A free rural delivery service with one carrier has been ordered established at Goldendale, April 15.
Mrs. R. Pealer brought to town Saturday, the first flowers of the season—some daffodils—which she left with Charles N. Clarke, the druggist.

J. F. Batchelder, a member of the Hood River Development Co., was in town Monday. Mr. Batchelder says there will be a decided movement this summer in Hood River real estate. A large number of Portland people are making inquiries for locations here, and several of them have arranged to erect cottages in the beautiful wooded groves adjacent to the Country Club Inn. "As soon as warm weather comes on, Mrs. Munra will be up to again take charge of the Inn, and as soon as school is closed, Mrs. Batchelder and children will come prepared to spend the summer. Mr. Batchelder drove through Hood River Sunday, and he says the great amount of improvement everywhere was a surprise. He had no idea so much work was going on. He thinks there is a very bright outlook for a prosperous summer this year in Hood River.
Little Lawrence Hersher may be seen on the streets almost every day now, walking with his crutches. Mr. Hersher returned with him from Portland on the 1st instant. The physicians there thought that with plenty of exercise in the fresh air, and the massage treatment on his limb, he would finally reach complete recovery. His hip is very stiff and it will be a long time before he can walk without crutches. He took sick on November 7, and was a good sufferer until about one month ago. It is a great relief to his parents to see him as well as he is.
The concert given by the Jolly Jokers at Mount Hood, March 11 brought in a full house. The show was well received, and everyone expressed himself as getting the worth of his money. The company will appear at the Mormon church Thursday evening, March 24. Persons who attended at Mount Hood said they had given as much as $1 to see a show not half as good. The house was kept in an uproar throughout the entertainment.
That the railroad to Dufur will be built this season seems to be assured. Rights of way for the road have been secured the entire length of the line with the exception of three property owners, and it is stated that there is sufficient capital back of the enterprise to build the road, and that construction will begin at an early date.—Mountaineer.
G. R. Castner goes on crutches, the result of a severe cut on his right foot. Mr. Castner was trimming a post at the time, when the ax slipped and struck his foot a glancing blow across the toes. Several cords were severed, and the wonder is that he did not lose all his toes. It required five stitches to close the wound.
The Dalles is soon to lose one of its best citizens in the person of Hon. J. F. Moore, who contemplates opening a law office at Moro within a few weeks and will no doubt move his family thither in the summer. We also regret to learn that the family of M. Kelsey expects to join him at Hood River in the near future.—Chronicle.
A move is on foot to get a reserve established on the headwaters of Mill creek and Dog river from which The Dalles gets its water supply, says the Mountaineer.
Hugh Gourlay, the insurance man, was in town Monday, looking after renewals for insurance in the Oregon Fire Relief Association which he represents.
The ladies of the W. R. C. will serve dinner at the K. of P. hall Thursday, March 17, from 12 to 2 o'clock. A splendid meal for 25c.

The party of Kentuckians who arrived in Hood River, last week, consists of six families, numbering in all 39 persons. J. K. Carson, acquainted with most of the party, met them at the train and escorted them to quarters on the hill and in the country. David Smith, an old patriarch, 78 years old, is with the newcomers, and has five sons with their families in the party. The only family in the party not named Smith is that of W. A. Wall, but they are all related. They come from the blue grass region of Kentucky, the best part of the state. J. L. Johnson of Kingsville, Ky., the promoter of this immigration, expects soon to have a whole carload of people on the way to Hood River. The men of this party arrived have been farmers, storekeepers, blacksmiths and carpenters.
Mrs. B. F. Belieu returned from Portland Wednesday last week, where she went to consult an expert for the removal of a tumor that has been troubling her for the past two months. Her daughter, Mrs. Nannie NaSmith, who had been taking a course of study at the Mount Tabor Sanitarium to fit herself for a nurse, has been obliged to come home to care for her mother. Her mother came home this time feeling much better than she has since taking sick, and the doctors have hopes of removing her tumor without the resort to an operation.
O. L. Stranahan, who went to The Dalles Friday, to pay his taxes, and to pay the same for a number of his neighbors, will be a delegate to the state prohibition convention. He says he will be a candidate before the national convention of his party—the prohibition—for vice president. Of course, anything below that of vice president will be acceptable, but he will strike high enough at the start and drop gracefully down, and may accept a nomination for the legislature.
Harry Stauffer arrived in Hood River Friday from Canton, Ohio. His family stopped at Ashtland to visit with a sister of Mrs. Stauffer, while he came on to look for a house for them. They come to stay. Mr. Stauffer is a carpenter by trade. He is a cousin to the Stauffer brothers on the East Side.
Captain T. F. Corning and wife of Oregon City, together with John Corning, brother of Captain Corning from Alexandria, Minn., were visiting in Hood River, last week, guests of the families of Captain Shaw and C. T. Roberts.
F. O. Brace went to Portland, Saturday, to meet his daughter, Mrs. Ella Shultz, and accompanied her to Hood River. She, with her babe, will make an extended visit with her father's family.
R. W. Ordway and family from Marion county, Kas., are newcomers in Hood River, arriving last week. They are stopping in N. W. Bone's house in Blowers addition. Mr. Ordway was a farmer and stock raiser in Kansas.
J. H. Levering of Souse Bend, Wash., was in Hood last week, the guest of his old neighbor, E. A. S. Ule. Mr. Levering is an architect, with an office in South Bend. He is also proprietor of a big dairy ranch near North Bend.
B. F. Belieu, who is building a house in Portland under contract, came home Friday to figure on a couple of buildings and returned to Portland Sunday.
Rev. Robert A. Copple is the nominee of the prohibition party at Pendleton for justice of the peace.
Moro is making preparations to celebrate the 4th of July.

