

HAVE NO EQUAL AT ST. LOUIS

The Hood River apples have reached St. Louis, and all sorts of fine compliments are being showered on the grand show they are making. There is nothing equal to them in the whole horticultural building. They are simple perfection. Those in charge here, and Mr. Gallaway in particular, are doing all that is possible to show their fruit to advantage and that from other sections of your state and talk to the public about it.

"It is my hope to be able to visit your coast and the Lewis and Clark exposition next year. My friend Dorsch is making good headway here in the securing of exhibits."

The above letter from Professor Van Deman, former chief of pomology in the United States, is extremely gratifying. Professor Van Deman is horticultural editor of several leading publications and Mr. Smith says there is no more learned authority in the whole country. He is a warm friend of Oregon, and it was his suggestion at Buffalo in regard to the proper entry of the Oregon fruit exhibit there that assisted materially in securing for this state the much coveted Wilder medal.

Mr. Smith received word that the Hood River apples reached St. Louis October 27, but it was three days before the car could be transferred to the fair grounds, so great is the congestion of traffic in that city.

Wasco to Win Fruit Prize.

Coming into court this morning, we plead guilty to a desire to purloin all the new going and after being told that, as usual, counting the money began with bills followed suit, and this was all that was doing, we broached the subject of an exhibit at the Lewis and Clark fair. Then Judge Lake and Commissioner Hibbard and Stoughton woke up and became enthusiastic, remarks The Dulles Chronicle. "Of course we are going to make provision for that," they said. "The county will not be stingy in that regard; but will make a fine exhibit worthy of such a productive county, and appropriations will be made from time to time as needed." The best fruits, grains, vegetables, in fact everything raised therein, will be brought from every section and displayed before our visitors. One thousand dollars has been offered for the best general exhibit. Wasco may not get that; but she will get the award for the fruit exhibit. The county judge is desirous that any one having anything especially worthy to display submit it to them, and it will be preserved for exhibit. All articles will be paid for. Already 200 boxes of apples have been secured and will be placed in cold storage. On a recent visit to the exhibition grounds Judge Lake and others reserved a space 30x40 feet wherein the wonders of Wasco will be placed.

Worms Invade Pine Flat Orchards.

Ray Imbler of Pine Flat, Klickitat county, Wash., was in the city Friday. The Regulator being off her run, he had to cross from Brooks landing to Mosier and walk down the railroad track. The Regulator is the only steamer that makes Brooks landing, between Bingen and Lyle. Ray is teaching school in his home district, his first experience at training the young idea how to shoot.

The colicin moth have invaded the orchards of the Pine Flat country, and this year the crop was shorter than usual. Last year the orchard was sprayed but twice and there were comparatively no worms. This year it was sprayed five times and there were more worms than ever. He says he will spray thoroughly after this. His apples are marketed in Portland.

The Pine Flat country is a bench on top of the hills behind White Salmon. A good road leads down the canyon to Brooks landing, about two and a half miles from Mr. Imbler's ranch. The country is comparatively level, and Ray says there is a family on every quarter-section between Pine Flat and Goldendale.

Sends His Pictures to St. Louis.

Dr. W. F. Laraway writes to his son-in-law, Mr. Cooper, that he sent the pictures he took of the Hood River fruit fair to a friend of his at St. Louis, who promised to send that the views were properly displayed in the Oregon Building. Dr. Laraway, it will be remembered took some very fine views of the apple displays. It was almost as good as a visit to the fair to see the pictures. Dr. Laraway says he marked the pictures in large letters so all who saw them would know they were Hood River scenes. The doctor is now in Glenwood, Iowa, but hopes to return to Hood River in the spring.

Gathering Apples At White Salmon.

R. Fields was in the city from White Salmon Friday looking after the renting of his house he recently purchased of Mr. Tenhill. He advertises it for rent or sale in another column.

Mr. Fields says the farmers of White Salmon are busy gathering their crop of apples. His own farm, like a majority of the places there, has no bearing tree yet, but the Balsiger place will turn off 700 or 800 bushels of apples this fall, and the Captain Cook farm, Mr. Fields thinks, should harvest 1000 boxes or more. Mr. Fields was picking apples for Mr. Balsiger last week and he says he gathered some very fine Jonathans. The farmers are giving their orchards more attention, and as a consequence are gathering a better grade of fruit. Mr. Fields says the district fruit inspector was in that country from Goldendale last week. He gave orders that the orchards must be sprayed next summer. If the growers do not see to this matter, the inspector says he will have it attended to by the authorities at the grower's expense.

