National Bank for Hood River. Hood River is to have a national bank. Monday evening's Portland Journal printed a dispatch from Washington stating that the application of F W Mulkey of Portland, J C Ainsworth, R Smith, F S Stanley and W H Kennedy to organize the First National Bank of Hood River, Or., with £5,000 capital, was approved by the comptroller of the currency.

Will Build Department Store. F. A. Cram, the up-to-date merchant, announces in his big ad that he will shortly secure ground and erect a modern department store which Hood River will be proud of.

Browning of Kenneth Baker.

Kenneth, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baker, was drowned Monday evening in the high stater slough just below the depot. The sudden shock of this accident seemed particularly sad and heart-rending to the community in which his regrents worth.

sion that followed all that was mortal of Kenneth to Idlewilde cemetery, where he was laid to rest in a beautifully white draped grave, amid a rich profusion of flowers.

Kenneth was assisting in bringing home the cows. He was riding horseback, and wading out into the water the animal became tangled in the brush, stumbled and threw the little fellow from his back into 12 feet of water, less than 25 feet from the shore. The boys on the bank called for help, but with the loud barking of a dog their cries of distress went unheeded for some time.

Maltie Dukes was among the first to great the scene. He attempted to wade out with a horse, but found this impossible, the brush and fallen logs barring his passage.

As quickly as human effort would person that followed all that was mortal of Kenneth to Idlewilde cemetery, where he was laid to rest in a beautifully white draped grave, amid a rich profusion of flowers.

Kenneth Dustin Baker was born in Hood River, March 30, 1891. He possesed many winning qualities, being always cheerful of disposition, helpful in spirit, his life giving promise of great activity and usefulness. He was a member of Mrs. H. F. Davidson's class of boys in the Congregational Sunday school, who will grieve the absence of their pupil and associate as they meet from time to time.

Hood R ver Glacier. J. R. Nickelsen and H. C. Rakestraw secured a row boat from Hood river 400 vards away, dragged it into the slough, and with loggers pike-poles began search-ing for the body. In the meantime David Flemming had put out on a raft and was making heroic efforts to reach the boy. Several times he fell under the icy water, but didn't cease until he assisted Maltie Dukes and Winfield Olinger in bringing the body to the sur

Drs. Watt and Dumble were on the bank, and with every assistance they worked like Trojans. The father stool by almost beside himself with grief. After a half-hour's work the boy was removed up town, where Dr. Brosius lent his aid. But the cold waters of the Columbia had claimed another victim.

den shock of this accident seemed particularly sad and heart-rending to the community in which his parents, brother and sisters are so well and favorably known. The news was an awful blow to his mother, ill in bed at the time. Master Kenneth appeared a particularly bright boy and made fast friends with whomsoever he met. The grief-stricken family have most truly the sympathy of friends and neighbors.

Every possible effort was made to restore the boy's life after the recovery of his body from the cold waters of the slough, but the earnest workers could not combat with that which was to be. The boy disappeared in the water shortly after half past 5 in the evening. He was recovered after being in the water possibly 25 minutes, and the The public school adjourned to attend the services, and most of the pupils from the different rooms, with their teachers were present. One of the most pleasant and enjoyable little parties that has lately transpired was that of a birthday given by Francis Castoer and Mari Whitmar Whitebeal, at the home of Mrs. Charles Castoer. The little ladies celebrated their fittb birthday, both being the same day, the sixth of April. One little gentleman on being asked when he returned home what they had to eat, replied: "We had cake with write staff on it and cold mush, Another little one said they had cake with candies burning in them and Jack Frost in dishes. After the little folks had a hearty play they were called to the dining room where Mrs. Castner and Mrs. Whitehead servad les crisim and cake.
