

Hood River Glacier.

THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1904.

The ditch is ours, and in the future irrigation matters on the West Side of Hood River valley will be in the hands of the people who use the water. It will not be a question of "Are they going to provide us with water and at what price?" but we have the satisfaction of saying that we are going to have all the water we want at the actual cost, having the investment on low interest rates. The Valley Improvement Co.'s ditch was practically transferred to the people Monday, February 29, yet some of the final formalities will not be arranged before Saturday, March 6. The committee has made favorable financial arrangements and have given notes, with the first payments April 1, which will give ample time to negotiate the necessary loans. The first stockholders' meeting of the Farmers' Irrigating Co. will be held Friday, March 4, at 1:30 p. m., in K. of P. hall, to elect the board of directors, adopt the bylaws and transact other business. Everybody interested in the flow of this water now breathes a sigh of relief, for the prospects were never better for the West Side farmers. The farmers are practically unanimous in supporting the change from old conditions.

Hood River is to have a base ball club company, and a base ball nine that will be a credit to the town. Money subscribed toward the purchase of the diamond is a sound investment. The real estate will ever grow more valuable. Sign board advertising should pay for fencing, and the inclosure will be useful for other purposes than base ball. There is nothing like the great American game of base ball to arouse genuine enthusiasm. Here's success to the Hood River base ball nine.

Over in Grant county politicians are not so overcome with modesty when they desire to serve the dear people as they are in some other parts of the state. The Blue Mountain Eagle of Canyon City contains the announcements of ten candidates for sheriff, four for superintendent of public schools, four for assessor, two for treasurer and one for clerk, subject to the decision of their respective party conventions, republican and democratic.

Politics in Wasco County. With the republican county convention only five weeks distant, politics has scarcely yet entered street corner conversation. The water question has so far swamped everything else in Hood River, but in other parts of Wasco county there appears the same apathy. The republican party is in the ascendancy in this county with a clear 600 majority on a straight party vote, and were it not for the fierce factional fights a nomination in the convention would in most cases insure election. But, as goes the old saw, although with no insinuations in this instance, when thieves fall out honest men get their dues, and the democrats are generally found filling two or three important offices.

The same old scrap seems to be on again between the Moody men and the anti-Moody followers, the latter represented by the supporters of Congressman Williamson. Both sides appear confident of success. Ex-congressman Moody has made no announcement that he will be a candidate for the congressional nomination, though it is not expected that he would refuse the honor if his friends carry the convention. The Williamson people have opened headquarters in The Dalles with Ex-mayor Farley in charge. The Dalles Chronicle is the recognized organ of Mr. Williamson, and Banker French goes down in his jeans once a month to the tune of $60, as salary for an editor who writes in support of the second district congressman. Of the other four papers in Wasco county, two of them—the Duff and the Antelope Herald—are republican papers and strong supporters of Mr. Moody; The Dalles Times Mountaineer is democratic but very friendly to Mr. Moody; the Glacier will continue independent, working always for Hood River and Hood River people.

Ask a Moody man how the county or district is going and he will assure you the other side hasn't the ghost of a show. The Williamson supporters are just as confident. They are also very anxious for harmony. It is the presidential year, says the Chronicle, and Oregon must put up a united front. The Mitchell-Simon fight in Portland will cut considerable figure in the contest for congressman in the second district. The Mitchell men carried the two years ago, but the pendulum is about to swing the other way, and indications are that the Simonites will win. If so, this means the nomination of Malcolm A. Moody.

County politics are just as unsettled. There have been no published announcements from aspirants, and seemingly no slates prepared by the party managers. County Clerk A. E. Lake and Attorney John Leland Henderson are mentioned for county judge on the republican ticket. If Mr. Lake is named for judge, his deputy, Simeon Bolton, stands in line for the office of clerk. Mr. Henderson is also spoken of for state senator. Of late there have been numerous conferences between Mr. Henderson and Mr. Lake with probably other matters than real estate under consideration. The commissioner will likely come from the southeastern part of the county where it rightfully belongs. The present incumbent, Mr. Harriman, is a democrat. So is the county judge, who most likely will be a candidate for reelection.

J. T. Neff is an aspirant for the nomination of school superintendent on the republican ticket. Mr. Neff will have little if any opposition, and the democrats could make no mistake in endorsing his nomination. This is an office that should be non-partisan. The state senator who is elected from Wasco county this year will have a voice in the election of a United States senator four years from now—a successor to Senator Mitchell, and because of this state influence rather than local will decide for state senators in the congressional convention. L. N. Blowers and John Leland Henderson are Hood River men out for this honor. Mr. Blowers is a warm friend of John H. Mitchell, while Mr. Henderson can probably be counted on the other side. T. H. Johnson, a supporter of Mr. Moody, is said to be a candidate for re-nomination. No one has announced himself for the lower house, although Roswell Shelley of the East Side and Judge George T. Prather have been spoken of for the legislature.

District Attorney Frank Menefee can have a re-nomination if he wants it, though L. N. Blowers tells the Glacier he would be glad to help elect A. A. Jayne to this office.

The primaries will be coming along in a few weeks. If any man wants an office let him say so.

TAKE OVER THE DITCH.

