Mrs. Louis Adams spent Sunday in Hood River visiting her mother, Mrs. H. Pugh. For the past nine months Mrs. Adams has been in constant attendance upon her husband, who is now just able to be about on crutches, and is slowly recovering from his broken leg received by a horse kick.
The city ordinance prohibit the running at large of chickens as well as other live stock. Our worthy city marshals, always on the alert for infractions of the law, noticed one day last week that Mrs. Allen's geese were running out. He promptly notified Mrs. Allen, and she had them fenced up. A mother goose was sitting on a nest of eggs in the brush below the house, and Mrs. Allen didn't think the geese was infringing the law so she allowed her to attend to business at the old stand. But the marshal didn't see it that way. He arrested the geese and took her to jail, then notified Mrs. Allen of the arrest.

Allen Macrum of Mount Hood returned Saturday from a business trip to The Dalles. He says improvements still continue at Mount Hood. He set 2,000 strawberry plants this spring and has them in fine condition to produce plants for a couple of acres of fruit which he will set in the fall. Dave Miller set several acre of strawberries on newly cleared land this spring, but the ground was in bad shape and the plants died. Many settlers will plant berries this fall. Mr. Macrum says the Mount Hood people are hoping an electric railroad will find its way to that settlement before long.

J. M. Gose of Walla Walla and Miss Julia Flathers, a niece of Prescott, Wash., are visiting the family of P. H. Martin. Mr. Gose crossed the plains to California in 1849. He again crossed the plains in 1864 and settled in Walla Walla valley in 1865. On his visit here he met his brother-in-law, W. C. Martin, whom he had not met for 40 years, and his sister, Mrs. Martin, he had not met for 39 years. Mr. Gose is a well-prospered and well-informed old gentleman whom it is a pleasure to meet.

H. J. Byrket has a fine garden in his lot corner River and Irving streets. He is a good gardener, but his work shows what can be done on a small piece of ground in the city. He has all the vegetables of the season for his own use, has some to sell. When you wish something fresh in the line of vegetables for the table, call on him. He also has a fine lot of tomato plants for sale.
The Hood River Lumbering company are placing poles and stringing telephone wires from town to Winans, at the forks of Hood river. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hershner, parents of Rev. J. L. Hershner, reached Hood River last Sunday. Miss Lottie Hershner, their daughter, is with them. Their home is near Mansfield, Ohio. Mr. Hershner was born in Morrow county, Ohio, and has never lived outside of that county. He has held the office of county commissioner for three terms, being elected on his party's ticket always, and the majority in his county. He has served as justice of the peace of Troy township for 33 consecutive years, and still holds this office. Mr. and Mrs. Hershner will spend the summer on the Pacific coast, visiting their sons at Hood River and Corvallis, and other relatives at Seattle, Portland and Stockton, Cal.

Captain Taylor of the steamer Maja reports a fair business but says Hood River people do not give his company the patronage it deserves. The Maja carries passengers only and makes quicker time between Hood River and The Dalles than the larger steamers. Leaving here at 7 in the morning, The Dalles is reached at 10 o'clock, which allows four hours for the return trip to Hood River and Corvallis, and other relatives at Seattle, Portland and Stockton, Cal.

H. C. Shaffer, pastor of the U. B. church, closes his third year's work in Hood River with next Sunday's services. During the past year the church has almost doubled its membership and made good advances in other ways. The church is now self supporting, not receiving aid from the general mission board of the denomination, nor has it had any income from bazaars, ice cream festivals, etc., for the past two years, yet its finances are in much better condition than ever before. Mr. Shaffer has received a call from the church at Spokane, but it is not known at present whether he will accept it or not.

Strawberries, 15 of which filled a box, and 7 side by side measured a foot—must be the best berries can be seen at Hartley's grocery. They were grown at Columbia beach by J. H. Kiser, and are of the Marshall variety. Another box of Magoons, 12 of which weighed 15 ounces, are at Hartley's. These were raised by Fred Taylor on the Crapper place.

Barney Galliger, a railroad workman, was severely injured Wednesday afternoon. In some manner Galliger was thrown with awful force against a sharp rock, which broke his upper jaw, tore a piece of the bone and five teeth, and badly ripped his cheek. He was given temporary aid by the company's local physician and hurried to Portland hospital.

Rev. J. L. Hershner is not able to do his pulpits and pastoral work, owing to an affliction of his eyes. He returned from the North Pacific sanitarium over one week ago considerably improved in health, but his right eye is still bad, incapacitating him for work. He may have to return to Portland for further treatment.
The case of Jesse Allen, charged by Henry Adams of obtaining liquor by misrepresenting his age, was tried before Recorder Nickelsen Saturday afternoon, and the defendant released. District Attorney Frank Menefee of The Dalles appeared for the prosecution, and A. A. Jayne for the defense.

Mrs. H. Pugh received another stroke of paralysis Monday and has since been lingering between life and death with no apparent hope that she will ever again rally. Her sight is completely gone and she cannot speak but is conscious and seems to recognize the voices of her friends.

The case against George Fox, charged with selling liquor to James McDonald, minor, was ordered discharged by Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Payne, after James having an affidavit from a United States army recruiting officer showing McDonald to be 21 years of age.
Those beautiful roses in the Glacier office, which occasioned so many comments yesterday, were presented to the city by Mrs. M. M. G. Davidson, who understands rose culture thoroughly and has a garden of over 60 varieties, mostly choice tea roses.
D. A. Hanna, Pacific coast representative of the Packer, the great maker and commercial paper, was in Hood River, where he was met by Mrs. M. M. G. Davidson, who understands rose culture thoroughly and has a garden of over 60 varieties, mostly choice tea roses.

