

SOULD MEET HIS FIRST MARBLES

Hon. J. N. Williamson had dropped into the Glacier office for a social call last Thursday morning when Russell Shelby happened in and was introduced to the congressman.

"Are you a brother to J. M. Shelby, member of the legislature from Lane county?" inquired Mr. Williamson of the little white store man. "Why he sold me my first marbles down in Harriburg years ago," continued Oregon's representative from the second district, and the two Glacier office visitors fell to reminiscing on the days of their youth on the banks of the Long Tom.

"Yes, your brother sold me my first set of marbles," repeated the congressman. "Or rather he let my father, have them in trade for a box of soap."

Thursday afternoon Mr. Williamson went for a drive through the apple orchards of the East Side with G. J. Gieseling. To Mr. Gieseling the congressman expressed himself as very much surprised at the extent of the fruit industry in Hood River valley. He said Mrs. Williamson, who had often seen Hood River from the railroad, had remarked many times that this situation without any houses. But she thinks differently now.

Mr. Williamson said he would frequently see groups of his fellow congressmen gathered in Washington City, talking of the surprising qualities of their respective districts. The Oregon congressman says that after seeing Hood River he too will have something to talk about.

"Why some of the people out here tell me they make as high as $1,000 from a single acre of apple orchard. I think I could stand the income from about 100 such acres myself."

In speaking of the Oregon delegation at Washington, Mr. Williamson said Senator Fulton was coming rapidly to the front. "Mark my word," said Mr. Williamson, "Senator Fulton will be a pillar of strength to the state of Oregon."

Advertising a City. Every municipality has a character all its own. This is made by its location, its conditions—its location, principal industries in towns and cities without any natural reasons for their present location.

Without question, location plays an important part in a city's business development, but the United States has many examples of immense industries in towns and cities without any natural reasons for their present location.

Advertising will do wonderful things. When its force is better understood it will be employed in fields hitherto untrodden and unworked. The advertising "propulsion" of a city or town is not different, except in application, from that of other lines. What does the city or town want? What industries has it to offer? Does it want factories? All right. Then work out the factory idea. Find out what kind of factories can best thrive in the place. Get all the "points," and then present them in a clear and comprehensive manner in prospective or established concerns in the particular line.

By far the most sensible result that a progressive town can accomplish is to attract capital to its established enterprises. This can be well accomplished through a board of trade or some similar organization, because the investing public has grown suspicious of promoting plans in a general way without putting away the advantages of a particular company, the established prejudice is immediately overcome and the capitalist is more likely to give the enterprise that investigation which must necessarily precede investment.

Good residents are always desirable. A town having good school advantages, pure air, clean water, intelligent and refined people and pleasant surroundings has a good "propulsion" to advertise. The hundredman writes up, illustrated by the pictures of prominent (7) men (those willing to pay the price) to have their pictures hanging does no good. A broadminded handling is necessary. The committee should get a good picture from out of town if possible. Local talent, however well endowed with ability, will be prejudiced. Apply sensible well-understood advertising principles to the situation and results will follow. -Printer's Ink.

Game Laws of Oregon. The following digest of the game laws of Oregon, taken from an exchange, are presumed to be correct. Cut them out and paste them in your hat, and see that you do not break them.

Quail, grouse, native pheasants, prairie chickens, open season October 1 to December 1; limit, 10 birds per day. Douglas quail, September 1 to December 1, to January 1.

Ducks, geese, swan, open season from September 15 to January 1; limit, ducks, 100 per week or 50 in one day. Douglas ducks, September 1 to December 1, to January 1.

Eggs of game and song birds protected the year round. Open season April 1 to November 1. To be taken with hook and line only. Sale prohibited at all times.

The laws of the state require non-resident market hunters to have a license, costing $1 per season. It is unlawful to hunt within inclosed areas without owners' permission.

Williams Refuses to Talk. The Dallas Chronicle, speaking of D. Norman Williams, the man sentenced to be hanged on the 23d of this month, says he seems to be perfectly indifferent to his fate, and since a stay of execution has been decreed by the supreme court, there is no apparent change in his actions. He refuses to be interviewed regarding the crime for which he has been found guilty, and if he judges in any conversation it is about ordinary affairs, and carefully avoids any reference to the murder of the Nesbit women now. He has received a letter from the brother of Alma Nesbit, begging him in the most pathetic manner to disclose what became of the bodies of the victims of his diabolical crime, but this does not affect him in the least. If he is hanged, and it is very likely he will be, the details of the crime will go down with him to the grave.

He has been visited by persons of religious inclinations, who have prayed with him; but recently he expressed a desire not to receive visits from persons of any religious denomination. After taking his exercise in the corridor he returns to his cell where he spends his time reading religious books and one in particular he has read through four times. After perusing the contents he told the jailer that anybody who would read that book and not be thoroughly convinced of the truth of Christianity was beyond hope. Frequently he has been heard reading the bible, and sometimes apparently praying. He has expressed the desire that his fate be definitely settled as quickly as possible, and if he is to be hanged he didn't care how soon it might happen, as he was becoming tired of the suspense.

To look at the man as he passes through the corridor, joining in conversation with the inmates of the jail, with head erect and no tremor on his countenance, one can hardly realize that he has but a little while to live, or that he is to expiate the most horrible crime—the murder of his wife and mother-in-law under the most revolting circumstances—known in Wasco county. Such a person might be a brave man in battle, but with such an utter lack of feeling or sentiment in civil life, he is nothing but a brute or fiend.

