John Castner came down from La Grande last week. His family had preceded him. John is thinking of remaining in Hood River to grow strawberries.

Tom Calkins is packing apples at the Slingerland ranch for S. and C. E. Cople. He packed 700 boxes in the past two weeks. Tom is an expert packer and is making good wages.

George F. Coe & Son of the Golden Rule Bazaar are moving into their new store room in the Masonic temple annex and will have everything moved in good shape by April 1. This firm, by catering to the wants of the public in their line, and by square dealing, have made many friends who will be glad to see them in the handsome new quarters they will occupy after April 1. They have just received a line of plain white crockery in fancy shapes that will be worth seeing. The justly celebrated fresh-roasted peanuts of George F. Coe & Son will continue to be dispensed in their new quarters.

C. H. Stranahan and J. T. Bagley will establish in Hood River a branch agency of the Wasco Warehouses and Milling company, the large flouring mill built last year at The Dalles. Messrs Stranahan & Bagley are building a warehouse on the north side of the O. R. & N. track, just west of the old fruit warehouse. The company expects to handle in wholesale quantities flour, feed and all kinds of mill stuff, sufficient to supply Hood River valley.

E. D. Calkins sent 1,500 Hood River strawberry plants to his cousin, Rev. E. A. Paddock, who is founder and president of the Idaho Industrial Institute at Weiser. He made the institute a present of the plants and paid all charges. Mr. Calkins has been earnestly requested to return to Weiser and help the institute in its horticultural department. They want a man of experience like Mr. Calkins, who can give them information in regard to fruit growing.

A valuable cow belonging to Lyman Smith met with a painful accident two weeks ago. In some way she got her horn fast in the station and was held in a cramped position all night. Mr. Smith had to chop the board loose before he could release the poor animal. It is thought the cow will die from her injuries.

Colonel J. B. Eddy of the O. R. & N. company was a visitor in Hood River on business Thursday. Mr. Eddy was for many years a worker in the newspaper business and was a good one. His latest venture was with the Forest Grove Times.

T. C. Dallas is building an addition in the rear of his building occupied by J. S. Booth. He will make it two-story, with house-keeping rooms up stairs. Looks as if Theodore were going to have an increase in the family.

A Glacier representative was shown through the extensive wagon and implement warehouse of the Davidson Fruit company. The big red barn that stood on the corner of Third and River streets has been moved up next to the cannery. The first floor of the building is now used as a warehouse for farm implements, wagons, buggies, etc., while the second story is a storage room for products from the box factory. Owing to a scarcity of lumber the box factory is temporarily shut down. The warehouse for storing berry crates and apple boxes is on the same level with the box factory, and the two are connected by an elevated passage, which makes the transfer of boxes and crates very convenient. The Davidson Fruit company received a carload of wagons and other vehicles last week, which makes a splendid display in their large warehouse. Read the company's page ad in this issue.

W. E. Coughenower was killed at the Oregon Lumber company's mill A, near Chenoweth, last Saturday morning. Coughenower was unloading logs from flat cars at the time of the accident. He had stepped back from the pond side of the car to avoid the splash, when a heavy log rolled onto him from the upper side of the track. He was fatally crushed and died instantly. A coroner's inquest was deemed unnecessary. Undertaker Bartmess prepared the body and shipped it to Blytheedale, Mo. A widow and seven children, the eldest 18 years of age, accompanied the remains to the deceased's old home. Mr. Coughenower was about 50 years old and was a trusted employe of the Oregon Lumber company, who felt they have suffered a great loss.

Rev. Charles E. St. John of Boston, secretary of the American Unitarian association, addressed a large congregation in the Knight of Pythias hall, Sunday evening. Rev. St. John was assisted in the services by Rev. W. G. Elliot. The sermon was an explanation of the doctrines of the Unitarian church, and the principles upon which the members of this church aim to work in furthering the new revival in religion. The address was well received by the people of Hood River. Rev. St. John is making a tour of the coast. His wife accompanied him to Hood River.

The senior editor of the Glacier and his wife enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lockman last Sunday. Mr. Lockman has charge of Judge Prather's place, 8 miles south of town on Hood river. The judge has a fine body of land, 240 acres, all of which can be watered by the Bone ditch, as well as by the proposed Prather ditch. This place was settled upon by Daves. Divers in 1862, when he had the pick of Hood River valley. Mr. Lockman is a good farmer, and things about the place are kept in good shape under his management.

