E. W. Winans has placed a stout railing along the sidewalk in front of his residence on State street. E. R. Bradley, the job printer, is getting out some very neat Lewis and Clark stationery, which, while advertising the exposition, will also give Hood River a boost. In the left hand corner of the letter head is the official Lewis and Clark seal, which, by the way, is a very striking and attractive picture; to the left is a short description of Hood River, with statistics on the population of the city and valley, and the Hood River people for the past season. Altogether it makes a very pretty note paper heading, while business men can have their cards inserted without destroying the usefulness and neat effect. Mr. Bradley also supplies envelopes to match.
The meat markets give notice elsewhere in the Glacier that all morning orders must be in by 10:45, and that the delivery wagons will be taken off at 4:30 in the afternoon. Notice of such arrangements was made some months ago, but the kind public paid no attention, and have fallen into the habit of phoning in orders at 10 minutes to 12, expecting to receive the meat in time for dinner at any part of town. The meat men have rights which other people should be considerate enough to respect, so please don't ask the butchers hereafter to break their new rule, for they won't, not even for a 10 cent order.
Rev. W. E. Rossmann of The Dalles, who is leading the singing at the revival at the U. C. church, is proving a great help to the meetings. Rev. J. T. Merrill is preaching the old-fashioned gospel with the power and blessing of the Holy Spirit. Quite a number are starting for the better life. Shouts of praise are heard in the camp and a deep interest is already manifested in the salvation of the lost. Rev. Rossmann will sing a solo each evening, and is organizing and drilling a large chorus of Christian people to make the singing more effective. All are invited to come.
L. N. Blowers and family are home from a six-weeks' visit in Southern California. Mr. Blowers says he would not care particularly to live in Los Angeles, but was delighted with Long Beach. Viento, a few years ago was a bustling place, and a shipping point for the Oregon Lumber company, but is now almost deserted. The Oregon Lumber company's store has been shipped to Ingles on the lower Columbia, and after a couple hundred thousand feet of lumber now on hand are finished up, the planer will be removed and the town of Viento will be no more. C. T. Early, now superintendent of the Mount Hood Lumber company, was appointed postmaster at Viento while in the employ of the Oregon Lumber company, about in the early '90s. Mr. Early says he made no effort to get the office, but now finds it hard work to shake loose. The mill hands and families have all left town, leaving either to Chenoweth or to Hood River.
Lawrence Hersher is still confined to his bed and is compelled to lie in one position all the time. He does not suffer any acute pain now, excepting when moved. His physicians are still undecided as to whether the disease is in his right or left knee, or in the bone between the knee and hip. He has been confined to his bed since November 7, and during the whole time has had to lie in one position. He is cheerful and patient, eats and sleeps well, and his parents hope with the coming of warm weather, he will recover from the disease in his limb.
N. B. Harvey, the Milwaukie nurseryman, was in town Saturday. He brought with him samples of his Yellow Newtown and Spitzenburg apple trees, one year old, that are beautiful. They are six feet high and are perfect trees. He says he has 6,000 trees like them for sale for this year's planting. Mr. Harvey is a thorough nurseryman. He secured his grafts from R. B. Clark's orchard last spring and as soon as received, where he will open out in the hardware business for himself. Mr. Quarles has been doing railroad work for 20 years. Hood River people regret to see him leave here. No better railroad man ever served Hood River people. The Glacier wishes Mr. Quarles unbounded success in his business venture. He was stationed at Pullman for four years and is well known there.

N. C. Evans has employed his time lately in drawing a 5x5 foot map of the city of Hood River, showing every surveyed lot or block within the corporate limits. The lots are all numbered, street names given and the various additions designated in colors. The channels of Hood river are distinctly shown, the O. R. & N., and in fact everything required in a map of this kind, complete in every detail. Mr. Evans is an engineer of ability in map drawing.
The members of the ladies' aid society of the Congregational church gave a very successful social at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Davidson, last Friday. The attendance was large and the entertainment provided was excellent. Major J. S. Booth, D. E. Rand, Mrs. Arthur Davidson, Miss S. Scherger, Mrs. H. F. Davidson and others contributed toward making the program a most entertaining one.

Forney of Moscow, Idaho, vice president for Idaho; R. C. Cooley of Bozeman, Mont., vice president for Montana; J. R. Anderson of Victoria, B. C., vice president for British Columbia; W. S. Offner of Walla Walla, treasurer and C. J. Sneed of Boise City, secretary.

The weather since our last report has been somewhat variable. Monday snow fell all day but melted as fast as it fell. Tuesday was clear with light west wind. Wednesday morning the winter shifted and came from the east, bringing with it a flurry of very fine snow, and the thermometer went down to 28 above zero. At noon snow commenced falling in big flakes and kept it up all afternoon. It fell to a depth of three or four inches throughout the valley, but during the night a chinook cleared it all away.

We understand that at a meeting of the vestry of St. Paul's Episcopal church Rev. C. H. Lake tendered his resignation as rector, to take effect in May. We have not learned Mr. Lake's plans for the future, but shall people in general have the kindest feeling toward him and trust that whatever move he has in view will be for his best interest.—Chronicle.

