OUR SWELL Easter Novelties in Wool Dress Goods

MEN'S Spring Clothing IS IN STOCK

Ready for Easter.

MEN'S SUITS AT

$6, $7.50, $8.50, $10, $12, $15 and $18.

Are now on display in exclusive Pattern. Lengths of 6 to 7 yards. No two pieces alike. London Twines, Sicilians, Lusterines, Etamines, Snow Flake Chevoits, Veilings, Albatross, Armures, etc., etc., and many staple and fancy weaves, which lack of space will not permit us to mention.

Right construction, right linings, correct styles. Everything right but the price, which is 20 per cent under Portland prices for same goods. We show the stock and make everything fit, slim or stout. 34 or 46, we have them, and you cannot be disappointed in fit, as we don't believe in the "Take your measure and send" system. Our experience has taught us that at least one-half the orders are not up to expectations, hence customers are dissatisfied and trade lost.

So we keep the best Custom-made Clothing, and carry enough stock so we can please any one.

It costs you nothing to look.

THE PEOPLE'S STORE.

Geo. D. Culbertson & Co. sold last Monday the 34-acre tract of G. D. Boardman to W. Wilson Flat to D. L. Davidson, recently from Illinois. Mr. Davidson will clear up the land at early date, plant it to fruit most largely, and make it his future home. Mr. Davidson is to be congratulated upon securing so choice and favored a tract of land. A piece of land for fruit culture.

D. L. Davidson and wife of Decatur, Ill., and Jesse Davidson and son Walter, are new arrivals in Hood River. Monday, Jesse Davidson and son Walter, along with Charley Davidson moved to Willow Flat, where they will build a dwelling house and later move to Charlie Davidson's homestead at Mount Hood.

The new firm of R. B. Bragg & Co., successors to A. S. Blowers & Son, will have something to say next week in the space reserved for them in the ad columns of the Glacier. All hands in the store are kept busy now preparing to open out a big stock of new goods. Sam Blowers is chief salesman.

Joseph A. Wilson last week bought 40 acres in Odell district for $1,900. He bought Warren Wood of Portland. Joe says he intends to camp right here; that Hood River is good enough for him; that "people who are looking for paradise will not find it here and possibly not hereafter."

S. C. Jackson is offering to business men of Hood River special rates on wall paper: 15 per cent off on $5 worth or under; 30 per cent off on $10 and over; 25 per cent off on all over $10. Wall and picture molding. Call him by phone, No. 383, and he'll do the rest.

Lon Tomlinson wears the broadest smile of any man in town, and he has a reason for it. His wife presided over a fine ten-pound daughter last Friday morning. Lon's new dignity sits very becomingly upon him.—Ashwood Prospect.

L. D. Blount will start today for Morrow county, where he will make connections with the Rogers Lodge, Knights of Pythias. The romance of "Coon Hollow," one of the most thrilling plays ever written, will be put on the boards by a first class company. Reserved seats at Clarke's drug store.

N. B. Harvey of Milwaukie, Oregon, was in the valley recently and put in five days cutting apple scions for his nursery at Milwaukie. He cut his scions in B. R. Tucker's orchard, where he could make sure of his varieties and know the trees and soil.

Ed Smith will give a prize dance Friday evening, March 20. The best lady and gentleman waltzers will receive the prize now on exhibition at Clarke's drug store. The prize will be awarded by three disinterested persons.

Sam Bartmess is moving part of his large stock of furniture and other goods into the vacant store room in the Langille building. Expansion is what's the matter with Sam.

N. D. Sanford, the Cascade Locks peripatetic merchant, was in town Wednesday and left his measure for a year's subscription to the Glacier. He said the cash.

Mrs. W. J. Parker of Washington, D. C., will sing at the Unitarian services next Sunday.

A nine-year-old daughter of a man named Perkins, living on A. C. Stain's farm, died of diphtheria one day last week. A young child was taken sick but has recovered. The family is without more than the child's disposal could be done by looking into their circumstances. The family was helped by A. C. Stain and John McVay, and the county paid the expense of the burial of the child.