The White Salmon farmers are coming to know the value of spraying, and there is little doubt that their orchards will be well taken care of this next year. The fruit industry is coming to the front in that section of western Klickitat.

Mr. Fields has kindly consented to furnish the Glacier a weekly newsletter. If the people of White Salmon will kindly aid him in collecting the items, the Glacier will endeavor to give the people of that section a much better service than they have been getting of late.

MONSTER KINGS 54 TO THE BOX

A box of apples, the compliments of Sears & Porter, reached the Glacier office last week. On opening the lid, there were exposed to view 18 magnificent Kings of Tompkins County. Beneath this were 18 more apples the duplicate of the first tier, and beneath that still another, every apple perfect in shape and of an even size throughout the box.

The 54 apples weighed 50 pounds, making each apple but little less than 16 ounces in weight. The flavor was all that could be desired—juicy and with a sparkle like that of champagne cider.

Messrs. Sears & Porter have the thanks of the Glacier man for the fine apples. He never ate better ones.

Not Pleased With Bend Country.

F. T. Miner recently returned from a trip to Eastern Oregon and into the Bend country. Mr. Miner says the country about Bend did not give him a favorable impression. He had heard a great deal about the country and decided to see for himself.

Rocks and Juniper trees abound there. About 14,000 acres of land has been settled upon, and next year a big irrigating ditch will supply the farmers with an abundance of water. This, says Mr. Miner, should give the land an opportunity to show what it can produce.

The land is cut up into 40-acre tracts, and one can purchase it on the basis of $14.75 per acre. Where any amount of the land cannot be cultivated, the price is accordingly less. No man can secure more than 160 acres.

Mrs. Miner is home from a trip to Wyoming, Iowa, where she went in May to visit friends and relatives.

Mosier District Gets Attention.

About a year ago Hood River fruit growers began to overgrow the Hood River valley and the neighboring Mosier district. For many years it has been known that the Mosier section was a good one for growing fruits but there was not much outward indication of growth in the community until this year. Now a large number of new houses can be seen from the station and when the train stops a number of active real estate men are ready to explain to the passenger whose car they can catch that the best kind of fruit land can be had in the vicinity of Mosier at one-third of Hood River valley prices. The fruit growing business has many downs as well as ups but it has already done a great deal for the development of the country adjacent to the Columbia river, east of the Cascades, and it will continue to do more and more in the future—Rural Northwest.

California Seeking New Location.

M. M. Dewey, a fruit man from near Los Angeles, is in Hood River looking the valley over with the idea of making an investment. Mr. Dewey says the price of oranges gets lower each year in California and the supply of water scarcer and scarcer.

During the summer months when water is most needed, the streams that have formerly supplied an abundance of water go almost dry. Water has to be pumped in a pumping plant that was installed at a cost of $10,000, and pumps 200 inches of water a day. The operating expenses alone amount to $20 a day.

Fine Apples From White Salmon.

Sam Shell, who has been doing campaign work down in the White Salmon section, brings to this office a very fine assortment of apples, some of which were larger, so it is said, than any exhibited at the recent horticultural fair. They were grown by Messrs. Larsen, Zeigler and others. The orchards of that part of the county, says Mr. Shell, are numerous, the apple crop large, and the people think there is no better country for that industry. Small fruits, however, are principally raised and as they grow abundantly, and market facilities are handy, of course the land is high.—Goldendale Agriculturist.

Makes Sale at $325 an Acre.

George T. Prather made sale last week of 35 acres of the G. D. Boardman place, on the East side to J. O. Mark and Herbert M. Varnir, both of Devils Lake, N. D. Sale includes the Boardman residence, and the selling price was $12,000, or $325 an acre. The land is all improved and contains 1200 apple trees.

Another sale of 23 acres from the Boardman place was made to L. W. Hill of Wall Lake, Iowa; consideration, $2600. All three of these gentlemen have come to Hood River to locate. They all have families.

Wants to Know About Hood River.