The sheriff would have commenced the erection of the gallows this week if it were not for the fact that the gallows, but now he will wait to hear the decision of the higher court. It is hardly probable that a decision can be made by the 23d of this month, and the execution of the sentence may be postponed several weeks. From appearances now there will be no confession on his part of the crime of which he has been found guilty, or of the murders committed near Maucout, Iowa, with which he is charged. And only at the last day of the trial, when the books are opened, and he, with all others, will stand before the grand judgment seat, will all the facts be known to Mrs. Nesbit and her daughter Alma, and the Tumans in Iowa, just their fate. Then all secrets will be known, and the true character of Williams be shown.

A Trip Through Yellowstone Park. It is what every one hopes to have some day. It is the most wonderful trip in the world. There are more than 3000 square miles of world, marvelous, unimaginable things that can be seen nowhere else. There are more than 1000 lakes, and one must go to the Park, in the heart of the magnificent Rockies, with snow tipped peaks all around. If Old Faithful geyser, a Paint Pot, Mud Volcano or Emerald Pool were to be found in Lincoln Park, Chicago; Central park, New York; or Fairmount park, Philadelphia, the people would look to see it or them by tens of thousands. For a very small sum, comparatively, you can see hundreds of miles of Nature's unduplicated marvels can be seen between June 1 and September 30 of each year, and one will enjoy, to boot, the best coaching trip in the country.

The Northern Pacific folder on Yellowstone Park, just issued, is a new, right up to date, finely illustrated description on this Yellowstone Park trip. It is not descriptive, but deals with the detailed, technical matters every one needs to know about such a trip. It tells all about the hotels, the stage coaches, the roads, the cost of the tour; where the geysers, the waterfalls, the bears, the canyons are, and where the trout fishing is found. We have printed thousands of this beautiful leaflet and want everybody interested to have a copy, and it can be obtained by sending A. M. Clelland, General Passenger Agent, 81, East, Minn., 2 cents with proper address.

"Wonderland 1904," which is a very fine pamphlet of 116 pages descriptive of the Northwest, including the Park, will be sent for 6 cents.

Joe Wilson For Road Viewer. The July term of the county court has been a busy one, and the court has transacted a considerable amount of business. J. B. Fish, director for Wasco county of the Second National Oregon Agricultural Association, resigned and W. J. Harriman was appointed.

An order was made that all unclaimed county warrants issued prior to July 1, 1907, be advertised.

In accordance with the law passed in 1903, creating a board of road viewers, E. A. Griffin and Joseph A. Wilson were appointed as members of such board to act with the county surveyor.

The petition of J. T. Toney for county road was allowed, and July 28 set as date of meeting of viewers.

Petition of H. B. Snyder allowed viewers to meet on July 27.

Petition of L. H. Linsinger allowed viewers to meet Aug 1.

Report of viewers on road petitioned for by M. Speichenger approved and road declared a public highway.

Brutally Tortured. A case came to light that for persistence and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Goddick of Colusa, California, writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known. I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Chas. N. Clarke, the druggist.

A gruesome find was made last Friday when the ditchers on the new sewer were working through the portion of town where the old pioneer cemetery used to be. They discovered a grave containing the body of a child. The box was of cedar, pretty well preserved and there was a metallic casket inside, but no marks or means of identification. The old cemetery has been used as a burial place for more than thirty years, and when the legislature granted the citizens of McMinnville the right to remove the bodies to Masonic cemetery—this one was overlooked, probably being in a hole.

Some two or three years ago there was a gentleman and lady here making enquiries about the grave of an infant, a twin sister to the lady, whose body they desired to remove. They were unable to obtain any trace of its having been removed to the new cemetery, and their only recollection was they had been told that the child was buried in a zinc coffin, and near the fence. This recollection the one they were looking for, but no one remembers their names, although it is believed their home was at Hood River. The body was removed from its resting place in the street and reburied in Masonic cemetery.—McMinnville Reporter.

Commissioners View the Road. County Judge, Commissioner and Board of Road Viewers met on Friday to view the land through which a new road has been asked for on the East Side. The viewers had reported favorably on the road, but the property owners, through their attorneys, were to be paid, raised a remonstrance before the court and the only way the members concluded they could settle the matter was to view the land themselves.

Commissioner Hibbard said the road had no report yet, but in his opinion he could not see that the road would warrant the cost it would require to build it, about $1000. And in addition to this there would be the damage to the property owners. The road, he said, was already paralleled by good roads half a mile distant. It would be a difficult and costly piece of road to build, said the commissioner, and he does not believe the necessity, and the expenditure of the money. The road in question runs through the old Coram ranch.

Judge Lake and Commissioners Hibbard and Stinson returned Thursday from Antelope, where they had gone to look after roads and bridges that had been damaged by recent waterpots. They found the damage considerable, but not nearly so serious as at first reported. A few hundred dollars will put them in perfect repair.

To Purchase Site for School House. At a meeting of the directors of school district No. 23, on Monday morning, W. J. Baker was authorized to purchase a site of three lots on the hill, at a cost not to exceed $600, for school house site from the property of J. Teusher.

On motion it was decided to employ J. F. Stranahan as architect for the building of the school house at the compensation of 5 per cent of the building amount.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for work of excavating, building the foundation, and erecting a four-room school house. The calls for bids appear in another column of the Glacier.

On motion C. Cronce of Albany was elected to the position of state printer for the coming year at a salary of $600 a month. At a previous meeting, Miss Mary E. Mathews of Portland was elected to fill the vacancy of Margaret Vennet of Crockett, Minn., who failed to accept the position to which she was elected.

No Pity Show. "For years fate was after me continuously," writes F. A. Gulliger, Verbeke, Ala. "I had an terrible case of Piles causing 24 tumors. When all failed Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me." Equally good for burns and all sores and pains. Only 25c at Chas. N. Clarke's druggists.
