Dr. W. T. Rowley is now located in the Smith building, corner of Third and Oak, where he will devote his time with special attention to diseases of the ear, eye, nose and throat.

Oscar Fredenburg, the Mount Hood mail carrier made his first trip by sleigh Monday morning, transferring to a wagon at the Booth hall. Snow still covers the ground at Mount Hood.

The W. C. T. U. will hold its regular meeting next Tuesday afternoon, January 10, at 2 o'clock, in the U. B. church. Mrs. D. J. Treiber, president; Mrs. J. R. Nickelsen, secretary.

The best time to advertise is just after holidays when business seems duller. Tell people what you have and they'll have more time to call around and investigate than they had before Christmas.

W. J. Baker the real estate agent made sale last week of 13 acres for C. R. Dean, near the Valley Christian church, to Mr. Esterlee. Mr. Baker advertised this bargain in the Glacier, and sold the property as advertised—$45 an acre.

Wasco, the county seat of Sherman county suffered the second disastrous fire this year, Wednesday morning of last last week, when the big store of Jones & McPherson was burned to the ground, entailing a loss of $35,000, with about half that amount covered by insurance.

A. I. Mason passed the little brown jug among the Glacier office boys Friday morning and received the "Hoed der Kaiser," with all the gracefulness of one to the manor born. "Der Apfel Keenig" had filled the jug with expressed juice of the Newtown Spitz and Ben Davis—ambrosial nectar fit for the gods. Come again, Herr Kaiser.

Clinton Dickens returned Monday to Corvallis to resume his studies at the Oregon Agricultural college. Mr. Dickens left at the Glacier office a prospectus of a proposed handsome two-story building to be erected at the agricultural college by popular subscription for the Christian associations having organizations at the college.

S. H. Cox made sale during the week of 14 acres adjoining the former A. A. Rahm place three miles south of the city to W. R. McKinsey of Portland; consideration $1850. Mr. McKinsey expects to build soon and to clear the land for berries and apples. Mr. Cox made another sale of five acres to Mr. Bell, which includes the house and buildings on the place; consideration, $1500.

The Royal Neighbor lodge of this place was very happily surprised to receive a large basket of fine apples from Mr. and Mrs. George Zolls of Hood River, Oregon. The apples arrived the same day that the lodge held their meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Zolls are members of the Palisade camp, and they are mindful of their old home lodge—Times Republican, Hayes Center.

Rumor has it that the O. R. & N. will construct a branch line of railroad to tap the Coeur d'Alene Indian reservation and open rich agricultural and mineral sections sometime in 1905. Other feeders are planned, which are intended to reach desirable territory in advance of electric lines already proposed. Railroad construction in the Northwest during 1905 promises to be most active.

D. N. Byerlee, compositor in receipt of several parcels of copies of the papers sent by Dr. W. F. Laraway of Glenwood. The papers contained marked items about the medals Iowa farmers won on apples at the St. Louis fair. Out of 82 medals awarded to the various fruit growers of Iowa, 20 were won by the Byerlee family. The medals were captured 10, or one-eighth of the whole. Mills county was awarded one gold, five silver and six bronze medals on apples. Dr. Laraway's orchard came in for one of the medals.

H. L. Arneson, who is teaching school at Wapinitia, 45 miles south of The Dalles, spent last week in Hood River, visiting his family, who during his absence have been staying at the home of Mrs. Arneson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Lindley. Mr. Arneson owns a fruit farm in the Crapper district, but he says he finds that managing a farm 75 miles away is not conducive to the best success. He is having some ground cleared for an orchard, and has some berries planted. He expects to be home in time to gather the crop of strawberries next May.

On our exchange table we found an illustrated Christmas number of the Coeur d'Alene Enterprise, giving a graphic account of the late attempted bank robbery at that place, illustrated with cuts of J. O. Middaugh, cashier of the bank, who was killed, Mrs. Hall, the brave little woman who grabbed a gun, and returned the fire of the would be robbers, when they fired on her home, and many others connected with the tragedy. The paper bore a colored Christmas cover, and was well filled with interesting reading matter about Buffalo Bill (Cody's) town and county, and had a large advertising list. Among the advertisements is a quarter page ad of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Thompson, general merchandise. Mrs. Thompson will be remembered as Miss Watkins, sister of Mrs. Jack McVay, who lived for two years on Twin Oaks farm, and where Mrs. Thompson visited them.

Water Notice.

The Hood River Basket Ball team will go to Portland soon to play. Plans are already under way between Y. M. C. A. manager at Portland and L. G. Morgan, manager of the home team. The boys are practicing every night and expect to put up a good game.