Miss Edith Woodworth left first part of the week for a visit with friends in Portland and Newberg.

Odell Notes.
B. F. Young returned last Monday from a trip into the bunch grass country bringing with him some interesting news. There is a diamond for sale here, and no doubt he will return with it quickly and to advantage.

Under the new schedule for rural delivery we can now get the morning paper from Portland which is a desirable change, as we are brought in line with the city.

E. T. Fouts has been laid up the last few days. Mr. Fouts is an expert apple packer and his services are much needed just now.

Why are eggs sold by the dozen and not by the pound? Four eggs were weighed at the little white store this morning and they pulled down 13 ounces. These four eggs were laid by Odell hens. Then a dozen such, one lot weighed 24 ounces such, the other 15 ounces each.

The rural phone question is being agitated here. The people have some rights; the capitalists should respect. Keep it up.

C. H. Bone is much in evidence here in connection with his plans for water on East Hood River valley this season.

D. T. Smith, who lived last year on the hillside place, has leased the H. F. Davidson ranch near Booth's and will soon move there.

Mr. Stingerland is now in Postland on a business trip and will move his family there shortly.

The orchards are now being sprayed for the second time. There are eight lags there now to conquer obstacles. Industry and intelligence will work wonders, and Hood River is in the front rank on these lines.

Mr. Helmer, the Mount Hood merchant, is going to either sell or move his stock. Report says he is figuring on leaving at Odell.

C. G. Roberts has quite a force of men at work clearing land on his ranch at Tanglemud. Business at the little white store is very satisfactory. A nice park is being cleared off,

Geo. D. Culbertson & Co. sold one more of those fine resident lots in the Coe addition to E. A. Soule of Ilwaco, Wash. This is the second lot sold to the same party within the past week. Mr. Soule has gone to Ilwaco for his family and will return soon to make his home in Hood River.

Dr. and Mrs. M. F. Shaw arrived in Hood River last Thursday from Oakland, Wash. They are stopping at the Glenwood for the present and later will move to their permanent home at Mount Hood. The doctor will make extensive improvements on his house before moving into it.

Jim Langille returned to Hood River last Thursday after spending the winter in California. He spent two months in San Francisco and the balance of the time he was prospecting in the mountain mining districts. It is hard to keep Jim away from the mountains. He returns in good health.

Tom Pierce, who died at Viento March 4, was well known in Hood River, where he leaves five children—Frank, Arthur and Walter Pierce, Mrs. May Jones and Lillian Pierce. Tom Pierce was born and raised in Louisiana. He was a soldier in the Confederate army and he fought in the battle of Bull Run and also in the famous charge of Pickett's division at Gettysburg.

H. W. Wait had a cow for sale and advertised in the Glacier. The cow was soon sold, but the little ad is still doing business at the old stand, although it has been dropped out of our columns. People keep coming to see the cow, and he is accosted on every turn and asked about that cow he has for sale. The best thing Mr. Wait can do now is to advertise that he sold the cow. A little ad like that will cost him only 25 cents for four weeks.

Nob bill grocers are getting ready for the strawberry season. J. H. Gill has a team and nice new wagon with which he delivers goods. Holman & Son have put new capital into their meat market and propose to keep up with the competition. H. M. Abbott has just completed an office room on the south side of his store and has given the whole building a fresh coat of paint. Mr. Gill has added a warehouse, which gives him more room in his store.

"One drawback to the Dalles during the advent of home-seekers to the city," says The Dalles Chronicle, "is the lack of suitable houses to rent. While there are a number of medium-sized houses, it is next to impossible to find a desirable place for a large family to move into." This point is more than applicable to Hood River. There is today not a house of any size or condition to be had in the town. We know of several families securing the town over for some place to move into. We know of some instances where stables have been made to serve for temporary habitations. Unless all signs fail, Hood River will have an influx of home-seekers this spring, and something should be done to provide houses for them to live in.
