Professor C. D. Thompson is moving his family to his ranch in the Barrett district, recently purchased of E. C. Mahaney.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Dishon and son George, after rusticiating a couple of weeks at Mount Hood, left for their home at University Park Monday.

C. Mickelson of Husum, Wash., was in town Monday. He says a man named E. P. Williams, from Kingsley, Or., is building at the falls of White Salmon and will put in a store. Mr. Williams will also be postmaster.

Milton Pealer, two horses and a wheel scraper slid 200 feet down the bluff toward Hood river from the hill back of town, last Friday. That no damage was suffered was indeed remarkable. Pealer was dumping dirt from Wilson's reservoir and with a load of gravel the team started to back at the edge of the bluff. Pealer had presence of mind to swing the horses around so they slid down head foremost, otherwise they would surely have turned a somersault to certain death. Two teams are busy scraping gravel from Joe Wilson's reservoir, but it is a big piece of work and will require several weeks of work before completion.

George W. Love recommends egg and salt beaten to a paste as a sure cure for rattlesnake bite. A couple weeks ago his family's pet dog was bitten on the nose while fighting with a rattlesnake. Poultries of egg and salt were applied to the wound every few minutes for four hours when the poison was entirely removed, and the dog entirely recovered. This is the second dog Mr. Love has cured of rattlesnake poison in the same manner. He says it will work just as effectively with a man.

E. S. Olinger returned from Salem last Saturday where, as deputy sheriff, he went with two inmates for the asylum. Mr. Olinger spent a day in Portland. He says one trouble with the Portland police is too much uniform and white gloves. "I should like to have some of them come to Hood River for a while and chase around in the woods. They wouldn't have much use here for white gloves."

The White Salmon ranchers have been shipping tomatoes to the Portland markets for two weeks. The yield is good this year and prices correspondingly high, the first shipments netting $2 per 10-pound box. C. D. Moore, J. P. Egan and others have large crops, and find tomatoes even more profitable than early strawberries which net them from $2.50 to $3.50 a crate.

The foundation work on the Frankton school house is completed, and the framework of the building is now going up under the direction of Contractor Cox. The new school building will be a four-room structure, and will cost $3,000. When completed it will be the best country school building in Wasco county.

Contractor B. F. Belieu is erecting a $1,100 residence for W. R. Hardman, just south of Carmichael's store on Hood River Heights. The house is to be 28x30, two stories. Mr. Belieu also has the contract to build a $1,400 house for Mr. Sieverkropp.

Miss Lena Snell, formerly a teacher in Hood River school, with her mother is spending the summer at Pueblo, Colo. Mrs. Snell, who went there for her health, finds the change very beneficial.

In the Hood River valley about the vicin of the Peter Mohr place, five miles from Hood River, last Wednesday was turned into a veritable holiday, the occasion being the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Mohr. The entire family were at home and relatives and neighbors to the number of about 30 gathered to help them celebrate. A dinner, such as only can be served at the ideal country home on such an occasion, was spread on tables whose dimensions precluded none from being seated. Again in the evening a delicious repast was enjoyed. Two participants from The Dalles were present, Rev. A. Drougeest and Joseph Heroux, and were greatly pleased with the hospitality accorded them. They were also delighted with the appearance of the valley, which is beautiful this time of the year. Joe says he is going back, but whether it is the beautiful valley or some other attraction which draws him is a question with his friends.—Chronicle.

Captain J. P. Shaw came near having to walk in from his Mount Hood ranch Sunday night. He had gone up in the morning with a team of ponies and four men. After covering the 18 miles, out of the goodness of the captain's heart, he removed the harness from the horses, and with a light touch turned them loose to roll. When he wanted to hitch them up the ungrateful animals refused to be caught. Finally after an hour's fuming and chasing, a neighbor happened by who said he would catch the steers easily enough. They were started down a lane, and in a few minutes stopped for the halters to be put on their necks. Moral: When you wish to be good to a broncho first tie him to the end of a long rope.

J. R. Kinsey, who has been appointed as mail carrier on R. F. D. No. 2, from Hood River, commenced delivering mail last Friday. The route having been discontinued for a week or two, the patrons were not expecting their mail to be delivered, and some of the boxes were full of mail before they learned that the new carrier had gone to work. Mr. Kinsey will drive a double team. He is having some difficulty in finding the different pieces of the delivery wagon belonging to the route, which was taken to pieces and the lights and wheels removed. If any one knows the whereabouts of the pole of the wagon they will confer a favor by notifying Mr. Kinsey.

River street is now open on a straight line to the state road a little west of Dr. Adams' cottage. This furnishes a much easier grade out of town to the west than does State street, and almost all the travel from Frankton and Nicolai takes this route to and from town. The heaviest grade on the street is just to the west of Irving street crossing, and can be easily remedied by a slight grading. Just beyond the junction with the state road there is a short grade which could be lowered with a little work. Batchelder & Erwin opened this street at their own expense, for which they have the thanks of all who use it.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hershey, parents of A. O. Hershey, arrived last week from LaFayette, Indiana, on a six weeks' visit in Hood River. Mr. Hershey was in Hood River 11 years ago, but finds great changes since then. He keeps up with the progress of the community by reading the Glacier each week. On his way West he made several stopovers, and says that fruit dealers everywhere come from here quick to reply "Hood River." W. H. Hershey is now a brother of A. O. Both Hershey families left Tuesday for Cloud Cap Inn.

The shady banks of Ditch creek was the scene of a pleasant picnic, Tuesday last week. A feature of the occasion was the absence of any men. Those who enjoyed the picnic were the community by reading the Glacier each week. On his way West he made several stopovers, and says that fruit dealers everywhere come from here quick to reply "Hood River." W. H. Hershey is now a brother of A. O. Both Hershey families left Tuesday for Cloud Cap Inn.

Rev. H. Kalb, the Lutheran minister, is now making his headquarters at the home of George Rindan, and if he finds his efforts successful here will locate permanently in Hood River. There are some 30 or 40 families in the valley who belong to the affiliate with the Lutheran denomination. Mr. Kalb's circuit takes in Pendleton and Grass Valley as well as Hood River.

R. R. Erwin returned last Friday from a three weeks' visit to his family at Whatcom. Mr. Erwin says things are quiet just now in Seattle and other Puget sound cities. He says his family is in the best of health, also Mrs. W. P. Watson. Mr. Watson is still in poor health, though he was better when Mr. Erwin left there.

Hon. E. L. Smith will build a $1,000 apple house on his Benish Land ranch. It will be a two-story structure, 24 x 60, the second story to be a box factory room and the first floor the packing house. B. F. Belieu has the contract for the carpenter work.

Joseph Hemmel has purchased a lot in Lidwell at the junction of River and State streets, where his family is living in tents while he is building a cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Warren are in Portland visiting their daughter, Mrs. Ramsey.

Canby post and W. R. C. will hereafter meet in K. of P. hall.