Arrangements were completed Monday morning whereby the Farmers' Irrigating Co., the new corporation, has assumed charge of the flume and ditch of the Valley Improvement Co. As it is impossible to complete a cash payment for several weeks, Mr. Chambers has accepted a note for his share of the indebtedness, amounting to about $25,000. These securities of the new corporation for the farmers are: H. F. Davidson, N. C. Evans, E. N. Benson, A. C. Staten, Fred Bailey, E. A. Franz, W. H. Peugh and G. D. Woodworth. Articles of incorporation for the Farmers' Irrigating Co. have been prepared for filing with the county clerk and secretary of state, and notices have been mailed for a stockholders' meeting Friday afternoon, March 4, to elect a board of directors and adopt bylaws. In order to lose no time in repairing the ditch and bringing out water as early as possible, the present directors of the Valley Improvement Co. will resign and their places will be assumed by stockholders in the new corporation, the new board to be empowered to make the proper transfer of property to the Farmers' Irrigating Co. and to apportion the dividend which shall accrue to the Valley Improvement Co. stockholders in the sale. The present administration of Hood River's big irrigating ditch ceased Monday when the farmers practically assumed control.

Attorneys A. A. Jayne and John Leland Henderson are doing the legal work on the transfer papers and have been retained for advice by the new company for one year.

Articles of Incorporation. Following are the articles of incorporation as prepared for the Farmers' Irrigating Co.:

Know all men by these presents that we, E. N. Benson, F. E. Bailey, A. C. Staten, N. C. Evans and E. A. Franz, citizens and residents of Wasco county, state of Oregon, desiring to form a corporation under the general laws of the state of Oregon for that purpose, do hereby make and execute in triplicate the following articles of incorporation.

ARTICLE I. The name assumed by this corporation, by which it shall be known, is the Farmers' Irrigating Company, and the duration of said corporation shall be perpetual.

ARTICLE II. The enterprise, business, pursuit and occupation in which said corporation proposes to engage is to buy, acquire, take over, use and operate all the property, real and personal, of the Valley Improvement Company of Hood River, a corporation heretofore organized and now existing under the general laws of the state of Oregon, and heretofore engaged in the business of supplying water for general purposes of irrigation to all persons desiring the same, whose lands adjacent to and within reach of the ditch and canal and flume heretofore operated by said Valley Improvement Company.

To buy, acquire, own and use all the rights, franchises and easements of all water rights and rights to divert water and to use the same for distribution through said flume and ditch for general purposes of irrigation heretofore owned or used by the said Valley Improvement Company.

To take any and all conveyances necessary to convey to this corporation all real property, including the main ditch and flume and all laterals, ditches and flumes, together with the rights of way thereto now owned or operated by said Valley Improvement Company, and any and all other conveyances and contracts necessary to convey to this company all of the property, rights and privileges heretofore and now owned or used by said Valley Improvement Company.

To buy, construct, own, maintain and operate a water canal, ditch and flume from a point on the stream of Hood River hereinafter more fully described, the said canal, ditch and flume running thence in a general northerly and northeasterly direction to the terminus thereof hereinafter to be more particularly described, all in Wasco county, state of Oregon.

To buy, acquire and appropriate water and water rights, or to acquire the same by condemnation; to divert the water of said Hood River and to use the same for general retail, sale and distribution for the purposes of irrigation and supplying water for household and domestic use and watering live stock, and to collect rates and compensation for such use of said water.

To furnish water for the purposes aforesaid to all persons whose lands lie adjacent to or under the line of the ditch, canal or flume in which said water is conveyed, without discrimination other than priority of contract; to construct, maintain and operate the canal, ditch and flume above named and such other canals, ditches or flumes as may be necessary to enable the corporation to supply water as aforesaid for general irrigation purposes, for domestic use and watering live stock, to the inhabitants of Hood River valley, in said Wasco county, Oregon.

To buy, condemn and acquire the right to divert the said water of Hood River from its natural channel, and to buy, condemn and acquire rights of way for the canals, ditches and flumes of said corporation, and to buy, condemn and acquire lands for sites of reservoirs for storing water, and for rights of way for feeders carrying water to said reservoirs and for ditches or flumes carrying the same away and for lateral or distributing ditches and flumes; to buy, acquire, construct, maintain and operate ditches, flumes, canals and reservoirs for distributing and storing water.

condemnation the right to divert water, from springs, lakes or streams, so much as may be necessary to supply the people of said Hood River valley with water for the purposes aforesaid, and to carry and supply the same through its main and lateral canals, ditches and flumes.

To acquire, own and hold such real estate as may be necessary to enable the corporation to accomplish the purposes for which it is formed as aforesaid; to enter into all contracts necessary to enable the corporation to carry out the purposes of its organization; to execute notes, bonds or other evidence of indebtedness and secure the same by mortgage upon any or all property of the corporation for the purpose of paying indebtedness or to obtain money with which to carry on the business of the corporation.

ARTICLE III. The place where said corporation proposes to have its principal office and place of business is Hood River, Oregon.

ARTICLE IV. The amount of capital stock of said corporation shall be $75,000.

ARTICLE V. The amount of each share of said capital stock shall be thirty dollars.

ARTICLE VI. The first meeting of the stockholders shall adopt the by-laws of this corporation.

ARTICLE VII. The termini of the canal, ditch and flume heretofore and now owned and operated by said Valley Improvement Company and referred to in Article II of these articles of incorporation are particularly described as follows:

The head of said ditch, canal and flume is located on the east side of said Hood River at a point on the township line on township 2 north, range 10 east of Willamette meridian, 12 chains and 9 links south of the quarter section corner on the west boundary of section 31 of said township and range, and is also distant, measured north on said township line, 28 chains and 29 links from the established corner of townships 1 and 2 north, ranges 9 and 10 east of Willamette meridian; and the end of said canal, ditch and flume is located at the quarter section corner on the north boundary of section 36 of township 3 north of range 10 east of Willamette meridian, all in the county of Wasco and state of Oregon.

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands and seals in triplicate, this 29th day of February, 1904.