A happy surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baker, on the evening of March 9, the occasion being the 25th anniversary of their wedding. The surprise was complete. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Bone, Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Brosius, Mrs. E. E. Savage, Mrs. Kline, Mrs. M. J. Baker, David Davidson, Helen Davidson, Pansy Baker, Marjorie Baker, Mr. and Mrs. F. Blythe, C. D. Henrich, Kathryn Baker, Kenneth Baker, Willie Baker. The game of what was indulged in, at which S. F. Blythe won first prize—a china tea-pot stand, on which is a painting of Mount Hood—and Mrs. W. J. Baker won second prize—a full-sized toy rooster. A delicious lunch was served at 11 o'clock. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all present. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Bone were prevented from being present by the accident that befell Mr. Costner the day before, when he cut his foot severely with an ax.
J. F. Stranahan, an architect of 25 years' experience, has located in Hood River. Mr. Stranahan has been in San Francisco for the past two years. He had an office in Portland for seven years, during which time he planned and superintended the construction of some of the best buildings in Portland. He can give some of the best men in Portland references. He is an up-to-date architect. At present, and until he can secure an office down town, Mr. Stranahan can be found at the home of C. J. Hayes, on the hill. Mr. Stranahan will be pleased to meet with any one who is contemplating the construction of a building, and will be glad to give advice whether employed as architect or not. It will be a great convenience to contractors to have the architect of a building where he can be consulted at all times.
Captain and Mrs. J. Shaw entertained a few friends in their home at 11:00 a. m. at their home on Sherman avenue. Those present were: Captain and Mrs. J. P. Shaw, Miss Robin Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Dunbar, Mayor and Mrs. J. E. Rand, Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Blythe, Mrs. C. T. Early, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baker. What was the game of the evening, C. D. Thompson won first prize—A large and handsome picture of a scene at sea—and Mrs. C. D. Thompson won second prize—a pair of crutches. The evening was a delicious lunch was served, and at a late hour the party broke up, each one declaring that Captain and Mrs. Shaw and Miss Robin Shaw are thoroughly proficient in the art of entertaining.
The Christian Endeavor society of the United Brethren church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Hartley last Thursday evening. The social committee, together with the hostess, had arranged many pleasing social features that were enjoyed by all. A short program was rendered, and a good time was had. The president, took charge. Reports were read from all the committees, after which six new members were welcomed into the organization, making a total of 24 received recently. All agree that a very pleasant time was had. The society is flourishing and conducts interesting meetings every Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.
Jesse Davidson was down from his home at Mount Hood, last week. He says the late rains and thaw brought down a heavy load of lumber which covered some of his best land. The gravel was first started by a cloud burst that happened on the hills last summer at the time of the Hepper flood. Mr. Davidson has been delivering saw logs since the winter of 1902, and he says that he is having lumber cut for his buildings and fences.
Earl E. Alberts and Clarence Alberts of Muskegon, Mich., were in Hood River last week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton H. Vaughan. Mr. Vaughan has been one of the best school teachers in Muskegon. The young men are connected with large Eastern lumbering concerns. They are making an extended tour of the Pacific coast states, and incidentally investigating the lumbering situation in this section of the coast for Seattle and Puget Sound points.
James E. Hanna has sold his home and lot corner of River and Fourth streets to N. C. Evans. Mrs. Hanna and her two daughters, Florence and Ruth, will go to Scappoose, Or., where Mr. Hanna is engaged in the saw mill business. His new home is at the corner of 1st and 2nd streets. They will all come back in a year or two, and in the meantime will build a dwelling on their lots up town.
Robert Leasure, democratic committeeman in Mount Hood district, was in Hood River, last week, to see about the registration of 100 voters coming in election. At the election two years ago 89 votes were cast out of a registration of 90 voters. Mount Hood is known as the Baldwin precinct. It was formerly democratic precinct, but the immigration has changed it to republican, and the precinct may now be considered doubtful.
Charles Temple, the jeweler, fell from his stool in a blizzard attack last Friday. He fainted away and it was an hour before he came to. He was taken to his home, where he has been under the doctor's care. In the fall he struck his head against the safe or corner of the showcase and received two ugly cuts on his head. He was down town Tuesday for the first time.
E. Field of White Salmon was a visitor in Hood River, Tuesday. Mr. Field is a farmer and stock raiser in Kansas. He has a lot of land in Hood River and he is making up his mind to sell a part. He therefore advertises it for sale in the Glacier, recognizing the fact that the Glacier is a good advertising medium.
Charles B. Prather was in from his home on Rock creek, Tuesday. He says he is going to build a house over on Rock creek. The grass is growing and the farmers have turned their stock out to pasture. Charley says he already has some garden made.
Mrs. Amos Ketchum, at one time a resident of Hood River, living in Methuist lane, died at her home in Esterville, Iowa, February 25. Deceased was a sister of Mrs. E. C. Rogers. Her age was 55.
The ladies' aid of the M. E. church will give a dime tea at the home of Mrs. J. H. L. on Friday, March 18. Tea will be served from 5:30 to 8:30.
D. Frank Marsan of Nez Perce, Idaho, is visiting his cousin, Mrs. N. Marsan Harrell, at Pinehurst. Mr. Marsan is interested in mining affairs and lumber business in Idaho.
A lady living out on Lyman Smith avenue was laid up for a week with lumbago. It came upon her suddenly, just as she picked up a loaf of bread—her own making.
George S. Smith was down from Pine Flat, Monday. He reports the snow fast disappearing on the hill and only a light covering of it is left on the ground.
Mears & Bonita were awarded the contract, Monday, for half wall plastering in the residence of Phil Matthews on River street.
The Woodman of the World will give a social Tuesday evening, March 20. See next week's Glacier for particulars. Remember the date.
Mr. and Mrs. T. J. League of Haslem, Wash., spent Sunday in Hood River visiting their daughter, Mrs. William Ganger. Monday they left for a trip to