Major J. S. Booth, proprietor of the Little Store with Little Prices, reports a very satisfactory business from his 100th Saturday surprise sale. His hourly sales seem to take well, and the people have learned to appreciate the bargains. Major Booth advertises so attractively in each week's Glacier that T. S. Osburn was the successful bidder on the $10 g-cart, securing the same for $6.75.

J. B. Rand has sold his place near town. He recently made a trip to Vancouver, where he has a brother living. He also went to University Park, where M. V. Rand and other relatives reside, and in both places he found desirable properties that he can buy. He has not yet decided, but the chances are in favor of his going away from Hood River to locate.

T. D. Driver of Wamic, Or., was on his way to Hood River on his way to Alberta province, W. T., where he expects to locate if the country is like it is represented to be. Mr. Driver expects to go into the business of raising stock. He says he is tired growing wheat and hay to feed stock, as he has to do on his place at Wamic.

Stranahan & Bagley, proprietors of the Fashion stable, have an entire new set of buggies and carriages, and aim to furnish turnouts that can't be surpassed for style even in the cities. Read the company's new ad to be found in another column.

George E. Gunn of Michigan, an old-time friend of G. R. Castner, is a recent arrival in Hood River. Mr. Gunn was labor commissioner for the state of Michigan for nine years. He comes to Oregon with the view of making it his home.

The dancing club will give their final hop this evening in the F. hall. Everett's orchestra of five pieces will be here from Portland to furnish music. A good time is expected.

A force of men was at work Tuesday grading an incline from Fourth street to the road running in front of the warehouse near Salt Lake, where he is doing well. He has decided that farming is not his forte and his fine fruit farm at Frankton is for sale.

Bellies & Rea will build a stable for the Davidson Bros. on the lot owned by F. S. Davidson on Oak street between Front and First.

Miss Anna Wolford of Whitish Salmon is teaching school at Dot, Klickitat county, Wash. She went to Goldendale last Friday.

The Davidson Fruit company have the honor of publishing the first full page ad in the Glacier. Who will be the next?

Mrs. M. A. Cook, now at Long Beach, Cal., writes that she had the grip, but that they are in love with their new home.

F. O. Brace, who has had considerable experience in road work, is foreman of the force of men at work on the East Side grade.

Jim Stranahan returned Monday from Wasco with three horses for the Fashion stable. Jim rode all the way on horseback.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bone went to Portland Sunday. Mrs. Bone will remain in Portland for awhile.

J. G. Lambert, a newcomer from Salt Lake, is in the valley. Frank Gregory took him out over the valley Tuesday.

Fruit growers will be interested in the spray pump exhibited at Bone & McDonald's store, Saturday, March 28.

Mr. Barnes, who recently bought the Fosberg place, is painting his house and making other improvements.

Mrs. J. T. Bagley is in Spokane, where she will remain for a month or more.

S. E. Bartmess finds his furniture business increasing to such an extent that he is preparing to put up a 20x50 foot addition to his big store on Oak street, opposite the Glacier office. This addition will occupy the alley between his store and the Middleton building, recently vacated by Chas. N. Clarke. The east wall of the new building will be built of brick, which will keep insurance rates from going skyward. Mr. Bartmess expects to move his residence in July from the second story of his building, and this will then be used as a store room partition in the rear of the first floor will be removed. This will then give plenty of room for a display of his goods. Mr. Bartmess has a large stock of goods and keeps everything to be found in Portland stores.

Mrs. Matt Russell is quite sick with stomach trouble. Her husband is constantly with her, and so had to send for his partner, J. R. Rees, who has been on his homestead at Mount Hood with his family. Mr. Rees will continue in the barber shop until Mrs. Russell recovers sufficiently to allow Matt to go back to work.

Remember that the Glacier goes to press early every Thursday morning and anything intended for publication must be handed in the day before. It will be impossible to insert matter sent to this office the morning of publication. Advertisers must have their copy in the office the first thing Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Perry have moved into their cottage on River street. Mr. Perry will cultivate his lot and also the lot adjoining belonging to Dr. Broeius and will grow a good garden as he used to do on these lots.

