FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1903.

Mosier Items.

Mosier, February 14.—Nature has served us bountifully this week. Snow is of the past and sunshine a daily visitor.

Mrs. P. Hughes of Spokane is visiting her mother, Mrs. Robert Denmore.

Otto Meteban of Portland was a transient visitor during the week.

The many friends of Miss Nora Root tendered her a reception on Friday evening, in honor of her birthday. A pleasant evening was reported by all in attendance.

Miss Gertrude Davenport is visiting friends and relatives at The Dalles.

Mrs. A. Stewart, who has been visiting her daughter at Columbus, has returned.

Master Lewis Burlingame, who has been ill, is reported convalescent.

Court attendance at The Dalles has called forth a number of residents—Dick Evans, J. Burlingame and P. Henningsen.

Miss Lucy Mulline is attending teachers' examination at The Dalles, which is in convention this week.

Miss Ada Gilbert has returned from an extended visit at Lyle.

Why He Got Left.

Boyersford, Pennsylvania, February 11, 1903.—Editor Glacier: In your issue of January 30, 1903, I notice the item—the first strawberries of the season—which, to say the least, is refreshing the season a little. New I have always considered H. C. B. one of my rival friends and would not wish to think that he would take undue advantage of his Washington competitors. Yet he must be aware of the fact that I was at the time he gathered those berries and am yet at this writing in Pennsylvania, and so was not at home to take care of the first strawberries which I feel sure must have ripened on my place earlier than on his, as they always do.

Before I left home about Christmas I noticed a great many large and well formed berries, and anybody familiar with strawberries knows that it does not take an almost full grown berry 30 days to ripen, and by this method of reasoning I come to the conclusion that I would have had the first berries as usual had I been at home to see to their gathering. But losing the cup this season will only be a spur to greater vigilance and renewed efforts. Respectfully yours, S. C. ZIMMER.

Rural Telephone System.

We, the undersigned citizens of Hood River valley, feeling the need of intercommunication, and believing that the people themselves should undertake to supply this need, have signed a call for a meeting of all the residents of Hood River valley, who are interested in establishing a system of rural telephones throughout the valley, to meet at A. O. U. hall in Hood River at 1 o'clock p. m. on Saturday, February 21. We wish to add, that this is your business as well as ours, and want you to come and start the ball rolling in the interest of home telephones. The people of Willamette valley have taken hold of this matter and are not only installing telephones throughout the country districts, but are connecting the various towns in the valley. Respectfully,

A Moving-Picture Concert.

Hood River is promised another good entertainment next Thursday evening, February 26. Professor M. G. Steel's moving picture concert will be here on that date, under the auspices of the Woodmen of the World. This is not to be classed with the ordinary picture shows, but is one of the best clean, high-class entertainments, endorsed by prominent public men and women and the press. We copy from the Oregonian of January 2, as follows:

"The entertainment given last night at the Taylor-street M. E. church, under the auspices of the Woodmen of the World, was pronounced by those who witnessed it to be the finest ever seen in Portland. The building was packed to the 'standing-room-only' point, and more than 300 people turned away. Before 8 o'clock, the hour set for the opening, the doors were closed against further admittance. Among the moving pictures shown were King Edward's coronation procession, the 'Black Diamond Express,' Battle of Matfield, and a pigeon farm at Los Angeles, showing 20,000 birds in motion. The pigeon picture was so natural that one girl was heard to declare that she heard the birds' wings flutter."

There will be scenes depicting the humorous phases of life, scenes of pathos and tragedy, a regular melange of amusing, entertaining and instructive demonstrations. Reserved seats at Clarke's drug store. Admission 15, 25 and 35 cents.

The Hoosier Social.

Following is the programme for the Hoosier social, to be given at the opera house Saturday evening, February 21:

Song by native Hoosiers.
Address of Welcome—H. C. Shaffer.
Piano Duet—Mrs. Bartness and Miss Hartley.

Solo, "On the Banks of the Wabash"—Mrs. Truman Butler.

Humorous Reading—D. N. Dyerlee.
Lullaby, "Mamma's Chinese Twins"—Kathryn Hartley.

Essay, "Indiana Celebrities"—Miss Katie Earle.

Boys' chorus, "Under the Bamboo Tree"—Twelve boys.

Reading—Mr. Carnes.

Male Quartette, "The Silent Sell"—Messrs. Arnold, Hartley, Shaw and Harmon.

Song, "The Man With the Plow"—W. Upson.

More Improvements.

A representative of the Glacé, made a personal inspection of the extensive plant of the Davidson Fruit Co., one of the substantial institutions of Hood River. Just now the force is busy as bees in that portion of their establishment devoted to the manufacture of berry boxes and crates. We were shown through the various departments by A. P. Bateham, the secretary, who explained the various details of the different departments. Let us remain awhile to watch the nimble fingers of the girls as they manipulate the machines that turn out from 300 to 1,000 berry boxes every hour. If you don't believe this requires quick work, just get a permit from the office—and you must come well recommended to secure this privilege—and visit this branch of their business. You will see the handsome girls keep a rainbow of hallocks in the air as they toss them over their shoulders in a heap on the floor behind them. Then there are the boys who nail up the crates. We can't begin to tell how fast they drive in the nails, but will say that three and four hundred crates is just an average day's work for each of them.

Mr. Bateham informed us that owing to the rapid growth of the company's business they found it necessary to enlarge their quarters, and with this in view they have purchased the large red warehouse owned by the Hood River Trading Co. and will move the big building at once to its new position, joining the east end of the cannery and office building. This will give them 12,000 additional square feet of floor space, which was much needed. The company contemplates other improvements in their canning departments, but they will come along later, when the big building is firmly established. The Davidson Fruit Co. will have something of interest to say through the columns of the Glacé to the people of Hood River valley. Look out for it.