New officers of Riverside lodge, No. 68, Ancient Order of United Workmen: W. B. Slute, P. M. W.; C. L. Copley, W. M.; F. H. Blagg, foreman; Bert Entrian, overseer; R. E. Chapman, guide; Chester Slute, recorder; Truman Butler, receiver; E. R. Bradley, financier; J. H. Ingalls, I. W. Installation will be made Saturday evening, January 7.

H. M. Abbott went to Viento last week to examine the gold mine of which a report was published in the paper recently. Mr. Abbott, who is a mining expert, says there may be something in the find at Viento. There is a ledge there five or six feet wide stratified with iron that gives evidence of gold. The ledge is located up the canyon, about three miles from the Viento. Mr. Abbott secured some of quartz, and will make an extended examination of the quality of the rock.

Everett McCarty of the Paris Fair is in receipt of a clipping from a California paper, sent him by an unknown friend, in which a big bunch of the council proceedings are clipped from the Glacier.

The incident of Colonel Hartley's calf is given considerable space, also the remark of Councilman McDonald that an old hand saw could be utilized for a fire bell. The California paper adds the comment that while Hood River councilmen may be good at growing prize apples, they fall short on the fine points of dairying and the matter of city finances. The city's redeeming feature, the paper goes on to say, must lie in its public schools.

The new officers of Laura Rebekah degree lodge, No. 87, I. O. O. F., are: Mrs. Udell, N. G.; Ota Walker, V. G.; Dora Thompson, secretary; Cora Fowler, treasurer. The newly elected officers will be installed Friday night of this week. The Odd Fellows lodge will install tonight.

H. W. Rodman of Waterloo, Iowa, is a recent arrival in Hood River, the guest of W. Fike of Pine Grove. Mr. Rodman is here with the idea of locating. After his former Iowa neighbors fill him up on Hood River apples, there is no doubt he will decide there is no place superior to Hood River.

Dan Meers is gathering several boxes of apples and vegetables for shipment to A. S. Thompson at Waterloo, Iowa. Mr. Thompson is immigration agent in that state for the Harriman system, and has induced a great many towns to locate in Oregon.

There will be a joint installation Friday evening of the Woodmen of the World and Women of Woodcraft. Members of both lodges and their families are requested to attend.

The Misses Sylvie, Zolota and Lella Kelley and George Bloom of Hood River were among the out-of-town people in attendance at the brilliant gathering of the Entre Nous at The Dalles last Friday night.

Miss Nan Cooper and Miss Mabel Edick left Saturday morning on the boat for Hood River and their schools at Mt. Hood and Pine Grove—Dalles Chronicle.

Martin Emstrum and Warren Wood left on the 8:35 train Tuesday evening on a trip through Eastern Oregon and Idaho. They expect to be gone several weeks.

Robert White and family returned Friday from Vancouver, where they spent Christmas.

Miss Dorothy Cross of Oregon City, is the guest of her brother, Percy Cross.

The electric light office will be open Saturday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

"Pase" Guyer is office boy at the new drug store.

Spoiled Her Beauty. Harriet Howard, of 209 W. 34th st., New York, at one time had her beauty spoiled with skin trouble. She writes:

"I had salt rheum or eczema for years, but nothing would cure it, until I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve." A quick and sure healer for cuts, burns and sores. 25c at Chas. N. Clarke's drug store.

Fresh Grapes for New Years. Think of eating nice fresh grapes on New Year's day. That is what the Glacier man was favored with, thanks to good friends at The Dalles. J. P. Thomsen of that city expressed the Glacier last Saturday a five-pound box of grapes as fresh as if gathered from the vines.

A card accompanied the grapes stating they were grown by John Klint of The Dalles. The grapes had a taste of honey, and were very much appreciated by the editor and his family.

A Merry Christmas Party. Mrs. J. R. Kinsey entertained a few of her friends Monday evening of last week at her house on River street. Cards and music were the order for a short time. Miss Ida Brace rendered a number of popular selections. George Thompson furnished the violin selections.

At 10 o'clock the guests were escorted to the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with Christmas emblems, green and red. From the center of the room hung an exquisite red Christmas bell trimmed with holly. The table was a dream. A small Christmas tree adorned the center, with holly artistically displayed around it and loaded with all kinds of refreshments.

After luncheon dancing was indulged in until the "we sma' hours". The guests departed thanking their hostess for a most enjoyable time and regretting that Christmas comes only once a year.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Will Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fewel, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Walter McGinnis, Mrs. M. M. Fowel, Miss Ida Brace, Mr. and Mrs. R. Kinsey, Wilhelm Thompson, Willie McGuire, Kathryn Everett, Irene Fewel.

A Grim Tragedy. Is daily enacted in thousands of homes as death claims in each one, another victim of consumption or pneumonia. But when coughs or colds are properly treated, the tragedy is averted. F. A. Huntley, of Oakland, Ind., writes:

"My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, which cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. Guaranteed at 50c and $1.00 by Chas. N. Clarke druggist. Trial bottles free.
