

Hood River Glacier.

THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1904.

The Grand Army Encampment.

The state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be held in Hood River, June 15, 16 and 17, gives every promise of being the largest gathering of old soldiers and their friends ever held in the state. The Women's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the G. A. R. will also be in session during the three days the old soldiers will hold forth. These conventions will be held at a time when our strawberry harvest is under full headway, and our visitors will have a chance to see the output of our berry fields loaded on the cars for shipment to distant markets, to see the stream of wagons employed in the work of hauling the berries to the station, the army of pickers at work in the fields and the packers in the packing houses, the numerous Indians that come from the reservations to help gather the harvest, the picturesque groups of these people from the plains in their gaudy dress and trappings, all of which will be sights worth seeing. But the most important to Hood River will be the chance it will give outsiders to note the productiveness of our soil, the value of our crops and the justification for the prices obtained for Hood River real estate. These gatherings will be a great advertisement for Hood River. Some of the people who attend these conventions may be induced to locate permanently with us. All who come will talk of Hood River when they return to their homes. And all who come will spend their money with us while here.

The general committee from Canby post and the relief corps have held several business sessions and outlined considerable work that will be necessary to accommodate and interest the people who come to the conventions. The work of the committee has reached a point where the members find it necessary to call upon the citizens of Hood River to co-operate, and to this end the mayor has been asked to call a public meeting. The mayor cheerfully granted the request, and Saturday evening, April 2, he fixed upon as the date. The business men and citizens generally of Hood River requested the holding of the encampment here, and to them more than to the members of Canby post and relief corps belongs the honor of providing entertainment and extending a welcome to the old soldiers and their friends. And there is no fear that anyone will lack in patriotism or home pride when called upon to act.

Some White Salmon residents are afraid that the Northern Pacific overlap claims will interfere with their land titles in Klickitat county, but according to the Portland Journal the holdings involved lie in Clark county, with some lands in Cowlitz and a very small quantity in Skamania county.

It is significant that Wasco county sends an unqualified delegation to the republican state and congressional conventions. Other Eastern Oregon counties, it is noticed, have done likewise. Looks as if the "cow counties" could give Multnomah pointers on clean politics.

It's a cold day when Hood River doesn't get a nominee for presidential elector.

March came in like a lamb. Did any one see it go out like a lamb?

The Wasco Legislative Ticket. Antelope Herald.

The nomination of Hon. N. Wheldon for the state senate and J. N. Burgess and A. A. Jayne for the lower house of the state legislature will meet with general approval throughout the county, and will add strength to the republican ticket. Mr. Wheldon represented this legislative district in the legislature of 1903, where he was an active member and ever watchful of the interests of Eastern Oregon, and recognized as one of the strongest members from this portion of the state. His promotion to the senate will be a great recognition of his able services to his constituents.

Mr. Burgess, who was also a member of that legislature, was characterized as one of the most popular members of that body. As a member from Multnomah he is "a name" always known where he is found, and can rely upon him. He was attentive to his duties as a legislator, quick to discover the merits or demerits of a measure, and faithful to his convictions. His nomination is a source of gratification to his friends, who desired to see him returned to the legislature.

Mr. Jayne, who was formerly a resident of The Dalles and who served four years as prosecuting attorney for this district, is now practicing law at Hood River. He is an able lawyer, and will doubtless give a good account of himself among the lawmakers of the state.

The Candidate and the Editor. A good story comes in from White Salmon, where, so the Glacier is told, politics is warming up and a red hot local campaign is on. A certain prominent citizen of the city on the bluff announced himself several months ago as a candidate for the nomination of county commissioner. The local paper spoke a good word in his favor, but after a visit to Goldendale there appeared an article advocating the re-election of the present officials, legislative and county. Saturday last, so the report goes, Mr. Candidate walked up to the newspaper office, and calling the editor out on the porch, shouldered ten cents for a copy of White's Sayings published at Seattle, Wash., at $1 per year.

This paper gives practical hints about advertising systems, advertising illustrations, writing advertisements and suggests methods to get more business at less expense. It gives the advertising rates of all the leading publications and in many other ways is worth the $1 per year. A paid up subscriber may ask all the questions he desires about business and advertising methods and receive confidential replies. One department—hustlers—tells you how to start in business for yourself and be independent. Send ten cents today, if you are advertising or expect to advertise, to White's Sayings, Seattle, Wash.

The PARIS FAIR

OUR MOTTO: Keep Up the Quality. Keep Down the Price.

THE ups and downs of life are daily illustrated in our business. In buying, we keep up the standard of excellence by always getting the best values for the least money; in selling, we keep the prices down to the low water mark, a practice which is making us so many good friends in the community. We've been hammering into your heads right along that we sell goods cheaper than any other house in town, and that it is simply a waste of good money to pay more for anything than you will here.
