

Congregationalists Meet in Portland.

The Portland Association of Congregational churches and ministers was in session with the Hasallro Congregational church in that city on last Tuesday and Wednesday, April 21 and 22. The members of the association were the pastors of the churches, and five delegates from each church. Rev. E. L. House, of the First Congregational church, Portland, was chosen moderator, Rev. J. L. Hershner, scribe. The Portland association is more restricted in its boundary limits than is the state association. The latter meets in the autumn of each year, and embraces all the Congregational churches of the state, about 60 in number. The state association is subdivided into five local associations which meet in the spring of the year. Portland association comprises the churches of Portland, five in number, not including the suburban churches of Willaburg and Sylvan. Other churches are those at Oswego, Scappoose, St. Helens, Rainier, Astoria and Hood River. The attendance at all the sessions was large, and the interest deep from first to last. The reports from the churches were upon the whole, very encouraging, and showed a goodly degree of growth in membership during the year. The various papers read were regarded as able, timely, and yet conservative. The association took decisive action relative to the pending strike in Portland, urging the mayor of that city to appoint a committee on arbitration, to whom both labor and capital shall submit their grievances. Also, urging the legislature at its next session to appoint a standing board of arbitrators. Rev. House, the moderator, has accomplished a great work as pastor of the First church, Portland, not only in receiving many members, but in lifting the indebtedness on the church amounting to $19,500. The next session of the association will be held in Astoria.

Odell Notes.

J. G. Thatcher, son of Manager Thatcher of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph company, was out at Odell, Monday, getting new contracts and giving the patrons of the East Side line much better service than formerly. A number of contracts for new subscribers have been taken out at present rates under the new system of leasing phones and the line by the mile, which will double their business as soon as the phones can be put in. Work on the Bone lateral is being crowded. They are now working on the Crockett place. Lands adjacent to Odell will be greatly benefitted by reason of water this year. Mr. Bone is to be commended for his enterprise.

The new Idaho company promises big things in the near future.

Fred Thomas has been engaged to take charge of 300 Japs, and will soon go to Portland to secure them. The roads in the Odell district have been greatly improved during the past week. The road graded, pulled by eight horses, has done the very best work in the valley, although the ground was too dry. W. H. Sears is deserving of much credit. Perhaps he is out on the campaign. If so he should be re-elected. Pete Odell figured conspicuously as driver, and with poor driving you get poor roads. But Pete is good. The flower garden at the little white store is the subject of much admiration. The park at the little white store is now cleaned up and ready for picnics. The grounds south of the store are open to the public. A picnic will be given there early in May. Look out for posters. The strawberry fields fringing the hills on the West side road are beautiful beyond words. A thousand button-hole bouquets would not furnish a prettier picture than can now be seen along the road with the plants in bloom.

C. G. Roberts is still working a force of men on his mountain home at Tanglewood.

and when the work of clearing is done this will prove a charming, restful spot. Such judgment and enterprise is worthy of emulation. Hood River against the world.

Mr. Hood Notes.

Spring work is now about all done in this valley. Langille & Wallace are at work on the new mill. They want extra help, but men are scarce up in this neck of woods at present. The Middle Fork Ditch company held a meeting last Saturday, and elected one director to fill vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Riggs. Dr. M. F. Shaw is doing lots of improvement on his ranch near Mount Hood. Mr. Rush is also improving his place by grubbing and blowing out stumps. He intends soon to put out an orchard. Our road boss is working the roads in this district at present, but he finds it hard to get out men to do the work, which every one ought to be interested in.

The Mount Hood Mill company are running their mill all the time now.

and have two teams logging for them and want more logs than they can supply. Warren Cooper received work last Saturday of his appointment on the Cascade forest reserve, to begin May 1. There is some talk of a new school district being set off on the south side of district No. 6. This will be a good thing for the people who live above the base line. Pine Grove gleanings. Mr. Hennaghty, formerly of this place, has purchased a wheat ranch in Sherman county. The county surveyor was in these parts, Saturday, locating corners. As the result of a good many fences will have to be moved, which will cause some trouble and expense to property owners, but will be a decided improvement when done. Miss Nora Smith went to Lyle, Wash., Saturday, to teach a summer term of school. The ladies' aid society will meet with Mrs. Rice Thursday afternoon. All the ladies are invited. Charles Bone has been chaining and leveling to locate a place to run a lateral from his main ditch into our part of the valley.

