Four families from Nebraska, three from Hood River, and others, making a total of a dozen families, will arrive in Philomath within the next few weeks. This influx is largely the result of the judicious advertising of Henry Ambler.—Corvallis Gazette.
J. O. Cameron was down from Dukes valley Monday and reported that there was a heavy frost on the 19th of the morning, the first frost of the fall. Mr. Cameron has been kept busy of late with his hay crop, which amounted to 100 tons. He has baled 70 tons.
Miss Willa Minor of Heppner died at that city September 14. Miss Minor was well liked by all who knew her, and was a particular friend of Miss Vera Jackson of this city, where she was known by many of the young people who will be sorry to learn of her sudden death.
Louis Henderson, who has been assisting his father, John Leland Henderson, with his legal and abstract work for the past year or more, returned last week to Eugene, where he will resume his studies at the University of Oregon.
The boys of the athletic club are expected to do some fine stunts on the football gridiron this fall. His brother Ned is taking his place in the office.
Mr. Perkins of the Ellers music house, The Dalles, made a business trip to Hood River, last Thursday. Mr. Perkins was just in from a tour of Sherman county where he says the farmers are prospering with good prices for their wheat. New buildings are going up, and the price of land is making a big advance.
Farming lands that three months ago could be bought for $35 an acre are now held at $45 an acre.
The Glacier must again state that it cannot be responsible for errors in notices sent to the office by telephone. Last Friday was announced for the tea of the ladies' aid society, and the tea was held on Friday as intended. The Glacier is glad to publish these notices, but the troubles of the office force could be made much less if the interested parties would kindly send notices and either mail or send them in person to the office.
A. W. Boorman and family returned from Champego, where they went to pick hops. Hop pickers were so numerous that it took but a few days to clear up the patches. While the family were about a week there, they earned $50. Mr. Boorman says that there is a very bad smell in need of rain. He saw no green vegetation anywhere. Mr. Boorman was taken sick while there and had to have the services of a physician while in Portland. She is better, but not yet entirely recovered.
Louis Clark, government engineer at the Cascade Locks, was in Hood River Sunday and Monday. Mr. Clark says he has had a force of 30 men and teams cleaning out the sediment that has collected in the canal during the high water of the last three or four years. When this work is completed, Mr. Clark says he will construct a wagon road to the east end of the locks for the accommodation of the public. Hereafter the ground near the boat landing has become so muddy during the rainy season as to make it impassable.
District No. 16, created last year from the upper end of the Mount Hood district, has a new school house built by the people of the community. As most of the land in the community is as yet sparsely settled and improvements are few, but little money can be raised by taxation, and there was no building fund at hand, so the patrons of the school donated their own time to put up the school house. The people of the district may live far out in the woods, but they propose to have all the advantages of civilization.
Miss Carrie Byrlee, teacher of the Columbia school in the Frankton district, received notification last week from Superintendent Ackerman that she was successful in the examination for a state certificate. Miss Byrlee took the examination in the 18 branches in three days at the work for a county certificate. Applicants for state certificates usually take advantage of the fact that they are allowed to take only a third of the branches at one time, thus taking a year or more to the entire list. Her general average was something over 92 per cent. Miss Byrlee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Byrlee, and was graduated last June with high honors from the Oregon Agricultural college at Corvallis.

John Groff and others in the upper Mount Hood settlement have erected a United Brethren church near the ranch of Jim Rees. The work was all done with no outside aid and stands as a credit to the community. Services are held occasionally by a missionary of the church who covers the outlying parishes of the district.
The gentle Chinook up the river last Thursday was laden with an abundance of smoke, the pleasant odor of burning fir and pine, and Sherman Young Sherman didn't make much smoke, but he was burning, just the same, with a desire to get back to Hood River where the people are alive and wide awake. He says the country he has visited since he left Hood River is wrapped in a Rip Van Winkle sleep from which nothing short of an earthquake or a blast of Gabriel's trumpet will probably ever wake them, most as sleepy as even The Dalles—so drowsy that water will not run down hill. Sherman was glad to get back home, and proposes to take of his cutaway, expectorator on his hands, put his shoulder "into" the "veel of progress," and do his share toward keeping Hood River where she is today, leading the very front ranks of the live communities of the best state in the Union. And the audience encored.

