J. F. Batchelder was up from Portland this week looking after his interests in Riverview Park. Owing to the great difficulty in securing materials, the Country Club cottage is not yet completed. Last week the Hood River Country Club was incorporated with a capital stock of $25,000. The incorporators are J. Wesley Ladd, A. P. Tifft and J. F. Batchelder, all of Portland. The incorporation proposes to sell 50 shares of stock and to take in 50 members who will have access to the club house at all times. The club house will be made a resort for the members at any and all times, the purpose being to make it a place where its members can spend their vacation at all seasons of the year, either summer or winter. Mr. Batchelder says it is the intention to build the $20,000 Inn this fall. When completed, the club house will be presided over by "Grandma" Munra, formerly of Meacham, Or.