California Apple Land $500 Per Acre.

Mr. and Mrs. Hennagin's recent visit to California was a return to Mr. Hennagin's old home near Woodland. They have visited relatives at Sacramento and at other nearby towns. Mr. Hennagin left Woodland for Oregon 24 years ago and of course found great changes in the country roundabout that place. Wheat growing has given way to fruit growing almost entirely. Their citrus fruits and choice fruit of other varieties were very fine, but he looked in vain all the time he was away for a good apple. The average Californian is just provincial enough to believe that everything grown there beats the world, and whenever he told them that the scrubby little apples he saw offered for sale were nothing but cider apples, he met with derision and was informed that in the matter of apple growing Oregonians would have to "go way back and sit down."

As the land on which California apples are grown is valued at $500 per acre and upwards, he wonders what value they would put on it if they could turn out such apples as were exhibited last fall at our Hood River fair.

In Pleasant Valley, near Winters, he saw a specimen of terrace farming which was a revelation to him in hill-side farming. A steep mountain side which had proved well adapted to fruit had been plowed down in terraces just the right width for a row of trees. Trees planted on these benches and terraces were thrifty and profitable and were said to be easy to work. Mr. Hennagin thinks the day is coming when the mountain slopes around our valley will all be cultivated in the same manner.

G. A. R. and W. R. C.

The meetings of Canby Post and Relief Corps, last Saturday, were well attended. After the post meeting closed the members were invited into the room of the Relief Corps to partake of a dainty lunch prepared and served by the ladies. A birthday surprise was given Comrade Blythe by the presentation to him of a neat Grand Army badge in miniature by the members of the post. Captain J. P. Shaw did the grand in an eloquent address and planned the badge on his comrade's lapel. Mrs. E. Smith made a neat little speech on behalf of the Relief Corps. The Relief Corps is flourishing. Three members, who have not been fraternizing for a year or more, returned to the fold at the meeting Saturday. This noble band of loyal women—the Canby Relief Corps—calls upon their sisters throughout the valley to join with them in this auxiliary work. Every civil war veteran should wear the Grand Army button, and every loyal woman should give aid and comfort to the old soldiers by joining the Relief Corps.

Now Today.

A. N. Hoar, station agent, is on the sick list, and a new man is his substitute. Captain Blowers, who has been on the sick list, is again able to be about.

Mrs. S. L. Pollock lost a paper in a sealed envelope, which is of importance to her but no one else. She will thank the finder if it is left at the Glacier office.

D. F. Lamar has 50 tons of No. 1 hay for sale—wheat, timothy and alfalfa.

Just received—a line of watches, clocks, jewelry and silverware, at F. W. Clarke's, opposite postoffice.

If you want to live on timber land homesteads, call on George T. Prather, U. S. Commissioner, district of Oregon.

How One Town was Built Up.

The results following the construction of good roads are well illustrated in the case of a certain town in Indiana which some years ago was noted for its poor roads. In this county two towns were rivals, both being equally distant from a fine agricultural section. In order to get the inland trade one of these towns conceived the idea of building one mile of good road a year toward that section. The first year one mile of road was built, and so obvious were the results that three more miles were at once built by private subscription. Travel and trade increased in a large volume, and the next year seven miles of good hard road appeared. Today almost all the roads leading into the town are improved, and it is an important trading center for the farmers. The rival town is practically dead. The moral is plain—good roads pay—American Farmer.

The Local Commercial Organization.

A useful force in all the cities and towns of the northwest is the local commercial organization which is made up of the wide awake and enterprising citizens, willing and eager to do something for their community. They may be called chambers of commerce, boards of trade or commercial clubs—the aim and the object is the same, and they can accomplish great good for the locality from which the membership is taken.

A good deal that has been done by the many thriving places in the north-west would never have been done had it not been done by some sort of organization among the business men. Individual effort is of value, but it can secure the best results only when well directed and it is this essential direction that is obtained through organization of the business men into a commercial body. Energies that are unused or wasted where a community has no organization working for its advancement may be utilized to the most effective purpose if there is cooperation in the form of some local body of business men.

This has been demonstrated in many cities and towns in the northwest where the commercial organizations have become the most potent agency for progress and upbuilding.

Every locality must "blow its own horn" a little; it must let the world know of its resources and attractions; it must show strangers what it has worth seeing and what inducement it offers to the visitor seeking a new home. It can give a welcome to capital and secure new industries; it can unite scattered efforts into one large effort that brings results. All of the chambers of commerce, boards of trade and commercial clubs may not be doing all that they should be doing for the communities they represent, but they all have possibilities in the matter of advancing local interests. If they are made up of bright, energetic men, and are wisely directed, they can be of inestimable value to the localities they represent.—Spokanean-Review.

The Shrivelling of the Earth.

National Magazine.

Measured in thought transmission this old planet is no bigger than a dot. Steam and electrical, pneumatic and hydraulic inventions, have so annihilated space that there is but a small earth to clamber over. According to Doctor Emory R. Johnson, professor of transportation in the University of Pennsylvania, it takes steps only one-fifth as long to get around the world today as it did in 1860. In the sunrise of the century it took all but sixty-five days in the year to get once around the world. That was when men traveled in sailboats, post chaise, on horseback and on foot. Ocean steamers came in 1838, and they cut the ancient time table in two, for then it took only 160 days to embrace the globe of mother earth. In 1869 the Suez canal
