The woman's alliance will meet this week with Mrs. J. E. Rand.
Rev. A. A. Beery, pastor of the Valley Christian church went to Portland Thursday. He expects to return Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Waldo and Mr. and Mrs. Jewett and their families of White Salmon, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Cunningham Friday and Saturday.

A bullet hole in the plate glass window of Williams' drug store attracted crowds of people all Friday morning. The shot which did the work was heard by a number during the night at about quarter after 12 o'clock, when several men in a drunken carousal were disturbing the sleep of people along Oak street. The whole proceedings were most disgraceful, but worst of all the city marshal is said to have been as bad off as the rest of the crowd. He found it necessary to shoot, but with an unsteady aim the bullet went wide of its intended mark.
G. R. Gastner and son Charles made a trip to the Willamette valley last week. They visited Redville, and also Vancouver. In the vicinity of Redville they found a rich stock and dairy country. Hay was a good price—$12 per ton for the cheapest. In traveling along country roads they noticed the absence of teams going back and forth like we have on the roads in Hood River valley. They could travel there for miles and not see a team on the road; but men and teams were seen at work plowing in the fields.
G. R. Gastner has been doing some advertising for Hood River in a unique way. In driving to town recently with a load of apples, he stopped in front of Rogers' art gallery and had himself, team and load photographed. On the picture is printed by the artist the words: "80 boxes apples brought $150.50." These pictures he is sending to his friends in the Eastern states where they will do the most good. Mr. Gastner is one of Hood River's most successful orchardists.
The little daughter of Mrs. Ralph Savage was born in the South where they have none but artificial ice. During the late cold snap Mrs. Savage put out a tin cup with water in it to freeze for the little one. In the morning Mrs. Savage gave little Eleanor a bit of the ice to eat. After crunching a mouthful of it she looked up and said: "This is the first time I ever ate wild ice, isn't it, mamma?" Mamma said yes, and collapsed.
The senior editor of the Glacier is grandfather for the first time in his life. It is expected he will be obeyed and respected accordingly. There will be no advance in the price of subscription. Advertising rates will remain the same for the present. "It's a cold day when we get left."
C. F. Waldo of White Salmon paid the Glacier a friendly visit Saturday.
The United Artisans will give a public dance next Wednesday evening.
Vancouver, Wash., has 140 old soldier pensioners.
See the fine honey at Holman's on the hill.

George H. Himes, upon his return to Portland carried with him an old Revolutionary war sword, which Dr. W. L. Adams loaned him for exhibition in the museum of the Oregon Historical society. Connected with this sword is the story that it once belonged to the famous hero, General Warren, as it was picked up from the field of Bunker Hill near the spot where Warren fell on that memorable 17th of June, 1776. Dr. Adams secured the relic from Jeremiah Pease, when on a visit to Boston in 1869. He bought the sword more particularly because his forefathers from the Green mountains of Vermont were participants in the fight at Bunker Hill.

Charley E. Bennett of Oregon City, Or., visited his sister, Mrs. Rose Wilcox, of this city, last Thursday and Friday. Mr. Bennett operates the steam ax in the wood room of the Oregon City Paper mills, where he has been employed for several months. He took home with him his little daughter Louise. She has been in Mrs. Wilcox's care since her mother's death nearly two years ago. Little Louise is to receive for her Christmas present, a new mamma. Perry Leisey, a schoolmate of Mrs. Wilcox, accompanied her brother from Portland for a visit and to see the country.

Have you ever stopped to think when you notice the columns of a newspaper filled with advertisements that the men who do the advertising are the men who do the business? When a man comes to the conclusion that he can't afford to advertise, he may as well conclude he "can't afford" to succeed in business, for he never will. The merchant who continually reminds you that he is here to stay and wants your trade is the one who gets it. Be assured that the merchant who looks his goods in the company worth tooting about—Chronicle.

A letter from L. N. Blowers states that he and his family will spend the next month or so at Long Beach, Cal. "We explored San Francisco, last Friday," he writes. "It is quite a thrifty appearing villa. We saw 20 ships sailing in from the ocean at one time under full sail. We were at the Cliff house at the time and it was a magnificent sight. But after all, there's no place like home, particularly, if 'home' means Hood River."

Recorder Nickelsen has received notification from the clerk of the circuit court to furnish his brother-in-law with certified papers giving a complete review of the case now pending between P. F. Fouts and the city of Hood River, the same being an appeal on behalf of Fouts from the decision of Recorder Nickelsen on a motion for summary judgment of S. F. Fouts. Judge Bradshaw will review the case January 9.

A. L. Evans is thinking of organizing a class for instruction on the violin, provided he can secure enough pupils. Mr. Evans has done this sort of work before, and has always had good success. He is Hood River, and was himself a resident of Hood River for a number of years, leaving here about 10 years ago. Mr. Evans is now furnishing up-to-date music for local dances.

The Dalles is to have a fruit cannery. The Dalles Fruit company incorporated last week with a capital stock of $25,000, and it is intended to have the cannery in operation to handle next year's crop. The board of directors of the company are: J. S. Schenck, E. C. Pease, E. M. Williams, H. J. Maiter, E. H. Weber, F. S. Gunning, L. E. Crowe.