What They Say of Mahara's Minstrels.
The strong feature, and far the best, was the closing affair, a one-act light opera, entitled "Dusky Maidens," fetching into display the whole bevy of ladies and gentlemen of the company in sweet costumes, in chorus, marches, cake walking, etc.—Oakland Times, Feb. 8, 1904.
The show was a surprise to all, being the largest and best minstrel company ever in San Jose.—San Jose Mercury, Feb. 1, 1904.
Mahara's Minstrels last night at the Crawford was pronounced by a large audience as one of the best colored minstrels they had ever seen.—Wichita Eagle, Dec. 12, 1903.
What is more entertaining than a real bright old-time minstrel performance, with its jolly comedians, dancers, both graceful and knockabout, refreshing croon songs, and most momentous orchestra, all keeping time to the merry jingle and taps of the bones and tambourine? This is the quality of performance that was given in this city Wednesday night.—Hedwood City Times-Democrat, Feb. 6, 1904.
Do your eyes need attention? If so, call on Clarke, the jeweler and optician.

Band Minstrel a Grand Success.

It was a warm bunch of combs that the Pastime Quartet introduced, by a good plantation song, to a fairly good and thoroughly appreciative audience in the opera house Friday night.
The band boys labored under adverse circumstances, as their tuba player and end man, Marsh Usenberg, was ill with pneumonia and unable to play. Just the same, their performance was a success, and their next appearance should draw a crowded house. With one or two exceptions their jokes were new, and the two whiskered items which crept in were so excellently rendered that their age was lost sight of. The hit by the Pastime Quartet was made in response to an encore when they rendered a comic song in which Mr. Bonbar, the proprietor, told the Glacier he had arranged to expend some $8000 in making his hotel one of the largest and best equipped hosteleries in Wasco county. The improvements to be made include the erection of a 60x90 three-story annex on the south end of the building. The present structure will be moved back from River street to permit of a spacious two-story colonial porch extending full length to the north and east sides of the hotel. The roof of the old building will be raised, making the whole structure three stories, 90x100 in extent. A basement will be occupied with steam heating apparatus.
Mr. Gilbert expects to have these improvements completed by May 20. A large force of men have been engaged for the work under the supervision of Contractor S. H. Cox, and everything will be rushed to completion in time for the big invasion of settlers and tourists already heading this way.
When completed, the Mount Hood hotel will contain 83 sleeping rooms, affording accommodations for at least 125 guests. The office has recently been remodeled and enlarged. A barber shop has been added, with L. C. Haynes in charge. The annex to the south will contain a large sample room for the commercial men. Bath rooms will be added to each floor and the dining room enlarged to 24x55. To the west, Mr. Gilbert's property affords room for a 33x100 brick annex, which he expects to put up next fall. This will give 40 additional rooms, making 123 of 123, and giving Hood River the most commodious hotel in Eastern Oregon.

as danced. Mrs. Reid led the singing until the march was reached, when Mr. Slocum took up the song and rendered it so effectively that assistance was unnecessary, in fact impossible, as the others were too busy laughing. After a few informal games, contests and a good-night song, the party broke up. Those present were: Mrs. Reed, Miss Quinn, Miss Nicklason, Miss Blythe, Miss Cross, Mr. DeWitt, Fred Clarke, George Slocum, Glen Fabric, Mr. Hartwig, Ray Imbler.
