Hood River Glacier.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1903

Several of our country exchanges are giving notice of a raise in the price of subscription from $1.00 to $1.50. They find there is nothing in publishing a country paper for glory alone. It costs something to buy paper and pay printers, besides paying rent and other running expenses that must be met with the cash at least every month. At the meeting of Oregon editors in Salem last month, Wilbur F. Brock, circulation manager of the Portland Oregonian, strongly advised a $2.00 per year subscription rate for country publishers, declaring the cost of production made this price necessary. It is the rule in all printing offices that printers must be paid at the end of each week. Paper, ink and type founders' bills must be paid by the 10th of every month; otherwise the supplies stop. Subscriptions are paid but once a year, hence it can be seen how important it is to a newspaper to receive prompt payments upon subscriptions. Happily the Glacier has good paying subscribers who generally pay in advance. Examine the label on your paper and see if you are paid in advance.

"Where I had one inquiry for pamphlets, there were ten people wanting copies of Oregon newspapers," said Mrs. Edyth Tozier Weatherred at the meeting of the editorial association at Salem, while she was persuading the editors to send their papers regularly to St. Louis next year for gratuitous distribution at the world's fair. It is not intended that the publisher should furnish all papers at his own expense, as he could not well afford to, but it was suggested that those people of a community interested in securing new settlers should contribute to a fund for this purpose. People prefer the newspapers because the stories of production and soil possibilities are verified daily or weekly. The information, too, is more up-to-date. Oregon should supply an abundance of this kind of advertising at both St. Louis and Portland.

Malcolm A. Moody has been completely exhonorated from the charges preferred against him in the United Satates court at Portland, and the ex-congressman comes forth with flying colors. Mr. Moody's friends never doubted the outcome of the malicious attack. They warmly congratulate him.

Less than three weeks remains until city election, and not the slightest rumor has gone forth as to what's to be done. It's a tame election day in Hood River without a contest between the "wets" and the "drys."

The Weather.

The mercury went to freezing point Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoon as the Glacier forms were being closed, the gentle snow was falling with an east wind behind it. The wind storm of last week was not nearly so destructive as first reported. A peculiar feature of it all was, that some orchards escaped the wind entirely, while others suffered more or less. The rain continued until Sunday.

W. S. Coulter, foreman of the logging camps for the Menominee Lumber company, was in Hood River Friday. Mr. Coulter will establish a new camp on the White Salmon this week.

D. Vannett of Fertile, Minn., is in Hood River visiting his daughter, Mrs. C. D. Nickelsen at Belmont. Mr. Vannett met here several of his former Minnesota neighbors, among them C. G. Metcalf, who showed him about the valley. He arrived the day of the heavy storm last week, but took good natured-ly the soaking he received, and is willing to believe there are days of better weather in Oregon. In Minnesota he is roadmaster for the Northern Pacific.

St. Mark's guild will meet at the residence of Mrs. Upson next Wednesday, November 25. A full attendance is required.

Excursion Rates to Portland.

If sufficient number of people signify their intention of attending the production of Ben Hur at the Marquam theatre, in Portland, for five nights, beginning Tuesday, December 1, the O. R. & N. will grant round trip excursion rates for the occasion.

E. W. QUARLES, Agent.

Cards of Thanks.

The undersigned desire to express their sincere thanks to the lodges of Woodmen of the World, Wooderaft and Odd Fellows, and neighbors and friends, and especially to Dr. Dumble, for their kindness during our late sickness. MR. AND MRS. W. GANGER.

I desire to express my sincere thanks to the good people of Hood River, my old friends, the friends of the family, and others, for their kindness at the funeral of my beloved wife, Sarah Gray. HENRY GRAY.