Indian Martha, the wife of Joe Eleck, was severely injured Tuesday night by being thrown to the ground from the coast of a cayuse. The accident happened near Indian creek bridge, and at last reports the woman is recovering.

The following Portland people spent a few days of last week at the "Firs": Mrs. Shogren, Misses May Shogren, Sophie Gilliland, Elizabeth Dickens, Sophia Lawrence, Julia and Helen Coman.
Mrs. W. M. Yates, Mrs. Charles Carter and Mrs. Phoebe Morse returned Wednesday night from the Eastern Star meeting in Portland. Mrs. Phoebe Morse was elected grand warden of this order.

W. D. Palmer of the Portland office of Bradstreet's agency, was in Hood River, Wednesday, visiting F. B. Barnes, and looking up some matters of business here.
Miss Lizie Roberts of the "Firs" left on Monday morning's train to attend the grand lodge of the Eastern Star, which convenes in Portland June 8-10.

Dr. F. D. Rae, of Fergus Falls, Minnesota, is visiting the families of H. J. Jacobs and H. J. Fredericks. The doctor is an old friend of both families.

Julio Sternau of Terrou, state of Coahuila, Mexico, a dealer in fancy wines and fruits, was in Hood River last week, the guest of H. S. Richmond, of Mount Hood, from whom he has been buying Yellow Newtown Pippins since last October. Mr. Sternau furnishes his wines to only that class of people willing to pay good prices for the best market produce, and he finds Hood River apples, grown within 10 miles of the shore line of Mount Hood, the best in the world. Hood River, in the estimation of Mr. Sternau, has far greater natural attractions for tourists than has famous Colorado, and he was surprised not to find more accommodations for the tourist travel. Mr. Sternau is a German by birth. His 14 years business experience in Mexico makes him a firm believer in a gold monetary standard. "You ought to send your man Bryan to Mexico and have him work for wages," said Mr. Sternau. "Then he might learn something. The price of commodities fluctuates with every rise and fall of silver, but not so with wages."

James Ellison and wife were in Hood River last week. Jim works for wages in the general office of the O. R. & N. in Portland. He learned telegraphy in Hood River, and has many friends here who are glad to know of his success.
John H. Cradlebaugh, after five months editorial work on the Salem Journal, is again in The Dalles.

WINS GLACIER BUGGY.

Arthur Davidson of the Lost Lake Lake Lumber company held the winning ticket, No. 843, and is now owner of the Glacier buggy.

Hot Weather Injures the Berry Crop.
The Hood River strawberry harvest is now at its height, and Wednesday night there were shipped 634 crates. The crop though has been greatly damaged by the five days of hot weather, which began last Saturday. H. F. Davidson of the Davidson Fruit company says the crop has been cut short at least 25 per cent, while G. J. Gussling of the Fruit Growers union declares the loss to Hood River by the exceedingly hot weather will amount to over $50,000. The season in the lower valley has not only been materially shortened, but the patches in many places were almost cooked. Consequently a large number of the berries are small. Fancy fruit will sell only a few cents above the market price. The competition of the Eastern home-grown product.

The later berry patch, and those with plenty of water, are uninjured, and with the present cool weather large berries are again expected and prices will make a slight advance. The fact that prices early in the season were high, and with the late berries to fall back on, the general average returns will not fall over 15 or 20 cents below the $1.90 average of last year.

Following are the daily shipments up to date:

May 19	Crates	May 21	Crates

Under the auspices of the A. O. U. W. and Degree of Honor lodges the musical play of "The Old Maid's Convention" will be given at the opera house in about ten days. A lady from out of town is coming to take the principal part. She has also put this on several times, and says at every place people wanted it repeated. Look for programme in next week's Glacier.

Edgar Button was severely injured Monday by being thrown from his horse. The accident happened on the East Side grade, and it seems that the horse began backing, and rearing up fell over backward with Edgar underneath. The boy was carried home and a doctor called. At last reports he was resting easy, but still suffers.

Monday, Judge Bradshaw allowed the motion to set aside a verdict and grant a new trial in the case of the state vs. David and William Upton, convicted at the May term of circuit court of willful and malicious destruction of property.

The gambler arrested last week were fined Monday by Judge Bradshaw. The dealer of the game was fined $75, which was paid; James, who rented the room, was fined $50, and McIntosh, one of the players, $25.

Newton Clark was up from Portland during the week looking after his ranch. Mr. Clark was a passenger on the wrecked Spokane flyer Sunday night and didn't reach Hood River until Monday morning.

F. K. Arnold and son Homer of Portland were the guests of Mrs. Cansfield over Sunday.

Miss Katie Sinnott spent Friday in Portland, the guest of Mrs. J. T. Toomey.

Mrs. Laura Smith, Grand Chief of Honor of the Degree of Honor lodge of Oregon, will make an official visit to Riverside lodge No. 40 June 20. All members are requested to be present.

Milk
From cows that can't be milked.
T. J. TREIBER, Proprietor.

The latest steamboat rumor is to the effect that an opposition line will be put on the river before the summer season is over, and the boat which will start the competition is the Charles R. Spencer. Her owner, Captain E. W. Spencer, who is a well known captain on the river, and years ago ran the little steamer Gold Dust on the upper river, says her cabins will be enlarged and she will be made an up-to-date passenger boat, being put on the run in a month or two. Rumor also says Dalles and Astoria capitalists are backing the scheme, and that two men of The Dalles have $25,000 each to pledge, but this fails to be verified, says the Chronicle.