Mrs. F. C. Bryant and children of Boise, Idaho, arrived in Hood River Monday and will spend the summer here with her husband, who is manager of the Hood River Irrigation company.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Sherman of Salem are visiting Mrs. Sherman's sister, Mrs. F. F. Friday. Mr. Sherman is a member of the Oregon Shoe company at Salem.

She passed him by with a glossy stare—
She passed him with a haughty air—
With a withering look she passed him—
As much as to say there were "others," she guessed—
"Oh, but now an angle, her eye to the side—
She passed him and cast him a look that'll last him.

Maybe she knew he was a married man and had no license to rubber—or maybe his clothes didn't fit him; you never can tell what it is that inspires a snub; nine times out of ten it's clothes. We're not going to argue with the sage who said clothes do not make the man, but don't let's forget that the sage was plodding in one century while we are automobiling in another. Good clothes may not make a man, but they do give him the ong-tree to the pink tea.

The making of good clothes is our business; we take the measure; The Royal Tailors, of Chicago, do the cutting and the tailoring.

PAY LESS AND DRESS BETTER

We show over five hundred Scotch, English and American stuffs in spring and summer suitings—something to suit every fancy. Come and let us show you that you are paying too much for your clothes.

Royal tailoring is the high-class sort—and you can save anywhere from 65 to 85 on a suit or overcoat.
We make ladies' skirts, too, man-tailored to measure at a big saving in price. Ladies should make a note of this.

Proposed New Ditch.

Hood River will have a new irrigating ditch. Idaho capitalists are here ready to expend $150,000 in the construction of a ditch carrying 20,000 inches of water and so situated as to cover 19,000 acres of land. A preliminary survey has already been completed from a point one and a half miles above Wiggins on the east fork of Hood river to Judge Prather's ranch, formerly the Divers place. D. A. Uter, president of the Weiser Mining, Engineering and Development company, is in charge of the survey work. Besides supplying the East Side with water, the company proposes bridging Hood river about a mile below Wiggins. This very difficult piece of engineering will require a bridge 200 feet high, which will bring the water up as high as Harry Hackett's place on the West Side. At this elevation nearly the whole of the west side of the valley can be watered. The promoters of this new ditch are known as the Hood River Irrigation company.

To Extend Improvement Co's Ditch.

The Valley Improvement company will expend between $35,000 and $40,000 in extensions to their present irrigating ditch. Their plan is to build a new and a larger canal above the line of the present ditch. The west fork of Hood river will be tapped at Sandy flat, a point 4 miles above the source of the present ditch which heads near the forks of the river, and the water will be carried in a canal along the west bank of the stream to the point above Jasper Wickham's and Harry Hackett's places. This will furnish a water supply for all farmers in the Crapper neighborhood.

A force of men will be put to work immediately at both ends of the route, and it is expected to have the extension completed by the last of the year. The new ditch will parallel the old canal, but on a line farther up the mountain. The distance between Sandy flat and Hackett's place will be covered without the need of flumes, which insure a ditch not apt to frequently break down. The old ditch, though, will still be used, so in case of accident the patrons of the company will not be entirely without irrigating water.

Work on improvements to the present ditch is now being done so that an increased supply may be secured for the present season. The new ditch will have a capacity of 2,000 inches, which it is thought will be sufficient to meet the needs of the West Side for the next four or five years. The Improvement company has filed on the waters of Green Point and Dead Point creeks, and as the new canal passes these streams their waters will be turned into the same.

Will Put in Water System by Fall. The Hood River Electric Light and Power company, so we understand, will put in a water system for fire protection before fall, when the year allowed them for this work will expire. Last fall the company excavated a reservoir opposite Stranahan's residence on the hill above town, for the storing of water from the Lyman Smith spring one mile southwest. A cement lining will be placed in the reservoir and a stand pipe erected, by means of which the residents on the hill will be supplied with water for domestic purposes. When the mains are laid, the pipe leading from the reservoir will be 10 inches in diameter, and will provide sufficient pressure at each of the 21 hydrants which the company is to erect. When the town shall need fire protection on the hill, the company will put in a system of centrifugal pumps, and by this means the standpipe can be made to furnish as great a pressure as the gravity system does for the lower town.

Commenting on one of her recent concerts, the Salem Statesman said: "Miss Carter stamped herself a reader of excellent repute. In Richard Harding Davis' 'There were Ninety and Nine,' she showed force, good delineations and handled the delicate situations—particularly noticeable in reading of the letter—in a masterly manner not to be excelled."
