

TO GATHER FRUIT FOR WORLD'S FAIR

At the recent meeting of the Wasco county commissioners court the matter was discussed of appointing three men from different parts of the county to gather and prepare exhibits of the county's products for display next year at the Lewis and Clark exposition.

The matter will be taken up at the next meeting of the court, and should the people of the county evince a desire to have the commissioners appoint men from different parts of the county to gather and prepare exhibits of the county's products for display next year at the Lewis and Clark exposition.

LOGGING CAMPS TO OPEN OCT. 1

The logging camps of the Oregon Lumber Co. will reopen about the first of October, after a shut down since the first of July. The camps are located on the head waters of Hood River and employ 50 to 75 men.

The mill of the company at Hood River is running on full time, and the company expects to keep things going for the rest of the year. A gang of men has been employed during the week placing cribbing in the river below the railroad bridge.

Mr. Baker says it is his intention to see if arrangements can be made with the O. R. & N. Co., whereby the trains can stop for ten or fifteen minutes to permit the passengers to view the apple display.

SELECT GROUND FOR FRUIT FAIR

The vacant lot where the Davidson fruit cannery formerly stood has been selected as a site for the location of the fruit fair pavilion. The site was selected by W. J. Baker, chairman of the committee on location of the building, and readily met with the approval of A. S. Blowers and H. J. Frederick, the other members of the committee.

Mr. Baker says it is his intention to see if arrangements can be made with the O. R. & N. Co., whereby the trains can stop for ten or fifteen minutes to permit the passengers to view the apple display.

Mr. Baker is anxious that the fair management be supplied with fruit this time for free distribution to the visitors who will view the apple display. The apples are about all gone, and if some early fall apples can be secured it would be an excellent advertisement for Hood River.

SHEDS HIS SKIN TWICE A YEAR

In the office of John Leland Henderson is the skin from the hands of S. O. Buskirk of Indianapolis, Ind., a man who sheds his skin twice each year. The phenomenon is similar to that of a snake, sloughing off its skin, but while this happens once a year to the snake, Mr. Buskirk sheds his skin twice a year.

Mr. Buskirk is said to take the skin from his hands like one removing a pair of gloves. It is the epidermis or outer skin that he sheds. Eminent physicians say this is the only man known to medical science who sheds his skin in this manner twice a year.

GATHERING FRUIT FOR ST. LOUIS

The Oregon fruit display at St. Louis having become a source of mortification to those in charge of the exhibit, Superintendent Wehring was compelled to call on the state board of horticulture to replenish the stock of fruit.

Mr. Smith, president of the state board of horticulture, says a large assortment of fruit has been collected from Wasco county and forwarded to St. Louis. Some of it was secured at The Dalles, some from Mosier and the rest of it from Hood River.

E. L. Smith, president of the state board of horticulture, received the following letters last week from Charles V. Galloway, assistant superintendent of the Oregon horticultural exhibit St. Louis.

"I received this morning, September 12, the three boxes of apples for which you sent shipping receipt, Canada Hei-nette, Kay and King of Tompkins County, from orchard of Oscar Vanderbilt. This fruit is in splendid condition and entirely satisfactory.

"Received this morning from Mosier fruit as follows: "From A. P. Bateham, one large box containing B. I. Greening, King of Tompkins County and Fall Pippin apples on branches, one box of Kings and Fall Pippins and one crate of Fellenberg prunes; apples splendid, prunes off color but of good size.

"From J. P. Carroll & Sons one box and Finnish Beauty pears and one box Maiden Blush and Bailey Sweet apples, good.

"From P. Henningsen one box Gravenstein apples, rather small and uneven in color, but free from worms and in good condition.

"From F. M. Thornton & Son and from G. Sellinger, each one crate of Fellenberg prunes; very good.

"The exhibit is improving right along."

"Received today, September 13, one box of Bartlett pears grown by Henry Avery, Hood River, in good condition and fine specimens."

NO TOLL ROAD ON FOREST RESERVE

Hood River, Or., September 19, 1904.—Editor Glacier: A few weeks ago you printed a communication from Sarah Langille of Cloud Cap Inn relative to the liberties of the citizens of Hood River traveling over the road leading to the summit of Mount Hood from the Hood River side of the mountain.

Our citizens were given to understand that they must pay toll to travel over the road to the Inn. Now this attempt to collect toll has been worked well (only at times). It is true that many thousands of dollars have been spent in a speculative manner upon the building of Cloud Cap Inn and its surroundings for which every citizen of Hood River feels grateful to Messrs. Ladd and others, but when the scheme failed to pay profits on the investment it is not our fault.

