TELLS FRIENDS OF HOOD RIVER

Correspondent Writes Interesting Letter From Land of the Thistle—Enjoys Mount Hood Notes.

The following interesting letter comes to the Glacier from Scotland. The writer is known to many of the people of the Mount Hood district, and would prefer to keep them guessing who he is rather than to sign his own name.

The Glacier seems to have given a very favorable impression of the Hood River country, and as the correspondent states after reading several copies of the paper many of his friends who had about decided to embark for Canada, are seriously considering coming to Hood River. Next to the bonnie hills of old Scotland, it would be hard to find a land to suit them better, and it is hoped Hood River will soon have the homeseekers from Holytown among the residents here.

Barbark Cottage, Holytown, Scotland, Dec. 9.—Editor Glacier: I have just spent a very pleasant hour in looking through some of your recent dates copies of the Glacier. I got quite interested in reading over various columns.
There is some very amusing and a great deal of instructive information to be had from them. They contain very valuable hints to parties who are taking up new claims. They get ideas "how to get the best results out of the land," ideas that suit inexperienced parties such as new settlers generally are.
These hints are given I believe from hard tried experience.

The Glacier also contains its full share of advertising the great advantage to homeseekers in the great Northwest, especially Hood River, which speaks well for it; i. e., encourage home industry. It must be a great comfort to the new settler to get all this free information the Glacier contains how to prune, pick, pack and spray, and then where to find a market where the best price is to be obtained for the product. All that information is worth a great many dollars to the new settler.

Another part worthy of note was the description of Mount Hood farms. All very interesting reading not only to the subscribers around the district where the Glacier is printed, but to those who are lucky enough to get a copy in the outside world. For I believe it is known in a great many parts of the globe. The description given about such farms and the good prospects of the owners makes the reader wish and long to be one of the new settlers. I have had the opinion of different parties who have had their minds made up to try Canada for a new home. They all agree that the Hood River region must have great resources for the making of comfortable homes, and before starting out will make further inquiry as to the advantages to be had in Hood River district. Their attention has been directed there by no other influence than the descriptions printed in the Glacier.

The Glacier reporter must have enjoyed his trip through the various fruit farms. He gives a very good account of the doings of each and all until he reaches J. Groff's place, when fear seemed to overtake him. Well I can't say I ever did see a cougar although I have travelled a bit and know what it is to be wary of wild animals. I believe he was just in accepting the shelter Mr. Groff consented to give him for the night.

Mr. Dumas must be a very energetic man, who, if one crop fails will have one of another to fall back on, and although I could relish a good dish cooked from one of his Belgian hares, I won't say the same of the snails.

Another man who can't have much spare time is Mr. Gribble of the Mount Hood store. It must take considerable time to explain to some of his fair lady customers that his goods are "all wool and a yard wide," of superior quality to those that can be purchased elsewhere at the same price or by paying more.

He must take time to please his customers, and a well pleased customer is the best and cheapest advertisement he can send out. He also has the getting ready and forwarding of the mail, and is having his ranch put in order for cultivation. I hope it is not in his case "all work and no play, makes Jack a dull boy." I wish him every success in his business.

APPLES GO TO THE PRESIDENT

FROM HOOD RIVER ORCHARDS

Sent With Compliments Apple Growers' Union—Finest Specimens to be Found in the Valley.

President Roosevelt is probably eating Hood River apples by this time. No doubt he will think they are pretty fine.
The apples left here with the compliments of the Hood River Apple Growers' union, and were the best apples to be found in the valley.

There were six boxes in the shipment which went to New York with a car of other apples, and from there the fruit was sent direct to the executive mansion at Washington City.

Two boxes of apples, one of Ortley and one of Spitzberg, came from the orchard of Mrs. Annie Lenz; the other four boxes were from the orchard of B.
R. Tucker, and were of the following varieties: Newtons, Hayes King of the West, Mammoth Black Twig, Arkansas Black.

"Every apple was a perfect specimen of its kind," says E. A. Franz of the Apple Growers' union, who assisted in preparing the shipment. "The Newtons from the orchard of Mr. Tucker were without blemish, and went 54 to the box.
The Ortley apples grown by Mrs. Lenz looked like was imitations, so perfect were they. They were everyone of them the finest specimens of apples to be found in the valley. Large handsome ones they were, running from 34 72 to the box."