Chris Dethman and William Ehrck and families of Odell spent Sunday at Hans Lage's.

Peter Kopke has his cellar dug and is ready to begin the foundation for the new house he is going to build this summer. District 43. April, 27.—Editor Glacier: A five-months term of school has begun in this district; Mrs. Reid, teacher. This is not bad for the district. The time will come when there will be a ditch high enough to water all the land on the hills east of us to Rock creek. Then we will have all the water we want. The weather remains cool. This spring reminds me of the spring of '76, when I was fishing on the lower Columbia. The whole month of May was cold and the river low, but in June the river began to rise and kept rising until about June 24, when the water reached

Its highest point. The river was then full of logs, big trees with roots on bars, hen coops, railroad cars, dead cattle and horses.

One hundred feet or so of a wharf came along. I took a new two-inch rope and made fast to it, and with the other end made fast to a big tree on the river bank. When the wharf swung to the bank, off went the free, rope and all. I was glad to get my rope off. There was a case of fish they could not fish over the tide lands. If this weather keeps up we may look for the highest water ever known. J. P. H.

Chenoweth News.

Things are beginning to boom at Chenoweth. It is reported that the sawmill is about to change hands, when a new timber district will be opened up and a large amount of lumber cut for market. A new irrigating ditch is now considered a certainty, and a talk with old timers here convinces one that Hood River won't be in it a few years hence. Some 2,000 acres of land in our valley is awaiting development. The mills have taken off the timber and the country is now covered with a thick growth of blackberry vines. This is all good apple land, and when sold to settlers will make some of them rich.

Among other things, your society reporter thinks he will have a wedding notice before long.

A. J. Haynes, the Chenoweth mail carrier, located three homesteaders last week. William Sherry and Alva Thompson, new arrivals from Nebraska, have found some excellent land on the eastern ridge of Underwood mountain. Mr. Freeman of Chenoweth was also lucky to secure a good homestead location. Fishing in the Little White Salmon is good, and a number of sportsmen have already tried their luck. B. F. Fuller is quite sick and confined to his bed. The children of his son-in-law, Charles Tubbs, are also sick with the whooping cough. John Hill, the postmaster, was in Portland this week, where he purchased a stock of cigars and confections for his store which he will run in connection with his post office. The post office is now located at Mill B, five miles from the Columbia.

Underwood Brevities.

Everybody seems to have a cough and cold. Your reporter has just about recovered from a severe attack of what acts like the grip. It is now beginning to look like spring and soon we will see the stray berry growers shipping and hauling berry crates. Jess Spencer, who is visiting with his cousin, Mrs. Underwood and family, is the boss fisherman. Sunday, some of the Hood River fishermen after spending the day here with red and line, went home looking quite sad. But not so with Mr. Spencer. Monday evening he was missed for two hours, and on his return he brought six fine big salmon. These he had caught by using a better two hours and came in with nine more big salmon steakhands. How's that for a fisherman, Mr. Byrket?

Mr. Frost has a crew of men rafting logs at the mouth of Big White Salmon.

The tug Pearl of the Oregon Lumber company came up and towed a large raft of logs down to the mill. It was a fine day for towing, an east wind prevailing. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Goddard returned to Portland the latter part of last week. Mr. Luthy, with a crew of men, did quite a bit of road work last week, and made several improvements toward getting things ready for hauling strawberries. The Davidson Fruit Co. is under obligations to the great number of people who give them business.

BERRY CRATES.

The Kind Wilson Makes.

I have rented the second story of the old armory where a force of men, boys and girls are busy sewing hallocks and nailing up crates. Come examine our work, and be convinced that the crates are the best ever sold in Hood River. The material is all spruce. You can't find neater or stronger berry crates anywhere. The hallocks are cut with a V-score, making the finest hallocks manufactured.

The crates are now ready to haul out. During the shipping season there will be plenty of crates at my warehouse on the railroad track.
