E. Wilson of Mt. Pulaski, Ill., is in Hood River, visiting his brother-in-law, Will Lockman and family of the East Side.
M. D. Odell of the East Side has the thanks of the Glacier editor for a couple of boxes of fine strawberries. They were beauties.
Comrade Calkins, a brother to E. D. Calkins of Frankton, came up from Oregon City, Monday, to attend the encampment.
Bert Rand and wife arrived on the Spencer Monday afternoon, to visit former neighbor and to attend the Grand Army encampment.
Rev. J. L. Hershner had a good set of buggy harness stolen Monday night, also a rain overcoat. They were taken from his barn on the serpentine road.
E. R. Bradley, the job printer, was confined to his bed Monday and Tuesday with a sprained back, which he injured while lifting a bookcase.
O. C. Dean has purchased Ira Rowland's half interest in the Hood River-Salmon ferry. Andy Pearson, Mr. Dean's partner will continue as ferryman.
S. M. Bartness and Earl went to Corvallis Monday, to attend commencement. Meigs will graduate this year and has been elected valedictorian of his class.
Lee Henry, formerly proprietor of the Cottage Grove Nugget, was in town last week, the guest of James Adkins. The young men were formerly neighbors in Nebraska.
Through the efforts of Treasurer Fisher and Deputy Sheriff Valer, the Davenport Bros. paid $180 taxes before getting their mill out of the county—Stevenson Pioneer.
Street Commissioner Canning had a force of men at work, Saturday, placing curbs at the intersection of Oak and Second streets. The new walks make a neat improvement.
Mrs. Edward Blythe and son Robert are home from a month's visit in Portland. While in Portland, Mrs. Blythe suffered a severe attack of acute inflammatory rheumatism. She is rapidly regaining her former health.
Earl Bartness left for Corvallis, Friday afternoon, where he went to attend the commencement exercises of the Oregon Agricultural college. His brother, Meigs, is a member of the senior class and will be graduated with honors.
S. D. Houghtelin, a flouring mill man from Fairbury, Neb., is in Hood River. He is pleased with the valley and thinks of purchasing some fruit land.
Last Thursday R. W. Hunt presented the editor with a box of berries of the sweetest walk at the intersection of 2d and 3d which filled the hallock with gospel music.
Mrs. Louise Goddard says Mr. Goddard writes that he is in Omaha traveling with his theatrical troupe. Mrs. Goddard does not expect him home this summer.
Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Rand are up from University Park in attendance at the Grand Army encampment, and visiting with relatives in the town and valley.
Miss Lizzie Roberts, Mrs. Charles Early and Mrs. Charles Castner left for Portland, Monday, where they are delegates to the state convention of the Eastern Star.
Mrs. G. I. Grant, a teacher in the college of Music and Oratory in Portland is spending her summer vacation with Mrs. Louise Goddard at her ranch in Hood River.
United States Deputy Marshal L. N. Blowers was in Hood River, Tuesday, to take Steve Russell to Portland. This man was caught selling whiskey to the Indians, by a deputy sheriff Snyder.
The Dalles Chronicle in speaking of the Dalles bridge, says Major S. Hooley of Hood River to Miss Loretta F. Edmunds says: "John's host of friends in The Dalles will be among the most sincere in their congratulations and well wishes."
A two-inch main was laid down Oak street to the Mount Hood hotel last week. The pipe will supply water for the new hotel. Mr. Gilbert has installed a reel and 125 feet of fire hose on each floor. Fire escapes will be put at the rear of the hotel.
Major and Mrs. J. S. Booth returned Saturday evening to Hood River after a short wedding trip to Portland. Mrs. Booth expresses herself as very much charmed with Hood River, and wishes to see her Eastern friends could see this beautiful country.
J. F. Batcher was up from Portland Sunday, with Mr. and Mrs. George A. Cooper of the Chicago and Great Western railway. He showed the visitors about the valley, and the assert they will not be content until they own a fruit ranch in Hood River.
Saturday the heart of the editor was made glad by the receipt at the hands of M. L. Emry, a box of the finest Clarke's seedling strawberries he has ever seen. They were perfect in shape, color and condition, and so large that 27 completely filled the hallock.
Bert Rand, a former Hood River boy, was up from Portland last week, visiting his sister, Mrs. E. L. Harbison. Bert has a good position with a Portland mercantile house, and is well satisfied with his location. He says Hood River is all right, but the hustle and bustle of the city has the greater attraction for him.
F. Spangler, at one time in partnership with the late T. C. Dallas, arrived Monday with his family from Kahoka, Mo. Mr. Spangler will remain in Hood River for some time for the benefit of his health. He suffers a great deal from rheumatism and has to carry his right arm in a sling. He is an old soldier and will attend the encampment.
Deputy Sheriff Olinger took a demented old woman, who had been annoying the people in the outskirts of town to The Dalles last Friday, where she was judged insane and ordered taken to the asylum at Salem. Her name is Mrs. Lydia Meisner, Mrs. Root assisted the deputy sheriff in taking the woman to Salem.
S. E. Bartness, J. E. Rand and Barton Davidson, who were appointed by County Judge Blakeley to appraise the accounts and personal effects of T. C. Dallas, deceased, found outstanding accounts amounting to about $2,000. This sum is subject to correction. The tools of Mr. Dallas' tin shop were valued at $250.
M. B. Potter, a former Hood Riverite, arrived Monday afternoon, from Spray, Morrow county, to attend the state encampment of the grand Army Mr. Potter appears in better health than he has been for years. He is one of the past commanders of Canby post, and thus is entitled to a seat in the convention.
Chester Dymond, father of D. G. and G. A. Dymond, died June 10, 1904, at Canas Prairie. He was born in New York state near Troy, June 7, 1827, came to the Willamette valley in 1878 and to Canas Prairie in 1880. He has been sick the past five months with heart disease and dropsy. The burial occurred Sunday interment being made in Glenwood cemetery. His wife and two sons survive him.

