

Wood River Glacier

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1903.

The city of The Dalles and the Second District Oregon Agricultural Society are to be congratulated upon the success of the late fair and carnival. The weather was all that could have been desired up to Saturday noon, and the same might be said of the attendance. The live stock exhibited was creditable to the district and the state. The races were well conducted and drew big crowds every day. The pavilion was the attraction for everybody. The handwork of the ladies with the needle and in the culinary line made a fine display. The horticultural exhibit surpassed any previous effort of this kind in The Dalles. Hood River did its share towards making the fruit exhibit a success. G. R. Caster was on hand with 12 boxes of apples and carried away a number of blue ribbons. E. L. Smith, William Ehrke and Chris Dellman also showed some fine apples and were rewarded for their enterprise. R. H. Weter, our district fruit commissioner, made a good display from his orchards and vineyards besides making a collection of Hood River fruit. Arnold's shows, which furnished entertainment for the crowds in attendance at the fair, gave great satisfaction. Altogether, the district fair was a success.

The prospects for Hood River's high school are very bright. It is thought by next fall a three-year course will be taught, all of which is very gratifying to those interested in educational work. The addition of Mr. Coon to the teaching corps increases activity for good schools in Hood River, and particularly in the advanced grades. The school board lost an excellent member in Mr. Coon, though in Directors Baker and Dumble the school matters will be properly handled. In this matter, the district has been particularly fortunate this year, for it has found men who so conscientiously perform their duties as school trustees.

Dr. Cummings of Seattle, who is accused of having killed a captured highwayman by probing for a bullet in his abdomen, should be commended for his good work. The wounded man had been shot in attempting to escape after robbing a man on the streets of Seattle. Before he could be arrested he fatally shot a policeman, who in turn put a bullet in the robber. His wound was healing up nicely, his intestines were in normal condition, and it is claimed there was no need of the operation. But there was need of it; it put one man out of the hold-up business.

Figures from the forthcoming annual report of Auditor Castle of the post office department have been made public. The report shows the gross receipts of the Hood River post office for 1903 to be $5,036, an increase over 1902 of $917. There are 37 presidential post offices in Oregon, of which Hood River is the 18th in importance. In Washington there are 96 presidential offices, and in Idaho 29. Portland's postal receipts for 1903 were $301,439; those of Seattle, $310,367.

The glacier is in receipt of the interior department's latest publication on "Forestry Conditions in the Cascade Forest Reserve," by H. D. Langille, Fred G. Plummer, Arthur Dodwell, Theodore S. Rixon and John B. Leiberg. The work is splendidly illustrated from photographs showing the actual conditions in different parts of the range. With the book are splendid geological survey maps showing land and timber classification.

A. P. Armstrong of the Portland Business college turned his salary as instructor in Wasco county teachers' institute to the library fund of the Hood River public schools. Hood River people appreciate this worthy courtesy, and will hold a kindly feeling for Mr. Armstrong.

A man named Waterbury, at Belleville, Ill., recently wagged that he could play the piano for 26 consecutive hours, and won without a protest. The Inter Ocean says, his name being Waterbury, he couldn't stop until he had run down.

The county board of equalization is in session this week at The Dalles. If you wish to know what your taxes for 1903 will amount to, now is your time to interview the board and have corrections made if deemed necessary.

Mosier captured a big bunch of blue ribbons at the Eastern Oregon district fair at The Dalles last week. Mosier will yet be heard from as a great fruit section of Oregon.

The 1903 Apple Crop, Western Fruit Grower. There is much comment in all the farm papers over the estimates of the apple crop of 1903 which were submitted by the Apple Shippers' association. It will be remembered that last year the Fruit-grower published the estimates for a number of the states. Well, it appears now that a number of these estimates as submitted by the Shippers' association, were on the basis of comparing the crop of 1903 with last year's crop, and that confuses matters. Who knows what last year's crop was, for the different states?

Upon this basis, let us see what Missouri's crop will be. The state had perhaps 40 per cent of a crop last year. This year the Apple Shippers' association estimates the crop at 30 per cent of last year's crop, or 12 per cent of a full crop. And that is about right. But think how misleading the estimates are. There are the states which are estimated to have 350 per cent of last year's crop, for instance. As a matter of fact, these states had but very few apples last year, so that the estimate for 1903 might as well have been made 1,000 per cent or even more.