The following is a sample of the letters reaching the secretary of the Hood River Commercial club each day:

"Dear Sir: Will you please send me a few catalogues advertising the country around Hood River; also let me know whether you have view books of mountain scenery like that around your section of the country. What is the price of such?"

Yours truly,
"LOWELL MARSH KANPE."

Insomnia And Indigestion Cured.

"Last year I had a very severe attack of indigestion. I could not sleep at night and suffered most excruciating pains for three hours after each meal. I was troubled this way for about three months when I used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and received immediate relief," says John Dixon, Tullamore, Ontario, Canada. For sale at Williams' Pharmacy.

When up at Hood River a few days ago the writer met Cyrus Vaughn, a former resident of this vicinity, and like most people of that valley he is basking in the warmth of prosperity. His specialty is strawberries but he grows other good things as well. Since the middle of August he has shipped to Portland every day one hundred crates of tomatoes.—Newberg Graphic.

BOOTH'S BIG STORE WITH LITTLE PRICES

J. S. Booth is moving his store goods into the Middleton building, corner of Third and Oak streets, formerly occupied by J. E. Rand. Booth's store has been known as the "Little Store with Little Prices," but as Mr. Booth announced last week it will hereafter be known as the "Big Store with Little Prices."

The Rand building has been remodeled and set up into three rooms. Booth will occupy the corner room, which has been improved by adding a large window on the Third street side. This gives much more light and permits of a much better display of the goods.

The real estate firm of Geo. D. Culbertson & Co. will occupy quarters in the west end of the building. Another room has been fitted up and will be rented later.

Mr. Booth's business has grown in four years from small pretensions to one of the leading establishments of the city. This in a great measure has been due to judicious advertising in the columns of the Glacier. Mr. Booth is an ad writer of ability, and always gets up one of the most readable and attractive ads in the paper. His ads draw trade, as his cash receipts each week have proven.

The Big Store with Little Prices will be arranged in departments and the goods displayed in a much better shape than it was possible to do in the old location. The holiday goods are now arriving, and will be the finest ever handled here.

PINE GROVE.

(Too late for last week.)

Miss Arline Winchell was awarded the honors for having written the best essay of the ninth and tenth grades last Friday afternoon her subject being: "Six Seasons in the Woods of Maine;" "The Night Cap social held at Pine Grove October 21 was quite a success. The first hour was spent in spelling. The night caps were then sold at auction, with Ralph Ordway as auctioneer. The highest bid for one was two dollars. The supper was then served and eaten by the light of the moon and a big bonfire. After all had enjoyed their suppers games were played around the bonfire until a late hour.

Edward Lage left on the Saturday morning train for Portland where he intends to enter the Portland business college for the winter.

Saturday, October 29, 26 teachers of Wasco county held their educational meeting at the Pine Grove school house. The teachers were served with a dinner out in the open air. Quite a number of the people of the district were present.

A number of young people of Pine Grove took a notion that they would go on a ghostly raid last Saturday evening, so drove down town in a "wagon and four," where they were joined by six others. Dressed as ghosts they made their appearance at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Jenkins where a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Miss Blanche Harrison gave a Halloween party Monday at her home. Her many friends were ushered through the gate by a couple of big jolly looking jack-o'-lanterns. Another grinnin' us a welcome from the porch, while a sprile of the most ghastly aspect escorted us up the walk to the door, where two more from the same realm, conducted us to the places of amusement. The silence of our ghostly escorts made the hearty welcome of our hosts the more noticeable. After such an evening as can only be spent on Halloween night the party dissolved, each having had their fortunes told and declaring that the evening had been a very enjoyable one.

Halloween night was a quiet one here this year. The good spirits having an ascendancy over the evil; however, three of evil persuasion, flew through a small hole, in a transom of the second story of the school building and flopped their wings a few times to let the teachers know that lock keys and window fasteners are of no avail where evil spirits are concerned.

The linemen of the Bell Telephone Co. are putting in several new wires on the East Side. A great many new phones will be put in. This Side is right up to the front lock keys and window fasteners are of no avail where evil spirits are concerned.

Hans Lage, the road supervisor, is preparing the roads for the winter's use, over which the large crop of apples will be hauled.

The teachers of the Pine Grove school wish to express their sincere thanks to the patrons of the district for so generously presenting them with the visiting teachers on Saturday last.