W. P. Davidson, uncle of H. F. Davidson, is in Hood River from Macon, Ill. Mr. Davidson is also father of D. L. Davidson of Willow Flat. Mr. Davidson has about concluded that Hood River is good enough for him. Since leaving home he has received word that a cyclone has altered the location of his chicken house, and lightning has been playing havoc about his premises. H. F. Davidson says he lived with his uncle most of his life before coming to Oregon, and came to consider him almost a father.
An examination of the vote cast in The Dalles last Monday shows that five democratic candidates had pluralities. A. S. Bennett had a plurality of 148 over N. Wheelton for state senator, W. J. Harriman 190 over C. H. Stoughton for commissioner, H. F. Woodcock 168 over A. G. Stogdill for assessor, A. W. Mohr 147 over F. S. Gordon for surveyor and W. L. Bradshaw 550 over J. A. Collier for circuit judge. The republican plurality in The Dalles, based on the vote for supreme judge, was 300. If other precincts in the county had upset republican majorities as did the four Dalles precincts, democratic would have something to be grateful for.—Mountaineer.

Mrs. Cora Davis and daughter, Eleanor, arrived Monday from Union following Sunday. He shipped a stock of groceries, which came in the first of the week and which he has opened up on the farm of J. G. Miller, near Mr. Leaming's place, for the benefit of the strawberry hucklers in that locality.
Jasper Wickham received word, Saturday night, that his father, S. J. Wickham of Troy Mills, Iowa, is dead. Mr. Wickham was notified by telegraph. The message arrived here Thursday morning, was placed in the postoffice, and there it lay until late Saturday night. Had he received word in time he would have gone East to his father's funeral. Had Mr. Wickham's father lived until last Sunday, he would have been 89 years old. He visited in Hood River four years ago. Mr. Wickham was planning to visit his father this fall.
A fractions cayuse as it was being taken from the steamer Tuesday morning, furnished amusement to the crowd of onlookers that stood on the bank above the landing. The animal was finally boosted off the boat, when it was tied to the back of a wagon to which two horses were hitched. John Donahue, who had the horse in charge, climbed into the wagon and directed affairs. As the two horses started to pull up the steep grade, the cayuse pulled in the other direction. For a time so progress was made, but the cayuse finally submitted and allowed itself to be dragged by jerks up the hill and through town.

D. B. Leaming came up from Portland on No. 2 Saturday, his family following Sunday. He shipped a stock of groceries, which came in the first of the week and which he has opened up on the farm of J. G. Miller, near Mr. Leaming's place, for the benefit of the strawberry hucklers in that locality.

William Peugh is building a fine nine-room house in Blowers addition, Frederick & Arnold doing the work. The residence will cost about $2,500. Mr. Peugh expects to move in from his ranch when his home in town is completed. He will have a comfortable home.
Queen Esther cantata rendered by the members and friends of the Congregational church netted about $60 for the church fund. The cantata was exceptionally well rendered, considering the time taken for practice. Among those deserving special mention for the parts they performed were Mrs. A. A. Jayne as Queen Esther, Mrs. Reid, Mr. Dunbar, and Mr. Henderson for his fine solo work.
Alton Canning notifies the Glacier that an error has been made in issuing the posters for the baseball games Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The visiting team should be given credit as being the Wasco Woodmen of the World team instead of plain Wasco. The Wasco Woodmen issued a challenge to the Hood River Woodmen, but as the local lodge has no team the challenge was turned over to the Hood River nine and a series of games arranged. The Wasco Woodmen have played several games this season and have the reputation of putting up the real article in baseball. The Hood River Woodmen have invited neighboring lodges to see the games at Columbi a park this week.
