CORRESPONDENCE.

ODELL.

By direction of the school directors, Professor Willis took charge of the work of renovating the school house, and he has had it thoroughly cleaned. The floors and wainscoting have been oiled, and it presents a different ap-pearance than formerly. In addition to this work the directors have tiled the basement and very much improved the sentery condition of things about the sanitary condition of things about the premises. The school house and grounds will be in fine condition upon the opening of school, and with the increase of salary paid to the teachers, Odell should rank first class in school BELN Odell should rank first class in school work the coming year. It is hardly possible to get something for nothing, and poorly paid teachers cannot afford to put up as good work as when their salary is in the top notch. The pres-ent management of the affairs of the school district is worthy of special comment, and will tell upon the work of the school.

BELMONT.

Last week the trustees of the Order of Lions fitted up their hall, recently leased, and had a pleasant meeting Saturday evening, taking in two new members. Their membership now numbers 40, with new applications Miss Pearl Isenberg entertained her night, a musical and literary program will be rendered, after which supper will be served. The work of this order, be accomplished by a united effort on the part of the community. Odell is fast forging to the front; and right now the thing most needed is a first-class hall that will furnish a home for lodges, literary societies and public meetings. The hall just fitted up is comfortable, but smaller than is desired for some enertings. Who will start the prov-ject and incorporate for that puppers? Jolly John K. Roberts here
