Do your eyes need attention? If so, call on Clarke, the jeweler and optician.

as Hood River people have seldom if ever heard at home. Sullivan is the greatest composer of modern times, while the libretto is fully up to the standard.

M. Keating was a Portland-bound passenger Sunday.

W. S. Gribble of Mount Hood was a Dalles visitor last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bell and wife of Vilsea, Iowa, are in the valley looking for a ranch.

Miss Beson left Friday afternoon for Cascade Locks, where she visited with her parents.

The Woman's alliance of the Unitarian church will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jenkins.

Charles R. McCally spent last week in Portland, his first visit there since coming to Hood River six months ago.

The steamer Hercules replaced the Regulator for a few days last week, the latter being laid up with a broken shaft.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Vorse, who now make their home at Hood River, spent Sunday with relatives in the city.

J. M. Culbertson of Fort Worth, Texas, is in Hood River visiting his brother, George D. Culbertson, the real estate and insurance agent.

Frank Chandler finished digging his potatoes on his farm in the Rose Hill district last week. His eight acres produced 200 sacks.

The Dalles Chronicle states that Mrs. Wheeler, who has been a patient in the hospital there, returned Monday to her home at Hood River.

E. L. Smith left Tuesday afternoon for Portland, where he will join the Oregon delegation bound for the National Irrigation congress at El Paso.

Frank J. Perkins, representing the Oregon Fire Relief association of McMinnville, was transacting business in this city, Friday and Saturday of last week.

C. L. Gilbert, the genial host at the Mount Hood hotel, is confined to his bed under the doctors' care. Billy Shipman is assisting as clerk at the hotel during the illness of Mr. Gilbert.

L. Parmenter of Canby, Clackamas county, is in Hood River visiting his aunt, Mrs. Alma Howe. Mr. Parmenter is looking for a position as cook in a lumber camp.

Dr. E. T. Carns expects to close his dental parlors in the Bartness building the latter part of this week and will leave shortly for Southern California, where he and his family will spend the winter.

J. T. Cooper returned Tuesday morning from Eastern Oregon and went up to his ranch in the Mount Hood settlement, where he will make some improvements. Mr. Cooper has disposed of his sheep business at the Dalles.

Vance Vannet, roadmaster of the Northern Pacific, was in the city yesterday. He has purchased a twenty-acre tract of orchard land in the Hood River country, which he will hold as a speculation.

Excitement ran high for a few moments in Paradise hotel a week ago Sunday evening, when in some manner the wall paper took fire in one of the rooms. The blaze was smothered, but not until it had broken through into another room.

C. U. Dakin moved into his new residence just east of T. J. Cuning's last week. Mr. Dakin has built a very substantial house here. He moved, he says, to stay permanent. One hundred and forty dollars a year is too big a tax. Contractor Wood, who has a new house adjoining Mr. Dakin's, has also moved in.

John W. Adams of White Salmon, Wash., formerly of Charlton county, Mo., arrived in Gilliam county last week. Mr. Adams accompanied his wife, Mrs. Helen Alvord, of Denver, who he recently wed. Mr. and Mrs. Adams will spend the winter with the former's stepson, C. C. Clark, near Blackfoot—Arlington Appeal.

John Kelly, the man whose hands were put under the wheel of a car, is undergoing treatment in a Portland hospital. Mr. Bartness received a letter from him last Sunday in which Kelly thought the left hand would be saved, but the right hand is in critical condition. Mr. Kelly feared he was not receiving the attention he should at the hospital. Mr. Kelly returned Tuesday night. His left hand is healing nicely, but his right hand is yet painful.

The value of Glacier advertising was strikingly exemplified last week when Clarence Gilbert, manager of the Mount Hood hotel, lost his bunch of keys. Clarence was pulling out a sheet of paper to prepare a lost ad, when someone slipped in the door and remarked: "Are those keys?" They were. A few weeks before, O. H. Gray lost a purse. He inserted a 25 cent lost ad, but before the copy got to the composing room Mr. Gray returned with the announcement that he had found it. Glacier was granted for a new road on the East Side, giving an outlet to several settlers near the foothills. At Mosier petition was granted, moving the county road to conform with the street laid out in the Mosier townsite. Another road was ordered surveyed in the southeastern part of the county.