On the basis of last year's crops, it is found there are a few of the apple-producing states which have more fruit than a year ago, and a great many of them have a great deal less fruit than in 1902.

Where, then, comes the 7,000,000 increase over last year's crop? We confess our inability to figure it out.

The government estimate is not for a large crop but far as the estimate of the Apple Shippers' association would lead us to expect. And the estimates of the growers are more nearly in accord with the latter estimate.

The Fruit-grower has received many letters of thanks from its readers for calling attention to the estimates which have been made as to the size of the apple crop. The commission papers all give the greatest publicity to the statements of the buyers, and their press agent is working overtime, so that it is needed that the farm papers present the other side of the case.

An Indiana reader writes: "I note that the apple buyers claim that the crop has a 50 per cent crop. I have been in all the localities which have apples and there will not be 15 per cent of a crop of merchantable fruit and Ohio is no better."

Other growers write along the same line.

The Fruit-grower does not undertake to say what apples should be worth this fall—nothing is farther from our purpose. We simply wish to present the facts as they appear to us, from government reports, and from other sources, and growers can then use their own judgment. It does seem to us, however, that the Apple Shippers' association is either deceiving its members or trying to deceive the growers, either intentionally or unwittingly. The Fruit-grower wishes to ascertain all the facts possible, and then present them for the benefit of its readers, the growers of apples.

An apple buyer recently told us that all the apple holders will buy carefully this year, on account of their losses of a year ago. This is to be expected, and the growers cannot object to their doing so. But at the same time it will not be well to allow the pendulum to swing too far to the other side, and the growers hold the sack this year.

The situation this year has again emphasized the fact that it pays to produce fancy fruit and to pack it in neat packages. The Packer quotes an apple buyer in Oregon as saying: "The competition for fruit out through this country is sharp. Chicago and New York men are chasing the country over, and growers have got their ideas on that you expect to pay apples at any price." At this place (Hood River) they will not set a price. Growers could get $1.50 per box, but will not set that price."

Don't think from this that because a barrel of apples will sell for $1.50, a barrel ought to be worth $4.50. These Oregon apples are strictly fancy and are packed in the best possible manner. This is the point we would make: The size of the crop has little effect on the price of this very fancy fruit—it is always high.

Council Meetings. Council met last night in regular adjourned session. Present: Mayor and Councilmen P. S. Davidson, H. F. Davidson, G. J. Gessling, Geo. T. Prather; Recorder Nickelsen and Marshal Cunningham.

The judicial committee reported submitted ordinance No. 77, providing that the cost of the proposed sewer system shall be assessed against the property directly benefited thereby, and defining the sewer streets. The substitute ordinance was given second reading and final passage.

Sewer committee reported contract made with Engineer Paet, that he shall receive 3 1/2 per cent of contract price of sewer for his services. Report adopted.

Carrier's bill of $1.50 for board of prisoners was allowed, also Henderson's bill of $10 for entry work on River street. Wilson's bill for gravel was referred to street committee.

Plat of Dean's subdivision was received and placed on file.

On motion of P. S. Davidson, council adjourned to meet next Monday night to hear report of viewing committee on sewers.

Ahner Cox returned, Saturday, from his Eastern trip.

Judge Henry has again placed the glacier force under obligations for a treat to some of his nice pears.

The ladies' aid society of the Congregational church will meet Friday afternoon in the lecture room. The members will please bring their thimbles.

T. D. Tweedy, who has been on the sick list for a month or two past, is gaining in health and gone to work again. He offers some bargains in real estate, and can also locate homesteaders. See Tweedy if you are looking for a home.

Frank Noble, the old veteran of several wars, was taken suddenly ill Sunday morning. While eating his breakfast, apparently in the best of health, he toppled over and fell to the floor. Neighbors were summoned and he was put on his feet, but he remained several days, but now seems a fair way to recover his usual good health.

The Oregon Journal of September 25 informs the anxious and sympathetic public that a young lady is recovering from nervous prostration brought on by the strenuous social life of Newport. Rats! this strenuous life, and another, other than the present one down, is getting to be a bore.—Dufur Dispatch.