Mrs. O. D. Rea is in St. Vincent hospital, Portland, where she underwent an operation, Tuesday of last week, for gall stones in the bladder. Nearly 100 gall stones were taken from her, ranging in size from a pea to the size of a small marble. Mr. Rea and daughter Alice visited the hospital Sunday, when the patient was getting along nicely.

The children of the Congregational Sunday school are preparing a program for Christmas eve. The chief feature of the entertainment will be the presentation of the cantata, "Waiting for Santa Claus." The officers of the Sunday school have the entertainment in charge, while A. W. Onthank is directing the musical features.

Wm. Davidson and F. W. Angus were the Hood River representatives to contribute fruit for the St. Louis exposition. Mr. Davidson gave three boxes of handsome Spitzburgers, and his name will appear with the apples when displayed at the World's fair.

S. H. Cox has traded his fine residence property in town to J. J. Turner for a 35-acre strawberry farm near town. Mr. Cox gave considerable more than the price of his property, but we did not learn the full terms. Mr. Turner, it is said, will convert the building into a hotel.

James McBane has just finished the Hood River apartment house to contribute to the residence of Captain A. S. Blowers. This is the finest piece of stone work in town, and reflects great credit on the workmanship of Mr. McBane. Mr. Blowers has now a handsome residence built at a cost of $5,000.

Captain Belcher has started upon his trip to the coast with three passengers, 75x100, and contain 96 rooms. The new store building was finished this week, 45x60, and the big barn will soon have an addition—Pioneer.

The Regulator company advertised last week that the Bailey Gatzert purse would be returned to passengers if the opposition boat should reach The Dalles first. Saturday the Spencer won the race and the Regulator people paid up.

Barnes, the real estate man, made sale of J. H. Miller's home place on the East Side. The purchaser has returned for his family and proposes to make Hood River his home in the future. Sale was made last Friday.

The ladies' aid of Belmont will hold a sale of quilts and aprons December 18 and 19, at Mr. Jackson's store. The ladies of Hood River are invited to come and see us.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Copple spent last week at Pendleton. Mr. Copple is rapidly recovering from his recent illness, and will soon be hearty and robust once more.

Little Lawrence Hershner is expected home today from the hospital at Portland for a few days. He is doing nicely at last report, but very homesick.

Miss Nettie J. Kemp, student of the Gillespie School of Expression will give a recital at Odell, December 26, beginning at 8 o'clock. Admission 15c.

C. F. Wilcox returned to Portland Thursday morning. He is a teamster in the employ of Wakeman & Morrison company.

A. I. Mason lost part of his spring wagon last week between Pine Grove and town last week. He hopes the find will return the lost spring.
Mr. and Mrs. Mark Thomas left last Thursday for Rapid City, Ill., when they will visit relatives for the next two months.
L. H. Roberts writes from Grass Valley, Cal., that he has sold his land and gold mine at Grass Valley and made a good sale.
D. A. Hanns, representing the Kansas City Packer, was in Hood River last week gathering data for an article on the fruit industry of the valley.
Wm. M. Bird, a prominent hop-grower of McKee, Or., is visiting with his brother, M. F. and family, this week.

Ben Powell of this city received, one day last week, from his home in Palestine, Neb., a box containing a paper bag of popped corn. It made Ben feel a little homesick and he almost wished himself back in old Nebraska. But after thinking it over came to the conclusion that to eat big red apples, such as grow here in Hood River valley, was just as good as Nebraska pop corn, so he will remain here for the present. Mr. Powell came here last spring to pick strawberries and being pleased with this part of the country, has taken up a homestead in the upper part of the upper Hood River valley. His friends are seeking information concerning this famous fruit valley and may sometime come West. Mr. Powell sends them the Glacier every week that they may read for themselves the stories of the big apples grown here.

Several weeks ago an agent appeared in The Dalles taking subscriptions for magazines at "convenient" rates, and secured a long list of subscribers, all of whom paid in advance. As yet none of them have received the periodicals for which they subscribed, and it is beginning to dawn on some of them that they have been buncoed.—Mountaineer.

Little six-year-old Mildred Smith came with her aunt, Hattie Hansberry from Cascade Locks, last week, and is visiting at the home of her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hansberry.

O. B. Hartley made sale yesterday of 75 barrels of pure white flour to Williana the baker. This is the largest flour sale ever made in Hood River to one man for his own use.

M. Many of White Salmon, the senior member of that city's leading real estate firm of Many & Crow, was in Hood River last Saturday. Mr. Many owns a large farm at Gilmer, Wash., but is at present interested in pushing the sale of White Salmon real estate. He says settlers are steadily increasing in his country and that by next spring two new stores will open for business. Read the ad of Many & Crow to be found in the White Salmon column, and if you are thinking of investing in White Salmon real estate, it will pay you to correspond with them.

John G. Zolls, who came to Hood River last summer from Palestine, Neb., says he has received a number of letters, lately from his former neighbors inquiring about this country, some of whom will likely come here next spring. Mr. Zolls thinks he made a wise move when he came to Hood River. His wife was in very poor health for 10 years while they lived in Nebraska, but since locating here she is much improved. Mr. Zolls is glad to find good schools and says his boys are progressing very nicely with their work, and that they expect to be promoted the first of the year.