Members of the Hood River Fruit Growers' union should note that the hour of the annual meeting called for 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in Astoria has been changed to 10 o'clock in morning at the same hall. Remember this you are a member of the union and make it a point to turn out. If you are not a member attend anyway and learn the best methods of conducting the berry shipping business. Several important questions will come up for consideration. The annual election of the board of the board of directors will be held.

Thomas Harlan has disposed of the White Salmon Enterprise to A. H. Jewett, and Tuesday morning, after casting his vote for Turner, he left for Heppner, where his son Milton has been interested in the Gazette for the last three months. Mr. Harlan says he started with a subscription list of $25, but when he let go of the Enterprise the paper had but two names on the paid list. It was a hard row for the old man who learned to set type at the age of 62 and did all his own work, but he says that he leaves White Salmon with regret. He will go to Vancouver, where his son, who has left go at Heppner, and other parties expect to start a democratic paper.

At the home of Decilio G. Jackson, Saturday afternoon, October 29, the ladies of the Unitarian Alliance gathered to surprise his mother, Mary E. Jackson, who resides with him. The occasion was her birthday. The week from Tuesday until Friday was spent at her side as she settled in the water. The little Sadie B. was near by and secured some snow on which the wheat was loaded, when the Hercules was pulled off the rocks the next morning.

A Runaway Bicycle, Terminated with an ugly cut on the leg of J. B. Orner, Franklin Grove, Ill. He developed a stubborn ulcer unyielding to doctors and remedies for four years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured. It's just as good for burns, scalds, skin eruptions and piles, 25c, at Chas. N. Clarke's drug store.

Water and Light Notice All water and light bills must be paid at the company's office each month in advance, on or before the 10th day of the month. No collector will be sent out hereafter. In all cases where bills are not promptly paid when due, the services will be discontinued until all arrearages are paid.

HOOD RIVER ELECTRIC L. P. & W. C. By H. L. Vorse, Manager.

Will Stay in Hood River. The remedy that makes you eat, sleep and grow strong, called Palmo Tablets, will be sold regularly by Williams' Pharmacy, Hood River. These great nerve and constitution builders cost only 50c per box, six boxes $2.50.

Watch the label on the Glacier, it tells when your subscription is due.

for the well-planned ruse, which proved as they intended "a perfect surprise." The Alliance presented her with an anesthetic pin as a token of remembrance. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent in a social way, interspersed with music—hunts and solos. Refreshments were served by Mesdames Jackson, Jackson and Franz. All departed wishing Mrs. Jackson many happy returns of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bruce of Cascade Locks spent Friday in Hood River. Lyman Smith was up from Lentz Tuesday to cast his presidential vote.

N. W. Bone writes from St. Louis to have his glacier sent to Lake Arthur, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Jewett arrived Sunday from their trip to St. Louis and the East.

John Donahue is recovering from a severe attack of double pneumonia. His case was critical for some time, but he is now considered out of danger.

The Rev. H. D. Chambers of Portland will be in Hood River Sunday, November 20, for the purpose of holding services in the Episcopal church. A good attendance of the members and friends of the church is desired and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

T. Bishop's fine new house in the Barrett district is about completed. J. S. Simonton, who built the big store building south of Gill's store on the hill, will begin one for A. C. Helms.

F. O. Brace left Monday for The Dalles, where he went to look at a fruit farm five miles out on Mill creek. He has been offered this farm of 107 acres for $2700, and he thinks very favorable of the bargain. This year the farm produced 4000 pounds of cherries, 1600 pounds of peaches and will yield 1000 boxes of apples says Mr. Brace. There is free water for 35 acres and 25 acres of the land is in wheat. Mr. Brace believes he can make the farm pay.

