

Hood River Glacier

FRIDAY, MARCH 20, 1903.

Rambler bicycles at Knapp's. Royal Tailor suits at Knapp's. Milk for Sale—Mrs. Fred Howe. If you want a hack, get a Racine of N. W. Bone. Concert first week in April, by the Unitarian society.

H. N. Carlock of Portland was in Hood River on business Monday.

For Racine buggies, carriages, spring wagons, phonos, call on N. W. Bone.

Get a new set of harness at wholesale prices, made to the order of N. W. Bone. Wanted—100,000 straw hats, plants, C. E. Warren, 327 Marquam Building, Portland, Or.

Miss Maude Stranahan returned to her school at China Hollow, Sherman county, Saturday.

Mrs. W. J. Parker of Washington, D. C. will sing at the Unitarian services next Sunday evening.

S. C. Jackson is showing samples of the finest and best wall paper for the price ever brought to Hood River.

Lost—On the road from The Dalles, a lady's traveling bag, leather colored. Leave at this office and get reward.

A. E. Lake, our good-natured county clerk, was in Hood River Tuesday, and went out to see his strawberry ranch.

Any one knowing the address of Julius C. Hook, a Grand Army man, will confer a favor by informing M. P. Isenberg.

Miss Ola Norman of Portland came up Monday night and will teach the first term of school in the new school house in Duke's valley.

Don't forget the DeMoss Family at the opera house Saturday, March 28. Benefit of the school library. Reserved seats on sale at Clarke's drug store.

For Sale—The Howell cottage and 3 acres, east of Mrs. Alma Howe's, for 5 days, at $1,500. After 5 days, $1,900. For sale by J. L. Henderson.

Just Arrived—A full carload of Studebaker wagons and spring wagons at the Davidson Fruit Co's. Get your wagon while the assortment is complete.

Belieu & Rea are building a $700 house for Mrs. Hattie Rogers on her lots opposite the school house. The house is now ready for the plasterers.

There will be another one of those popular dances given at O. J. Eastman's this Friday night. Out is all right on entertainment and those who attend these dances may expect a good time.

A Portland artist took a fine view of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Byrket, showing both of them on the front porch. They have a neat little home, and it is deserving of a good picture.

Hereafter the Glacier will go to press early Thursday morning, to catch the mail going out in the valley by free delivery at 12 o'clock. So don't send or bring anything in to be set in type Thursday mornings.

A peanut social will be given by the Belmont Epworth League at the home of Mrs. M. B. Potter, Friday evening, March 27. Admission to social—ladies 10c, gentlemen 15c. All are invited to come and have a time.

John G. Zolls and family of Palisade, Nebraska, are new comers in Hood River, and for the present are occupying a home in Blowers' addition. Mr. Zolls is a practical brick layer and stone mason, but has been a farmer for 19 years.

A tea will be given by the ladies of St. Mark's guild on Wednesday afternoon, March 25, at Mrs. Dambles. Some very choice musical numbers will be rendered, and a delicious lunch served. A cordial invitation is extended to all, including the gentlemen.

The weather for the past two weeks has been what might be called fine. We had rain last week and snow Saturday, and since then sunshiny days and frosty nights. The thermometer this Thursday morning marked 25 degrees above zero. We are having a late spring. Fruit is all right.

Petty thieves have been at work around town of late. Homekeepers should keep everything worth carrying off under lock and key, and keep a lookout for the thief. A man who would rather steal than work for an honest living should be punished to the full extent of the law if caught in the act.

Captain Harry Olson is visiting his father-in-law, Amos Underwood. Mr. Olson is mate on the steamer Reliance, now running from Seattle to Bremerton. The distance is 16 miles, and every Saturday there is a race between all the boats running on this line. The Reliance made the run recently in 54 minutes, beating the time of all the other boats.

The Davidson Fruit company have called a meeting of strawberry growers Saturday, March 21, at 10 o'clock a. m. in A. O. U. W. hall. This will be a profitable meeting for everybody growing strawberries and no grower can afford to miss going. The question of getting satisfactory and sufficient help is becoming more important each year and must be given attention.

