Hood River Glacier

THURSDAY, APRIL 23, 1903.

Graduating Exercises Eighth Grade.

The opera house was filled Monday night by the parents and friends of the graduating class of the Hood River public school. The programme, considering the short time in which it was prepared, was very creditably rendered. The front of the stage was prettily decorated with Oregon grape and potted plants. The teachers and graduates occupied seats on the platform. Above the stage was suspended the class motto, "Onward and Upward," and the class colors, pink and white, were everywhere present. Following was the programme:

Salutatory, An Indian Girl's Lament—Harold Hersher
Recitation, The Toller—Grace Prather
Recitation, Man's Devotion—Nettie Peugh
Recitation, The Editor's Guests—Stella Stur
Solo—Mrs. Held
Class Prophecies and Valedictory—Pearl Bradley
Presentation of diplomas—Principal
Class song, Though We Part—Class

The graduates of the school are: Herman Struck, Elwood Luckey, Homer C. Wood, Herbert H. Searles, Pearl Bradley, Nettie Peugh, Grace Prather, Stella Stur, Florence Buchanan, Harold Hersher.

SALUTATORY BY HAROLD HERSHER.
Patrons and Friends of the Hood River Public School: As a representative of the class of 1903, of the grammar school, district No. 3, I extend to you a most cordial and hearty welcome. I am sure the class is very much pleased to see that so many are enough interested in our school and school work, the teachers and our class, as to be present on this occasion.

When we entered upon our school work, about eight years ago, we were first taught our A, B, C's, how to form and use them, how to spell, add and subtract; and then came multiplication, division, long division and fractions, and our first work in grammar. But it seemed then that the teachers could not impress upon our minds the great value these things would be in the higher grades of school. Then was the time we saw no enjoyment in school work, and our greatest ambition was to see if there wasn't some way to get out of studying.

We thought the teachers seemed awful cross, and sometimes we would not study as we should, or tried some way to get out of work; then the teachers would tell us what an interest they took in our work, and how anxious they were for us to get along well, and also that our school days would be our happiest. But we could not see it that way; we thought they were doing all they could against us. But, as we stepped higher and higher, we saw what they had said was true, and I suppose there is plenty of time yet to find this out.

the day is coming, and coming fast, when we are to be "measured up," to see if we did study as we should. Our lessons sometimes seem hard, or we don't feel like studying. The teacher keeps pressing us just the same. He seems the only one who sees that day which is not very far away. But I think our year's work has been very profitable, taking into consideration the time in which we had to do it.

Our class motto is "Onward and Upward." It is, I believe, the first motto that any member of our class has had. And we hope that when we are old we may be able to look back over our lives and see that we have kept our first motto true. It is a good motto to carry through life. It may seem hard sometimes to keep up to it, but if we stay close by it we will succeed.

We may have often been negligent and apparently unkind to our teacher during the year, and have forced many trials upon him which he has borne with great kindness and patience, but I am sure we meant no harm and have the highest regard for him.

Our mistakes are apparent. Kindly bear with us, as our year's work has been crowded into eight months, and besides, like yourselves, we are not above making mistakes. Again I say, dear friends, that we renew our words of welcome, and thank you for your presence here tonight.

VALEDICTORY BY PEARL BRADLEY.
Friends and schoolmates: The time has arrived for us to separate, but before doing so possibly a few words from one chosen by the graduating class to speak for them, as also for the school, may not be amiss. To the gentlemen of the school board we wish to extend our thanks for your untiring efforts in our behalf, for the kindly encouragement you have given and the faithful and efficient teachers provided to give us instruction. We appreciate and are grateful for all the kindly considerations had at your hands. To our teachers we desire to extend our thanks in a particular manner for their earnest and kindly help at all times. Don'tless at many times the task has been wearying and burdensome, and your patience sorely tried, but through all you have shown by your actions and kindly words that you had our welfare at heart, and for this also we thank you. We believe at this time that not but the truest feeling and the best wishes are felt by every one of the school for each of our instructors, and we are sure that no ill feeling is harbored by teacher or scholar.

To our parents and the patrons of the school we would say that we appreciate very much the interest you have shown in the school; by your visits to the school, by your words of cheer and encouragement, and by your attendance at the entertainments that have been given for the benefit of the school. The result of such consideration and help from you has done much toward making the term just closed the successful one it has been. The books, too, that have been provided through these entertainments will likewise be of benefit and pleasure to those who will follow in the school during the coming terms.

We now have attained will soon be yours. So study and so work that when you shall have come to the closing hours of your public school days you can look back and feel that your best efforts have been given and your success honorably won. And now, just one word and we have done. The pleasant days we have spent together are gone forever; our school term is past and the future is a closed book to us all. Let our every action be such as we shall be glad to see unfold as the new pages are opened in the time to come by those who shall follow us. Live each day so that some other life than ours may be brighter, that pleasure and profit may follow all those with whom we come in contact, and that the pleasures we have shared in the past be not marred by anything that may appear in the future. And now, as we say farewell, let us repeat our thankfulness and gratitude to all, and extend our best wishes for the future success and welfare of every one. Farewell.