SHIPPING APPLES TO ALASKA MARKET

The Davidson Fruit Co. is sending Hood River apples to Dawson. Three cars left the first of the week and three more are to follow in the next few days. The apples are of mixed varieties, including the Baldwin, King and King. Mr. Davidson is paying the growers in the neighborhood of $1 and $1.50 for the apples.
Sears & Porter are loading a car of Gravenstein for the California market. Mr. Spiegel, of the firm of Levy & Spiegel, fruit and commission merchants of Portland, was seen on the streets with Dave Sears, the apple King of Tuesday afternoon, and it is presumed the two were arranging for the sale of some of Sears & Porter's big crop of apples.
The Spitznberg and Newtown apples leave Oregon to look for a home. This union to Page & Son of Portland will be gathered during the month between the middle of October and the middle of November.
The union has secured the services of 16 packers who will work under the supervision of four foremen. The packers will be paid five cents a box for 128 and less, and six cents for those apples that range above this number to the box.
Stranahan Returns from Boston.
O. L. Stranahan returned last Friday from Boston, where he attended the national encampment of the Grand Army as a delegate from the department of Oregon.
While Mr. Stranahan says he had a good time and was hospitably entertained by the good people of Boston, he is more than ever determined never to leave Oregon to look for a home. This country, and Hood River in particular, is good enough for him, and he advises young men not to be persuaded that there is anything better.
The day of the big parade in Boston there were 25,000 veterans in the line of march. The heat was so intense, says Mr. Stranahan, that many of the old soldiers could not participate. Ambulances were kept busy picking up the prostrate women and old soldiers who were overcome by the heat of the day.
About the best thing of the whole encampment, says Mr. Stranahan, was the dinner the Women's Relief corps of Boston went to look for a home. There were tables for 8,000 old soldiers, and with this large crowd there was no confusion. Everything went off in fine shape, and the good things put on the tables to eat tickled the hearts and stomachs of the old soldiers.
Among the side excursions arranged for the delegates was a trip in automobiles out to the road to Lexington, the same road over which Paul Revere rode on the memorable night of the 18th of April, 1775. Another trip was a 60-mile jaunt on the ocean.
After leaving Boston, Mr. Stranahan visited at Chicago, Minneapolis and Oakland, where he will be here, he says, the farmers are losing their entire wheat crops. Thousands of acres are rendered worthless by a black rust. In Grand Forks and Fargo wheat buyers have arranged ten granaries for the wheat.
Mr. Stranahan made the trip with Department Commander Pike of Wasco, and he says there isn't a finer man to be found.
Will Stay in Hood River.
The remedy that makes you eat, sleep and grow strong, called Palmo Tablets, will be sold regularly by Williams' Pharmacy, Hood River. These great nerve and constitution builders cost only 50c per box, six boxes $2.50.
The vote on the St. Louis fair contest continues with but slight change.

Dr. H. L. Dumble is home from Chicago.
Come to the Shadow social next Wednesday evening.
Rev. C. E. Clapp of Forest Grove visited during the week with Rev. J. L. Hershner and family.
The Dalles public schools have an enrollment of 683 pupils, about the same number registered last year.
Dr. Laraway and son Ralph accompanied Jack Bagley on a rabbit hunt to the hills of the Willamette valley. They returned Saturday morning with a liberal supply of the game for their friends.
Dr. Jones was called to Portland on Monday to perform an operation upon a man from Centralia, Wash. The Antrum of Highman was tapped through the seventh vertebrae.
Mrs. Leah Burke and son Leslie of Oregon City were in Hood River during the week, setting up matters connected with the estate of the late T. C. Dallas, brother to Mrs. Burke.
Mrs. Norman Young underwent her serious operation at The Dalles hospital Monday morning, but reports state that her recovery is very satisfactory. Miss Lizzie Roberts is with her.
Mrs. S. D. Garner and daughter, Violet, left Saturday last for Seattle, where she went to visit her sister, Mrs. J. S. Mordien, whom she has not seen for twenty years, and S. D. is a lone "widder."
R. E. Harbison has just finished putting up the last of his hay crop. The total amount of hay grown on his place this year foots up to about 145 tons. Of this 33 tons was baled and nearly all sold at $14 per ton.
Mr. and Mrs. Ben Theyson left on Wednesday for a three months' trip to the East. They expect to go direct to St. Louis fair, and from there will visit Mr. Theyson's former home at LaCrosse, Wis. They will also visit at St. Paul.
The Christian Endeavor of the Congregational church will give a Thursday social next Wednesday evening, September 28, at the Odd Fellow's hall, over the Paris Fair store. A program will be rendered and luncheon served. Everyone comes and enjoys a good time.
The Woman's Alliance of the Unitarian church meets Friday of this week with Mrs. Shoemaker. All those who expect to go are to meet at the church at 9 o'clock in the morning, when conveniences will be at hand to take them to the country home of Mrs. Shoemaker, where they will spend the day.
Some ladies from Portland, after visiting Mrs. Abbott's millinery opening on Hood River Heights were heard to remark, "that they were surprised to see such up-to-date millinery on display in an small place as Hood River, as the hats would have done credit had they been on display in Portland."
Misses Jane and Emma Coates were out at the Oakdale ranch Sunday and helped to punish the jack rabbits Dr. Laraway generously donated the proprietor for his Sunday dinner. Their sister, Mrs. E. D. Collins, didn't know about the rabbits and deferred her visit until Tuesday and was obliged to share the usual fare of this frugal rancher, fried liver and cold potatoes. These ladies are among the most welcome visitors at Oakdale, where they will always receive the glad hand, but if they can always strike the date on which some generous friend brings something in for the culinary department they will be most fortunate. Miss Beller, the rancher says, come anyhow, ladies.
Miss Clara Beller, the Glacier's lady composer, glided gracefully into the composing room Monday noon and resumed her position as champion typist and penholder of Hood River's famous fruits in this office. Miss Beller has just returned from a gay outing of three weeks in the Sound country. She used to shy at our fair tales about Hood River fruits, but since her return she says she couldn't find any such fruit as we have here at any of the places she visited, and she thinks our pomological exhibits will