Rev. St. John of Boston, Massachusetts, secretary of the American Unitarian association, will address the people of Hood River next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in K. of P. hall, Rev. W. G. Eliot assisting. This service will be one of rare interest, and a cordial invitation is extended to all to be present. Rev. St. John is touring this coast and the people of Hood River feel greatly flattered that he has so kindly given to this evening, as his itinerary is so very full.

Of Interest to Berry Growers.—Before buying elsewhere see my crates. They are the neatest, and the ballacks are the strongest made; and I sell at regular prices—competition always gives you the best in the market. I am here to stay and will have a box factory next year. There will be a party here during the shipping season who will pay cash for berries for canning and preserves. If possible, attend the strawberry meeting at 10 a. m., Saturday—you may hear something of interest to you. Joe Watson.

Colonel Frank V. Drake, superintendent of the Portland bureau of information, was in Hood River last Friday. At his suggestion a meeting of the commercial club was called, and Colonel Drake explained the purpose of the organization which he represents. The bureau of information will have a large, well lighted room in the union depot at Portland. It will ascertain and tabulate the resources of all parts of the state, gather an exhibit of its products and be prepared to tell all about Oregon to persons desiring information on the subject. All the railroads and steamship lines will take exhibits to the bureau free of charge. A committee was appointed by the club to gather an exhibit of the products to be forwarded to the bureau at Portland. The committee consists of the real estate firms of Prather Investment company, Friday & Barnes, and George D. Culbertson & Co. This is about the best opportunity ever offered to advertise Hood River.

The Order of Washington in Hood River held a very enjoyable session Saturday evening. Supreme President W. W. Terry and his estimable lady were present. Comrade Terry addressed the union in a very pleasant manner, and answered satisfactorily every question from the members regarding the status and operation of the order in a frank and earnest way that carried conviction to the mind of every listener, that in the Order of Washington we have the most substantial, progressive and safest fraternal society in the country, and that it has more commendable features to present to the members than any other similar organization. In fact, in the words of a prominent Boston insurance man, "It is 20 years ahead of the times, and the people must be taught the plan clearly before they can appreciate it." The order is growing very rapidly in numbers and in favor with the public, and has the fairest prospects of eventually outclassing all its competitors. Mrs. E. M. Adams, supreme representative for this district, was also present, and in her usual pleasing manner put the union through the work of the order. Mrs. Adams is the daughter of our worthy townsmen, H. Pugh, has a very charming personality, and perfect familiarity with the work, which makes it a pleasure to follow her instructions.

C. L. Coppel started East Tuesday to visit his father. His father is quite sick at his home at Walnut Hill, Ill. Mr. Coppel may be gone a month.

T. E. Wickens came back to Hood River one day last week. Tom can't tear himself away from Hood River for a very great while at a time.

The Pioneer says Captain C. T. Belcher has struck hot water above the high-water line at Collins and will erect a $15,000 hotel.

F. H. Watts, the tombstone man of The Dalles, has been in Hood River for the past week, setting up some of his work.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Blythe moved up from Portland Monday. Ned will resume his old position on the Glacier.

Entertainment, Thursday Evening. The U. B. entertainment which was postponed from last week will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hartley, Thursday evening of this week. The games are interesting and bright and will be enjoyed by all present. The following musical programme will be rendered:

Song—Little Black Me; Donald Nickelsen and Eva Yates.

Piano Duet—Miss Mosley and Miss Hartley.

Song—Just Next door; Florence Hanna.

Quartet—Male voices.

Piano duet—Miss Blowers and Miss Ingbratsen.

Song—This Letter for Papa; Wilma Thompson.

Solo—Mrs. Parker.

Refreshments served. Cordial invitation to all.

Birthday Surprise Party. Miss Macy Gardner was given a surprise party last Friday evening, the occasion being the anniversary of her birth. The party was given at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Rigby. A most delightful time was had by all present. Lunch was served, and afterwards an old fashioned taffy-pulling was indulged in. In playing "Poor Kitty," the racket made by the girls caused all the dogs in the neighborhood to set up barking, and the girls had a hilarious old time.

Those present were: Macy Gardner, Nellie Horner, Ruth Rigby, Blanch Howe, Alice Rea, Amanda Sieverkrop, May Brown, Florence Cox. The stormy weather prevented others invited from coming.

New Today. United States mail boxes at $1.50 while this lot lasts, the next lot will be $1.75 and $2.25 at Dallas.

