

Wood River Glacier.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1903

The Editor Swears Off.

The Glacier has heretofore been publishing free a good deal of matter of the kind that other papers charge for. Its publishers have felt that whatever was done for the good of the community or of any church or society in Hood River was worthy of publication free. But conditions have changed. The expense of getting out the Glacier has grown with the improvements made, and the publishers are compelled to charge the regular advertising rates hereafter for all matter advertising entertainments when there is an admission fee, or where articles are offered for sale. Notices of dances, lodge entertainments, etc., when admission is charged, will be charged for at advertising rates. Cards of thanks, resolutions of condolence and obituary poetry will be charged 25 cents an inch. Church and society notices, and all other gatherings not intended for money making, will be published free, as usual. The churches are requested to send in all notices of services throughout the valley.

Hood River fruit growers are again reminded that fancy apples are wanted for display at the meeting of the Northwest Fruit Growers' association in Portland, January 11, 13. Those who haven't a box of fruit to offer, should secure a plate of fine apples. E. L. Smith, president of the state board of horticulture, was in Portland last week arranging for this notable fruit meeting. He says a number of the members have consented to come from British Columbia, while all the Northwest states will be represented. In addition to an apple display, Mr. Smith says the management of the meeting wishes to secure all the medals won by Hood River people for fruit. Proper care will be taken to see that all medals are safely returned.

Glacier want ads bring exception ally satisfactory results.

TRICKS WITH CARDS.

SKILLFULLY DONE, THEY WILL AMUSE AND MYSTIFY YOUR GUESTS.

How to Tell Every Card in the Pack With Its Back Turned Toward You. The Thirty-one Trick - A Clever Way to Tell Draw Cards.

This undoubtedly is one of the best illusions performed with cards, as it not only brings the whole pack into use, but is also legitimately founded upon arithmetical principles. By this trick you are able to tell the whole pack of cards with the backs toward you; also to sort them after being cut any number of times in the mere act of dealing them out in a row. It is performed thus:

A pack of cards being distributed on the table, with their faces uppermost, they are picked up one by one in the following order: 6, 4, 1, 7, 5, king, 8, 10, knave, 9, 2, queen. Repeat the same series of every thirteen cards. Four times over will of course complete the pack.

That the above order may be remembered, the following words are used as a guide to the memory and they are intended to enumerate the cards:

The sixty-fourth regiment beats the seventy-fifth; up starts the king with 8 10 3 knave eight thousand and three men and 9 2 queen ninety-two women.

Hence this trick is said to be done "by words."

The pack being arranged, it may be handed to any of the company "to cut," with the proviso that this operation be done without shuffling - that is, by taking a portion of the cards off in a mass and placing the lower division on what was before the upper one. This done fairly and properly, it may be repeated any number of times, as the audience may think fit. You then take the pack and by a feat catch eight of the bottom card. Having learned this it may be done at a glance, in a second of time, you have the key to the whole trick. Then commence it by dealing the cards out in the ordinary way, but in thirteen heaps. Having dealt out thirteen, begin again and cover them; then go on as before. When finished there will be of course four in each heap. Now every heap will contain all four of the same denomination, as the four knaves in one heap, the four sevens in another, and so on. The thirteenth, or last heap, will be of the same denomination as the one at the bottom which you have contrived to see, and according to whatever that card is, all the suits will follow, but in the reverse order, as the words above indicate. Thus suppose the eight was the bottom card. Then on dealing them out they would be in the following order: King, 7, 1, 4, 8, queen, 2, 9, knave, 3, 10, 5, and you begin reciting in the mind the words you use from that passage in the sentence, working from right to left, which the card indicates in the above. You would say:

Eight thousand and three men and 9 2 queen 6 4 ninety-two women; sixty-fourth regiment beats the seventy-fifth; up king starts the king with, etc. Here, of course, is your starting point.

The same principle holds good whatever the card may be. Any person asking for a card, all four of every suit may be found in the same heap and can be quickly turned up as soon as required with a little practice, to the utter astonishment and wonder of the company.

By taking up the cards in the same order as before, but all of one suit, you may easily discover the position of any one card that is demanded.

A fine trick with cards is called "thirty-one." It is played with the first six of each suit, the ace in one row, the deuces in another, the threes in another, then the fours, fives and sixes, all laid in rows. The object now will be to turn down cards alternately and endeavor to make 31 points by so turning, or as near to it as possible without overrunning it, and the one who turns down a card the spots of which make him 31 or so near it that the other cannot turn down one without overrunning it wins. This trick is very deceiving, as all other tricks are, and requires much practice to be well understood. The chief point is to count so as to end with the following numbers: viz. 3, 10, 17 or 24. For example, we will suppose it your privilege to commence with 3 and your adversary would add 6, which would make it 9. It would then be your policy to add 1 and make 10. Then, no matter what number he adds, he cannot prevent you counting 17, which number gives you the command of the trick. We will suppose he adds 6 and makes 16. Then you add 1 and make 17; then he adds 6 and makes 23, you add 1 and make 24. Then he cannot possibly add any number to count 31, as the highest number he can add is 6, which would only count 30, so that you can easily add the remaining 1, or ace, and make 31. There are, however, many variations to the trick.

A clever way is here given in which to discover one or more drawn cards. Turn unperceived the bottom card of a pack face upward; then let several of the company draw a card. Reverse the pack rapidly, so that the bottom is now the top card, and thus all the other cards are turned face upward unperceived by the spectators.

Hold the pack firmly in your finger and request those who have drawn to replace their cards in the pack. Thus all the drawn cards will lie with their faces downward, while all the other cards will lie with their faces upward. You now step aside, select the drawn cards and show them to the company - Boston Herald.

Our Animals. A dish of fresh water is a constant necessity where there is a dog or a cat, even though they never appear to touch it. Offering them water now and then doesn't answer at all.

Those who suppose a cat requires only meat and milk should offer it a bit of nicely cooked vegetable, especially asparagus, corn, green beans or potato. It is criminal to keep caged pets unless one is sure to remember their needs, not when one "thinks of it," but constantly.

The man who has no tender feelings for his horse should remember that this faithful servant will last longer and serve better while he does last if he receive consistent treatment.

Read With Ease. A writer in Leslie's Monthly says: A schoolbook that is in my possession, dated 1832, has penciled inside the front cover these lines:

Puzzle written over the commandments P. R. S. V. S. T. P. R. F. C. T. M. N. V. R. K. P. T. H. S. P. R. C. P. T. S. T. N.

No solution was offered, and I studied over the mysterious medley for some time before I saw that it made sense if an E was substituted for each of the dots.

His Altruistic Conscience. Foddy - You say you have a very tender conscience. I notice it is wonderfully sensitive to the faults of others, but it never appears to be troubled by your own shortcomings.

Duddy - No; I hope not. That would be egotistical, you know. - Exchange.

Fiction. "What are you writing, Hawley?" "A story. I'm going in for fiction." "Really for a magazine?" "No; for my tailor. He wants 10 money, and I'm telling him I'll send him a check next week."

Cure For a Homely Hat. Floorwalker - I'm very sorry, madam, but I can't exchange this hat for you. Mrs. Smithson - But my husband does not like it!

Floorwalker - Then I'd advise you to get a divorce - Syracuse Herald.

Not to return a benefit is the greatest sin, but not to confer it is the earlier - Seneca.