With respect to toll roads, none have been established within this forest reserve since the date of its creation, so far as known to this office, and no wagon roads are allowed to be constructed upon forest reserve lands except upon permits granted by the secretary of the interior upon proper application to him therefor, and upon condition that the road shall be open at all times to the free use of the public. Very respectfully, J. H. FINKLE, Acting Commissioner.

In conclusion I desire to say it might be well if the Hood River Development league would investigate and ascertain if our side of the mountain is getting the share of patronage in the travel to its summit, and if not, why not. O. B. SERVER.

Has Sport Landing Two-ponders. Bert Rand, formerly of Hood River but now of Portland, was a passenger on No. 1, Friday afternoon, returning from his two-weeks vacation with the family of R. E. Harrison of the East Side. While here, Mr. Rand enjoyed the greater part of his time with hook and line angling for the salmon trout that are now making their way up the stream of Hood river. Mr. Rand had very good, in fact remarkably good luck. He kept the Harrison table well supplied with delicious fish, and was able to catch the trout with no one else could. He says his most fun was landing two

MILL MEN CAN'T GET CARS

"Our mills are running steadily filling advance orders, and while there has been no big advance in the price of lumber, the outlook for mill men is very encouraging," said A. M. Kelsey of the Davenport Bros. Lumber Co. "Our greatest difficulty is in securing sufficient cars for shipping the lumber. When seven cars are ordered the railroad is unable to supply more than two or three, and so it goes. If the cars were to be had we could be sending out two cars of lumber a day.

"Another thing we have to contend with is the poor accommodations of the people of Hood River have for securing freight from the cars on the sidetrack here. It takes two or three days to get a little bit of freight out of a car."

TOWN OF MOSIER GROWING

D. A. Staugies and C. A. Stauffer came down from Mosier Monday morning to cash a bunch of checks received for their prune shipments. Mr. Stauffer says while the returns from the latter end of the prune shipments were not nearly so flattering as was promised at the beginning of the season, the growers are not in the hole and will have some money to spare.

The Mosier prunes were marketed through Mr. Gilbert the express agent at Mosier, and were sent to Kansas, Nebraska and California. The express rates were so exorbitant says Mr. Stauffer that there was little left for the growers. The prunes brought good prices, but it costs too much to get the railroad company to take them to market.

The town of Mosier is putting on city airs, says Mr. Stauffer, and to one who hasn't been there for a year the town would seem like a stranger. Several new houses are being built, and the Barris-McCormick establishment expects soon to move into larger quarters.

SPENCER TO PUT IN DOCK

Captain Spencer of The Dalles Transportation Co. was in Hood River arranging matters for the new dock his company will build at the boat landing. James Stranahan, agent for The Dalles Transportation Co. at Hood River, says it was the move that Captain Spencer made for a dock here that caused the Regulator people to take immediate action in putting in their dock.

Mr. Stranahan says the lumber is now on the ground, and the building he expects to have completed by the end of this week. This building, 24x30, will be used as a freight warehouse, until spring, when Mr. Stranahan says Captain Spencer will put in a wharf boat.

The Dalles Transportation Co. is doing a big freight and passenger business at Hood River. Agent Stranahan says the freight for this point amounts to 15,000 and 20,000 pounds a day. Friday, the tonnage was about three times this amount, when the lath and plaster for the Smith bricks was brought up from Portland.

NORTHWEST NEWS NOTES

Indian races, war dances and ghost dances in an Indian village all their own, will be one of the interesting sights at the Spokane Interstate Fair this year, which lasts one week, from October 3 to 9.

Though the fishing season is again on along the Columbia, virtually no salmon are being caught in the upper Columbia. Last season fifty tons could have been taken at the Seufert fishery each day if they could have been disposed of, while this year the average is about six tons a day. And this is due to the control which fishermen along the lower Columbia have assumed—fishing in season and out of season, in the Columbia and at its mouth any time and any place, for does not the Columbia and all that is in it belong to Astoria? Before fishermen down that way ever thought of such procedure, salmon were shipped from the Dalles fisheries to the East, and now they are pressed to dictate to their seniors in the business—Chronicle.

A young woman in Palouse, Wash., has just had an unique experience which seems almost incredible. She is now 16 years of age. When less than two years old she stepped on a needle, which ran into her foot and broke off. Wednesday the piece of needle was taken from the left side of the girl's foot, having traveled from her foot to her throat in 14 years. About two weeks ago her throat became inflamed and finally something black was seen to appear. This when removed proved to be the piece of needle, perfect except for the loss of its brightness. The young woman is none the worse for her experience.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Impure blood always shows somewhere. If the skin, then boils, pimples, rashes. If the nerves, then neuralgia, nervousness, depression. If the stomach, then dyspepsia, biliousness, loss of appetite. Your doctor knows the remedy, used for 60 years.

Three Jurors Cured. Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala., relates an experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Cleburne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some souse meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drugstore for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I had seen for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us."
