

CORRESPONDENCE.

ODELL.

It was my pleasure, last week, to attend the pioneer reunion at Portland, and march in the 1848 class, C. C. Massier, wife and myself were the only representatives from Hood River.

At the banquet given the pioneers there were 1400 people seated, 1,000 being seated at once at 18 long tables, charmingly decorated with palms and flowers, the hall being tastefully decorated with bunting and flags.

Mount Hood and Odell met in battle array at base last Sunday at Odell. The Odell boys distinguished themselves with a score of two to one in favor of Odell, with Pete Odell as captain.

As the berry picking for this year passes into history, haying is on in full force. The acreage is much increased this year in East Hood River valley, and the crop is yielding well.

Davidson Bros. of Willow Flat are this week moving wood from their clearing to town. The Little White Store has 500 ricks to move and will begin soon.

Now that the shipping season for berries is about over, there are plenty of nice over-ripened that can be had for the taking.

Last Sunday we spent the day at the home of Professor J. L. Towsey situated 2 1/2 miles south-west of Odell. This is a charming ideal mountain home.

Wild blackberries and brook trout are among the luxuries at Odell now. Both of which can be had for the taking.

While at Vancouver last week I saw a scow loaded with oak wood from Sheridan, Yamhill county, being delivered to the government at $8 a cord.

MOSIER.

Clarence Day of The Dalles was a visitor to Mosier Sunday. Something very attractive, Clarence, eh?

The Baptist women are now at work on the foundation of the church building, and it will be only a short time until the structure will be under way.

The Sunday school of the Baptist church observed Children's day on Sunday at the hall, and featured a very entertaining program, assisted by some of the older people.

Carl Weidner met with what might have been a very serious experience on Saturday last. He is engaged in hauling wood for Mr. Hudson, and came in with a load on that day, and remembers nothing from the time he left town until he woke up in the weeds, and found himself on the ground beside his wagon with a badly bruised head.

It seems that the cherry markets in the East have proven to have followed pretty closely in the track of the strawberry markets, and have not proven as profitable to our growers as in other years.

Mr. Lamb will soon construct a two-story building on his lot, recently purchased of Mr. Mosier. The first story is to be occupied as a store, and the second floor for hall purposes, which will give the Orders here suitable lodgings.

A rumor is in the air that we will soon have another blacksmith shop. Mr. Harwick and others are engaged in reconstructing and building to the Davenport barn.

There is quite a demand for carpenters on account of the various buildings under way in the country. A. Paffenberger, traveling correspondent of the Northwest Pacific Farmer, of Portland, is giving his attention to Mosier and community, and expects to give the place quite a "write up."

MT. HOOD.

Mrs. Wesley Biggs of Canby, arrived here Thursday, to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Ross.

Henry Thomas and family arrived here from Texas Monday. They are stopping with Mr. Thomas' sister, Mrs. Douglas Biggs.

This week we can hear the hum of the mowing machine. All hands are getting to work, cutting their clover hay, which is better than usual.

Captain Henson and part of his line were working on their base ball ground Sunday. They made quite an improvement on the ground, but there is still room to improve yet.

burdens." Mr. Editor, some time ago the W. S. Enterprise announced that Commissioner B. Dymond would not be candidate for re-election, while he is not seeking re-nomination, yet office is seeking him.

What He Saw in Hood River. L. W. Ingram, who attended the encampment from Oregon City, writes as follows in the Courier of that city: "Twelve hundred acres is about the average of berries in this district, I am told, and just at this time it presents a picture full of life and energy.

DUKE'S VALLEY.

(Too late for last week.) This is what we call summer weather. We had a small thunder shower on Friday last, but it was like some people, all bluster and noise.

Mr. Wise of Chenoweth passed through Underwood Sunday. Grandpa Thornton is visiting with his daughter, Mrs. Wise of Chenoweth.

Mrs. Francis Ware of Oregon City, is visiting at the home of A. T. Dodge. There was a small turnout at our Sunday school last Sunday, on account of berry picking.

W. E. Dodge's little black mare has strayed away somewhere. She has been gone nearly two weeks and all efforts to find her have failed.

Williams Says Get a Kodak. There are few things you can buy that will pay such a big dividend in pleasure and health.

A Kodak is a congenial companion on an outing or vacation trip. With it you can take views, animal pictures, groups of friends—pictures that you will treasure more as the years go by.

Prices $1 up—all EASTMAN'S. FULL WEIGHT. Is the rule in this mill—we care not what it is in others. But that is only one cardinal principle we claim—anybody can give full weight—we guarantee quality, as well, and that means a whole lot to those who know.

People in quest of homes are extensively in manifestation in this precinct. Report has it that W. H. Henshaw has received a good offer, and may dispose of his homestead. The saw mill is in running full blast, as usual, and Mr. Hoffman finds a ready market for all the lumber he can manufacture. R. Heyting traded for a new back and has migrated in search of health on the banks of the Klickitat river. G. W. Gilmer has just purchased a carriage and is around with his wife family, and a few days ago we saw the carriage loaded down with neighbors. George's religion leads him to obey the injunction, viz: "Bear ye one another's burdens."