Bad Outlook for Water Next Season.

The Glacier is informed by Frank Davenport that one mile of the Valley Improvement Co.'s flume is down and will have to be rebuilt before the water is turned in. The bridge that carries the flume across Hood river is in such a dilapidated condition it will have to be replaced by a new structure. The expense of making these repairs will amount to $40,000. The company is in debt to Davenport Bros. $5,900. The company has no money to make the improvements, and the Davenport Bros. will advance no further money. This is a bad outlook for water for next year. Even if the money was in hand to make the ditch good, the time is short in which to complete the work. The Valley Improvement Co., in order to raise the money to put the ditch in condition to furnish water hereafter, will offer for sale perpetual water rights at $30 an inch; the holders of these perpetual rights to pay annually $2.50 an inch for water. The company can negotiate loans on these perpetual rights at 6 per cent interest, to accommodate those who may not have cash to pay down. The situation is serious, and a meeting of all the water consumers who patronize the Valley Improvement Co. should be called at once.

Catholics Will Build a Church.

The Catholics of Hood River and the valley are arranging to build a church in town. Fred Herrig has donated lots on the hillside just south of the courthouse of The Dalles was in Hood River Monday and stated to a Glacier reporter that if sufficient subscriptions could be secured the church to cost about $2,000 would be put up this summer. The building is intended to be 50x25 in size, sufficient to accommodate 150 people. In later years a hall will be added to the basement, and if the sisters come here, another building can be placed in the rear. With a steeple 100 feet high, and capped with a gilded cross, the Catholic church will be conspicuous from all points on the river.
Father Desmarais while in Hood River visited with P. F. Fouts and family and Sunday last he held services with a crowded house at Mrs. John Mohr's on the East Side.

Steinhilber Sells Farm for $10,000.

T. Steinhilber of the East Side made a cash sale, last Thursday, of his 40-acre fruit farm to C. K. Marshall of Buffalo, N. Y. This farm was one of the first to demonstrate the success of apple culture in Hood River valley. It was purchased by Mr. Steinhilber three years ago from John Seecoy for $2,500. Mr. Steinhilber published the Tillamook Headlight in the palm days of timber land years a half will be added to the electrical engineer for a Buffalo traction company, has moved his family from the East and will make Hood River his home.

He Represents Eiler's Piano House.

J. E. Caldwell, representing Eiler's piano house of Portland, is in Hood River taking orders and explaining the good qualities of his goods to intending piano purchasers. Eilers are sole agents for Oregon for the world's best makers—Chickering, Weber and Kimball and 15 other good pianos. This house is in a position to quote absolutely the lowest prices on any piano handled. Interested in pianos, have Mr. Caldwell explain how they can get one. Drop him a card at Hood River, or write Parkins &

Grimes, The Dalles; Eiler Piano House.

Portland, or for a few days Mr. Caldwell may be reached by phoning the Glacier office. See ad in another column.

To Build $10,000 Hotel.

P. F. Fouts announces that the coming summer he will build a three-story brick hotel on his property, corner of River and Second streets. Architect Crandall is preparing the plans, and Mr. Fouts tells the Glacier he will have more definite information to give out next week. The building will be 43x90 feet in extent, three stories with basement. The estimated cost is $10,000. For a hotel site it would be hard to find a better location than Mr. Fouts' property.

An Afternoon with High Five.

Mrs. Marion F. Shaw and Mrs. Charles R. Bone entertained in a very charming manner, Monday, January 18, at their home on State street. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion. A profusion of Oregon grape and ferns, together with potted plants, filled every nook and corner, ropes of Oregon grape draping the doors and windows. The afternoon was spent in playing high five, the guests occupying five tables. Mrs. Horatio F. Davidson and Mrs. G. Edward Williams won the honors. Other guests came later to enjoy a social hour. While the dainty luncheon was being served, strains of strangled music rose above the hum of conversation, adding to the enjoyment of those present. The invited guests were: Mesdames H. F. Davidson, G. Edward Williams, Fred B. Barnes, D. McDonald, Margaret Reid, Frank Crum, P. S. Davidson, Mr. Charles Early, Carlton Vaughan, Frank P. Friday, Ralph Savage, Samuel F. Blythe, John E. Captain and Mrs. Shaw Entertain Band.

Captain and Mrs. J. P. Shaw entertained the Hood River brass band, Monday night, in their well known hospitable and highly delightful manner. The band boys serenaded their hosts with some splendid music before entering the house, where the boys were treated to fruit, punch, coffee, cakes and other delicacies. Mrs. Shaw was assisted in serving the luncheon by Miss Marceline Cross and Miss Cora Coppel. It is useless to say the band boys never had a better time and were both to depart from their hospitable hosts.

The Hood River band is making excellent advancement, and considering the great disadvantages under which they are laboring, their work is remarkable.

It is hoped other Hood River people will follow the good work of Captain and Mrs. Shaw in giving proper encouragement to the band. No town's a town without a band.