GRADUATES AT FRANKTON.
The Frankton school closed last Friday, a week ago, with the following graduates: Pearl Isenberg, Earl Noble, Elmer Isenberg, Robert Garabrant and Arthur Arnold. The other graduates were also promoted. The average of the eighth grade pupils in their examinations is the highest in Wasco county. This is a showing to be proud of, and the patrons of the Frankton school are well pleased with the work of their efficient corps of teachers.

MARRIED.
IRWIN-CHAMPLAIN.
A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. J. L. Atkinson, on Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, when Mrs. Atkinson's youngest daughter, Miss Florence Booth Champlain, was united in marriage to Frank Herbert Irwin. Rev. Edwin L. House, pastor of the First Congregational church officiated at the ceremony. Ned Barrett was Mr. Irwin's best man and Miss Pauline Benham was bridesmaid. The bride looked very sweet in a gown of white tulle and Miss Benham wore a dainty dress of pink organdy. The partners were tastefully decorated in Oregon grape and Easter lilies. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock, and at 8:30 Mr. and Mrs. Irwin left for a trip to Southern California and Mexico. They are both well known in the city, and were the recipients of many beautiful presents. One of the most highly prized is an exquisite berry spoon, the present of the Dix Sorority, and engraved with Sorority emblem. The bride was one of the most popular of the Dix girls, and a few days before the wedding a very pleasant informal Dix reception was given in her honor by Miss Benham, her bridesmaid. On their return from the South, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin will be at home at Mount Tabor, and later at the Breakers, Long Beach.—Oregonian.

IRVING-BOTH.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Ruth, at Clackamas, Ore., was the scene of a pretty wedding, Sunday, April 19, 1903, when William A. Isenberg of Hood River, was married to Miss Georgia Ruth. Rev. Walter of Woodburn performed the ceremony. A number of friends and relatives of the bride were present, and a delicious supper was served, after which the young couple left for Hood River, where they will make their home. Mr. Isenberg is an obliging salesman at the furniture store of W. M. Stewart. Mr. and Mrs. Isenberg became acquainted while students at the Portland university. The Glacier is glad to extend congratulations.

ARNESON-LINDSAY.
A quiet home wedding took place Easter day, April 12, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Lindsay, Fairview, when their daughter, Miss Grace Lindsay, and Louis H. Arneson were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed at high noon in the presence of relatives and friends, Rev. W. J. Scott, of Fairview, officiating. Mr. Fred Gates was best man, and Miss Nellie Wickham bridesmaid. The bride was daintily gowned in tan and white. A dinner of tempting viands was served in the dining-room, after the receiving of congratulations. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Lindsay, Voyle and John Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Reed of Hood River; Miss S. M. Arneson, of Portland; J. Varnsdal, Misses Mand and Jennie Miller, Fred Gates, Miss Nellie Wickham of Hood River; Mrs. Robert Robertson, Mrs. W. H. Robertson, residing near Hood River; Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Scott, of Fairview.—Oregonian.

Cash Business Brings Success.
No one does business better with business conditions in Hood River than Frank A. Cram, proprietor of the Up-to-date dry goods and clothing emporium on Oak street. Mr. Cram feels jubilant, and well he may. During the past 14 months his store stock has turned over five times. This is a record which speaks much for Mr. Cram as a successful business man, while at the same time it goes to show the prosperous condition of the Hood River people. Mr. Cram reports that last Saturday his receipts exceeded those for July 31 last year. And what is better yet, the sales on the Saturday before Easter exceeded by $100 the business done on the day preceding 4th of July last. During the month of March last business was 2% times better than the same month last year, while during February Mr. Cram did three times as much business as at the same time 12 months ago. And all this business is strictly cash.

S. Gillilan of Seattle will be here May 1, to take charge of the shoe department in Cram's store. Mr. Cram will make a specialty of shoes after this, and with a competent salesman in the person of Mr. Gillilan will supply Hood River people with the best to be had in the shoe line. An attractive feature about this store is the up-to- dateness of everything. Old stock is not allowed to accumulate, being sold out at the lowest kind of prices. Mr. Cram attributes his success to the fact that he keeps only good, reliable stock and sells his goods at popular prices.

Mount Hood Lumber Company.
The Mount Hood Lumber company is the name adopted by the corporation which recently bought out the mill and timber lands of the Lost Lake Lumber company. This new company has been incorporated with a capital stock of $400,000. The officers consist of David Eccles, president; William H. Eccles, vice president; H. H. Rolapp, secretary; Thomas D. Dee, treasurer, all of whom are Ogden, Utah, capitalists. The saw and shingle mill formerly operated by the Oregon Lumber company at Ingalls, Ore., on the lower Columbia, has been merged into this company's interest at Hood River.

At present there are about 50 men employed in the big mill, cutting 75,000 feet of lumber a day. As soon as possible the company will operate both sides of the mill, which will give a capacity of 160,000 feet of lumber per day. The logging camp will be reopened this week on the East Fork of Hood river, about three miles above Winans. Mr. Early states that as soon as possible the company expects to begin making improvements in the channel of the river, and will spend a good deal of money for this work.

Mosier Road in Bad Condition.
A gentleman, who came overland from The Dalles Tuesday, says the county road, for a distance of about two miles east of what is known as the Hood River mountain, is the worst piece of road he ever traveled over in a somewhat protracted life. The gentleman in question is of Irish nativity and he avows from personal knowledge that the "Rocky Road to Dublin" is a mere poetic figment when compared to it.
