Hood River Glacier.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1903

Press dispatches from New York city in the Sunday papers announced that Senator Marcus A Hanna of Ohio is a candidate for the nomination for president of the United States to succeed Theodore Roosevelt. The report is not surprising. Senator Hanna's phenomenal victory in Ohio three weeks ag nuade him the logical candidate for the presidency. All is not serenity within the national camps of the republican party, and Mr. Roosevelt is not likely to have a walkover in the nominating convention next year. Few men in the president's position can escape South is offended because a negro dined at his table, and the West is dbpleased because of his stand on public land matters. Mr. Roosevelt is bending every energy to bring about his nomination. On the other hand, Mr. " Hanna is being urged by his friends to make the run for the presidency in inches to two and even three feet in 1904, rather than wait four years diameter, made of olled paper, cloth or at the proposal to run Mr. Hanna for The humble citizen uses a small affair ite with the people of Ohio, and the mandarin employs a huge lantern, reof dollar marks may be the next pres- a yard in advance. ident of the United States.

Needing more room for our constantly increasing trade we have added to our store the building formerly occupied by O. B. Hartley's grocery store. This gives us more room and enables us to accommodate our increasing trade to better advantage.

The reason our store is growing is very plain. We buy our goods from first hands, and sell them on a very close margin for cash. We try to accommodate our trade in every way possible. A growing store does not accumulate old goods. Its goods are new and bright, and are of the latest desighs. Remember our store is the

On the horticultural page is a very interesting article entitled "Irrigation in Humid Italy." The author, Elwood in Humid Italy." The author, Elwood Mead, presents an entertaining account of the successful operation of extensive irrigating systems in Europe. To Hood River people the statement that friction and controversy are entirely absent under a co-operative system covering nearly 125,000 acres appears too good to be true. The article contains many good ideas which could be adopted with profit in this country.