Begins $8000 Improvement to Hotel.
Lumber is being unloaded and workmen are already breaking ground for extensive improvements to the Mount Hood hotel. C. L. Gilbert, the proprietor, tells the Glacier he has arranged to expend some $8000 in making his hotel one of the largest and best equipped hosteleries in Wasco county. The improvements to be made include the erection of a 60x90 three-story annex on the south end of the building. The present structure will be moved back from River street to permit of a spacious two-story colonial porch extending full length to the north and east sides of the hotel. The roof of the old building will be raised, making the whole structure three stories, 90x100 in extent. A basement will be occupied with steam heating apparatus.

Odd Fellows to Erect Two-Story Brick
The wooden structure between the Paris Fair and Bannockburn furniture store, occupied last summer by O. B. Hartley's grocery, was torn down Monday, and stone masons are laying the foundation for a two-story brick, which is being built by Edwilde lodge of the I. O. O. F. It is intended to complete the work by May 15, when the Paris Fair will occupy the ground floor as an annex to their present over-crowded store room. When the funds permit it, the Odd Fellows expect to extend the brick to the corner, giving them a 50-foot frontage, and a 100-foot depth. Because hard pan is so near the surface on this block, it is considered impractical to attempt an excavation for basement. The building is estimated to cost $3,500. Work is being done by the day under the supervision of three lodge members—Andy Gatchell, William Ganger and Lou Morse. The crowding of so many goods in the Paris Fair store works a fair and business' furniture merchants, and they are anxiously awaiting the day when they can occupy a brick store.
Crazy High Tea at Parker House.
The Christian Endeavor society of the Valley Christian church will give a crazy high tea at Parker house, Tuesday evening, March 22. A number of guests are expected from Salem. A competent physician will be present and lines of not less than one nor more than 10 cents will be imposed upon those who are found to be perfectly sane and properly clothed. A prize will be given the one most appropriately attired. Crazy costumes, crazy games, crazy refreshments gratis served. Come one, come all. Admission 15 cents or 25 cents a

Mrs. Dumble Entertains.
Mrs. H. L. Dumble, assisted by her sister, Mrs. E. W. Jones of Portland, entertained a large party of friends, Thursday afternoon, at a progressive euchre party, the occasion being a most enjoyable one. The parlors were tastefully decorated with Oregon grape, which formed a pretty background for bouquets of violets and blue bells.
The game progressed merrily, and when the scores were counted, it was found that Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Early had an equal number of points. The prize fell to Mrs. Ferguson, while Mrs. Jenman carried off the consolation offering. A dainty luncheon was served, Miss Groves, Miss Howe, Miss Benson and Miss Davis assisting, and after a social hour the guests departed, thanking Mrs. Dumble for a very pleasant afternoon.
Mrs. Noah Bone, Mrs. Vaughan, Mrs. Rand, Miss Smith, Mrs. Canfield, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Bert Graham, Mrs. Will Graham, Mrs. P. S. Davidson, Mr. P. S. Davidson, Jr., Mrs. Arthur Davidson, Mrs. H. F.