The steamer Hercules, which did duty for the Regulator last week, while the latter was laid up for repairs, struck a rock on the reef just below the city Friday morning. The boat was under full steam and as it struck the rock it bumped over, tearing a hole in the bottom and leaving the stern sticking out of water. The boat was heavily loaded with wheat and it began to turn on her side as she settled in the water. The little Sadie B. was near by and secured some snow on which the wheat was loaded, when the Hercules was pulled off the rocks the next morning.

and made her way to Portland. Monday, the Gatzert picked up the wheat sacks.

Mrs. Carl Ross moved last week from Wallula and is occupying the Clark cottage in the Barrett district until the carpenters complete the house Mr. Ross is building on his farm near C. D. Thompson's. Mrs. Ross is glad to be in Hood River again.

Miss Laura Cramer, who went to St. Louis as the guest of the Hood River merchants in a popular voting contest, was 22 days on the trip. She went by way of the Canadian Pacific and returned on the Denver & Rio Grande. She spent a week at the fair and two days at Kansas City, where she visited with a sister of Postmaster Yates. Miss Cramer enjoyed her trip very much.

Alton Cuning was seriously sick all last week with a severe attack of blood-poisoning. Mr. Cuning, while sandpapering the woodwork in the new school house on the hill, ran a siver in his finger. He thought little of the incident at the time, but when the doctors lanced the finger to remove the piece of wood it was an inch or more in length. His arm was swollen at the time and in a few hours the poison had spread over his whole body. For a week he suffered intense pains night and day, and was not considered out of danger until last Friday night. Last reports state that he is improving.

Born. In The Dalles, Saturday, November 5, 1904, to Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Davidson of Mosier, a daughter.

In Hood River, Tuesday, November 8, 1904, to Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Brown, a son.

In Hood River, Tuesday, November 8, 1904, to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kent, a son.

Card of Thanks. To our many friends, who, by kindly words and tender words of sympathy, made softer the harsh hours of grief for the death of our little son, Edgar, we extend our sincere thanks. Especially do we thank Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Dumble, who were indeed very kind to us.

Mr. and Mrs. WILSON H. GALLAGAN.

R. S. Sanborn of the Hood River Real Estate and Exchange Co. made sale last week of the Louis Fosnot house and lot in this city to Maggie A. Oiler; consideration, $450.

160-acre improved farm, under irrigation, in Nebraska, for farm in Hood River or White Salmon. W. J. Baker.

Lincoln Johnson of Portland representing Harry Rand's ball-bearing hub, came up Monday on business connected with that invention, returning Tuesday.

We are going out of business and our stock must be sold at a big sacrifice. Globe Clothing Co.

Gets Data on Early Oregon History. George H. Himes, assistant secretary of the Oregon Historical society, spent Friday night in Hood River, on his return from a two weeks' trip to Baker City and other points in Eastern Oregon, where he gathered much data relating to the early immigrations to the Oregon country. Mr. Himes says since leaving on his trip he has interviewed at least 60 people who came to Oregon between the years 1843 and 1853. This includes about 20 who came over the Meek's cutoff, the time the whole immigrant train came near perishing.

The old immigrant trail through Oregon, after leaving Vale in Malheur county went north past Baker City, and followed near the present line of the railroad to the Umatilla river and down the Columbia to the Barlow pass and onto Oregon City. Meek and his party sought to shorten the route and struck off through the John Day country where his party became lost and after weeks of wandering foundered through the sage brush into the Tygh valley and down to the Columbia river.

Gold was discovered by the Meek's party along the John Day river, at what has since been named the Blue Backet diggings, from the blue buckets left there by the immigrant train. The story is told that gold was used by members of the party as sinkers on their fish lines. Mr. Himes was telling this story one day in Southern Oregon, when the listener remarked, "Yes, that's so; I was there myself and saw the man flatten the nugget against the wagon tire, and then wrap it about the string he used for a fish line."

At Baker City, Mr. Himes says a 10,000-acre tract of sagebrush land has been recently reclaimed from the jack-rabbits. This land is now a paradise, but 40 years it lay untouched, within a few miles of Baker City, having been considered nothing but a barren waste, until three years ago water was turned onto the land, and the prolific qualities of the soil discovered. At a comparatively small cost, says Mr. Himes, it has been figured out that the winter floods in the Power river can be conserved and used to irrigate 40,000 acres near Baker City.