The owners of Paradise farm, Dr. W. L. Adams and wife, have decided to sell a few lots on the east side of their farm and have had them surveyed and platted. The street running north and south along the lots has been named Paradise avenue, taking its name from the farm, and the street will hereafter be known by that name.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational church was reorganized last Sunday evening with the following officers: President, A. C. Stahen; vice president, Miss Mary Vaughan; recording secretary, Miss Clara Blythe; corresponding secretary, F. B. Barnes; treasurer, Pearl Treiber; organist, Miss Vera Jackson. Prayer meeting committee: A. W. Othman, Geo. W. Steinhauer, Miss Grace Prather. Lookout committee: Miss Emma Bonney, Pearl Treiber, Harold Hershner. Local committee: Miss Clara Blythe, F. B. Barnes and Miss Leila Hershner.

C. R. Bone has rented desk room in the office of Barnes, the real estate man.

Rev. J. L. Hershner will conduct service at Pine Grove next Sunday, at 9:30.

Mrs. Fred Howe, Mrs. Tom Calkins and Miss Maggie Garbarant went to Portland Monday morning.

T. Bishop's little ad "cow for sale," sold his cow, and he could have sold half a dozen more. The demand for good cows keeps up.

W. H. Woodhouse and wife of Vancouver are visiting their old neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Phelps, Mr. Woodhouse's sister. They will stay here, having served in the 25th Wisconsin.

A. L. Phelps, wife, Ollie, Ed and Roy, and March Morse, returned from their Yakima trip Saturday. They had good weather on the trip and enjoyed their outing immensely.

N. F. Anderson came up from Portland, and went out to his ranch in Dales valley. Mr. Anderson has good farm, well improved, and is thinking of placing it on the market.

Hon. H. E. Cross of Oregon City is visiting his son Percy and his old friend, Captain Shaw. Mr. Cross is the owner of Gladstone townsite and park, and secretary of the Chauntanga association.

The little one-and-a-half-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Grosser of the East Side, while playing recently, fell and sustained a broken nose. The little one was brought to town, Wednesday, for surgical treatment.

H. E. Macomber was down from Covell, Eastern Oregon, during the week. He and his brother are running a ranch in that country. Mr. Macomber has rented his house on the serpentine road to Mr. Tenold, who found things unsatisfactory in Portland, and returned to Hood River.

The storm Monday night was too much for Hood River's law-makers, and Monday night's council meeting was postponed until Wednesday night.

These present Monday night were Mayor Coon; Councilmen P. S. Davidson, H. F. Davidson; Recorder Nickelsen and Marshal Cunningham.

Alfred Ingalls, who has been suffering from a sarcoma, or cancer, is somewhat improved in health. His appetite is better and he is much stronger. He recently sold his farm and has since moved to a better place and a half mile across to a better place.

Earl Bartmess was seriously sick last week, but is getting along nicely now. An abscess had gathered under Earl's arm, and it required a patch and a half incision to remove it. The boy suffered severely, and blood poison was feared for awhile. His arm was bruised while at Trout Lake last summer.

S. F. Fouts was arrested Monday by Marshal Cunningham, charged with selling liquor on Sunday and after 1 o'clock at night. The case will come up before Recorder Nickelsen next Monday morning. W. T. Hume of Portland will prosecute the case, while A. A. Jayne has been engaged by the defendant.

Amos Underwood was in town Wednesday. He has about $75 worth of gold dust in a bottle that he showed to his friends. John Dark recently got back from McCoy creek mines and brought the dust along. Mr. Dark is preparing to go to the mines to remain all winter. He has had a ton of provisions packed in. The prospects of rich strike in their placer mines is very bright.

Barnes, the real estate man, made sale during the week of 10 acres on the state road belonging to Mathias Lauf-fenberger to P. F. Bradford; consideration, $1,250. Mr. Bradford expects to move on to the place and make it his permanent home. The ten acres are mostly cleared and set to strawberries and apples. Mr. Lauf-fenberger says he will remain in Hood River, and is looking for a larger farm.

Three men, somewhat intoxicated, mixed up in a row at the dock last Friday night. Abe Amos and John Dark of Underwood mixed up with Indian Jake Williams, with the result that Amos received a deep slash in the calf of his leg with a knife in the hands of Williams. The Indians was arrested the next morning, but by the time he had sobered up, the other two men had crossed to Washington and were out of the jurisdiction of local officers.