Just received a fine lot of up-to-date watches direct from the factory, and have now on hand 118 watches. I buy large stocks and sell below all Western prices. C. H. Temple.

Dry Oak Wood for Sale.—Davenport Bros. Lumber Co. have dry oak cord wood for sale. Inquire at Mount Hood Stage Co.

For watches, clocks, jewelry and silverware, see F. W. Clarke, at Clarke's drug store, opposite postoffice.

Two hundred to $5,000 to loan on real estate. If your security is good your money is ready. Prather Investment Co.

In Memory of Dear Grandma. At one who loved me, Her sorrows now are o'er; She smiles in talks among the blest, On that happy golden shore. Where the tree of life is fresh and green And the crystal waters flow. Where naught of sorrow e'er is seen, But youth's sweet beauties glow.

Through life, through sickness and in death Her faith did make her strong; And with the last faint lingering breath, Her soul was sent to all her friends. Why must I linger here? I've friends that wait among the blest, And friends I hold most dear.

We know, some day, when our work is done, Though probably not so soon, As she who has the victory won, And in that land doth dwell; Yet God's rich mercy, just the same, Extends to you and me. As to that one that He doth claim To be from us set free.

But oh! beyond this shadow land, Where all is bright and fair, I know full well those dear old hands Will palm of victor bear. Where crystal streams through endless years Flow o'er and o'er the same, And where the old grow young and fair, I'll clasp dear grandma's hands.—M. E. C.

Whisky Did It. Mrs. Jones was cleaning house one day recently, and had hired two hoboes to assist with the arduous task. "I think," said she, "that those picture frames should be cleaned." "All right," said the men, "if you will allow us to get some whisky, we can easily clean and polish them." "Whisky!" she exclaimed, "if whisky will do it I will go right up stairs and get a flask of it I have." The men took the whisky but of course washed the frames with soap suds and drank the whisky. When they brought the shining frames in to Mrs. Jones she exclaimed, "So whisky did it!" "Yes," answered the men, "the whisky did it." "And just to think," said Mrs. Jones, "that I was going to throw it away! It was what I bathed poor Fido in before he died."—Corvallis Gazette.

Married.

At The Dalles, Or., March 18, 1903. W. S. Gribble and Mrs. Nettie M. Booth. The bride and groom went to Portland for a wedding trip and will be at home at Mount Hood after April 1. The happy couple were showered with rice and good wishes by their friends upon taking the train at The Dalles.

Can a Horse Talk?

Those who have no special fondness for domestic animals, and especially for dogs, cats and horses, will, of course, ridicule the position taken by Veterinary Surgeon Roberge as a witness before a New York court last Wednesday. Dr. Roberge, when questioned as to the treatment of sick horses, declared: "A horse must be thoroughly understood by one who attempts to treat it. You must know it well, talk with it, and understand its language." "Do you mean to say," inquired the astonished attorney, "that a horse can talk?" "Why, certainly he can, in his way," replied the veterinary surgeon. "If a horse knows you are going to treat him he will hold out his leg or his foot, if the trouble lies there. Once he thinks you can do him good, he'll soon take means to let you know what his ailment is, if possible."

"And does he talk to every one like that?" asked the attorney. "Oh, no," replied the veterinary, "only to those he knows, and who know him."

Dr. Roberge could have gone much farther than this without overstepping the bounds of truth. Horses do talk to those in whom they have confidence as plainly as if they had the human gift of language, and what they say is as intelligible to those who understand them as if they spoke with their mouths instead of with their ears, noses, and feet. Everybody who loves the horse, and who has much to do with the horse, knows that the animal can understand what is said to him and done for him by one in whom he has confidence.

Excellent illustrative facts are numerous, and sometimes so extraordinary as to tax the credulity of the ordinary man, but they are nevertheless based upon the common experience of so much of humankind as of horse-lovers.

That a dog can talk is so generally admitted to be the case now as to demand no special argument, and to a certain degree, this is true respecting the conversational ability of the cat.

Those who make their domestic animals a study, but more especially those who have a real fondness for them, and who are habitually kind in their attitude toward animals, experience no difficulty in carrying on with their pet a conversation suitable to their intelligence and their wants.—Chicago Inter Ocean.
