. The local lodge treated their guests to a fine banquet and the visitors were lauded in their praise for the hearty welcome extended them. The Mountaineer says: "This convention was indeed a success and was the best ever held in the district, which is largely due to the hospitality of Hood River people in general and to the untiring efforts of the members of Waucoma Lodge in particular. Certainly they deserve much credit and their hospitality will long be remembered by the Knights who visited Hood River on February 7, 1903."

Hugh Gourlay, general agent for the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of McMinnville, came down from The Dalles, Monday, to adjust the loss of Chas. Chandler, whose dwelling house was destroyed by fire recently. Mr. Chandler was insured for $400. His claim will be paid in full. The loss on house and furniture amounts to $1000.

A petition is being circulated for signatures for a road to Lost Lake. The proposed road will cross the East Fork of Hood River at Ross Winans' place.

Postmaster Yates received Thursday morning an order from the department to put on rural mail route No. 2, on March 2. Parties who will get mail over the new route are requested to report their names and location at the post office. Route No 1 is 22 miles long; area covered, 16 1/2 square miles; houses on route, 101; population served, 845. Route No. 2 is 2 1/2 miles long; area covered, 12 1/4 square miles; number of houses, 226; population served, 1,017.

The Glacier intended to publish the programme of the entertainment to be given next Monday evening at the K. of P. hall by Professor Werschul's vocal music class, but the matter has not come to hand. It is known that the programme will be fresh, novel and entertaining. Professor Werschul will render several parts. It is expected that his wife will be present to assist.

Rev. Dr. Serg Sorson of the Transvaal, South Africa, gave a lecture at the Congregational church on Sunday evening, on the Boer people and their country. The offering for destitute Boer widows and orphans amounted to $10.28, which amount was sent through the Hood River post office to Lyndendorf, Transvaal, Monday.

Professor C. D. Thompson, principal of the Hood River school, Miss Katie Earle and Mrs. Margaret Reid, went to The Dalles Wednesday to attend the teachers' examination. Professor Thompson is a member of the board of examiners. The rooms of these teachers are closed Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Frank Gregory, the only so-called mallox patient in Hood River, has about recovered from the disease. At no time was he confined to his bed; however, there is no lack of vigilance on the part of the health officer, and a strict quarantine is still maintained.

Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Rand came up from University Park Wednesday. They came in response to a telephone from here stating that Mrs. Rand's mother, Mrs. Peak, is quite sick. The old lady is over 80 years old and is quite feeble.

A revival meeting is in progress at the Valley Christian church, with large and appreciative audiences. The singing, led by J. W. Eissel, is an enjoyable feature of the services. The meetings will continue over next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bird Rose of Lubbock, Texas, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Claude Coplee. Mrs. Rose is a sister of Mrs. Coplee. Mr. Rose is a cattle buyer, connected with one of the big firms of Chicago.

W. A. Davis of Mosier was in town Monday. He reports that Hood River beat Mosier in depth of snow during the late snow storm by at least a foot.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hennagin returned from their California trip Wednesday. They report a pleasant time in the Sunshine state.

Rev. C. D. Nickelsen and family are now residents of Hood River valley, having moved from Colfax last week.