Another part of interest in your valuable paper, is the items from each settler or village. Quite natural, for every one to take an interest in his neighbor's affairs. Such notes are more pleasant to read than the police court news which play a very prominent part in our papers. They inspire one to desires toward his fellowman, and when one finds a community that is all pulling the same way to do all they can for the benefit and comfort of others who are in trouble, we can say they are a good people to live amongst, a pleasant one to visit. Quite natural, for neighbor's affairs. Such notes are more

One item in particular under Mount Hood notes was R. Leasure lost a cow by eating dynamite and in another copy about Mr. Leasure shifting some logs and getting his foot crushed.
It is a pity the cow did not get the logs that were to be shifted and explode thereby saving Mr. Leasure a great deal of labor and also the trouble and inconvenience of carrying his foot in a sling, which is not a pleasant thing. I hope the dynamite is well and able by this time to make up for his loss and that his last season's work may prove a profitable one to him, not only in produce but financially as well.

Another item under the same heading is W. Cooper reporting fire in dead timber. Well, that is all right. Another item where he has been out deer hunting and a controversy about horses and points. Is it usual for a huntsman to bring in deer without horns, or with horns without points? If I am not mistaken I read in one of the back numbers of the Glacier, one Warren Cooper had just got a fine house built on his claim. From that I take it he has been on the hunt and got a deer, and when he gets her home will I am sure, greatly appreciate more than the horns or points of a deer. I hope to see before long under the Mount Hood notes when the home warming is to take place, and that they will not forget the editor with a piece of bride's cake, and the scribe a dance with the bride should be in the district at the time.

Wishing your paper every success in the future and as the settlements grow in population may the subscribers grow for the Glacier. I am yours truly, Nora Best.

GATES OPEN SUNDAYS FOR INSTITUTE WORK

Special to the Glacier.

Portland, Jan. 10.—Sunday on the Lewis and Clark Exposition grounds will be observed in an enlightening and edifying manner. Instead of tightly closing the gates to the public all day, as was the case at St. Louis, they will be thrown open at noon, although all the machinery will be stopped, and all the exhibit buildings, except the palace of fine arts, will be closed.

One of the greatest series of lectures the world has ever known is being planned for the exposition, embracing education, civics, charities and corrections, labor, science, history, and woman's work. Notable men and women from all parts of the world will be secured to deliver addresses, including famous ex-ponents of Buddhism, Mohammedanism, and religion of Confucius. A general program provided for an institute on each Sunday between June 1 and October 15. The plan of keeping the exposition open, besides giving the people a chance to hear some noted speakers and become enlightened on many different subjects, affords an opportunity to enjoy the beautiful architecture of the buildings and to drink in the glories of the landscape picture and the surrounding scenery.

It is the aim of the management to make the institutes of 1905 the greatest gatherings of the kind ever held. The details in connection with the institutes will be left to a committee of five executors and clergyman who will shape the program under the general direction and with the co-operation of the executive committee of the exposition. The dominant idea will be to make a fair showing of all the forces which have been material in the development of Western America and contributed to its progress.

The conferences on religion held during this period will be addressed by men of national reputation such as Lyman Abbott or Emory H. Bradford of the Congregational church; Edward Everett Hale, Minot J. Savage, Robert Collyer or Samuel Eliot of the Unitarian church; William S. Rainford or R. Heber of the Episcopal church; Bishop McCabe, Bishop Fowler or Bishop Hamilton of the Methodist church; Archbishop Irish or Bishop Spalding of Roman Catholic church; Henry Van Dyke or C. Cutbert Hall of the Presbyterian church; Emil G. Hirsch or Leon Harris of the Jewish church; Felix Adler of the Ethical culture society.

The states of the northwest will be asked to abandon their county institutes next year, and meet in one great educational conference at Portland. At this conference many distinguished scholars will speak, among them being, President Eliot of Harvard, President Butler of Columbia, President Schurman of Cornell, President Jordan of Leland Stanford university, President Wheeler of the university of California, Booker T.
Washington, Colonel Pratt, John Cotton Dana, Melville Dewey, Herbert Putnam and Dr. Billings.

Water Scarce in California.
Mr. Miller, of Southern California, who has been visiting relatives in Eastern Washington during the holiday season, stopped off at Hood River last week. He expresses himself as being very favorably impressed with this section as well as with the general prosperity and good feeling in Eastern Washington.

Mr. Miller states that except for the long drought in Southern California, everything is prosperous. The water supply, however, is becoming a very serious problem in the section of Pomona.

Mr. Miller is a member of the board of trustees of Pomona city, and in speaking of the question of having no licensed saloons said: "We voted out saloons seven years ago and we are in no way oppressed by not receiving revenue from that source. Our streets and walks are among the best of any city in the Union
